C. J. FRANKFORTER WILL ADMINISTER TRADITIONAL OATH

Thursday Morning Conclave Officially Initiates Fresh Into School.

NO 11 O'CLOCK CLASSES

Program Includes University Officials and Senior Honorary Heads.

Thursday morning when Col. C. J. Frankforter administers the traditional Cornhusker Oath to 1934 Nebraska freshmen they will have been officially received into the university. The annual convocation, during which the ceremonies will take place, is scheduled for 11 o'clock Thursday morning in the coliseum. All freshmen will be excused from classes for the event.

Franklin Meier, innocent in charge of the program, stated yesterday that arrangements had practically been completed. Members of the two senior honoraries, Mortar Boards and Innocents, with faculty and university administrative officials will conduct the services. Corn Cobs and Tassels will also be on hand during the convocation.

Frankforter Gives Oath. The Cornhusker Oath, administered each fall for many years by Dr. G. E. Condra, sponsor of the Innocents society, will be given this year by Col. C. J. Frankforter. Dr. Condra is out of town on a soil erosion project.

Three minute talks will limit the several speakers. A tentative list of speakers includes Dean Amanda Heppner, Chancellor E. A. Burnett, Dean T. J. Thompson, Coach D. X. Bible and Col. C. J. Frankforter. Owen Johnson, Innocents president, will preside. He and Violet Cross, Mortar Board president, will also be heard on the program.

Take Moving Pictures. Arrangements have been made with Ed Weir, who will have a moving camera on the scene to record "shots" during the proceedings. Immediately after the ceremony the entire group of freshmen will assemble in front of the coliseum where a number of still pictures will be taken, according to Meier.

Copies of the freshmen oath will be distributed to every new student at the coliseum Thursday morning. The cards also have Nebraska songs and yells. Cheerleaders will lead the freshmen in a number of the school songs.

The annual convocation has for years been one of the school's leading events.

Mass Meeting Held Tonight At Ag College

Reorganization of the Ag Club, election of two members of the club to positions on the Ag executive board, and setting a date for the 1934 Farmers' Formal which is to be held sometime in October, will be discussed at a mass meeting of all men students of the Ag campus Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Ag hall.

Revision of the club's entire constitution, or parts of it, in keeping with policies declared during reorganization of the club is to be discussed at length. In keeping with its purpose of establishing a feeling of friendship and fellowship on the Ag campus and providing social activity for all Ag students, the club has made tentative plans to sponsor hour dances, parties, and other appropriate social functions on the Ag campus.

Establishment of an Ag club board to control the Ag Club as well as to eliminate draggy meetings and stimulate interest in the organization will be discussed and acted upon.

Two men from the group at large will be elected to represent the club on the Ag Executive Board which is the governing body for student organizations on the Ag campus. A tentative date for the Farmers' Formal will also be set and committees will be appointed for the affair which is the outstanding social activity of the Ag campus first semester.

German Student Taking First College Work in America Here Eagerly Awaits Opening of Husker Athletic Program

By Lorraine Camel.

Nebraska's clash with Wyoming this coming Saturday will be witnessed eagerly by a coed from Heidelberg, Germany, who is looking forward to her first encounter with American athletics. Fraulein Ingeborg Oesterlin, who is an exchange student from the Academic German Exchange office in Heidelberg plans to obtain her master's degree in chemistry from the university this year. Miss Oesterlin, in addition, is taking several courses in history and English in order to familiarize herself with American life and ancestry.

BIG SISTERS HOLD MEETING TUESDAY

Big and Little Sister vespers will be held Tuesday, Oct. 2. Plans for this meeting were made at the first regular meeting of the Big Sister board yesterday.

Hobby group leaders were chosen, and additional girls who left their names at the friendship corners were given Big Sisters.

Florence Buxman will have charge of the Big Sister board exhibits at the All-Activities tea on Oct. 4. Breta Peterson will be in charge of all music.

LINCOLN'S CHURCHES SPONSOR ANNUAL OPEN HOUSES FRIDAY NIGHT

Lincoln churches will be hosts to old and new students of the university on Friday night, September 28, which has been designated as All-University Church Night. Churches of all denominations participate in this annual event which is sponsored by the Council of Religious Welfare. The night is closed to other functions by university ruling.

Approximately twenty-five of the churches are expected to hold receptions for students Friday night at 8 o'clock. Themes for the events at the several churches vary from a western roundup planned by the Evangelical churches to a Century of Progress tour by the Presbyterians. Another highlight will be the Catholic reception in the Newman club rooms in the Temple.

All students are invited to attend the open house of their respective church. The slogan announced for the event is "Find your church home."

Plans of all denominations will be revealed later this week. Lutherans of the Missouri and Wisconsin synods have announced plans to meet Friday at the parish house, 13th and H streets. Those of the Augustana, Danish, American and United Lutheran synods will meet at the First Lutheran church, 17th and A streets. Presbyterian students will gather at the Manse, 333 No. 14th street.

Tassels Hold First Of a Series of Pep Luncheons Tuesday

Literally bubbling over with enthusiasm, and with football shoes, footballs, and banners providing a fit setting, Tassels girls' pep club, sixty strong, gathered at the Grand hotel Tuesday for the first of a series of pep luncheons being held this week in connection with their athletic ticket sales drive.

Louise Hossack, president of the group, assumed the role of toastmaster and introduced Coach D. X. Bible, athletic director, and Glen Skewes and Franklin Meier, varsity grid performers, who spoke briefly. They expressed the opinion that with many inexperienced and sophomore men on the team and with Nebraska facing its most difficult schedule in several years, all possible student support and enthusiasms would be needed to insure a successful grid season.

Altho the campaign opened late Monday afternoon in the midst of the bustle of school opening, and despite the fact they had just closed one strenuous drive, the Tassels were far from weary Tuesday as they compared notes on sales and campaign talks.

Monday evening, assisted by the Corn Cobs, Tassels canvassed sorority and fraternity houses during the dinner hour, leaving signs bearing the slogan "See a Tassel."

PHOTOS FOR 1935 CORNHUSKER MAY BE TAKEN AT ONCE

Friday Last Day Applications Will Be Received for Yearbook Staff.

ASK TYPISTS TO REPORT

Combined Class, Fraternity Pictures Offered at Lower Price.

The task of taking pictures for the Cornhusker, university annual, will begin at once, it was announced by Editor Frank Crabill Tuesday. Crabill urged that those who are to have their pictures taken for the publication make their appointments at once.

All pictures will be taken at the Rinehart-Marsden studio in the Capitol hotel building, according to Crabill, who also announced the prices for pictures to be published in the annual.

Call for Applicants. An additional call for applicants for positions on both the editorial and business staffs was also made by Crabill and Maynard Miller, business manager of the Cornhusker.

"Applications for positions are coming in slowly, especially from the male students, despite the fact that positively no applications will be taken after 5 p. m. Friday," Crabill announced. "Official announcement of appointments will probably be made early next week."

Departments in which but a few are apparently interested include sports, senior, junior, fraternity, Ag college, military, and studio editor departments.

Crabill and Miller also announced that girls who are typists, may report for work at the Cornhusker office any afternoon.

Special Offer. The price of pictures, according to the schedule announced by Miller, are $1.25 for fraternity or sorority pictures, and $2.50 for junior or senior pictures.

A special offer for those having both class and either fraternity or sorority pictures taken at a combine price of $2.75 is also included on the price schedule.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS SELECT 'SHINING HOUR'

Drama Chosen Is a Brilliant English Play; Season Begins Oct. 8.

"The Shining Hour," brilliant English drama by Keith Winters, has been selected by the University Players to open their season of productions in the Temple theater on Oct. 8.

This play, which Director Harold "Pete" Sumption says is one of the best ever produced on Broadway, has been substituted for "The Milky Way," which originally was slated as the opening play by the Players. "The Milky Way" will be produced later in the season, according to Sumption.

"The Shining Hour," which enjoys long runs in London, on Broadway and on the west coast, deals with the experiences of a typical English family of the gentlemen-farmer class.

The play was first produced at the Booth theater in New York City by Max Gordon, well known theater impresario.

Rehearsals for the play have already begun, but a definite announcement of the cast will not be made until later in the week.

Theta Sigs Postpone Date First Meeting

Theta Sigma Phi's first meeting has been postponed until Thursday, Sept. 27, at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall because of conflicting dates with the Y. W. C. A. vespers. At that time a secretary will be elected to replace Margaret Easterday who did not return to school.

USE OF PERMANENT DECORATIONS GAINED FOR VARSITY PARTY

12 Piece Orchestra Secured; Evening of Wyoming Grid Game.

"Wyoming Roundup," the second varsity party of the year, will be held in the coliseum Saturday evening, Sept. 29, in celebration of the Wyoming football game that afternoon. Music will be that of Freddie Ebener's orchestra from the Hotel Fontenelle in Omaha, and dancing will begin at 8:30.

Permanent decorations in the coliseum will be used for the first time this season, transforming the hall into a ballroom with a canopy of blue velvet completely covering the overhead girders.

The orchestra, a 12 piece aggregation led by Freddie Ebener, is well known to local dancers, and its popularity in Omaha has brought the band a renewal of its long engagement at the Fontenelle. One entertainer, Irene Daire, will accompany the band here Saturday.

Varsity parties, of which nine were scheduled for the present school year, are staged by the Barb Council, whose membership is divided into the following committees:

Orchestra, Jim Marvin, chairman, Marjorie Filley, Charles Rochford; Publicity, Gene Dalby, chairman, Irvin Ryan, Evelyn Diamond; Chaperones, Bonnie Spanggaard, chairman, Theodora Lohrman, Ruth Hornbuckle.

Display, John Stover, chairman, Alvin Kieeb, Bill Newcomer, Elmer Heyne; Decorations, Margaret Medlar, chairman, Marion Jackson, and Verla Chapman.

About 450 couples attended the first Varsity Party held last Saturday evening. Dress for all varsity parties is informal.

FACULTY MEMBERS HOSTS AT AG AFFAIR

Annual Student Reception Held in Activities Building.

Faculty members of the college of agriculture will be host to old and new ag students Saturday night at 8 o'clock when the annual ag faculty-student reception is held in the Activities building on the ag campus.

The reception will be for all students of the college of agriculture, including home economics and ag engineering students as well as graduate students.

General entertainment for all, to be announced later, will open the evening's program to be followed later by games, special stunts, dancing, and a grand march.

Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett will be in the receiving line with Dean and Mrs. Wesley Burr, Miss Margaret Feide, Miss Florence McGahey, and Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson.

TASSELS OUT FOR NEW HIGH RECORD

Women Pepsters Report More Than 325 Orders During First Few Hours of Campaign as Demand For Season Cardboards Increases.

ORGANIZATION MEETS DAILY FOR PEP LUNCH

Mortar Boards, Innocents, Corn Cobs Cooperate to Back Intensive Canvass; Reserved Seat Blocks to Be Assigned by Lot Thursday Afternoon.

As members of Tassels, full of enthusiasm over a first day's success in their student athletic ticket sales drive, met for their first pep luncheon Tuesday noon, reports of record sales came from the scarlet sweatered saleswomen. More than three hundred and twenty-five orders had been taken during the first few hours of the campaign.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES CONTROL OF RALLIES

Meeting in special session, the student council will dispose of the question of control of pep rallies at its first official meeting of the year Wednesday at 5 o'clock. The Innocents have been delegated management of the pep demonstrations for the past several years but indications Tuesday were that a different disposition might be made this fall.

No other business than the rallies will be considered Wednesday, Jack Fischer, council president stated.

Sixty women pepsters met Tuesday noon at the Grand Hotel. The saleswomen reported ticket sales during the early hours of the intensive drive. Head Coach D. X. Bible and lettermen Franklin Meier and Glen Skewes spoke briefly at the pep luncheon.

Coach Bible encouraged the enthusiastic campaigners, stressing the fact that what the 1934 Cornhuskers lack in experience will be made up by speed and spirit of the student body. "The Tassels have proven themselves dependable, they have the spirit and enthusiasm it takes to put the drive across," he said.

More noon luncheon pep meetings will be held today and Thursday. Louise Hossack, Tassels president and campaign manager, presided during the meetings. Other speakers have been secured for today's and Thursday's noon events. It has been indicated by members of the group that they expect the best and most successful campaign in history by the time it terminates Saturday.

Drive Peak Thursday. Altho the first noon luncheon reports indicated that a record sale will be made, the peak of the campaign is not expected to be reached until some time today or tomorrow, it was indicated. Drawings for blocks of seats will be made Thursday afternoon at five, and when the large fraternity and sorority orders come in sales totals will take a tremendous jump, it was predicted.

Ann Bunting, past president of Tassels and manager of last year's campaign, stated yesterday afternoon that the drive compared very well with that a year ago. "In fact I believe that the total number of sales will be far ahead of last year when the campaign is ended," she said.

Four Groups Co-operate. Every possible effort is being made to reach every student during the week's canvass. Innocents, Mortar Board and Corn Cobs are co-operating with the women's organization to make the drive a success. A rally was held Tuesday.

Persian Student Finds Official Orders Baffling

Government ways and methods are often bewildering to citizens of all countries, but Fatullah K. Mostofi is convinced that Persian procedures are the most baffling.

Two years ago Mostofi came from Persia to enter the arts and science college of the university as a pre-med student. This fall he entered Harvard medical school, only to receive a communication from Persian officials stating that he was to take an education course.

After journeying to Washington, D. C., Mostofi found that nothing could be done about the situation until the Persian ambassador had communicated with the government.

Consequently Mostofi is back at Nebraska taking a few courses in education and wondering what will happen next. His chief difficulty, he says, is that about fifteen people every day ask him if he was "booted out of Harvard."

"It's most embarrassing," stated the tall Persian, "I find myself stumbling with explanations all the time and my answers seem only to confuse me and my friends the more."

When asked why he was obligated to do as his government demanded, Mostofi explained that he was being sent to school by the government and would give his services to his country when his education was completed.

WEDNESDAY EDITION OF NEBRASKAN LAST FREE ISSUE OF PAPER

Special One Dollar Rate for Year Expires Saturday, September 29.

Adhering to the age-old adage that "enough is enough," Wednesday's edition of the Daily Nebraskan is the last which will be issued free to students, Dick Schmidt, business manager of the publication, announced Tuesday. No student who has not subscribed to the campus daily will be able to obtain copies at the distribution booths after Wednesday, Schmidt declared.

Voicing his belief that issuance of the free Nebraskan has firmly established the campus daily with the student body as a whole, Schmidt said he expected subscription sales to continue at a rapid rate.

Anticipate Increased Circulation. "We believe that the "Be Campus Conscious" campaign conducted by the Nebraskan has firmly convinced the students of the necessary place the paper occupies in campus activities," Schmidt said. "Response to the circulation campaign has been far better to date than was anticipated and our circulation will probably exceed last year's by a considerable margin."

Students who have not yet subscribed must do so by Saturday if they wish to get their copies under the special rate of $1 for the school year, Schmidt warned, adding.

WHITMAN, JOHNSON TO HEAD BULLETIN STAFF

New Editors Start Work On Law Publication Sept. 25.

With the naming of Merrill Whitman and Wilbur Johnson as student editor-in-chief and assistant editor respectively, work on the Nebraska Law Bulletin commenced Tuesday. The remaining members of the staff are, seniors: Donald Shirley, Homer Wiltsie, Duane Peterson, Herman Rosenblatt, Robert Rathbun; and juniors: David Warner, Harry Foster, Flavie Wright, Justin Wolfe, Seymour Sidner, Meredith Nelson and Harry West.

Members of the staff were chosen on a basis of ability, scholarship and legal research, it was announced.

The Law Bulletin, published under the instruction of Lester B. Orfield, associate professor of law, is issued quarterly, the forthcoming volume being the thirteenth. The publication contains comments on cases of divers Nebraska courts, and on cases appealed to higher courts. Each issue carries also an article by some faculty member on a phase of Nebraska law, notes on recent cases, and a Bar Association section, containing contributions from members of the Nebraska Bar.
