COBS ASK HAWKEYES BE GUESTS AT PARTY

Pep Organization's Saturday Night Frolic Climax To Game.

COLORED BAND TO PLAY

Members of the Iowa football team have been invited to attend the Corn Cob frolic to be held Saturday, Oct. 13 in the university coliseum. With the party planned as a climax of the day's activities officers of the pep organization conducting the affair thought it appropriate that the Scarle's opponents on the gridiron that afternoon be extended invitations.

Corn Cob's squad of Big Ten championship contenders will not leave Lincoln until midnight Saturday, and the bids are hoped, by members of the men's pep club, to aid in the creation of good will between the two schools.

Arrangements for the use of the permanent decorations in the coliseum has been made, according to an announcement by Irving Hill, president of the society.

"The Dixie Ramblers," colored Negro orchestra from Omaha, will entertain. "Red Perkins and his twelve piece orchestra, formerly playing in Husker circles, were well received by many students," Irving Hill, president of the pep organization, stated.

The frolic, a highlight of the fall social season, encountered temporary difficulties when Corn Cobs failed to secure permission from the faculty committee. Meeting, however, with representatives of Corn Cobs and members of the fun-vents society, the committee decided that their sanction would be given the pep club to hold its previously announced party.

Co-operation of the fraternity and sorority houses on the campus was secured despite the short notice given them by the pep organization. "Practically all the houses have responded generously by postponing their affairs until later dates," Irving Hill said.

The purpose of the frolic is to secure funds for the Corn Cobs so they may be enabled to continue as an active organization on the campus. Deprived of their sale of football programs and threatened with extinction, the Corn Cobs scheduled the affair as a means of maintaining their existence.

NORRIS ADDRESSES LEAGUE OF WOMEN

Senator George W. Norris will address the League of Women Voters Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Delta Upsilon house. The subject of the senator's talk will be "Unimercer Legislature."

Members may bring guests to the affair, and according to Mrs. A. D. Schrag, who is in charge, there will be about 250 attending.

Publication Grid Battle Postponed Till Friday, Oct. 19

After a barrage of intra-office communications and much verbal wrangling, it was decided Wednesday that the football game between the Cornhusker and Daily Nebraskan, upon which hangs the publications championship, will be postponed until Friday, Oct. 19.

The fact that their editor and business manager would be out of town this week end was the reason advanced by the Cornhusker for the delay, but it was suspected by the Nebraskan News-boys that their arch-rivals were only stalling for time to aly recruit players from other campus publications.

PEP RALLY FEATURES HUGE TORCH PARADE ON FRIDAY EVENING

KFOR Will Broadcast Main Part of Program From 7:15 to 7:30.

When Nebraska football fans assemble for Friday night's huge pep demonstration, the stands will be illuminated with flaming torches. Members of the student rally committee are expecting the largest crowd of grid enthusiasts ever gathered the night before an important game.

Radio station KFOR will broadcast the main part of the program from 7:15 until 7:30. Radio listeners, as well as rallying students will hear from Coach D. X. Bible, game captain, Bud Parsons and leaders of the student body. An effort is being made to secure Coach Ossi Solem and Iowa's ace back, Dick Crane, for the program.

Members of the R. O. T. C. band, Corn Cobs, Tassels, and Innocents are co-operating to make this the biggest and most successful rally this fall. Fraternity and sorority chapters will be asked to co-operate, as will other organized groups.

There will be a special police escort for the parade to the stadium. Fire department officials have indicated their sanction for the burning torches.

Starting promptly at 6:45, the procession will move east from the Temple to 16th and R sts., then north to Vine st., and west to the stadium. "It will be absolutely necessary to have the crowd in the stadium before 7:15, since the broadcast will start then," Fred Nicklas, committee chairman stated yesterday.

A definite program for the speakers, band and cheer leaders has been arranged for the fifteen minute broadcast.

The success of the two rallies already conducted this year indicates that the committee will not be disappointed in Friday night's turn-out, it was stated.

"This will be the most spectacular and outstanding rally students of the campus have had the opportunity to witness for years," other members of the committee declared.

SECOND NEBRASKAN CLASS ON SATURDAY

Reporters to be Instructed in Fundamentals of Newswriting.

News sources, features, and lead writing are topics to be discussed with beginning reporters at the second newswriting class Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Nebraska office, according to members of the editorial staff who are conducting the class.

The first meeting was held last Saturday when fundamentals of proper news construction were outlined. Instruction included the requisites for good leads, arrangement of subject matter and some of the grammatical rules applying to newswriting. According to the staff, these classes will comprise a condensed course in the essentials of reporting.

"All students really interested in working on the student newspaper are urged to attend these classes, as regular beats will be assigned according to ability shown and regularity in attending these news classes," declared Lorraine Bible, managing editor of the publication.

Professors of History and Political Science Doubt War Possibilities as Result of Alexander Assassination

No great alarm over possibilities of either internal or international disturbances as the result of the assassination of King Alexander and Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, was shown by members of the political science and history departments who could be reached for statements Wednesday.

"I don't see why France should be held responsible in the late assassination of King Alexander as Barthou, France's foreign minister was also killed," declared Professor Hill of the political science department. "With the facts we have on hand there doesn't seem to be any immediate danger of war. It is difficult to speak definitely, however, since vital facts in connection with the tragedy may not be generally known."

Hill Believes France Absolved. Professor Hill felt also that the fact that the assassin was a Yugoslavian Serb would tend to absolve France from any blame in connection with the affair.

"The assassination of King Alexander indicates the inevitable consequences of a dictatorship," stated Professor Felman of the political science department. "Where you deny the right of criticism, the ruler must be removed by bullets instead of ballots."

Going further into the matter of the assassination Felman asserted that the prevention of any opportunity for normal expression can result only in the adoption of abnormal methods. A regime based on violence must assume the possibility of violent opposition.

Expect No Serious Disorder. In regard to the possibilities of a subsequent war, Professor Felman declared, "The country of Yugoslavia is a combination of Serbs and Croations. Alexander, a full blooded Serb, ruled accordingly and maintained a government filled mainly with Serbians. The Croations felt some resentment over their lack of eminence in political matters. The national army, however, is a splendid one, and I doubt whether there will be any serious internal disorders."

Professor Cochran of the history department reported dryly that it would be necessary for him to be at the scene of the tragedy in order to venture an opinion of the probable result. "I do not, however, look for any serious result," he stated.
