YOUNG POLITICAL CLUB TO DEBATE NEW DEAL PHASES

Liberties Under the Present Administration to Be Discussed.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

Affair Will Be Staged in Cornhusker Ballroom Wednesday.

The "New Deal" will come in for its share of campus attention this week as the Young Democratic club and the Young Republicans get together Wednesday night, Oct. 24, to debate the proposition: "Resolved: That the American people are being deprived of their liberties under the New Deal." The event is scheduled to be held in the Hotel Cornhusker ballroom.

The following statement was jointly issued Saturday by Robert Douglas, chairman of the speakers' bureau for the Young Republicans, and Adrian News, chairman for the Young Democrats, concerning the proposed debate:

"Believing in public discussions concerning governmental matters and seeking to stimulate interest among the young people in better government the Young Republican club accepts the challenge of the Young Democratic club to debate the question: Resolved that the American people are being deprived of their liberties under the new deal. The debate will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m., Oct. 24, 1934, in the ballroom of the Cornhusker hotel. The debate will consist of two speakers for each side and each will be allowed fifteen minutes for direct argument and five minutes for rebuttal."

"This debate pertains directly to the question being battled out in every campaign outstate," declared Lester Prokop, president of the campus Young Democrats, "and should be of interest to every Young Republican and Young Democrat attending the university. The Young Democrats of the university are very enthusiastic and the entire membership is planning to attend."

John Stover, head of the university Young Republican club, asserted that "this debate has the definite support of the Young Republican club of the university. We feel that every university student who is interested in politics should plan to attend the event. The debate should have a special appeal inasmuch as the sponsoring organizations are composed to a great extent of university or past university students."

"Such events offer definite opportunity to university students to become better acquainted with the present policies and platforms of our government and also of the political parties."

The challenge for the debate originated at Grand Island by the Hall county Young Democratic club and was accepted by the Lancaster county Young Republican club. Membership in each organization is confined to young men and women between the ages of 16 and 36 and the debaters will be members of their respective clubs.

Dr. Merritt C. Pedersen, president of the Lincoln Junior chamber of commerce, will preside and introduce the speakers whose names are to be announced later.

FRESH COMMISSION LEADERS ENTERTAIN

185 Girls Are Expected to Attend Tea Thursday at Ellen Smith.

Freshman commission leaders will entertain the members of the freshman commission groups at a tea Thursday, October 25, at Ellen Smith Hall. It is expected that 185 girls will attend.

Elsie Fountain, membership chairman of the Y. W. C. A., and Arlene Bors, chairman of the commission leaders, have charge of the arrangements. During the afternoon a moving picture film "Fifty Years of Y. W. C. A. at Nebraska University," will be shown. This is a picture taken of the pageant given last year at Carrie Bell Raymond hall in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of Y. W. C. A. on the campus. Musical numbers will complete the program.

Freshman commission leaders who will be hostesses at the tea are: Gladys Klopp, Faith Arnold, Marjorie Smith, Bash Perkins, Ann Fickett, Violet Cross, Corinne Clafin and Lois Rathburn.

MUSICAL HONORARY ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Chamber Music Featured At Affair Saturday Afternoon.

Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary musical sorority, entertained at an afternoon musicale and tea at the governor's mansion from 3 to 5 o'clock Saturday, Oct. 20. Chamber music was featured during the afternoon.

Autumn colors predominated in the decorations, and miniature pictures of the capitol building were used as covers for the program booklets. Tea was poured by Mrs. Harriet Platt and Mrs. A. R. Congdon. Mrs. Bryan received at the door. Assisting her were Ruth Haberly and Marion Miller.

Eunice Bingham, violin; Garnet Mayhew, cello, and Marion Miller, piano, entertained the guests with chamber music during the afternoon program.

The Mu Phi Founders' day banquet will be Oct. 27, according to an announcement made by Inez Dovel. Definite plans have not yet been revealed.

MALY NAMED GUEST SPEAKER FOR BIZAD BANQUET THURSDAY

'International Aspects of Depression' Subject Of Talk.

Stanley Maly, Lincoln, will be principal speaker at the Annual Recognition banquet of the College of Business Administration, Thursday, Oct. 25. It was announced Saturday by Hugh Rathburn, president of the Bizad executive council.

Mr. Maly, vice president of the First National bank and past president of Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, will use as the topic of his speech, "International Aspects of the Depression."

A second speaker on the program, not yet named, will have as the subject of his talk, "Degree With Distinction," Rathburn stated. The address will probably be given by a professor of the college, he indicated.

Presentation of honors received by Bizad students the past year will be made at the affair by Dean J. E. LeRossignol. Included in the list of awards is the gold key of Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity, annual prize of Delta Sigma Pi to high ranking students and membership into Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary group. The high ranking senior woman will be presented the gold key of Phi Chi Theta, professional sorority, and winners of ten gold keys given to freshmen students by William Gold, Lincoln, will be named.

The banquet is to be held at Grand Hotel Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, Rathburn stated, and will be over at 8:30 p. m.

SIGMA XI ARRANGES MONTHLY PROGRAMS

Second in Series of 8 to Be Speeches on Antiquity of American Man.

Programs for the eight monthly meetings of the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary science society, were arranged last week at the opening session, Dr. D. A. Worcester of the teachers' college is president of the chapter, and Emma Anderson, assistant professor of botany at the university, is secretary for the year.

Prof. C. M. Duff, professor of applied mechanics at the university, gave an illustrated lecture on the first program last Monday evening with the subject, "The Construction of Highways in Nebraska."

Monday, Nov. 5, at Omaha, the chapter will hear Dr. E. E. Bell and Dr. William Van Royen of the university of anthropology and geography departments respectively, discuss "Problems Involved in Determining the Antiquity of Man in America."

Dec. 10, Dr. J. E. Weaver, professor of plant ecology at the university, is to present an illustrated lecture on "The Effect of the Great Drought on the Native Vegetation."

Jan. 14 Dr. E. L. Hooper of the university college of dentistry will show pictures and speak on "The Restoration and Maintenance of Form After the Loss of Natural Teeth."

Dr. J. S. Latta, professor of anatomy at the university, speaks on the Feb. 4 program on "The Biology of the Blood." During either March or April Sigma Xi holds a joint meeting with Phi Beta Kappa, scholarship society. At the other program Dr. A. F. Jensen of the university psychology department will discuss "Recent Developments in Hypnotism." For the concluding program of the year in May the annual dinner will be held and a presidential address will be given by Dr. T. A. Kieselbach, professor of agronomy at the university.

INNOCENTS CALL FOR MORE FIGHT SONGS SATURDAY

Members Desire Large Field From Which to Choose New Anthem.

$20 CASH PRIZE OFFERED

Society Extends Invitations To Orchestra Leaders to Act as Judges.

More entries in the contest to find a new Nebraska fight song were called for Saturday by the Innocents society, sponsors of the competition. It was stated by members of the organization that they wish to have a large field from which to choose as soon as possible so that the new anthem may be presented not later than the Pittsburgh game.

Invitations have been extended to several nationally prominent orchestra leaders to act as judges of the songs, it was announced last week by the senior honorary society. A special effort is being made to obtain men who have attended college and whose orchestras feature college songs on their programs.

Contest Open to Anyone. To the composer of the winning selection will go the cash prize of $20. Competition, which is scheduled to close Nov. 1, is open to everyone outside the university as well as students and faculty members. Those wishing to submit the music or words may do so and an effort will be made to secure some one to complete the song.

Camera Club Photographs Exhibited in Morrill Hall

For the next two weeks the university fine arts department is exhibiting a group of camera club photographs from California. The group of Taft and San Jose have sent the work of their camera clubs to be shown in Gallery A of Morrill hall.

LIBRARIANS PLAN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Gilbert Doane, Miss Nellie Compton Will Travel to Kearney Conclave.

Several members of the University library staff plan to attend the meetings of the Nebraska Library association in Kearney Oct. 24, 25, and 26. Among them will be Gilbert H. Doane, librarian, and Nellie J. Compton, assistant librarian. Miss Compton's brother, Charles H. Compton, president of the American Library association and the associate librarian in the St. Louis public library, will speak at the meeting. Mr. Compton, a graduate of the university in 1901, will be the guest of his sister in Lincoln Saturday and Sunday.

STUDENTS ESTABLISH CAMPUS PHYSICS CLUB

Bruce Heater Unanimously Elected President at Friday Meeting.

MARVIN APPROVES IDEA

For the purpose of founding a campus physics club, fifteen men met last Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in room 202 of Brace Lab. Bruce Heater, physics major, was unanimously elected president. In drawing up the plan of the organization, the group decided that no other officers were necessary. The president is to serve as long as he satisfies the requirements in the minds of the members. The only requisite for membership is an interest in physics.

Conceived by undergraduate physics students, the club has grown out of the efforts of Mr. Heater, who has been working on the idea to hold bi-weekly meetings at which talks and demonstrations will be given either by members or by outside speakers. Relative to the character of the meetings, Heater stated, "The society's informal sessions will consist of talks and demonstrations followed by mass discussions."

Dr. H. H. Marvin, head of the physics department, said, "There is a definite need for such a society where those pursuing the science of physics can get to know one another and collaborate on their research discoveries." The club is to have the privilege of using the university equipment and it will also have the cooperation of the faculty. Assistant Professors Roth and Rust will sponsor the meetings.

At the first regular session of the organization at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Nov. 2, Prof. Rust will talk on his research work as well as perform several experiments. Any one interested in this kind of work is invited to attend, according to Heater.

Classic Football Tilt Won Friday By Cornhusker

Cornhusker, the publication football champs! Such was the 1935 yearbook staff, crowned Friday afternoon. For the Cornhusker vanquished their time honored rivals, the Daily Nebraskan, in a thrilling, hard fought game played before a small group of staunch supporters gathered on the drill field, to the tune of 19 to 0.

Frank Crabb and his "Husker" players retained their championship over two years ago by a 6 to 0 count. Relations between the two teams were severed, due to serious difficulties encountered in negotiating such a conflict, but in 1934 the Nebraskan and Cornhusker under the coaching of Faith Armstrong.

'Slangage' Receives Boost Out of Gutter With Publication of Maurice Weseen's 'American Slang Dictionary'

"Slangage," for centuries the vulgar step-brother of language, will receive a boost out of the gutter Monday, Oct. 22, when the "Dictionary of American Slang," by Maurice H. Weseen, associate professor of English, will be published. For, in the preface to the ambitious work, consisting of approximately 16,000 definitions, elaborately classified as to origin. Professor Weseen states that slang is the "probationary period of language," "the training school for new expressions," and that it helps to keep the language vital and supple.

The Weseen dictionary, a volume of about 450 pages, contains the "slangage" peculiar to every known walk of American life, from the sawdust arena to the underworld, and back to the area of "colleagues and coedmas." The material, according to the author, was gathered chiefly from reading and personal contacts, one of his most colorful sources being the colleges of the country, where, Weseen claims, much of the current slang originates.

In section thirteen of the book, "College Slang," has been gathered more novel twists of speech than the vocabulary of any living "Joe College" could possibly embrace. Included there, with con-

MOTHERS ASKED TO JOIN IN DAD'S DAY FESTIVITIES

Dean Thompson Scheduled to Speak at Luncheon on Saturday, Oct. 27.

TICKETS SALE MONDAY

Committee Sets Ducat Sale Goal at 300; Confident of Reaching Mark.

Mothers will be equally welcome at the Dad's Day festivities scheduled Saturday, Oct. 27, it was declared Saturday by members of the Innocents society, in charge of the Dad's Day luncheon. "Contrary to general belief that the luncheon is only for dads, mothers are more than welcome at the affair," stated Burton Marvin, chairman of the committee.

T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs, is scheduled as one of the speakers at the annual event, it was announced Saturday. Other members of the university administration and faculty will also be on hand, as well as representatives of the student body to extend greetings to the visiting parents.

Tickets for the luncheon, which is to be held at the chamber of commerce, go on sale Monday morning, according to plans outlined by the Innocents committee. The affair had originally been scheduled at the Lincoln hotel, but the senior honorary felt that since the get together meeting with the parents had been held for several years at the chamber of commerce, it would be suitable to hold it at (Continued on Page 3.)

GOVERNMENT PRAISES EXTENSION PROJECTS

Federal Relief Officials Plan To Expand Similar Work Over Country.

48 CENTERS APPROVED

Federal relief officials are praising the university extension division for its "white collar" projects, according to Dr. A. A. Reed, director of university extension, who was in Washington last week. After conferences with several heads of the educational divisions of the FERA, Dr. Reed found them in accord with the work in Nebraska, and found them making plans to expand similar projects over the country.

He conferred with Dr. L. R. Alderman, national director of education under the FERA; J. M. Shields, educational organizer of professional projects; and Director Marsh, heading the educational work for CCC camps.

With the help of FERA funds, the university division is making a study of correspondence courses and self-teaching materials for the purpose of improving the curriculums in the elementary grades of small schools, and enabling high schools to offer more subjects. Federal authorities indicated they would suggest such a project to states as worthwhile employment for the professional workers.

Dr. Reed submitted to the university division (Continued on Page 4.)

GAME WON IN LAST MINUTES OF PLAY

Sam Francis Plunges Through Oklahoma's Strong Forwards From 1-Yard Line to Secure Touchdown During Final Moments of Contest.

NEBRASKA OVER FIRST BARRIER TITLE DEFENSE

Sooners Pile Up 7 First Downs to 0 for Scarlet and Cream During First Half; Cardwell, Bauer, Skewes Lead Husker Comeback in Second Round.

By ARNOLD LEVINE.

Sam Francis stood poised behind his line of scrimmage. The clock at the end of the playing field showed five minutes left. For fifty-five long minutes, two stellar teams of Nebraska Scarlet and Oklahoma White had seen-sawed viciously over the turf of Owen field, at Norman, fighting desperately for a chance at the Big Six grid title.

Both teams threatened, both goal lines had remained uncrossed. Now the ball rested on the 1 yard line, first down, goal to go. The crowd of 15,000 rose expectantly. Big Sam poised, the ball was snapped, the Scarlet rampart surged forward. Into the grinding melee of humanity, head up, knees driving viciously, went Francis. The Oklahoma wall sagged, bent, was broken, as 190 pounds of dynamic ability hurled into its midst. The referee's whistle shrilled, both hands were raised, and a great "6" appeared opposite "Nebraska" on the scoreboard.

Six Points Unthreatened. It matters not that Sam failed to convert on a line buck, those six points remained unthreatened, and the final gun banged with Nebraska a six point victor over Oklahoma, and with the first barrier to a successful defense of the title well cleared.

The game ended as dramatically as previous events had led to anticipate. It was packed full of drama, thrills, excitement for the rash challengers who viewed the renewal of an ancient interstate classic. It also afforded Nebraska fans, ever loyal to the cause of the Scarlet and Cream, a wonderful opportunity to rise up with the time honored "I told you so," and the whole state of Nebraska resounded to the call.

For Oklahoma fans far and wide had looked forward to the downfall of the mighty, overpowering Huskers at the hands of their veteran combination. The challenge had been flung, and news from the Redlands had been to the effect that the Sooners had come into their own as a Big Six contender, and that the Red and White would wave over the conference in preference to the Scarlet and Cream.

Huskers Doped to Win. The pre-game dopers had picked Nebraska, by a small margin, with the added inflection that Oklahoma might pull a surprise. And the Sooners started right out as if it was their afternoon to pull surprises.

Running the Nebraska ends, skirting inside tackle, passing where needed, the Red and White shoved the Huskers all over the field during the first half, and left the ball on the one line, and having completed 7 first downs to 0 for Nebraska. Things looked dark for the Scarlet gridders, what with Steinbock returning punts for long yardage, and "Nig" Robertson and Ben Poyner cracking through the line for precious yardage.

Husker Attack Held Off. The Husker attack didn't have any chance to begin anything on their own hook. The ball was never back of Oklahoma's 29 yard line during the first two periods, and when the Red and White did lose possession, it was only won by Cash Gentry booting the ball far down the field and usually outside (Continued on Page 4.)

INCREASE IN GRADUATE STUDENT ROLL TO 415

20 More Over Report of Year Ago; 137 Study for Master Degree.

Graduate students registered at the university number 415 for the first semester of this year, according to a report issued Saturday from the graduate college. This number is an increase of 20 over the report a year ago. Although five fewer women were enrolled at present, the registration of men has grown from 245 to 270.

Of this group 137 are working toward the degree of master of arts, and 79 are studying toward the degree of doctor of philosophy. Among the candidates 54 seek the degree of master of science; three the professional civil engineering degree; and one the degree of master of architecture.

From the total number of registered students 274 have signified their intentions of seeking higher degrees. The remaining persons are those who have enrolled for graduate work as a postgraduate study course, without applying for a specific graduate degree.

Of those registered as candidates in the various departments, the report shows 32 enrolled in chemistry; 23 studying school administration; and 21 desiring degrees in history. Other departments with good enrollments are: botany with 18; English with 16, and 13 for geography.

WAITE JOINS WATER SURVEY DEPARTMENT

Herbert Waite has returned to the university conservation and survey division after two years of water survey investigating work for the government in Kansas and New Mexico. He will be in charge of the water table readings to be carried on in Nebraska in co-operation with the United States geological survey. L. K. Wenzel of the water survey department of the federal survey has been in this state since spring locating wells from which the water table levels are to be recorded. (Continued on Page 3.)

TWENTY REPORTERS ATTEND NEWS CLASS

Nebraskan Editors Announce Beat Assignments to Be Given Next Week.

Practice stories and criticism of feature stories written last week held the attention of more than twenty aspirants for reporter positions on the Daily Nebraskan who attended the weekly news-writing class under the direction of the editorial staff.

Schedule cards will be filled out during this week by those trying for regular beats, and assignments will probably be made the last of the week. It was stated by the managing editors, "These assignments, however, may be changed," declared Lamoine Rible. "If we find a reporter lagging behind and not covering his beat regularly, we will assign it to someone who has proven his interest and desire to work."

It was indicated by the staff that the news-writing classes would be continued after assignment of beats. Correction of practice stories written Saturday morning is scheduled to take up most of the time at the next session.
