Political Clubs to Debate New Deal

YOUNG DEMOCRATS MEET REPUBLICANS

Question of Liberties of American People Under Present Administration Will Be Discussed in Cornhusker Ball Room.

AFFAIR SCHEDULED FOR 7:30 WEDNESDAY P. M. Russell Mattson and Lee Rankin Take G. O. P. Side Of Proposition While Irving Hill and James Gleason Provide the Opposition.

Campus interest in state and national political affairs seems due for a boom this week as two debates on the questions now confronting voters of the state are presented during the course of the week.

The first gun of the week's word battle will be fired Wednesday night when two teams from the Young Democratic and Young Republican clubs get together Wednesday night in the Cornhusker ball room to argue the question, "Resolved: That the American people are being deprived of their liberties under the new deal." The event is scheduled at 7:30.

Irving Hill of the university and James Gleason of Omaha are the members of the Young Democrats' team and C. Russell Mattson and J. Lee Rankin are to take the affirmative side of the question for the Young Republican club.

According to Lester Prokop and John Stover, heads of the two campus political clubs the Wednesday night debate should have a special appeal to the campus inasmuch as the sponsoring organizations are composed to a great extent of university or past university students.

"Such events offer definite opportunity to university students to become better acquainted with the present policies and platforms of our government and also of the political parties," they declared.

The challenge for the debate originated at Grand Island by the Hall county Young Democrats club and was formally accepted Saturday by the Lancaster county Young Republican club. Merritt C. Pedersen, president of the Lincoln junior chamber of commerce, is to preside at the affair.

The climax to the week's political activities will be furnished by the Simmons-Burke debate Friday night, which has caused so much interest on the campus and through Lincoln that arrangements have been made to hold the affair in the university coliseum. Although the coliseum had been reserved for the teachers' convention, arrangements have been made for the (Continued on Page 4.)

PARTY SCHEDULED AS CLIMAX TO DAD'S DAY

Permanent Decorations Will Be Used for Affair; Fathers Invited.

Third varsity party of the season is scheduled as the climax to Dad's Day festivities on the campus Saturday evening, October 27. Dancing will begin in the Coliseum at 8:30.

Negotiations are in progress with several nationally famous orchestras now touring this part of the country, but none had been signed as yet.

Permanent decorations will be used in the Coliseum, according to Margaret Medlar, vice chairman of the Barb Council, who is in charge of this party.

"Dads and mothers are especially invited to attend," stated Miss Medlar, "and we are relying upon students to personally extend this invitation to their parents."

Varsity parties, of which nine are scheduled for the year, are sponsored by the Barb Council.

Saturday is a closed night to other university social functions and the largest crowd of the season is expected.

INNOCENTS OUTLINE COMPLETE LUNCHEON PLANS FOR DAD'S DAY

Johnson to Give Address of Welcome at Affair Saturday.

Complete plans for the Dad's Day luncheon to be held Saturday noon at the chamber of commerce were outlined Monday by members of Innocents society, sponsors of the affair.

Owen Johnson, president of the senior honorary society, will preside at the affair and give the address of welcome. Response will be given by some dad, who as yet had not been named. Chancellor A. E. Burnett and Dean T. J. Thompson are both scheduled to speak, and the main address will be given by John Curtis, district manager of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company.

Ticket sales for the affair got under way Monday afternoon with a goal of 300 set by the Innocents. Confidence of easily reaching that total was expressed by the group. Mothers as well as dads are welcome at the affair, it was declared by Burton Marvin, chairman of the Innocents committee on arrangements for the event.

Following the luncheon at the chamber of commerce the guests will go to Memorial stadium for the Iowa State-Nebraska grid battle and the day will be climaxed by the Dad's Day party in the coliseum.

Male Fly Lives At Slower Rate Than His Mate

Unlike its human contemporary, the male fly lives at a slower rate than the female. That is, it consumes less oxygen, and consequently has a slower rate of metabolism. And metabolism is a short way of describing the manner in which food becomes living matter in the body, and the living matter is broken down to be used for life.

Anyway, William G. Kucera, working with Dr. D. D. Whitney, chairman of the department of zoology at the University of Nebraska, has made a study of the "Oxygen Consumption in the Male and Female Fly, Drosophila Melanogaster." His findings were published in a recent issue of "Physiological Zoology."

Using young flies for his experiments, Mr. Kucera found that the female used more oxygen in a given time than the male, showing that she lived at a higher rate. This is not true in the human body, according to Dr. Whitney. He points out that the human male has five million red corpuscles to every cubic centimeter of blood; while the female has only 4.1-2 million to the cubic centimeter.

Faculty members in the economics department expressed their appreciation at the privilege of attendance extended them and pointed out the importance of the author and economist.

"Stuart Chase is a prominent author and reformer in the field of economics," Professor McNeill said, "and also his views are somewhat more radical than many economists, his talk should be interesting for he discusses current economic trends and an analysis of their import."

In order to be admitted, each student must show his identification card at the door of the coliseum. Faculty members may obtain tickets for themselves and (Continued on Page 4.)

JOHN AGEE POINTS OUT NEEDS OF UNIVERSITY

Alumni President Addresses Executive Committee And Directors.

FALSE ECONOMY DECRIED

Growing needs of the university and the importance of a fuller understanding of the importance of its functions were pointed out by John H. Agee, president of the Nebraska Alumni association, at a meeting of the members of the executive committee and board of directors held last week.

"With a registration this year of 600 more students than last year the problem of providing proper and adequate equipment as well as qualified instructors will be a most serious one which I believe the next legislature will fully recognize," Agee declared.

"While the strictest economy should be exercised in these times in the operation of all public institutions and every effort made to see that public money is spent efficiently so that the tax burden is made as light as possible upon the taxpayer, nevertheless, thinking people will most certainly agree that facilities for advanced education and training of future citizens of Nebraska should not be curtailed to the place where false economy results," he concluded.

Buried Weed Not Mystery, Only Part Botany Experiment, Authorities Find

Warren Medrow Forgot to Notify His Neighbors About Plans.

Discovery of a weed buried in a pipeful of sand in north Lincoln puzzled authorities of the state and county sheriff's office until the mystery was found to be nothing more than a student's experiment in botany, according to a story in the Evening State Journal.

Warren Medrow, university graduate student, forgot for the first time, Saturday, to notify neighbors near where he was engaged in digging for botanical experiments. His equipment was unearthed Sunday by strangers, and evolved into a first class mystery, which was finally cleared up by State Sheriff Benton. Sheriff Benton, who lives at the same address as Medrow, was much amused by the interest evoked in the burying and resurrection of the weed.

Medrow, who wants to get some data on the freezing of plants below ground, had buried the weed in a pipeful of sand six feet underground near the intersection of North Euclid avenue and 14th street.

INNOCENTS SONG CONTEST DRAWS OUTSIDE ENTRIES

Outstate Interest Shown in Competition Rapidly Increasing.

$20 AWARD TO WINNER

May Broadcast Work Over A Nation-Wide Hookup Before Pitt Tilt.

Outstate interest in the contest to find a new Nebraska fight song, which is being sponsored by the Innocents society, is rapidly increasing, according to the Innocent members in charge. Student interest has not been as great so far as it should be and those in charge plan to keep the contest open until a large number of entries are submitted, so they will be assured of finding a good song from them.

The alumni of the organization are very much in favor of the contest plan, which will bring $20 to the writer of the winning selection. Competition is scheduled to close Nov. 1, and is open not only to University of Nebraska students but also to all outsiders.

"We are bound to get a good Nebraska fight song," stated Jack Fischer, Innocent in charge of the contest, "even if we have to extend the limit at which the contest closes. A lively spirited song is what we are trying to find, so it makes no difference to us whether it is written by a student or not."

Special recognition is to be given to the winner of the contest and the song will probably be broadcast (Continued on Page 2.)

PROF. WERNER VESPER SPEAKER ON TUESDAY

"Education as a Preparation for Service," will be the topic upon which Prof. O. H. Werner of Teachers' college, will speak at the regular vespers service 5 o'clock Tuesday, Oct. 23, in Ellen Smith hall. Marjorie Smith will lead devotionalis.

A girls' sextette, under the direction of Violet Vaughn, choir leader, will offer, "How Sweet and Silent is the Place," by McDougall. Marguerite Tramp, Margaret Philippe, Helen Mashek, Elizabeth Moomaw, Grace Lewis, and Ruth Cheney compose the ensemble.

Due to the fact that the Y. W. C. A.'s attitude toward education is a major interest for this year, Miss Bernice Miller, general secretary, urges all Y. W. girls and those who are interested to attend Tuesday's vespers. Arrangements for enough chairs have been made to accommodate all those who come. Approximately 250 have been present at each service so far.

Mrs. Harrie Chamberlain, national president of the Y. W. C. A., will be the principal speaker at the membership vespers, Tuesday, Oct. 30.

MORTAR BOARDS OUST ALLIANCES

Members Senior Honorary Society Pledge Themselves To Program Designed to Take Lead in Abolishing Present Situation on Nebraska Campus.

RESOLUTION IS APPROVED BY DEAN HEPPNER

Organized House Presidents Give Unanimous Approval To the Movement Exterminating Undesirable Features of Women's Elections.

By THE OBSERVER.

Women's politics must be cleaned up. Such was the declaration of Mortar Board Monday as each member of the senior honorary society pledged herself to a program designed to take the lead in abolishing the present situation in women's political activities on the campus.

As the first step in the clean up of activities, presidents of all women's organized houses met with the Mortar Board members Monday afternoon, and after hearing an explanation of the resolution, unanimously joined with the senior group in the movement to exterminate undesirable features of women's elections which have become so noticeable during the past few years.

FELTMAN SPEAKER AT INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS MEETING

Fascism Topic of Speech to Be Given Thursday in Social Science.

"Fascism as a Social Movement" will be the subject covered by Prof. David Feltman of the political science department as he appears before the first meeting of the International Relations club Thursday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p. m. in Social Science 201.

Professor Feltman, who is a former member of the university debate squad has just returned from three years of work at Yale where he has studied the problem of fascism quite intensively, according to Vincent Broady, who is in charge of the meeting.

The International Relations club, which was the sponsor of several meetings on the campus last year, is supported by the Carnegie endowment for such organizations and has as its purpose the study of international affairs. A library is maintained on the campus by the group.

"It is the plan of the club to hold approximately four meetings during the year, taking up problems of international significance and so far as possible to have speakers well qualified on the subjects to be discussed," Broady declared.

Law Derby Won For First Time By Joseph Eyen

"Whereas, inasmuch as, besides which, and notwithstanding".... with such legal terms, the famous brown derby of the law school was conferred on Joseph Eyen Monday. The hat, given every week to the freshman making the worst "crack," was awarded for the first time this year at a meeting of the freshman class yesterday.

The custom was started by the class of 1907 and had been continued in the law school until the first of this year, when it was discovered that the brown derby was missing. Rumors were rife as to its whereabouts, but nothing definite could be learned until it was found at one of the law fraternity houses.

According to the Brown Derby Committee, "In pursuance of our duty, we have been diligently searching for eligible candidates for the past two weeks, but, and this is the most important part, whereas we did not wish to confer such a high honor on one who was not completely worthy, we have heretofore refrained from taking action, but inasmuch as this 22nd day of October has given to the freshman law class such a sterling example of a Brown Derby candidate, we of the Brown Derby Committee feel it is inadvisable to wait longer."

Eyen was given the brown derby as a reward for the remark that "devils do not wake people at night." "We of the Brown Derby Committee feel that this statement should entitle Mr. Eyen to the privilege of wearing the aforesaid derby; in conformance with this determination we hereby move that the freshman class proceed immediately to vote this question as hereby stated."

Y. M. Members Attend Columbus Hi-Y Meeting

Robert Mario, William Glenn, and Charles Hulac of the university Y. M. will go to Columbus, Nebraska for a meeting of the Hi-Y Boys' Club on Monday evening. The program will include talks by Mario and Hulac on boys' standards and Negro spirituals and other songs by Glenn.

The resolution, which was released without warning on the campus late Monday afternoon, was given the whole hearted backing of Dean Amanda Heppner and other women's administrative officers as well as that of the national president of the senior honorary society.

The complete resolution as adopted by Mortar Board may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Daily Nebraskan.

Heading the list of activities to be carried on under the Monday afternoon meeting is abolishment of all present alliances and the forbidding of any political agreements. The new set up will attempt to see that girls are elected on merit only and not as a result of alliances.

Other points included in the resolution are the prohibition of organized groups to draw up slates or to force girls to support certain candidates; to request interested alumnae not to interfere with campus activities and elections, to do all possible to prevent men and women's alliances insofar as it concerns women's elections; and to see that all infringements are immediately penalized and exposed.

The new program, as seen by campus politicians, is the result of the various rumblings and grumblings that have followed on the heels of most women's election during the past several years, and an honest desire on the part of the senior honorary to put an end to all protests about "deals" and alliances.

Members of Mortar Board were most emphatic Monday in their backing of the resolution and declared that they intend to see that the program is fully and unconditionally carried out. "Although something of the sort has been projected on other campuses, it is new at Nebraska and we do not intend that it should fail," they asserted.

CRABILL ASKS PICTURE TAKING BE SPEEDED UP

Cornhusker Sections Are Far From Complete as Time For Deadline Nears.

Picture sections for the Cornhusker year book are far from complete, particularly the junior and senior departments, Frank Crabill, editor of the annual, announced Monday.

These sections have been slow in making their appearances and Crabill urged that members in charge of getting the pictures taken in the various houses speed the process as much as possible.

Fraternity and sorority sections also are behind the schedule set for them Crabill stated. "The deadline will be set earlier this year than in the past," Crabill said, "and this necessitates speedier action on the part of those houses wishing to have pictures." Prices for the groups have been placed at $2.50 for junior and senior pictures and at $1.25 for fraternity or sorority pictures. A combination price for the two of them has been established at $2.75.
