FROM ALL APPEARANCES NE-braska will soon be singing a new song—that is if the Innocents can do anything about it, and they are certainly trying. Twenty dollars would be a nice little bit of spending money for some lucky musician. Seven or eight have already handed in their contributions but as yet no definite decisions have been made. Just last Saturday in the Kosmet Klub office three musically inclined Innocents seemed to be making an attempt to harmonize one of the selections which had been turned in—and it didn't sound so bad—soon maybe we all will be hearing a Nebraska song over the radio and be dancing to it some place except at a university party.

THE MARRIAGE of Dorothy Stanley of Moffett Field, Calif., and Kenneth Franklin Van Sant of Lincoln took place Saturday at the home of the bride's parents. Modernize Old Idea.

The plot is the age-old mistaken identity affair, carried off in a modern, comical manner. While Quenna is studying voice in Italy, she meets and falls in love with Ned Farrar, Mr. Twilling's secretary. They marry against the wishes of Aunt Min, who is financing the singing lessons, and return to America. Once here, they merely exist and Ned loses his job, so Aunt Min hires him to be her house-man.

In the meantime, Mrs. Martin secures a job as housekeeper for Mr. Twilling. Aunt Min doesn't find out until Mrs. Martin 'spills the beans' that Ned and Quenna are married. How Ned turns out to be a marvelous radio crooner; and the affairs of Mr. Twilling and Mrs. Martin bring the play to a hilarious close, with the usual happy ending.

Settings Offer Contract.

In charge of settings was Don Friendly, stage designer of the drama department. The changes between acts were almost professional in speediness. The furnishings were appropriate and the difference between the middle-class living room and dining room of the first act, was in splendid contrast with the elaborately furnished sleeping porch of the wealthy estate. The first act takes place in a city in New Jersey and the second act represents a suburban estate outside of Hollywood, New Jersey.

The diverting and typical situations of hack comedy in a gay and enjoyable manner make this play one of the season hits. Clare Kummer, author of "What Ann Brought Home," "A Successful Calamity," "Rollo's Wild Oats," "The Curtain Rises" and "Good Gracious Annabel," bounces the characters of this play around in characteristic style and has succeeded in writing an unusually delightful show.

1. In the first quarter, Francis tossed the ball back to Bauer, who then completed a long forward to Cardwell (No. 24). The pass was good for 45 yards and a touchdown.
2. After Cardwell received the long forward pass from Bauer he raced 25 yards and is shown crossing the goal line.
3. Cardwell (No. 24) continued his outstanding play for Nebraska. Here he is skirting his own left end for 8 yards and a first down.
3. McDonald (No. 35) almost added another touchdown but the pass was knocked out of his hands. He almost had it.
4. Iowa State several times threatened further scores, but Nebraska held. In this play, Miller slipped and lost. Scherer (No. 44) is down, and Justice, No. 31) is waiting.

BRILLIANT CAST OPENS PLAYERS COMEDY MONDAY

Queen's mother, is especially enjoyable with her absurd doings and breathless, arch technique. Portia Boynton is ridiculous in a sunny way in the character role of Aunt Min. The sparkling, yet funny performances of Ned and Quenna as the love interests and Aunt Min and Mrs. Martin in the comical sister roles, make an unusual quartette.

Melvin Fielder is well cast as Mr. Twilling, the "big radio man." The duet between him and Ned Farrar is surprisingly well done. Margaret Straub did as much as could be expected in a small role. The role of Craddock, the chauffeur, is played by Era Lown, an-

FELLMAN TO ADDRESS FOREIGN STUDY CLUB

Relations Group Holds First Meeting of Year on Nov. 1.

Professor David Fellman of the political science department, will speak before the first meeting of the International Relations club Thursday, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p. m. in Social Science 201. The meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday of last week, was postponed because of the conflict with the Stuart Chase address.

"Fascism as a Social Movement," will be the topic of Prof. Fellman's address. Vincent Broady, president of the club, stated that Mr. Fellman is well prepared to discuss the subject since he has had three years of graduate study at Yale where he was enrolled under several noted European professors.

After Prof. Fellman's presentation of the topic there will be a discussion of the question by the members of the club.

"It is hoped that by this informal method interest in contemporary problems will be stimulated," Broady said. The meeting Thursday is the first of a series of four that is being planned. Subjects of national significance will be discussed at each of these meetings and speakers well qualified on the subjects will be asked to address the group, it was stated.

Barb Leagues Get Under Way As Greek Players End Competition.

Postponed intramural football games are gradually being played off to leave the fields for the barb touch football artists, whose play begins Wednesday. Barring inclement weather conditions, the Greek teams will complete their schedules Tuesday, no games having been played Monday. Due to a misunderstanding, the Phi Gamma Deltas were erroneously stated to have won several contests during duration of the tournament. The games were in reality won by the Tau Kappa Epsilon nine, who entered League IV when the Phi Gams withdrew from active competition.

The Barb teams have formed several leagues, and will start their active competition as soon as the fields are left vacant by the fraternity men.

Director Harold Petz is especially pleased this year with the lack of forfeits. Only one team has forfeited a game, and that team was forced to withdraw from competition due to outside reasons. The two dollar deposit fee which each team must pay before entering a tournament, and which they lose if they forfeit a game, has done its work well, he stated.

Morrill halls in addition to the one here are located at Illinois and a college at Stillwater, Okl. The Morrill hall of Illinois, like Nebraska, houses the fine arts department, but Oklahoma thinks of its Morrill hall in terms of education and commerce.
