GAME CHALLENGES STUDENT SUPPORT

PEP MEMBERS TO PRESENT PETITION THURSDAY

Enthusiasm to Be Greatest at Friday Morning Display; Bonfire Behind Coliseum at Night; Coaches Bible, Schulte, Game Captain Meier to Talk.

"We are to defeat the Panthers if the student body has the purpose and will to support our team in every effective manner from beginning to end and if every man on the team performs with increased determination, speed and force, which co-ordinated, make the super-man and the super-team. This is our year regardless of the high rating of Pittsburgh. Let's think victory, plan victory, dream victory and fight for victory of the Panthers."

In these few words by Dr. G. E. Condra, dean of all Nebraska boosters, is summed up the situation which confronts Huskerland which the Pitt Panthers are about to invade. The support of which Dr. Condra speaks is that, not of the majority, but of every student in the university. Leaders of all student organizations declare they are prepared to accept the challenge, and to prove it, and have promised solid support of the Pittsburgh rally program.

Members of the student rally committee announced yesterday an extensive three day rally schedule, the most comprehensive of the season, designed to send to its highest levels, pre-game Cornhusker spirit.

Opening the "Beat Pitt" campaign, fraternity and sorority people have been answering phone calls since the Stadium of the week with "Beat Pitt." Rallies scheduled include one tonight, one Thursday afternoon, two Friday and one Saturday morning.

Members of Innocents, Corn Cobs and Tassels will begin the direct "Beat Pitt" campaign when they conduct a house to house rally tonight during the dinner at 4:15 Thursday afternoon. Husker grid fans will assemble at the Temple, from where they will march to the Stadium to present to game captain Franklin Meier their victory petition. According to Corn Cobs in charge of circulating the petitions there will be more than 2,000 signatures attached.

Every student on the campus Thursday afternoon is urged to participate. "It will be the first of the series of pep demonstrations, planned purely for the benefit of the team and the committee must have the support of the entire campus," stated Fred Nicklas, chairman.

For Friday, it was pointed out, two huge rallies are expected to build up the greatest display of enthusiasm ever demonstrated on this campus. The first of these rallies for a rally to be held during the day could not be made late yesterday, pending arrangements with university officials, but it was intimated that a huge meeting would be held some time during the morning.

Friday night a gigantic bonfire will warm the cheers of all available Husker grid fans, who, led by Innocents, Corn Cobs and Tassels and the R. O. T. C. will assemble behind the Coliseum to stoke pep fires, less than twenty-four hours before the Saturday battle.

Coach Henry F. Schulte, Coach D. X. Bible, Ray Ramsay, Franklin Meier and other famous Cornhuskers are to be heard on the comprehensive rally program. One of the most spectacular will occur Saturday morning when the entire R. O. T. C. unit meets for a brief demonstration and review to honor the Scarlet and Cream football team.

"The one predominant thing in all of the rallies is the fact that we're going to create the biggest desire to beat Pitt we've ever had, in this concentrated three day 'Beat Pitt' campaign," Nicklas declared. "We not only can beat Pitt, we are going to beat Pitt."

SCARLET DETERMINED TO UPSET DOPE BUCKET

Greatest Fighting Spirit in Years Grips Biblemen on Eve of National Classic With Annual Foes; Meier Says Nebraska Not Worried.

"We're going to win that game Saturday." Not boasting, not bragging, but the product of grim Husker determination, that statement echoed from the Scarlet gridsters themselves as they prepared football dynamite to blast Pittsburgh out of the picture. In the words of Game Captain Franklin Meier:

"We're not worried about holding Pitt. That's what a lot of people hope we'll be able to do. We're going to make it so hot that they'll have to hold us."

That's the theme on which the Scarlet gridsters have been working the past week. That's the answer to the far-flung challenge of the Jack Sutherland crew, and to the opinions of the experts, back room strategists, and over-the-counter coaches. While everybody is talking of the Cornhuskers who "were" (that's their opinion of who the Huskers will be after Saturday's conflict) those same Huskers have very definite ideas of their own on the subject, and those ideas center in one general statement: "We're going to beat Pitt." At their work, play, while they eat, even while they sleep, they concentrate on those magic words: "We're going to beat Pitt."

Reports from recently appointed committee chairmen will be included in the business meeting. Alaire Barnes, freshman A. W. S. sponsor, asks that all members be present. This is the third of a series of meetings to acquaint freshmen with the different campus activities and organizations.

W. S. sponsor, asks that all members be present. This is the third of a series of meetings to acquaint freshmen with the different campus activities and organizations.
