FAMED ORCHESTRA SECURED FOR DANCE

Innocents Obtain Nationally Known Band for Party Scheduled Night of Missouri and Nebraska Gridiron Battle Nov. 24.

EVENING CLOSED TO ALL OTHER AFFAIRS

Virginians Have Broadcast Over Both NBC and CBS Networks; Greek Houses May Display Their Decorations This Year.

Ace Brigade and his Virginians will play for the annual homecoming party scheduled to be held in the Coliseum Saturday, Nov. 24, according to announcement made Monday by Bill Fischer, chairman of the Innocents committee in charge of arrangements for the dance. This is a nationally famous band, the orchestra having played over both the NBC and CBS networks from the Monte Carlo in New York City, and also having played in Chicago, Cleveland, Atlantic City and numerous other cities of the mid-west and east.

The party Homecoming night, sponsored by Innocents society, will terminate an unusually active day on the campus. In the morning Kosmet Klub will present its annual Fall Revue, houses will probably display decorations for the first time since 1930, and in the afternoon Nebraska's football team will meet the Missouri Tigers in Memorial stadium.

"Arrangements for the party have been virtually completed," stated Fischer in his Monday announcement, "and because we were lucky enough to secure a famous orchestra early we can promise an outstanding party to all those attending."

Cooperating with other campus organizations, Innocents society is planning what is characterized by Owen Johnson, president, as the outstanding Homecoming program in the history of the university. For the first time in the history of the performance Kosmet Klub will present its annual Fall Revue on Homecoming morning to start the holiday for returning alumni. Campus organizations will present a series of skits in the annual exhibition.

Campus social organizations are planning numerous dinners and luncheons for the entertainment of alumni during the noon hour, and immediately following will be the football game at the stadium. The game will be the fourth Big Six conference tilt of the season for Coach Bible's Huskers.

To top of the day's program will be the place of the Homecoming party. The evening has been closed by the student council and faculty committee on student affairs, to all other dances on the campus and in fraternity and sorority houses.

Serving along with Fischer, who is chairman of the party committee, are George Holyoke, contact chairman; Henry Kosman, ticket chairman; and Burton Marvin, publicity agent.

LAST DIRECTORIES ON SALE AT BOOKSTORES

Large Fraternity, Sorority Houses Receive Copies Of Publication.

Last of the student directories go on sale at the bookstores and large fraternity and sorority houses Tuesday and Wednesday, according to Bob Funk, editor of the book. Funk stated that this year there are not enough books to take to all organized houses but an attempt will be made to have them in as many as possible. Only twenty more copies are available at Ag hall. Students wishing to buy directories should go to the bookstores as soon as possible, Funk said.

HOMECOMING THEME OF NOVEMBER ISSUE NEBRASKA ALUMNUS

Violet Cross Announces 1934 Graduates to Receive Copy Magazine.

In an attempt to bring a large body of university graduates to Lincoln for the annual homecoming program Nov. 17 the November issue of the Nebraska Alumnus will stress the homecoming theme in its pages, according to Violet Cross, editor.

The issue which will be released Nov. 15 will be mailed to all members of the class of 1934 to remind them of the program planned for next Saturday.

The magazine bears an attractive new cover this month and contains several interesting feature articles in addition to the pages which appear regularly each month. Miss Cross declared.

The leading article of the issue will emphasize the Homecoming program which is planned for all the graduates of the university who will be able to come to Lincoln the day of the Missouri game. Editorials will further urge the grads to return to school for the celebration.

R. P. Crawford assistant to the chancellor, contributes an article to the Alumnus in the form of a tribute to the late William Snyder who had charge of the university experimental substation. Chancellor emeritus Samuel Avery will be the subject of an article by Col. C. J. Frankforter of the chemistry department.

Of special interest to undergraduates as well as alumni will be a discussion of the interfraternity alumni board of control by Bruce Nicoll, former editor of the Daily Nebraskan and now president of the Interfraternity council.

The regular column featuring campus news will also appear in the November issue of the Alumnus. The regular pages of exchanges, class news, births, deaths, and marriages will again appear with the mail column receiving its usual attention.

Nebraska Receives First Class Rating From NSPA Critics

Awarding First Class Honor Rating, the National Scholastic Press association yesterday sent to officials of the Daily Nebraskan, a certificate notifying members of the staff of the paper's achievement.

Rating of college publications is given each year by this association. The awards are based upon merit, judged by the All-American Critical Service offered by the organization.

The First Class Honor rating is awarded papers which are designated as "excellent" by the association. But one higher honor, that of All-American rating, is bestowed by the organization, and only in unusual cases.

Webster, Jeffrey Clubs Meet in Final Contest as Law Class of '36 Closes Practice Court Trials at State House

"Will the court please come to order!" These words will ring out in the Nebraska supreme court at the capitol this evening at 7:30 when the final club court contest of the law class of '36 is held between the Jeffrey club and the Webster club.

Representing the Webster club will be Justin R. Wolf of Omaha and Homer G. Hamilton of Geneva, while Jeffrey will be represented by Harry L. West, Syracuse, who will present their case under the Jeffrey club banner.

The trial will be held on a hypothetical case which involves liability for an aviation accident which occurred entirely without negligence on the part of the pilot. The Webster club men are at-

STUDENTS PLAN MIGRATION FOR LAWRENCE GAME

Corn Cobs, Tassels, Band, Frosh Grid Squad Will Attend.

SPECIAL TRAIN SECURED

Loyal Husker Supporters Will Entrain Early Saturday.

The loss to Pittsburgh shoved off into a corner as a thing of the past, the fall elections something to be settled once and for all at the polls Tuesday, Saturday's migration to Lawrence for the Husker-Jayhawk grid struggle a popular topic over the campus Monday.

The band is going; the freshman football squad is going; the Tassels are going; the Corncobs are going—and so, apparently, are several hundred other loyal Nebraska students.

The Husker gridgers themselves, seeking to sweep the Kansans before them in their march to a fourth straight Big Six conference gridiron championship, head by train for the Jayhawk stronghold Friday night, while remaining members of the Husker expedition will go either by a special train which leaves Lincoln Saturday morning or will make the trip by auto either Friday or Saturday.

Just how many will make the trip is still a question. But fraternity and sorority houses report that interest in the migration is at an unusually high pitch, and a large number of students have already made definite plans for the trip.

ELECTION RESULTS EAGERLY AWAITED

Political Dopesters Predict Record Breaking Vote This Year.

BARB POWER UNKNOWN

BY THE OBSERVER.

Their goal four of the most coveted offices on the campus, student politicians turned their guns on their enemies Monday night and opened a determined drive for votes which will continue until the polls close this afternoon at five. With a record breaking vote in prospect as the result of combining balloting for the four posts of junior and senior class presidents, sweetheart colonel, and Nebraska campus was eagerly awaiting the final outcome.

All indications were that Monday's battle at the polls will be the most spirited both for men's and women's offices, ever witnessed in a fall election. Spirit was running high in both political factions and in the various sororities which had nominated candidates.

Race for the junior class presidency offers perhaps the most fiercely contested contest. The junior executive has always been numbered among those favored by the Innocents on Ivy Day, and with a scarcity of political plums, the office has even exceeded its former high rank.

Little less hotly contested will be the senior battle which finds a law senior and barb senior fighting it out. Political dopesters predict that the strength of the barb turnout will be the deciding factor in this race.

More than ordinary interest is focused on the honorary colonel race which finds three candidates nominated by the military department in the field. With old alliances apparently cast to the side following a Mortar Board resolution, it has been termed "anybody's race."

Identity of the future Nebraska Sweetheart appeared to be a toss-up with six entered in the lists. With claims of support of engineering and law colleges by rival candidates, this promised to be a mad scramble.

Rumors of last minute changes in faction lineups, dissatisfaction, cries of double-crossing, and predictions of victory were forthcoming from both faction camps on the eve of the election. Further cries of platform stealing and unfounded charges continued to be hurled back and forth between the two while underneath one of the most determined battles for votes the campus has seen, was being waged.

SECOND HAND BOOK INFORMATION ASKED

Fischer Seeks Cooperation From Students at Polls Today.

Cooperation of all students in furnishing information in regard to the second hand book purchases and sales, on the special blank provided at today's election, was asked by Jack Fischer, president of the student council which conducts the election.

"The student council is making a comprehensive study of the situation, and we require pertinent information concerning local conditions of sale and purchase of used books," Fischer said. "Students will greatly aid the council in this work if they will answer accurately the three questions on the ballot and provide us with the information necessary to continue the work."

INNOCENTS EXTEND DEADLINE OF FIGHT SONG COMPETITION

Senior Group Still Seeking Additional Entries, Fischer Says.

Quest of the Innocents society for a new Nebraska fight song will be continued beyond the Nov. 14 deadline previously announced, Jack Fischer, chairman of the song committee, stated Monday.

"The Innocents society feels that a song of the caliber we desire may require a considerable longer time for composition and perfection than we have allowed," Fischer said. "We have some good songs but feel that we can secure still greater participation in the contest and we intend to do this. Our contest will continue until we feel we have secured the best possible fight song."

Entries are still being received daily in the contest. It was announced, and requests for details of the competition have been received from a number of other states.

A $20 prize has been offered by the Innocents to the author of the winning song. Nationally known orchestra leaders are being sought as judges but have not been definitely secured as they have been on tours of the country, Fischer said.

OMAHA BUSINESS MEN GUESTS AT AG CAMPUS

Prof. Frankforter Addressed Visiting Group on 'Explosives.'

With the Nebraska-Pitt game in the afternoon as the feature attraction, a large group of South Omaha business men gathered at the Ag campus Saturday morning as guests of the Ag college at an annual meeting and luncheon.

Prof. C. J. Frankforter of the chemistry department addressed the visiting group, having as the subject of his speech, "Explosives." Also on the program were Gregg McBride, Lincoln Star sports scribe and George Sauer, Nebraska's all-American fullback, who talked on football.

Saturday's gathering was said to have been the twentieth time the business men have held their yearly meeting here, afterword to attend a Cornhusker football contest.

Professors H. J. Gramlich, W. J. Loeffel and R. R. Thalman, of the animal husbandry department, were in charge of program arrangements.

Political Factions Platforms

PROGRESSIVES.

The Progressive Party submits the following platform to the student body of the university.

1. The Progressive party stands for honesty in student government. We feel that unquestionable honesty is particularly important in the conduct of campus elections. Student government can never function at maximum efficiency nor can it have the support and trust of the student body as long as there is suspicion, distrust or actual malfeasance in the conduct of elections. We pledge ourselves to a continuance of our existing political standards which are above reproach.

2. The Progressive party promises that any candidate elected under our banner shall be held strictly accountable to the party and to his duties.

3. The Progressive party deprecates the incessant political maneuvering.

FOUR OFFICES IN BALANCE AT POLLS

Honorary Colonel, Nebraska Sweetheart, Junior and Senior Class Presidents Will Be Decided in Hotly Contested Race.

STUDENTS MUST SHOW IDENTIFICATION CARDS

Political Factions Will Clash in Test of Strength; Progressives Nominate Ross and Erickson; Togas Choose Pace, Easterday.

With a record vote for fall elections in prospect, students will go to the polls on the city and ag campuses today to choose junior and senior class presidents, honorary colonel and Nebraska Sweetheart from among thirteen candidates. Voting will occur in the Temple on the downtown campus and in Ag Hall on the ag campus.

Students must present their identification cards or they will not be allowed to vote it was announced.

Voting on both campuses will be under direction of the student council and will be supervised by members of the faculty, Jack Fischer, president of the student council, announced. Counting of votes will also be supervised by the faculty.

Close contests for the class offices are expected as the Green Togas and Progressive factions class for the second year. Burr Ross, ag college junior, and Jack Pace, Bizad junior, are Progressive and Green Togas nominees respectively for the junior office, while Wilbur Erickson, Bizad senior, and Progressive, and Don Easterday law senior, and Green Togas, will contest for the senior presidency.

A hot fight is predicted for the office of honorary colonel which three candidates seek this year. Those in the race are Violet Cross, Mortar Board president; Roma DeBrown, Mortar Board; and Marion Smith, Mortar Board and A. W. S. president. All three candidates are seniors in the university.

Six girls seek the position of Nebraska Sweetheart today. They are Ruth DeKlotz, teachers college junior; Muriel Hook, arts and science sophomore; Sancha Kilbourn, home economics junior; Helen Elizabeth Lawrence, arts and science junior; Cathleen Long, arts and science junior; and Virginia Selleck, arts and science junior.

Class presidents will be announced Wednesday, but the Nebraska Sweetheart's identity will be secret until the Kosmet Klub revue on Nov. 24, and the Honorary Colonel will not be revealed until her presentation at the Military ball.

Only junior and senior men and women may vote for their respective class presidents, but all male students may vote for honorary colonel and Nebraska Sweetheart. All women students may vote for honorary colonel.

This year marks the first year when all four offices have been filled at the same time. It also marks the innovation of nomination of honorary colonel candidates by the military department, although filings were opened to anyone desiring the office.

COMPULSORY DRILL TOPIC AG DISCUSSION

Freshman Council Will Hold Open Forum Tonight at 7 O'clock.

Continuing the discussion from the meeting last week, the men of Ag campus will again present pros and cons on compulsory military training at the open forum discussion in Ag hall tonight at 7 o'clock. Sponsored by the freshman council of the Ag Y, the discussion has been left open to all men of the campus because of the wide-spread interest in the problem under consideration.

Points in favor of the compulsory feature of drill will be presented first, this side of the argument being led by Ray Kinch. Following this presentation, Ray Tomjas and Lewis Battorf, who spoke in favor of drill last week, will have an opportunity to bolster up their arguments.

Based on the intense interest shown last week, a lively discussion for the entire group is predicted.

CIVIL ENGINEERS TO HEAR GRONE SPEAK

'Amateur Photography for Engineers' Subject of Discussion.

'Amateur Photography for Engineers' will be discussed by Prof. E. A. Grone of the applied mechanics department at a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Nov. 14, in A. M. hall, room 102. Pictures taken at the engineers' surveying camp the past summer will be shown, according to Gordon Colburn, chairman of the executive committee.

Plank Number 1. We believe that the present duties of the senior class president are not sufficient to require an election to that office, and we pledge ourselves to work for the establishment of a senior class organization the chief function of which shall be to supervise and conduct a Senior week prior to commencement which shall serve to instill class spirit in the hearts of the
