

GREEN TOGAS SWEEP CAMPUS

HUSKERS TO RALLY BEFORE JAY GAME

Freshman Football Squad, Tassels, Corn Cobs, Band Will Lead Huge Parade Through Streets of Lawrence on Arrival in Enemy Camp.

TRAIN LEAVES LINCOLN AT SEVEN SATURDAY

Reports Indicate Annual Migration Comprises 500 or More Nebraska Grid Fans; Biblemen Determined Retain Big Six Conference Championship.

A trainload of loyal Cornhuskers, headed by the freshman football squad, Tassels, Corn Cobs and the university band, Saturday will turn its attention to the business of sweeping away prominent Big Six title opposition, when the Husker eleven invades the Mt. Oread stadium the afternoon of Nov. 17. They will arrive in Lawrence, Kas., but a few hours after Coach Bible and his conference champions, there to stage a huge pep demonstration thru the streets of the city.

Members of the two pep organizations and the university band will form a parade at the Lawrence station when the student special pulls into the enemy camp at noon Saturday. The several hundreds of other students who will be in Lawrence are to join the column of rallying Cornhuskers in their march across the city.

Reports from fraternities and sororities indicate that an exceptionally large number of grid fans expect to see Saturday's conference battle. The special train, sponsored by the Union Pacific railroad, will carry a majority, while dozens of others plan to make the trip by auto.

Word from the office of John K. Selleck, athletic director, gives rise to the possibility that 500 or more Nebraska fans will be in the Kansas stands for the game. He has received a consignment of 500 tickets, with more available. Tickets are selling for $2.20 each.

The Husker grid machine will leave Lincoln at 10 o'clock Friday night, and the Jayhawks will face a team determined to erase the smart of the recent Panther victory, a team determined to retain Big Six leadership for the fourth consecutive year.

Dope has it that Saturday's scramble will be close for the Jays have recently held Iowa State and Oklahoma to scoreless ties, two teams which threatened seriously the Husker titular campaign. Only six points did the Biblemen defeat the Sooners, and Ames went down by a single point.

The student special will leave Lawrence Saturday at midnight and arrive in Lincoln Sunday morning. Round trip fares will be $4, according to officials of the railroad.

TASSELS PLAN TRIP TO LAWRENCE SATURDAY

Girls Earn Free Ride to Game Selling 50 Tickets in Both Drives.

Members of Tassels, girls' pep organization, who are planning to attend the Kansas game, in Lawrence, Kas., this Saturday, were announced at a meeting of the group Tuesday night, in the Temple. Girls who sold fifty or more tickets in both ticket drives conducted by the Tassels earned a free ride on the train to the game.

Those who are attending the game are: Irma Bauer, Clover Beckman, Lucille Berger, Frances Brune, Jean Brownlee, Elizabeth Bushne, Gayle Caley, Doris Cochran, Ruth Haggman, Mary Edith Hendricks, Louise Hossack, Eleanor Neale, Ruth Nelson, Jane Epler, Theodora Lohrmann, Ruth Matschullat, Helen Runkel, Emily Spangard, June Waggener, Sancha Kilbourne, Polly Pollar, Mary Reimers, Mary Yoder, and Jean Walt.

Kansas university's girls' pep organization is planning to hold a tea immediately after the game for Nebraska's Tassels.

Emily Spangard, at a recent meeting, was chosen chairman of the committee which will have charge of the luncheon for the Kansas Tassels before the football game on Thanksgiving day. She is assisted by Sancha Kilbourne and Mary Edith Hendricks.

Eleanor Neale is in charge of the committee for selling of balloons at the homecoming game, Saturday, Nov. 24, assisted by Theodora Lohrmann, Margaret Phillips, and basketball games are under the direction of Sancha Kilbourne, with Jean Hong, Ruth Haggman, and Mary Yoder as assistants.

"The San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge" by C. H. Purcell, university graduate, will feature this month's issue of the Blue Print, engineering student publication, which is expected to be on sale Monday, Nov. 19, according to Marvin Nuernberger, editor.

Purcell is chief engineer in the state of California and is engineer in charge of the bridge project. The Blue Print will also contain a directory of all engineering students, Marvin stated.

HILL TO ADDRESS YM MEETING WEDNESDAY

'Munitions Manufacturers' Is Subject of International Relations Expert.

SESSIONS OPEN TO PUBLIC

Speaking on "The Munition Manufacturers of the World," Prof. Norman L. Hill of the political science department will address the university Y. M. C. A. at their regular weekly meeting this evening at 7:30 in the Temple building. The meeting will be open to the public.

Hill, who is a specialist in international relations, will discuss the organization of the companies that are making munitions, their prices, profits, sales methods, and the international nature of both their trade and interlocking directorates. He plans to outline the two possible methods of correcting this evil. The first alternative would be to abolish private manufacture of arms and the second would be the establishment of some international control of trade in munitions. In presenting the efforts that have been made in both of these lines of action, Mr. Hill will emphasize the work of the League of Nations.

Professor Hill believes that the abolition of private manufacture of arms would be the best solution from the standpoint of peace advocates, but it is probably the most impracticable, and therefore that international regulation is the more likely remedy. "The making of munitions," Mr. Hill stated, "is connected with peace, but the correction of these abuses will not get at the fundamental cause of war."

The general subject of armaments has been discussed considerably since the opening of the United States senate committee's investigation of munition manufacturing and international arms trade rings. "Because of this current interest," Joe Nugust, Y. M. program committee chairman, stated, "the public is invited to come and hear Mr. Hill speak. It is believed that the speech should be of special interest to military students and to those interested in world peace."

Following Prof. Hill's address the newly organized campus peace committee, composed of about thirty students, will hold a short business meeting. Business for the evening will consist of election of a permanent executive committee and arrangements for future meetings and action. Elaine Fontein, head of the state student Peace Action committee stated that all students interested in taking part in such work should attend this business session.

WIGHTMAN ADDRESS FEATURES MEETING

Binoral Hearing Topic of Talk at Physics Colloquium Wednesday Night.

An address on binoral hearings delivered by Dr. E. K. Wightman, of Doane college is to feature the regular meeting of the physics colloquium to be held Wednesday night. Dr. Wightman, professor of physics at Doane, prepared his doctor's thesis on this topic and, according to Dr. Marvin of the physics department, is an authority on this phase of hearing.

Binoral hearing deals with the differing intensities with which sounds reach the ear drums of the right and left ears. The talk will discuss the various factors regulating binoral hearings and the importance of the subject as a whole to both modern psychologists and physicists.

ENGINEERS' SOCIETY HEARS GRONE SPEAK

American Society of Civil Engineers will hear Prof. E. A. Grone of the applied mechanics department speaks on "Amateur Photography for Engineers" at a meeting at 7:30 this evening in room 302, A. M. hall. Pictures taken at the engineers' surveying camp the past summer will be shown, Gordon Colburn, chairman of the executive, announced.

SAMUEL WYER TO SPEAK AT WORLD FORUM LUNCHEON

First Affair Scheduled for Wednesday Noon at the Grand Hotel.

Y.W., Y.M. ARE SPONSORS

'Machines and Civilization' Discussed by Engineer From Columbus.

Speaking at the first World Forum luncheon of the year to be held Wednesday noon Nov. 14, at the Grand Hotel will be Samuel S. Wyer, consulting engineer from Columbus, O., who will discuss the subject, "Machines and Civilization."

The luncheon will be dismissed in time for students to get to 1 o'clock classes. It is in charge of Beth Schmidt and Paul Easterbrook and under the auspices of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Wyer's philosophy contends that the sole jurisdiction of any social order must be the welfare of human beings. He believes that our constitution's welfare clause must guide its interpretation.

Favors Masses. "In order that the masses may have the buying power to buy the things that industry makes," according to the statement of Wyer's philosophy, "capital must get less and workers more of the nation's income." He believes that we must curb concentration of wealth, and provide economic security for the masses rather than an economic power for the favored few.

"There is no economic Santa Claus," the statement continues, "whenever a governmental agency spends a dollar, that dollar must ultimately come from some individual."

Mr. Wyer is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. He has written many reports on public utility and economic aspects.

GRADUATE OF OHIO STATE

Born in Ohio, Wyer graduated from the college of engineering at the Ohio state university. For twenty-seven years he has maintained an independent consulting engineering office in Columbus, O., where he has specialized in the economic aspects of the inter-related

INGEBORD OESTERLIN SPEAKS AT VESPERS

Voluntary Labor Camps Topic of Talk in Ellen Smith Tuesday.

Miss Ingeborg Oesterlin, graduate student from Germany, spoke before the International Vespers Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith Hall. She spoke on the Voluntary Labor Camps which the German nation has recently established for the unemployed.

In company with one other student and 23 unemployed girls, Miss Oesterlin spent last summer in one of these camps. She told of life in camp just as she had experienced it. The days were spent in housework, gardening, and helping the poor settlers of the district. In the evening the girls sang, read or talked together. The occupants of the men's camps, she said, work on the roads, build bridges, or work in the fields. In payment for their work the men and women of the camps receive clothes, food, and a little money.

To do the manual labor of the camp makes one feel close to nature—"as though you belonged to the earth," Miss Oesterlin said. She pointed out that the advantages of the camps came especially in showing the people that everyone who works for the welfare of his people, no matter what sort of labor he does, is a definite part of the state.

Preceding Miss Oesterlin's speech was a special Armistice Day Litany service, led by Lorraine Hitchcock. Miss Eunice Bingham played a violin solo, "Meditations from Thais," and the choir sang special musical effects throughout the service.

Announcements by Elaine Fontein, Y. W. C. A. president, included an announcement of the World Forum Luncheon at the Grand Hotel, Wednesday noon, Nov. 14. Samuel Wyer, economic engineer from Columbus, Ohio, will speak on "Machines and Civilization." She also invited all who were interested to a lecture by Professor Hill on "Munition Makers and Peace," Wednesday night at 7:15 at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Immediately following the lecture is a Peace Action Committee meeting which is also open to the public, according to Miss Fontein.

REPORT OF CONCLAVE PRESENTED AT MEET

Report of the Blue Print publication staff on the convention of the "Engineering College Magazines Associated" at Terre Haute, Ind., which they attended in October will be heard at a meeting of the Blue Print publication board scheduled for 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Nov. 15, in room 205, N. E. hall.

The Blue Print staff attending the convention were Marvin Nuernberger, editor-in-chief; George Hossack, business manager, and Hugh Schmidt, editor.

'WEDNESDAY'S CHILD' CAST READY TO OPEN PRODUCTION MONDAY

Rehearsals Run Smoothly As Players Prepare for Broadway Hit.

With rehearsals moving along smoothly, the University Players will be ready to open next Monday night in "Wednesday's Child," their next production, Director Harold "Pete" Sumption announced Tuesday afternoon.

Leads in the brilliant drama by Leopold Atlas, which ran for 224 performances in New York and was among the group of dramatic vehicles considered for last year's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, have been assigned to Bobbie Ager, 13 year old Lincoln youth, Irving Hill, and Blanche Carr.

Young Ager will play the part of Bobby Phillips, the role played by Frankie Thomas in New York. Thomas rose to stardom from his performance in this play, was taken to Hollywood where he appeared in the motion picture version of the drama and is now appearing on the legitimate stage on Broadway again.

This powerful drama, packed with feeling from the rise of the first curtain till the drop of the final curtain, concerns the story of a young boy's life, almost wrecked by divorce in the family. It is a fine and clean characterization throughout.

Mr. Hill, who is the national A. Z. A. oratorical champ as well as president of the Corn Cobs, takes the role of Ray Phillips, Bobby's father. Mr. Hill is a veteran Player and will be remembered by Lincoln theater-goers as the fiery young communist of last season's "Counselor-at-Law."

Miss Carr, who also resides in Lincoln, will appear in the production as Kathryn Phillips, Bobby's mother. Miss Carr had the leading role in "The Curtain Rises," when the University Players presented it last season.

The third man in the ever-present triangle, which eventually results in the divorce of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips is Melvin Fielder, who takes the part of Howard. Fielder is also a veteran University Player and will be remembered by his performances in "Counselor-at-Law," "Dangerous Corner" and "The Curtain Rises," all of which were produced by the

COBS MEET TONIGHT TO PLAN KANSAS TRIP

Nicklas Outlines Program For Rally Held in Lawrence.

Migration of the entire Corn Cob organization to the Lawrence game next Saturday will be outlined to members at their weekly meeting in University hall at 7 o'clock tonight.

Final checkup of eligibility of members will be made by the Cornhusker sales committee, and those who will make the trip will be notified. "Every Corn Cob who expects to go to Lawrence must attend this meeting to determine his eligibility," Irving Hill, president of the Cobs, announced.

Plans for a rally before the game in Lawrence will be disclosed to the Corn Cobs by Fred Nicklas, innocents' member of the rally committee.

Arrangements for tickets for the game and special train have been made by the migrations committee, and members will be instructed when to check them out. In the absence of President Hill, Carlisle Myers will be in charge of the trip, assisted by Irwin Ryan and James Marvin of the migrations committee.

The next meeting of the group will be announced at a later date.

NEBRASKA ALUMNUS TO APPEAR NOV. 15

Publication Will Feature Homecoming Theme, Says Editor.

'34 GRADS GET COPIES

Attempting to bring a large number of university graduates to Lincoln for the annual Homecoming day will occur on Nov. 24, the November issue of the Nebraska Alumnus will stress the Homecoming theme.

Violet Cross, editor of the magazine, stated that the issue will be released Nov. 15 and copies will be mailed to all members of the class of 1934 in an effort to bring them to Lincoln for this event.

Bearing an attractive new cover, the magazine will contain several feature articles in addition to the pages which appear each month. The leading article will emphasize the Homecoming program which is planned for all the graduates of the university who come to Lincoln the day of the Missouri game. Editorials will also urge former students to attend the celebration.

An article in the form of a tribute to the late William Snyder who had charge of the university experimental substitution, will be contributed by R. P. Crawford, assistant to the chancellor. Col. J. Frankforter, of the chemistry department, will contribute an article concerning Chancellor Emeritus Samuel Avery.

Bruce Nicoll will present a discussion of the interfraternity alumni board of control. Nicoll was former editor of the Daily Nebraskan and is now president of the Interfraternity Council.

Campus news, featured regularly in the Alumnus, will appear in the November issue. The pages of exchanges, class news, births and deaths, marriages and the mail column will appear as usual.

GEOLOGY FRATERNITY INITIATES FIVE NOV. 8

Five students in the geology department were initiated Thursday, Nov. 8, into Sigma Gamma Epsilon, when members of the professional geology fraternity met for their fall initiation at Robbers Cave, southwest of Lincoln.

New initiates are: Jay Jorgensen, Clark Hamilton, Bob Hendrickson, Thompson Stout and Frank Bell. Members of the fraternity were guests, following the initiation of Prof. E. F. Schramm, who gave a roast venison dinner.

BY THE OBSERVER. Completely upsetting the dope bucket, Green Togas swept thru the campus election Tuesday, placing their candidates for both junior and senior class presidents into office. The vote was one of the largest, if not the largest, recorded in campus annals, with approximately 1,600 students marking ballots.

While the Green Togas had been conceded somewhat more than an even chance to win one office, it was a complete surprise when they came off with all the honors. The numerical tabulation was as follows:

The total number of votes cast in the class officer election was 813, as compared with 495 preferences filed in last fall's election. 398 ballots were marked for the senior class nominees, while 415 students voted in the junior class election. No figures were available as to what percentage of the votes were cast at Ag college.

The margin of victory this year was much less than last year when the newly formed Progressives swept the also newly formed Green Togas off their feet by an almost two to one margin.

Results of the competition for Honorary Colonel and Nebraska Sweetheart were not available, both being kept secret until the time of their presentation at the Military Ball and Kosmet Klub Revue. The number voting above those that participated in the class elections indicates, however, that the race was hotly contested with an almost record number turning out to file their preference for the women's position.

Results of the Mortar Board's move to clean up women's politics will not be known either until the winners of the two races is made public. According to all indications, however, the women played the game this fall fairly and squarely.

JANE KEEFER WINNER OF Y.W. FINANCE DRIVE

Bonnie Spangard and Jean Rowe Second and Third In Campaign.

Jane Keefe, sophomore, won first place in the Y. W. C. A. finance drive it was announced at the vesper service, Tuesday, Nov. 13. The prize consists of $15 to be applied toward a trip to the Estes Conference. Second and third prizes of $5 each were won by Jean Rowe, freshman, second prize, and Bonnie Spangard, junior, third prize.

The prizes were awarded on the basis of the total number of people interviewed and the total number of contributions received, according to Miss Miller, Y. W. C. A. secretary. Other girls who received more than $12 were: Evelyn Diamond, Eleanor Green, Carolyn Davis, Gladys Klopp, Fewel Urbach, Joceline James, Elaine Fontein, Dorothy Cathers, Francis Kalin and Dorothy Chapelow.

Georganna Lehr was captain of the team which received the greatest number of contributions. The team obtained a total of $95. Other members of the team are: Jewel Urbach, Virginia Kirkbride, Jean Marie Hoffman, Marian Reeder, Winifred Nelson, Ellen Macy, Ramona Kahn and Jane Barbour.

N Stamp Salesmen Hold Meet Wednesday, Nov. 14

Sellers of the N stamps will hold a meeting Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 4 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, according to Roma DeBrown, who is in charge of the campaign. "The sale has been very successful so far," asserted Miss DeBrown, "and we appreciate the splendid student co-operation." The stamps, which are sold for a penny apiece, advertise the Homecoming game.
