

KOSMET KLUB WILL PRESENT SWEETHEART

Plan to Reveal Identity as Feature of Fall Revue At Stuart Theater.

Nebraska's Sweetheart will be presented this morning as the feature attraction of the annual Fall Revue of the Kosmet Klub. Scheduled to start at 9 a. m. at the Stuart theater, the revue is one of the highlights in the activities planned for the morning of Homecoming.

Workers have been appointed to special duties, final polishing of acts has been completed, and the vaudeville is ready for production. Nebraska's Sweetheart, at present unknown to the public, was chosen recently at a general election, conducted by men students. Bertha Haussener, Nebraska's Sweetheart of last year will be the reigning queen of the Kosmet Kourt, with the Klub's president, Tom Davies, holding the king's scepter. The prince will be Fred Nicklas, selected for this position for this year's revue. Ray Ramsay, secretary of the Nebraska Alumni association, will again serve as master of ceremonies.

Doors of the Stuart theater will open this attraction at 8 a. m. and the show will start promptly at 9 o'clock. Holders of reserved seats must be seated by 8:45, as they will not be held open after that time.

PRESS DELEGATES REVIEW PROBLEMS

(Continued from Page 1.)

his group in room 105 of Social Sciences.

Prof. Gayle C. Walker, director of the University of Nebraska school of journalism, will speak to the round table on makeup and typography in 101. Betty Walker of Columbus high school is discussion leader for the group. Headline schedules will be discussed by Mrs. Anne Lane Savidge, Omaha Central high school. The group will meet in room 101.

Waterman Heads Finance Group.

Meeting without a scheduled speaker, the finance round table will hold discussion under Vernon Waterman, Fremont high, in 105. The editorial section, similarly without a speaker, is to be in charge of Max Franzen, Holdrege high school. It will meet in 105.

Previous to the morning sessions the Nebraska chapter of Quill and Scroll will have a breakfast at which Max Franzen, Holdrege, will preside, at the Cornhusker hotel at 8 o'clock. Miss Lucile Heflen, Holdrege high school, is president of the group. The program will feature three five minute talks. Mary Frances Witter, Kearney high school, will speak on "How to Apply for Quill and Scroll Charter." A representative of Superior high, Beth Dahlgren, is to talk on "Alumni Project of Superior Chapter" and "What Quill and Scroll Means to Student and School" is the topic

Speaks Friday

—Courtesy Lincoln Journal.

Mr. James Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, who spoke at the afternoon session of the Nebraska High School Press association convention Friday.

of Edmund Steeves, Jackson high school.

The University of Nebraska school of journalism will entertain speakers and instructors at a 12:30 luncheon in Carrie Belle Raymond hall following the morning business sessions.

Complimentary tickets to the Homecoming game between Nebraska and Missouri will be given to the two official delegates and one faculty advisor of each school.

NEWSPAPER IS NOT UNDERSTOOD STATES CONCLAVE SPEAKER

(Continued from Page 1.)

The New York American were passed out so the delegates could study this form. Factors to play an important part in newspaper changes he divided into two classes: mechanical changes and changes brought about by the increased power which is being given to the government.

In the morning the delegates registered and received their assignments on the Daily Nebraskan. Following this a newswriting contest was held, the results of which are found in another part of the paper. At ten o'clock they were taken on a bus tour of Lincoln which included visits to the Star and Journal plants, the state capitol, Bryan Memorial Hospital, and General Pershing's home. A get acquainted luncheon was then held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

In the evening after a banquet at the Lindell Hotel, they were entertained by the Lincoln High girls' octet. Oz Black gave a chalk talk featuring "take-offs" on journalism and caricatures of the speakers and some of the delegates. Ray Ramsay, university alumni secretary, in speaking on "Are You a Person?" urged youth to launch out into new fields and to "live ahead of your time." "Be an individual" was the manner in which he urged us to not be afraid to say or do something radically different. Dick DeBrown was the toastmaster.

BIZAD GROUP HOLDS INITIATION SERVICE

Commercial Club Installs Six Men at Meeting Wednesday.

Six men were initiated by the Commercial club, organization for students in the College of Business Administration, at their meeting last Wednesday held in their club rooms in Social Science hall.

Neil Parks, Allan Tintman, Kenneth Quigley, Ben Cecan, Edward Kirsch, and Paul Null are the new initiates.

Because of Thanksgiving vacation, there will be no meeting next week, according to Gerald Spurlock, club president.

'ODE TO JOURNALISM' IN WHICH DELEGATE TELLS OF CONVENTION

(Continued from Page 1.)

"all they've got" more in exchange for the interesting and instructive program planned for them rather than to beat the other fellow.

I probably learned more about the newspaper business from the conducted tour through the Lincoln Journal offices than if I had read a whole volume on that inexhaustible topic. I was as embarrassingly ignorant of that phase of Journalism, as a bread-line frequenter is of caviar.

They tell me that high school students are consistently inconsistent in their inability to listen to speeches as they should be listened to. Perhaps the most bright and shining exception to this rule was illustrated at the Friday afternoon session of the convention. The delegates sat at rapt attention during the absorbing addresses by a notable gathering of the "way-ups" in professional Journalism.

To conclude my general impressions of the first day of the convention may I say everything was "top-hole, rawTHER!"

THREE GIVE TALKS AT ANNUAL QUILL, SCROLL BREAKFAST

(Continued from Page 1.)

and published by Holdrege Quill and Scroll members outlined the program for the breakfast and gave information concerning Quill and Scroll.

This meeting was held in connection with the seventh annual meeting of the Nebraska State High School Press association, and a number of delegates and advisers attending this meeting were at the breakfast as well as Quill and Scroll members.

RUTH BEHRMANN OF OMAHA NORTH WINS NEWS STORY COMPET

(Continued from Page 1.)

ent schools in Nebraska. Besides the students mentioned above the following received honorable mention: Grant Thomas, Kearney;

Helen Strickland, Superior; and Harold Nieman, Nebraska City.

The judges were Laurence Hall, former editor of the Daily Nebraskan, member and ex-president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and now a member of the Lincoln Star staff; Bruce Nicoll, former editor of the Daily Nebraskan, president of Sigma Delta Chi, and business manager of the Awgwan, campus humor publication; and Jack Fischer, managing editor of Daily Nebraskan, member of sigma Delta Chi, and senior in school of journalism.

HANDS OUT to these HATS!

WE'VE never had them this smart-looking, really—certainly not at 1.50. Duvetyn doughboy styles; Russian high hats; feathered berets; perky gobb hats; berets with pompons. Long or triangle scarf to match. All desirable colors.

1.50

Millinery—Fourth Floor

set

MILLER & PAINE

Before and After the Game

Complete Fountain Service

Boyden's Pharmacy

H. A. Reed, Mgr.

STYLE

Style, in a hat, lasts no longer than its smartly blocked lines. Material and workmanship alone determine the life of this elusive quality. Painstakingly manipulated by deft craftsmen, a Gage hat permanently radiates individuality and style.

Gage

THE CHOICE OF COLLEGE WOMEN.

NEW GAGE CREATIONS AT

The Better Stores Everywhere

