MILITARY BALL WILL CONTINUE TILL 12 O'CLOCK

Faculty Grants Permission
Extend Deadline for Half-Hour.

LOUIS PANICO PLAYS

Author Winning Presentation
Idea to Be Announced
Thursday, Dec. 6.

Dancing to Louis Panico and his famous orchestra will continue until 12 o'clock at the twenty-sixth annual Military Ball Friday night. It was announced Tuesday by Charles Steadman, publicity chairman for the ball. The half-hour extension was granted by the faculty committee.

Final preparations for the initial formal affair of the season are progressing rapidly. Steadman announced, and rehearsals for the grand march and presentation ceremonies are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The various committees are putting the finishing touches on their arrangements. The decorations committee is providing novel lighting effects and innovations in decorations. Those who are managing the presentation ceremonies have chosen the winning method of introducing this year's honorary colonel, whose identity is shrouded in mystery, and the author of the idea chosen will be announced Thursday, Dec. 6.

With the music of Panico, the well-known trumpet player, and his radio artists, a new and different program has been prepared by the program committee. Additional space in the coliseum check-room is being provided by an enlargement of the room.

Ticket sales indicates a capacity crowd, it was announced by Cadet Major Kosman, who heads the committee in charge of the sale. In addition to purchase from military students, tickets are available at several downtown stores, Latsch Brothers, Gold's, Ben Simon and Sons, and George Brothers.

"With every detail fully taken care of, we cannot help but have a highly successful Military Ball," declared Steadman. "The committees have been working hard to insure an auspicious event, and everyone has given their whole-hearted co-operation."

PEP CLUB BEGINS SALE MORTAR BOARD DUCATS

Tassels Discuss Plans for
Basket Games; Name
Committees.

Tickets for the annual Mortar Board party were distributed to members of Tassels at their meeting Tuesday evening. The girls' pep club will handle sale of the cards for the dance, which has been scheduled for December 14, in University Coliseum.

Eleanor Neale, chairman of the Homecoming Day balloon sale, reported for her committee.

Sentiment favoring the idea of fraternities and sororities singing their songs, and other college songs at basketball games, was expressed at the meeting. It was also suggested that skits from the Kosmet Klub show be presented at games.

DR. LYMAN ELECTED HEALTH COUNSELOR

Dean Also Delivers Address
At Meeting Dec. 1 in Lawrence.

Dr. R. A. Lyman, Dean of the College of Pharmacy, was elected Counselor of the American Student Health Association from the South Central Section at the sectional meeting held Saturday, Dec. 1, at the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kansas.

Dr. Lyman also delivered an address, "The Place of a Health Service in an Educational Program," before the one-day meeting. In his lecture he stressed the part that a health service is capable of playing in an educational institution.

Hatten, U. S. Forester, Visits Dr. G. E. Condra

John H. Hatten, director of the Denver office of the United States forest service, called on Dr. G. E. Condra this last week. They discussed some of the problems relating to the shelter belt which is to be built between the Canadian and Mexican borders.

Dr. Harry Kurz, Romance Languages Chairman, Addresses Phi Beta Kappa Meeting; Discusses Modern Theater

"The only hope of achieving the goal of the present day theater is by some combination of means we have now or means yet to be born," declared Dr. Harry Kurz, chairman of the Romance languages department, in addressing the university chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at a dinner at the University club Tuesday evening.

Dr. Kurz, who came here this year from Knox college at Galesburg, Ill., spoke to some seventy members of the national scholastic honorary society on "The Modern French Theater." He was introduced by Dr. J. P. Guilford, who is president of the chapter, and who was toastmaster at the gathering.

There are two tendencies toward which the modern theater trends to attain its goal, according to Dr. Kurz. The first of these is the dual personality type of play, in which there is the disintegration of personalities into component units. The other tendency is in exactly the opposite direction and tends to symphonic fusion or the synthesis

GIRLS HOLD ANNUAL 'HANGING OF GREENS' DINNER WEDNESDAY

Women on Major Boards to Decorate Ellen Smith in Xmas Spirit.

Ellen Smith hall, home of women's activities, will be decorated in the Christmas spirit at the annual "Hanging of the Greens" dinner held for that purpose Wednesday, Dec. 5. Crabill Hopes to Finish All
Picture Sections by End
Of Vacation.

ONE SORORITY COMPLETE

Other Greek Houses Urged
Boost Percentages as Soon as Possible.

Endeavoring to complete all picture sections of the Cornhusker by the close of Christmas vacation, Frank Crabill, editor of the publication, issued an appeal to all students Tuesday requesting that they visit the Rinehart-Marshden studio within that time.

"Up to the present date the junior pictures have been particularly slow in making their appearance," Crabill stated.

Only one Greek house on the campus, Zeta Tau Alpha, has a perfect record of 100 percent. Of the sororities Delta Delta Delta is second with 89 percent of their pictures completed and Chi Omega is a close third with an 87 percent ratio.

Acacia leads the field in the fraternity competition with a 78 percent total up to the present time and Sigma Alpha Mu follows, 74 percent of their total membership having had their pictures taken.

Following is a list of the fraternity and sorority groups and their respective percentages of pictures taken:

EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of Phi Delta Kappa
Discuss Year's Program
For Local Chapter.

HEAR CONCLAVE REPORT

Featuring a discussion of the chapter program for the year and a report on the recent Omaha district conference, the December meeting of 25 members of Omicron chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity, was held Tuesday evening at Grand Hotel.

J. E. Loder, principal of Haven high school, and president of the organization, presided over the meeting, which followed a six o'clock dinner. Dr. A. R. Congdon, university professor of secondary education, reported with Loder on the regional conference, which they, together with several other local members, attended.

In discussing plans for a chapter program for the ensuing year, several short talks on various phases of the program were presented. C. A. Bowers, secretary of the State Teachers' Association, talked on the location of informal discussion groups; problems of such groups were pointed out by O. H. Bimson, assistant superintendent of Lincoln schools; and the technique of handling them was shown by D. A. Worcester of the teachers' college. The administration for handling such a state program was the subject of the concluding talk, which was followed by an open discussion.

A business session closed the meeting, and Jan. 8 was set as the date for next month's gathering.
