SCARLET STAGES RALLY

Whitaker, Sorenson Score
Fourteen Points for Biblemen.

Wyoming's rangy hoopsters had the longer reach, endurance, and more of what it takes last Friday night, and sent Nebraska's Huskers back to their homeland with a 26 to 23 defeat pinned on them. It was the first start of the season for either team.

But in spite of their victory, the reports from the west failed to take revenge for their overwhelming defeat at Scarlet hands last fall on the gridiron, for it was only a desperate rally late in the final minutes that won victory for Dutch Witte and his men.

Wyoming started right out for a win, amassing a lead of 17 to 6 at halftime, with Center Sullivan doing most of the dirt to the Husker cause. Sullivan was the biggest difference between victory and defeat in the last analysis, scoring twelve of his team's twenty-six points. But that eleven point lead at the intermission dwindled down as the Cornhuskers went to work in earnest, finally stepping ahead for the first and only time of the evening with a 22 to 21 count. Harry Sorenson, elongated center, and Henry Whitaker, forward, figured largely in the Husker scoring drive.

Jimmy Sullivan came to the rescue a few moments later, however, sinking a field goal that regained the cowboy lead, and the Wittemen clung desperately to their slim margin for the remainder of the struggle. After Sullivan's game-saving shot, Lee Wiegand and West tallied free throws to boost the Wyoming total to 3 points.

Arguing about a called foul that he didn't think was one, Bud Parsons, Nebraska guard was forcibly ejected from the game by Referee Pickett. After his removal, Ray Christensen sank a field goal to finish the scoring and clinch the game for Wyoming.

Sullivan was high point man of the fray with twelve points earned and six buckets from the field. He also scintillated with his exceptional floor and defense work. Sorenson and Whitaker were high point for Nebraska with seven points apiece. The entire Nebraska squad of eight men saw action. Box score:

NODAKS HOPE TO BEAT HUSKERS BY ONE POINT

Dakotans Not Expecting to Repeat Last Year's Rout of 52 to 23.

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—The University of North Dakota basketball team, which gives promise of developing into the highest scoring machine ever produced by Clem Letich during his ten year regime, meets the Wahpeton school of science five, the second of its five opponents played on the current road trip, Tuesday night. The University played Valley City last night (Saturday) in its first engagement.

After the Wahpeton game, the Dakotans continue southward, meeting Augustana college at Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 19, and then swing into Nebraska, playing Omaha university, Dec. 20, and the University of Nebraska, Dec. 22.

Last year, the Nebaskans came to Grand Forks and assimilated its worst defeat of the season, 52 to 23. It was largely Herman Witasek, ace Nodak scorer, aided by the gigantic center, Ted Meinshover, who led the devastating attack against the Cornhuskers. This season only Witasek is back to continue the scoring, but two sophomores forwards, Emmet Birk of Grand Forks and Bob Finnegan of Bismarck, have come to the rescue.

However, Coach Letich is not contemplating any such rout as last year's. A one-point victory will amply satisfy the inexperienced Nodak team against Nebraska.

In the first game of the season Saturday night, when the Sioux trounced Concordia, 40 to 26, it was this sophomore pair, teaming perfectly with Witasek, that accounted for the scoring of a point a minute. Finnegan led the offensive activities with 17 points, garnered thru eight baskets and a free throw. Witasek continued his last year's pace of ten points per game by ringing up five baskets and was tied by Birk.

The rampant scoring activities alone, however, did not please Coach Letich. Rather, it was the excellent ball handling of the trio that caused him to smile continuously. Each of the lads handled the basketball like a baseball, and especially efficient was Finnegan's left-handed pass.

This exhibition of passing, the ragged in spots due to inexperience, nervousness, and lack of practice, made manifest the ability of the Sioux toward the ball in close for set-up shots, a prime requisite for a high scoring machine.

MAJOR A. P. COWGILL TO ADDRESS A.S.C.E.

'Math for Engineers' is Subject West Point Graduate.

Members of the American Society of Civil Engineers will convene in their regular bi-weekly meeting Wednesday, Dec. 19, when Maj. Allen P. Cowgill will address them. Major Cowgill, a graduate engineering student, is a graduate of West Point, and saw service in the engineer corps of the army. He will use as his subject "Mathematics for Engineers."

Officers of the society are: Marvin Nuernberger, president; Mason Butcher, vice president; and Merrill Moeller, secretary and treasurer.

A move has been started at the University of Georgia to obtain a free transportation service for coeds following an edict by authorities which prohibits them from hitch-hiking after 6 p. m.

WHITES AND REDS EMERGE VICTORS IN GAMES FRIDAY

Four Freshman Teams Battle
In Two Regulation
Contests.

PARSONS LEADS SCORING

Sauer's Proteges Keep Lead
By Showing a Flashy Offense.

Four freshman teams battled in two regulation basketball games Friday afternoon with the Whites and Reds emerging victorious from the tilts. The Whites, George Sauer's proteges, were on the long end of the count 42 to 14 and were never bothered they were the lead. At half time they were ahead 15-10, and in the second half they showed a smooth breaking offense and kept the ball in their own position to outscore the Green 27-4.

On another court, two more frosh teams played a regulation encounter and the Reds managed to just keep ahead and come out the winner 24 to 19. The Reds were ahead 11-9 at half time, and a rally by the second Whites had the game tied at 17 all but baskets by Cady and Nelson put the Reds in the lead never to be relinquished.

For the winning Whites, Bob Parsons led in the scoring with five field goals and a free throw. Floyd Ebaugh and George Scott each came in with five field goals for ten points. Cliff Scott was high for the opposition scoring six points. Amen's defensive work was good, breaking up several would be baskets.

On the other court, Cady and Nelson, were setting the pace for the Reds with nine points each. Campbell was high for the other team with eight points.

PROSPECTS 1935 SWIMMING SQUAD BEST IN HISTORY

35 Men Report for Practice;
Three Conference Records
Broken in Trials.

"Swimming prospects for 1935 are the best since its inauguration as a competitive sport at Nebraska," Jack Minor, swimming coach declared Saturday. The squad of thirty-five men includes about ten freshmen, who, the coach believes, will make some of the varsity performers hustle for positions on next year's team. The varsity team has so far broken three conference records and both relay records in practice. The sprint men, led by Glydon Lynde and Jim Fixley, are: Keith Schraeder, Ben Rimmerman, Hugh Rathburn, Herb Weston, Ross Marton, and Dick Leask. The outstanding breast-stroke is Reed Smith, Bob Gibbons, Bernie Goltzki, and Ralph Prequist. Two letter men in the back stroke who are showing up well are Jack Gavin and Harry Kuklin. The latter, who is Big Six diving champ, is again leading in this field. Ben Rimmerman and Kelvin Deming being counted second and third best.

Among the promising freshmen are: Bob Thornton, breast stroke and free style; Charles Mann, in the same events; Ralph Ludwick, back stroke; Jack Barry, free style; Irving Marriam, breast stroke; Bill Leask, diving; Charles Hodge, diving; Henry Cusbeig, free style; and Dick, Cain, Douglas Dort, and Warren Callan, all free stylists.

In addition John Krause and Pete Hazelin, two Lincoln high school swimmers who placed on the All American interscholastic swimming team in 1934, will be eligible for the 1936 season. The 1935 schedule, not yet completed, will include meets with Iowa State, Grinnell, Kansas State, Washburn State, Washburn college, and possibly Washington university, with the conference meet at Lincoln, March 8 and 9.

Only 25 percent of the men who apply to the student date at the University of Toronto have a preference for blondes.

WRESTLING SQUAD IMPROVING RAPIDLY

Grappling Aspirants Moving
At Fast Clip In Daily
Workouts.

As Jerry Adam's muscle-men diligently pursue their study of the arts of the mat, wrestling progresses at a fast clip in the basement of the Nebraska coliseum. The less experienced of the wrestling aspirants are being trained in the fundamentals of catching, breaking, and blocking holds, with the older hands are taking more advanced work in the grappling science.

Coach Adam stressed that varsity practice is held daily from 4 to 6, except Saturday, when sessions commence at 2. Adam also stated that more men are needed to fill the 118 and 126 lb. classes, as well as the light-heavy and middle-heavy ranks.

Men reporting to Adam regularly are: Hill, All-University medal winner in the 145 pound class; Reynolds, 118 pounds; Yost, 165; Bloon and Gray, 165 pounds from Ag college; Franks, another All-University champion in the 175 pound division; Nordstrom, 118, and Sherrick, 155. Eaton, 165, and Shirley, 155, major lettermen who graduated last year, have attended practice daily, evidently unable to resist the urge of the game.

A five day school week with no Saturday classes is being petitioned for by University of Georgia undergraduates.
