

CAMPUS SOCIETY

WITH CHRISTMAS SO NEAR MOST of the fraternity and sorority houses on the campus are planning Christmas entertainment for the children of the alumni and parties for themselves. Pledges will be responsible for skits. Many a Santa Claus garb will be rented and used to disguise some benevolent student. The tiny tots will be successfully deceived, their voices will quaver, their eyes will pop, and they'll want to sit on the knee of the jolly old fellow who's responsible for all their presents if they've been good—and if they've been bad—well we'll skip that. Even sophisticated coeds' hearts will soften as they see the joy that's brought by the age old Christmas tradition.

PHI GAMMA will entertain the children of poor families when they hold their annual "urchin" party at the chapter house Wednesday afternoon. The tots will be presented with horns, confetti, caps, gifts, and a substantial meal. Jack Houston is making plans for the affair.

DELTA DELTA DELTA alliance held a Christmas party for the children of the alumnae at the chapter house Saturday evening. Mrs. J. P. Colbert was in charge of the arrangements.

ONCE AGAIN the Sig Alpha and the Sigma Nu's celebrated their annual field day yesterday afternoon. It all started with a parade thru the streets of the city by the members of both fraternities in ridiculous costumes. The next place they invaded was the coliseum where they participated in water polo, basketball, hand ball, and a tug-of-war. An exchange dinner between the two fraternities was followed by a "hard time" dance at the Avalon at which Mr. Ray Dein, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith, and Captain Lilly chaperoned.

DELTA OMICRON active and alumnae members observed their founders day with a 12:15 o'clock luncheon Saturday at the University club. Miss Colicita Aitken, representing the alumnae, was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. She was assisted by Dorothy Orcutt, of the actives, and Jeanne Palmer of the pledges. About forty were present.

DELTA ZETA entertained at a house party at the chapter house last night at 8:30 o'clock. The party was given by the actives to honor the pledges. The house was decorated in a Christmas theme with a tree, and Christmas favors. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer K. Young, and Mrs. Eloise Tebbets. Dorothy Cathers was in charge of arrangements.

THE HOME of Earl Carter was the scene of a Christmas party when the Fellowship of the Westminster Presbyterian church entertained there last evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ALPHA OMICRON PI will hold its annual founder's day banquet at the chapter house tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Christmas decorations will adorn the house as well as the dining tables. Members of the alumnae association will be present and Mrs. Hugh Drake is in charge of the affair. Freshmen under the direction of Margaret Kerl, will present a skit. A Christmas motif will be carried out in the program that will follow.

DELTA SIGMA LAMBDA wishes to announce the recent pledging of Harold Lutten of Ashland and William Schneiderwind of Omaha.

MEMBERS of the Phi Delta chapter and their dates will be guests when the mothers' club entertains them at a buffet supper at the chapter house this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Places will be laid at the tables decorated in a Christmas theme for about forty guests. Mrs. Charles M. Chowins, president of the mothers' club, is making the arrangements.

GEORGIA NELSON of Bennington became the bride of Carroll Eisenhart of Culbertson Dec. 6 at a ceremony performed in Bennington. Both members of the couple attended the university where the bride joined Chi Omega and the groom became affiliated with Delta Sigma Lambda. Mr. Eisenhart is employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in Omaha, where the couple will reside.

RECENTLY Sigma Alpha Iota held a musical at the home of Miss Marjell Jones. Those who appeared on the program were Miss Velora Beck, Miss Esther Kinnett, accompanied by Miss Ruth Greiss, Miss Virginia Galehouse, and Miss Helen Naeve, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Stowell. The pledges furnished entertainment before the musical and the remainder of the evening was spent informally.

THIS AFTERNOON the Tri Delta house will be the scene of a book tea when the alumnae entertain the actives and present them with some new books for their library. The rooms will be decorated in a Christmas motif and about fifty guests will be present. Mrs. Paul Ream and Miss Mila Bald are in charge of the arrangements.

LAST OF CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS SATURDAY

Miss Shanafelt to Present Puppet Plays After Christmas.

The last in the series of weekly children's programs was presented Saturday by Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, curator of visual education, before an overflow crowd. Although this was the last of the weekly programs, which have been presented each Saturday since the beginning of the school year, Miss Shanafelt will present one week of puppet plays, to begin the day after Christmas. These programs, scheduled every afternoon at 2:30, will depict the famous story of Hansel and Gretel.

The program presented Saturday consisted of a talk, entitled "Mr. and Mrs. Camel in Arabia," a harp music, apropos of Christmas, by Miss Shanafelt; a puppet dance, following which the children were shown how the puppet worked, and were told how to make them; and two films, entitled "The Little Swiss Wood-Carver," and "Handing Animals in the Zoo."

Business Sorority Inducts Thirteen; LeRossignol Is Honorary Member.

Thirteen girls were initiated into Phi Chi Theta, honorary women's business sorority, at the formal initiation and banquet held at the Lincoln hotel last week. Dean J. E. LeRossignol was presented with the crest of Phi Chi Theta and was made an honorary member. Mrs. LeRossignol was a guest at the affair.

Alfreda Johnson, grand vice-president of Phi Chi Theta welcomed the girls. Mrs. W. A. Robbins, president of the Lincoln school of commerce, spoke on "Selling Yourself."

Girls initiated are Ruth Pierce, Margaret Standford, Eleanor Worthman, Miriam Butler, Barbara DePutron, Carol Galloway, Barbara Burt, Harriet Wolfe, Eunice Camp, Alice Crowley, Helen O'Gara, Corneha Madison and Ruth Shankland.

F. L. ROTH RIVALS WONDER MAN IN PHYSICS LECTURE

colored chalk on a big graph he outlined the theory of harmonic motion and told why the figures went thru a constant cycle of shaping and reshaping, producing a fantastic effect on the screen.

Group Hear Middle "C." Then, with mirrors mounted on the end of tuning forks which were pointed at the reflector along lines at right angles to each other he flashed off the lights in the room. Attention was focused on the sphere of projected light. One fork was made to vibrate and in truth the group not only heard, but saw middle "C" as the sphere became a line. With the vibration a glittering beam raced from one end of the line to the other forming an unbroken band of light. Mr. Roth began to tune in with the second fork and the silver band became an ever changing figure of tightly light, first a circle, then an ellipse like a great dirigible with a star at each end, then back to a straight line again.

After making another set of drawings on the graph Mr. Roth went back to his fascinating projector, not to harmonize two notes, but this time to produce a symphony of dancing light beams—a figure eight with its narrow middle weaving back and forth; a movement by Director Roth and the shape becomes a changing "S" that keeps turning the onlookers eyeballs inside out. Getting past the introduction, the light overture changed to a crazy pretzel pattern that led the eye thru unprecedented gymnastics. Then, from pretzels to a chicken-wire plan of ever-original design.

Many Designs Formed. After another pause in the light symphony the finale was launched into with a slightly altered instrumentation, the tuning forks being replaced by electric motors whose shafts were fitted with eccentrically mounted mirrors. This time the light played in an even greater range of patterns with small circles rolling around the inside rim of larger ones, replicas of pointed leaves, shamrocks, many-leaved clovers, and a multitude of distinct and different designs that have no facsimile in nature.

Following this picturesque exposition, Mr. Roth explained the application of the phenomena to polarized light and also answered questions on the more complicated phases of simple harmonic motion. Refreshments were served after the informal discussion.

The funeral service which stands out strongest in the memory of a certain class at the University of Kansas was one conducted for an eccentric, but beloved old professor. At the height of his oratory the minister said, "The shell has broken and the nut is gone."

Methodist Organizations Hold Joint Xmas Meeting. Four Methodist organizations, Wesleyan players, Kappa Phi Methodist student council, and Phi Tau Theta, are holding a joint Christmas meeting, 7 o'clock Tuesday, Dec. 18 at the Wesleyan foundation. Rev. and Mrs. A. K. Williams are in charge of arrangements.

TO GIVE XMAS PARTY XMAS PARTY THURSDAY

Prof. Joseph Alexis to Open Program on Thursday With Speech.

Christmas party of the Department of Germanic languages, planned to follow a German-Scandinavian theme, will be held in the Morrill hall auditorium from 4 to 6 p. m. Thursday, according to plans for the event announced Saturday.

Prof. Joseph Alexis, chairman of the department, will open the program with a short introductory talk, to be followed by several musical numbers.

"Thr Kindeln Kommet," sung by Vance Leininger, will open the program, while the Temple quartette will present "Es ist ein Reis entsprungen" and "Wanderers Nachtlied." Dr. W. K. Pfeiler will give several readings in German, while Wilgus Eberly will conclude that part of the program.

ONE DAY REMAINS IN Y. W. CLOTHING RELIEF CAMPAIGN will be turned over to the Y. W. C. A. for distribution, according to Sancha Kilbourn, Nebraskan committeeewoman for party arrangements.

Fraternity response was described as meager by Richard Schmidt, business manager of the Daily Nebraskan, which is cooperating in the drive. "Although the bulk of contributions have been made by sororities, fraternity houses still have time to turn in some discarded clothing on Monday," he stated. "We also wish that any Christmas toys that might be left over from the holiday parties be donated for distribution among children who would otherwise receive none," Schmidt added.

Clothes that have already been sorted, repaired, and packed will be distributed this week by freshman commission workers, who will visit individual families, accompanied by a social worker. Names of dependent families were obtained from the Social Welfare office. All clothes not used by these families will be turned over to the Red Cross, according to Miss Winquist.

Results thus far are very gratifying, in the opinion of Miss Bernice Miller, secretary of the campus Y. W. C. A. "We are pleased with the results so far in the campaign, but we still request any donations that can be made in order to supply the nine families that the commission groups will visit," Miss Miller stated. She also urged immediate action in order to make the donations available to the commissions who will meet at the first of the week.

Contributions may be turned in at the Y. W. C. A. offices in Ellen Smith hall, the Y. M. C. A. offices in the Temple, and the Daily Nebraskan offices.

We Can Help Those Less Fortunate Than Ourselves... And at little bother and no expense! THIS WEEK It's Christmas time! But Christmas to many will mean little more than any other day of the year. For it is they on whom fate has not smiled kindly. In cooperation with Lincoln charity organizations, the Daily Nebraskan is conducting a campus-wide campaign for old clothes. Things for which you no longer have any use, will prove most useful to Lincoln needy, during cold winter months. Those old shoes you can't wear, which at the present time merely clutter up your clothes closet, may just as well be given to charity That dress you thought had seen its last day weeks ago, will see many more when given to folks who never get to buy pretty, new things. So give and help somebody have a merrier Christmas. We'll be glad to call for even the smallest contribution. It's the little bits that eventually count. We can all do a little to help. Organized House Presidents 100% representation in the campus Honor Roll is the goal for organized houses. So why not talk over the charity drive at your meeting Monday night. We want you to be included. Our delivery service will call for your contribution.
