EXAMINATIONS PLUS THE LAST weekend and four formals were just about too much for the socially minded students of Nebraska, and eight o'clock classes have been noticeably empty. However, in spite of the more or less routine business of going to "colleth," new faces, new classes and new professors combine to break the monotony, and students—even those who are not working for Phi Beta Kappa—have made resolutions to raise averages during the coming term. So school goes on, with diversion from class room found in the moon and thoughts of spring, and we might add, the interfraternity ball scheduled for this weekend.

'PAGING THE SMART COED'

Head first into Spring! Down with Crowns! Forward with Brims! Your hat is going to lower its head this spring and rush recklessly out in front of you. It looks as if some madcap had lost its head and tweaked the noses of hats—pulled and yanked and tugged their brims far out in front. Swallow your cautiousness and try on one of these.

Nothing much behind. The sterna of these hats are practically nonexistent. If the brim isn't whitened down so that it hugs you tight, there is a pie-shaped slice cut out of it. The brims are not only hacked off squarely but even the back of the shallow crowns are squared. The downfall of crowns is a certainty, but we aren't lamenting the fact. In every shop they've toppled from their former dizzy heights. They're gay and silly and certainly far more alluring than I can make them sound.

There are bonnets in most of the better collections, but you have to hand it to the milliners, for these hats are a decided improvement on those once worn. They're young and sophisticated and very progressive.

Off the face hats, by the way, have not perished from the scene. One day you may hide behind a forward-thrusting brim and the next your forehead may be bare and cause a pleasing contrast.

Pink—there's a word to seize and let it sink deep into your consciousness. If you would like to make a good impression upon that certain some one sail forth on a fine spring morning in a navy blue suit with a pink hat and pink gloves and perhaps a pink and blue cravat. Everywhere there's a note of pink in the air.

The fate of sailors is decidedly promising too. For the most part, sailors are small or medium sized—the overgrown cartwheels of the last year are conspicuous by their absence but it wouldn't surprise me in the least to see them wheel back when the sun starts beating mercilessly down on the dear old university campus.

There seem to be no inhibitions about flowers or feathers. All sorts of flowers, known and unknown to botanists, and birds and feathers unheard of by experts are being appropriated by the milliners.

There are many seasons when the fashionable hat is becoming to only the few, but this spring the milliners have such a variety that every girl should get her hat's desire.

Fashionably Yours,
POLLIE.

EVANS LAUNDRY SERVICE POPULAR WITH STUDENTS

Two weeks ago the Daily Nebraskan ran a story about the economical bachelor service the Evans Laundry was offering students. The response from the students has been great. The service is called Bachelor Rough Dry, 5 pounds for 49c, with shirts professionally finished for only 9c. The popularity of the service is due principally to students who formerly sent their soiled laundry home to be done.

It is even cheaper to use the Evans service than the sending charges would be, and the big tip is, mother doesn't have to do the hard work.

Send your soiled clothes to the Evans and use this money saving service. Be smart in a professionally finished Evans shirt for only 9c in Bachelor Rough Dry.—Adv.

COCHRAN BUDGET GIVES UNIVERSITY THIN PURSE AGAIN

$16,500 for use of the legislative reference bureau, this amount being the same as for the previous two years.

No mention whatever was made in regard to the construction of a new library building for the university, request for which was also embodied in the regents' November recommendations. Other state institutions desiring new buildings received the same lack of consideration.

Normal's Share Increase.

The four state normal schools at Chadron, Wayne, Peru and Kearney shared with the university the good fortune of being recommended for increased appropriations. No indication of the present legislature's attitude toward university appropriations and support have yet been noted, but it is generally believed that the strained relations of two years ago will not be repeated this spring.

RAGGED PLAY MARKS INTRAMURAL GAMES

Greek Teams Resume Sport Schedule: Most Games Are Runaways.

Fraternity intramural basketball resumed the athletic spot light after a lapse of about two weeks Tuesday. Play was ragged and it seemed as the vacation had caused the players to go stale. There were a few close games but most of them were runaways.

In the best game of the evening Sigma Chi knocked Beta Theta Pi from championship consideration by winning 11 to 9 on Galloway's last minute basket. Sigma Phi Epsilon beat Phi Alpha Delta 12 to 8. Chi Phi won from Beta Sigma Psi 14 to 8. Phi Delta Theta beat Alpha Sigma Phi in a game in which more shots at the basket were missed than in any game this year. In a second half rally the Delta Tau Delta team proved themselves of championship caliber by winning 21 to 9 from the Pi Kappa Alpha team. Acacia scored a 43 to 8 victory over Sigma Alpha Mu while Sigma Nu won a 42 to 2 game from Zeta Beta Tau. Phi Kappa Psi stayed in the running by trouncing Phi Sigma Kappa 43 to 11. Tau Kappa Epsilon beat Theta Chi 23 to 6. Kappa Sigma walked over the previously undefeated Alpha Tau Omegas by the count of 20 to 9. Phi Gamma Delta ran up 29 points to the Delta Sigma Lambdas 12.

Tuesday's play was marked by fumbling and bad passing which had largely been eliminated in the last games before vacation. There was a great deal of individual playing and the basket eyes of most of the players were not functioning.

"Carnival," the new film opening at the Varsity Friday is from the pen of Robert Riskin, that cinema genius who authored the screen treatment of "It Happened One Night," "One Night of Love," and "Broadway Bill." This new hit stars Lee Tracy and features Sally Eilers, Jimmy Durante and the new child star, Dickie Walters, who goes by the name "Poochy" in the film. "Carnival" is the very human story of a swell guy and grand girl and a miracle baby. Needless to say it fairly bubbles with comedy.
