LITERARY DIGEST PEACE POLL VOTE ANTI-AGGRESSION

Favors Government Munition And Armament Control By Big Majority.

DEFEND FROM INVADERS

League of Nations Proposal Downed by Students In 2-1 Margin.

Final returns in The Literary Digest College Peace Poll were made known by the magazine Thursday with the vote for government control of armament and munitions industries showing a great overwhelming affirmative count of nine to one.

Undergraduates in 118 leading American colleges and universities returned 112,607 ballots to vote in this poll on one of the most controversial subjects before the university students' eyes today.

Nebraska Follows Majority.

In the tabulation of the votes received from Nebraska, the results and ratio ran almost identical with the total returns.

On the question as to whether the United States could stay out of another great war, the student vote was more than two to one in the affirmative. Over 83 percent of the students declared their patriotism by answering "yes" to the query, "If the borders of the United States were invaded would you bear arms in defense of your country?"

Conscript Resources.

Building nearly five to one in the affirmative, the undergraduates favored universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor to control profits in time of war.

According to a statement by The Literary Digest, which has been conducting this poll in cooperation with the Association of College Editors, more than a third of the ballots sent out were returned, this being the highest percentage of returns ever obtained in a Literary Digest poll.

Vote Against League. Only one of the 118 American colleges, believed that the United States could remain out of another great war.

The College Peace Poll was extended to one university in Canada in order to compare the Canadian sentiment.

The students in this school, Queen's university in Kingston, Ontario, agreed on all the questions but one, which was altered to fit the Canadian case.

The organization is purely social and its members are those who are military sponsors meeting the university scholastic requirements.

Honorary Members at Large. The president and vice president will take office at the first meeting after the military ball.

Ingelborg Oesberlin, on Holiday Trip In South, Spends Christmas at Beach Of Savannah; Santa Brings Overalls

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of interviews with Miss Ingelborg Oesberlin regarding her holiday trip which she is making with two other German exchange students.

Dec. 24—We left in the morning, Charleston, S. C., after we had looked it over in the daylight.

We drove from Charleston to Savannah through flat country with oak trees and cotton fields.

Savannah, the town, is typically southern. People talk very loud in the street. It is a very colored life.

On Christmas eve, we ate again a sea-food dinner. We bought some fruit in a basket, and on our way to the beach we noticed so many, many Christmas trees with colored

CHILDREN'S PLAY IS ENTITLED 'THE TINKLING LAUGH'

Dramatic Fairy Tale Is Work Of Former University Student.

CONSISTS OF THREE ACTS

Bob Ager, Ann Seacrest Portray Leading Roles in Production.

"The Tinkling Laugh," a dramatic fairy tale written by Mrs. Wesley Patrick McDonald, formerly Miss Mary Katharine Throop and student at the university, is the title of the next Children's theater production to be presented on the stage of the Temple theater Saturday, Feb. 16, at 9:30 in the morning and at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The play will be put on by members of the dramatic department and members of the children's dramatic classes. It is being sponsored by the Lincoln Junior league, and will be directed by Miss Pauline Gellatly, under the supervision of Miss H. Alice Howell, director of the University Players.

Fantastic Plot. Ann Seacrest and Bob Ager will have the leading roles in the play, taking the parts of the princess Symbalene of the Tinkling Laugh and Jack, respectively.

The play consists of three acts and six scenes, and involves the fantastic plot well known to fairy tales. Janet Moon portrays the cousin of the princess, Oresta, who dislikes Symbalene and his her father bewitch the girl resulting in her loss of the tinkling laugh, which changes to the form of a butterfly.

The rest of the play deals with the search for the lost laugh. Three princes go in search of it. They catch sight of it several times but are not able to capture it until it is found in the possession of a crippled girl, played by Mary Adelaide Hansen.

SENATOR NORRIS MAKES ADDRESS AT CONVOGATION

Three Conferred Honorary Degrees; Music School Gives Program.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

Authorities Dismiss Classes After Ten O'clock on Friday Morning.

Senator George W. Norris will address an expected crowd of 8,000 Nebraskans participating in the sixty-sixth annual charter day celebration which will be held at 10:15 o'clock Friday morning in the coliseum.

Altho the subject of the Senator's address has not been announced, predictions from official sources indicate that it will be a message of nationwide political interest, possibly outlining the foundation of a new political party.

Senator Norris is also one of three to be honored by honorary degrees at the exercises. Dr. Samuel Avery and J. W. Crabtree will receive with the Senator the honorary Doctor of Laws degree in recognition of their work for Nebraska. Chancellor E. A. Burnett will preside over the morning program.

A short musical program, beginning at 10:35 o'clock will precede Senator Norris' address. The University orchestra, conducted by Carl Frederic Steckelberg of the school of music will open the program with the "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" followed by the invocation given by Rev. Benjamin F. Wyland.

Two vocal numbers, "Sigh No More, Ladies," and "It Is Spring," will be sung by Lenore Burkett Van Kirk, instructor in the school of music, preceding the Senator's address. Following the conferring of degrees, the orchestra will play a selection from the "William Tell" overture.

The Charter Day banquet, which will be held at the University Club at 6:30 Friday evening, will be presided over by John A. Rice, president of the alumni association. Chancellor Emeritus Avery, Senator Norris and Mr. Crabtree will be guests of honor. Special arrangements for the occasion include floral decorations and an immense birthday cake, which will be cut by Mrs. Avery at the conclusion of the banquet. Cover reservations have been increased by 250 more tickets to take care of the great demand.

Dr. Avery, who will be honored at the morning exercises and the banquet, has been nationally recognized as an educator, university administrator and his work in chemical research. He was chancellor of the university for nineteen years, during the period of its greatest growth.

Mr. Crabtree has been known as an educator, school administrator, and secretary of the National Educational association for many years.
