ARNDT EXPLAINS GOLD DECISION TO SOCIETY

Delian-Union Group Hears Economics Professor Friday.

Significance of the recent supreme court decision on gold was explained to members of Delian-Union Literary society Friday night by Prof. Karl M. Arndt of the economics department. The talk was given in conjunction with the regular social meeting of the organization.

A program of variety entertainment was presented under the direction of Belle Graves. Those taking part were Alvin Kleeb, Howard Mock, Alice Doll and Francis Johnson. Impromptu talks were given by several visiting alumni. Refreshments were served by Ruth Griffith.

KID STUNTS PLAYED AT HOME EC. PARTY

Ag. Campus Women at Entertainment Friday.

Home economic women were children again at a party given Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the student activities building on the agricultural college campus.

Kid stunts were planned for the students, and surprises in the way of fancy invitations and ribbon peanuts containing messages in verse were issued to all home economic women earlier in the week.

The affair was one of a series of events to promote wider acquaintances and closer friendships among members of the home economics departments.

STARS PLAY BEST ROLES IN LINCOLN OPERA, MARCH 12

Maria Jeritza, Edith Mason Appear at Coliseum Next Month.

Maria Jeritza, renowned opera singer, and the ever popular Edith Mason will be heard in their best roles when Chicago Grand Opera visits the university campus to present its all star gala performance at the coliseum the evening of Tuesday, March 12.

When, in 1922, Mme. Jeritza made her American debut in New York City in the Metropolitan Opera House, she was in tears because the directors insisted she first appear in an opera unknown at the time in New York City, "The Dead City."

"I never felt I had been properly introduced to New York," she has said since then, "until after I had been heard there in the title role of 'Tosca.'"

Mason sang Lyric Role. Edith Mason sang lyric roles in the same Metropolitan before she was heard there as Marguerite in "Faust." Unlike Jeritza, Miss Mason had no longing to do Marguerite at that time in New York. "You see," she explains, "all my roles there had been in the Italian operas; and if I had a favorite part, it was the title role of 'Martha.' I expected to fall as Marguerite down there, where they had a great tradition as to all the roles in Faust, including both Emma Eames and Emma Calve. But orders were orders and what I wished to do didn't at the time matter to the directorate. I'm glad the directors had their way; for when the curtain fell on the garden scene, something in the attitude of the cheering audience told me that some of the cheers were for me. Ever since, Marguerite has been my pet role, and the beautiful garden scene my favorite spot in all the operas in which I have sung, not excepting even 'La Traviata' in which I have but recently made my first appearance."

It will be as Tosca in Puccini's opera and as Marguerite in Gounod's long popular masterpiece that Madame Jeritza and Miss Mason will be heard in Lincoln next month.

'Faust' Garden Scene Given. The special performance prepared by the directors of Chicago Opera not only includes the appearance of both of these international singers, but also provides (Continued on Page 4).

BIG SISTERS' CARNIVAL ATTRACTS CROWD 300

Kangaroo Court, Side Shows, Haunted House, Features Annual Entertainment.

Created by the Big Sister board, the penny carnival began and ended Saturday afternoon. About 300 students took advantage of the nominal price for an afternoon's entertainment, and patronized the attractions set up in the Armory by members of the board and their Big Sister assistants.

Among the attractions offered was a kangaroo court, where innocent victims were tried and sentenced; a side show "freaks," which portrayed the freaks of the campus; a haunted house; fortune teller; Selma Goldstein and Doris Forman; puppet show, with a university Punch and Judy; and several games of chance. A refreshment stand and a candy stand received their share of patronage, and one end of the floor was roped off for dancing.

Members of the Big Sister board in charge of the carnival included Breta Peterson, Ariene Bora, Elizabeth Moomaw, Ruth Matschull, Barbara DePutron, Doris Rishness, Marjorie Smith, Marjorie Filley, and Rowena Swenson. Gretchen Budd won first prize for guessing the correct number in the bean guessing contest.

DR. H. FILLEY VISITS IN LINCOLN FOR WEEK

Economics Professor on Absence Leave as Consultant.

Dr. H. C. Filley, chairman of the department of rural economics at the university and now on leave of absence, was in Lincoln last week. Dr. Filley is serving as consulting economist for a commission appointed by the Farmers National Grain Dealers association to inquire into agencies, laws, and regulations affecting grain prices.

Probably the first body ever appointed by a group of farmers to study grain marketing, the commission has held hearings in Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Springfield, Ill., and Winnipeg, Canada. About sixty witnesses have presented testimony to it, including bankers, millers, terminal warehouse operators, representatives of grain commission firms, cooperative elevator managers, officers of farmers' elevator companies, grain statisticians, and agricultural economists.

UNIVERSITY CHEMISTS PRINT TWO ARTICLES

Faculty Members, Former Students Publish Works.

Two articles by chemistry faculty members and former students at the university appeared in the February issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Dr. D. J. Brown, professor of chemistry, and Dr. Lyle V. Andrews have discussed "The Oxidation Potential of the Alkaline Permanganate-Manganese Dioxide Electrode."

Doctor Andrews received his doctor's degree from the university in 1932 and is now professor of chemistry at Chadron. Dr. E. Roger Washburn, associate professor of chemistry at the university, and Allen L. Olsen, who received the degree of doctor of philosophy at the university last year, have written "A Study of Solutions of Isopropyl Alcohol in Benzene, in Water, and in Benzene and Water."

PRESENTATION OF 1935 PROM GIRL REVIEWED FRIDAY

No Plan Definitely Chosen Until Contest Closes Monday.

Plans for the presentation of the 1935 prom girl whose identity will be revealed March 8 were considered at a meeting of the junior senior prom committee Friday afternoon. No plan will be chosen definitely until the contest closes at 5 o'clock Monday.

Anyone planning to enter his idea should see Clayton Schwencik in the Kosmet Klub office between 3 and 5 o'clock today. Presentation ideas should be able to be constructed for $35 and should contain a part for both junior and senior class presidents. A $10 prize will be awarded to the winner the first of this week.

Ticket sales drive for the prom will begin Feb. 26 and will be conducted by the Corn Cobs, Co-chairman Irving Hill announced. Each Cob selling 15 or more tickets will receive his own free.

The committee also accepted the plan presented by Publicity Chairman Jack Pace to make a house canvas Monday night advertising the prom.

Due to last minute complications, the orchestra will not be announced today but will be definitely selected at a special meeting of the committee within the next few days.

SCHOONER SALES NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS

Advertising Group Reports Moderate Turnover At Stands.

BIOGRAPHY IS ACCLAIMED

Campus sales of the winter, 'campus appeal' edition of the Prairie Schooner were reported as encouraging but not up to expectations by H. P. Behlen, business manager of the university literary publication. This issue, containing humor and a more popular type of current magazine material in excess of its usual fiction and poetry, went on campus, state, and nation stands about the middle of last week.

The women's advertising sorority, Gamma Alpha Chi, was in charge of the campaign to put the late-winter Schooner across to the students. Members of the organization stated that while they had a moderate turnover at the news tables in Andrews and Social Sciences they had expected a larger sale of this issue in view of the fact that Editor L. C. Wimberly, who is professor of writing courses in the English department and nationally known writer, believed that this edition contained stories and articles of special student interest.

Survey of Exchange Paper Features Reveals Anecdotes for Artists Who Have Appeared Here During Year

A survey of the features in the various exchange papers of recent date, reveals several anecdotes in the lives of artists appearing before Lincoln audiences during the past year.

The Wisconsin Daily Cardinal describes several aspects of Miss Le Gallienne's life: "In 1926 Miss Le Gallienne turned producer-manager-actress, gathered a group of disciples and opened her idealistic show-shop in New York City—the Civic Repertory theater. Located off the main stem of Broadway, and not far from her shop was an old Italian theater, rusty and antique, it was a hulk of a building, thick with memory dust and cobwebs. It took an immense amount of scrubbing to make it tenable.

"Here she put on Shakespeare, Molnar, Moliere, Chekhov, Ibsen—at prices scaling from $1 to 50 cents. Capacity houses greeted her efforts. Those occupying the 50 cent seats during the early his-

PLAYERS PLAN TO OPEN PRODUCTION OF BROADWAY HIT

Margaret Carpenter, Perkins Have Leading Roles in Drama.

CAST UNUSUALLY SMALL

Play Billed as One of Most Sophisticated Shown In Lincoln.

Continuing the season of legitimate stage dramas, the University Players open Monday evening, Feb. 25 in "There's Always Juliet." This play, by John Van Druckel, played to capacity audiences on Broadway last season, with such outstanding stars as Herbert Marshall and Edna Best in the leading roles.

The drama will be out of the ordinary in that the cast is so small. A sophisticated romance of two people, an English girl and an American architect, the play is different than any other romance given here at the university this season.

Not being introduced had no drawbacks for the hero and heroine of this tale. The fine young American from across the sea, boldly sought out the beautiful English maiden, and the plot weaves about in peculiar fashion. Altho she knows the youthful architect, she knows nothing about his life in America, his home, friends, and background, so declines to marry him.

Returns to Sweetheart. As he is aboard a ship, sailing for home, the hero can not leave in the meantime, so returns. The girl's sweetheart decides she really loves him, and upon his return, consents to marry him. Her English lover is rejected, and the play (Continued on Page 4).

SPONSORS EXPECT 300 GUESTS AT TEA DANCE

Affair of March 1 to Honor R. O. T. C. Regimental Officers.

R. O. T. C. sponsors expect about 300 guests at the tea dance, which they are planning to give Friday, March 1, from 3:30 until 5:30 at the Cornhusker hotel. Officers of the regiment will be honored guests at the affair, and wives of the instructors of the military department will be asked to pour.

Col. W. H. Oury has appointed a committee headed by Lieut. Col. Elmer Brackett to assist the sponsors club in arranging for the tea dance. Three women from each sorority and organized house on the campus will be asked to act as guests at the function, one to be the president, one, the social secretary, and one, another member.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD MEETINGS IN LINCOLN

Political Group Celebrates Nebraska State Day on March 1.

Celebrating Nebraska State day for the first time, more than a thousand men and women will attend this year's founders day meetings in Lincoln March 1, according to John Stover, secretary of the Young Republican club at the university.

Honorable Harold McGugin, former Kansas congressman and organizer will be the principal speaker at the main banquet of the convention, members of the committee announced.

"Sponsored by the state republican committee, the county republican committee, the Nebraska Founders Day association, and the Young Republican club, at the university, the principal purpose of the meeting will be to form an impersonal, non-fraternal republican organization of statewide scope dedicated to the preservation of American principles of government, and the celebration of state day," stated John Quinn, vice president of the student republican organization.

Other officers of the republican group on the campus are: President, Lee Young; treasurer, Marjorie Smith; sergeant-at-arms, Betty McKerney.
