

RED BACKS SCOOT TO 20-0 TRIUMPH IN FOOTBALL MIX

Brill, LaNoue, and Andrews Lead Varsity Attack; All Score.

Coach Dana X. Bible's Husker Red Shirts continued their weekend assault on the White-jerseyed gridiron unit Saturday afternoon, plowing through the second stringers for three end zone tallies and a 20-0 victory in the fourth scrimmage of the season.

With the Crimson backfield again featuring the play, Harold Brill, Norton, Kas, triple threat; Jerry LaNoue, Wismer speed torpedo, and Harris Andrews, Beatrice speedster, broke through the White trenches for a touchdown each.

After a scoreless first quarter in which the Reds advanced to the White 10-yard doorstep but lost the ball on downs, the varsity enthusiasts went to town. Starting on the 45-yard line, Brill flipped a lateral to LaNoue for a 16 yard advance and Dodd and Brill charged to the 18-yard line. A lateral relay reached the 10-yard stripe again but the defenders took the ball, and Phelps kicked out of danger. But a LaNoue-to-Howell combination started back with an 18 yard rush and Dodd ripped through to the 3-yard line. LaNoue crossing the final stripe on the next play.

Nothing happened in the third period, but LaNoue and Dodd roared through to the White 15-yard zone at the start of the last quarter. Brill crossed the touchdown stripe on the next play, taking the ball on a flip from Dodd. Jerry missed the kick and the count stood at 13-0.

Both teams fought a criss-cross defensive battle until the close of the period when Harris Andrews intercepted a White pass for the final register. The Beatrice ball lugger snatched Bill Bauer's pass on the 30-yard area and outran the White secondary to cross the line standing up.

Participants in Telegraphic Swim Meet

Courtesy Sunday Journal-Star.

The thirteen tanksterettes who participated in the national telegraphic swim meet, as they are pictured above were: Alice Davie, Lincoln; Beth Taylor, Lincoln; Edwina McConchie, Washington, Kas.; Beth Phillips, Omaha; Ferne Focht, Ironwood, Mich.; Flora Mae Rimerman, Omaha; Thelma Sterkel, Lincoln. Three other contestants, not pictured were: Hazel Bradstreet, Grand Island; Frances Fish, Lincoln; and Martha Jackson, Lincoln.

With the click of the telegraph, the future Eleanor Holmes and Helen Madisons from universities all over the country started across their local pools in the crawl or the back stroke, as the case might be, each hoping to outstrip the others, yet none of them knowing just what the others might be doing.

The Nebraska Tanksterettes, women's swim organization, was among the contestants.

The National Telegraphic Collegiate meet ended April 1, the Tanksterettes are awaiting the tabulation and announcement of the results, which are now being compiled at Chicago. Entered in the Central Region of the national meet, Nebraska competed in the largest of the four regions entered. Among the schools entered in this region were the universities of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, and Northwestern. Chicago was the headquarters of the Central Region, as well as the national headquarters for the entire meet.

Among the results sent into Chicago from Nebraska's meet were Alice Lou Davie, first, and Edwina McConchie, second, in the forty-yard crawl. Martha Jackson, Tanksterette pledge, was first in the forty-yard breast stroke; and Alice Lou Davie, and Edwina McConchie again swam off with first and second places in the forty-yard back crawl. Martha Jackson was the only entrant in the 100-yard breast stroke. The distance covered in this division of the contest is four lengths of the pool, and Miss Jackson's time, according to Ione Allen, in charge of the meet, compared favorably with the time of last year's national winner.

Officials for Nebraska included Jack Minor, swimming coach, as starter, and Leonore Alway, Tanksterette sponsor, as referee. Time keepers were Beth Phillips, Beth Taylor, Gladys Morton, Helen Lemly, Fern Focht, and Ione Allen.

FRESHMAN DIAMOND NINE BEATS VARSITY

Stahl Allows Four Hits as Cold Rain Hinders Practice.

Icy wind and cold rain stiffened muscles and numbed fingers as they played. Each squad was victim of four bobbles.

Bob Joyce pitched all the way for the regulars allowing eight hits and fanning ten, just one-half of the men who faced him. Because of the cold weather he did not bear down nor pitch any curve balls.

With icy winds blowing over a soft diamond, Minnesota's nine took its first outdoor practice Wednesday. Iowa State's diamonders played their initial tilt against Simpson College yesterday... the Cyclone fans were expecting any kind of a ball game as the squad has been drilling lightly in the cold wind.

"Members of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic conference have agreed to go in for night baseball next season. In the opinion of George A.
