

12 MORE CAMPUS GROUPS SUPPORT BOOK STORE IDEA

Committee Plans Campaign To Gain Approval of Faculty.

HONOR ROLL INCREASES Hope for Means to Exchange Texts With Other Universities.

Twelve additional organizations have signified their intention of supporting the proposed student book exchange to be established here at the university and have been placed on the honor roster, making an almost unanimous backing of campus groups.

In order to take care of the enormous amount of work which must be accomplished in such a short time available, Don Shureff, Irwin Ryan, and Bonnie Spangard have been named as members on the student council committee which is sponsoring the idea.

Campaigning to secure the faculty support of the book exchange, members of the council committee plan to visit all deans, directors of schools, and chairmen of departments in an effort to obtain their approval and backing.

"The results of the first day's work was very gratifying," asserted Virginia Selleck, a member of the committee, "and all professors contacted gave assurance that they would stand wholeheartedly behind the planned bookstore."

VOCATIONAL DIVISION HOLDS CONTEST FOR STATE HIGH SCHOOLS

Ag Campus Will Entertain Agriculture Students April 25, 26.

Eastern Nebraska high school students will assemble on the Ag campus Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, for the twenty-first annual high school agricultural contest, held under the auspices of the vocational education department of the university.

Special awards will be made to winners of various divisions at a banquet in the Activities building following the competition. Champions in the dairy and livestock judging divisions will represent Nebraska at the Kansas City Royal livestock show.

The winner of the public speaking contest will compete at a regional contest at Waterloo, Ia., for a trip to Kansas City.

Dormitory facilities will be provided in the Activities building for outstate entrants. A similar contest for western Nebraska schools will be held at North Platte April 11 and 12, and winners may compete at Lincoln for the state championship.

ALUMNUS FEATURES STORY BY ANDERSON IN NEWEST NUMBER

Second Fiction Work of Year Appears in April Issue.

With the short story, "Beware of the Nones of May," by Donald Anderson, as a feature of the issue of the Nebraska alumnus will be sent to university alumni on April 15th, Violet Cross, publication editor has announced. The story, second in a series of a fight between engineers and lawyers.

Also appearing in the issue, is an article, "How Near is the Wolf," which is concerned with university appropriations and the present financial situation. Dr. R. D. Scott of the English department will be the subject of a second article.

Among the usual university news will be the librarian's page, campus news, accounts of marriages and births, and class notes. Also appearing is an article in memoriam to several of the late faculty members stories on senior class organization, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, and an account of charter day activities not reported in last month's issue.

The Kosmet Klub show with a full page of pictures will additionally be presented in the issue.

ENGINEERS PLAN FOR ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Initial plans for its engineers week activities this spring were formulated by the American Institute of Engineers at their regular monthly meeting last evening.

Radio Fails to Work When Smuggled Into Anthropology Class

Night class students of Dr. Earl H. Bell may be primarily interested in anthropology, but some of them have a fondness for music. At one of Dr. Bell's recent evening meetings they discovered, however, that music and anthropology don't mix, and music took the count. Maybe they just can't get used to night classes.

Because Dr. Bell plans to leave May 15 for Alaska he's been holding night classes so he can finish the work in his courses ahead of regular schedule. That meant giving up favorite evening broadcasts. But some of the students thought they could go to class, and have their radio programs too, so they smuggled a small receiver into the classroom.

During the lecture, the radio attached to a wall socket and still concealed under overcoats, refused to deliver the broadcasts as scheduled. Instead only odd noises and unintelligible mutterings came from the smuggled article. Maybe they didn't actually care about the programs anyway.

EIGHT INITIATED INTO CORN COBS TO FILL ROSTER

Name Chaperons for Spring Dinner Dance at Meeting.

Eight pledges of Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, were initiated at special ceremonies held Wednesday night at the Phi Delta Theta house, under the direction of President Irving Hill.

New initiates are Frank Griffey, Duke Reid, Allen Wolf, Mike Wisen, Lowell Newmeyer, Gifford Swenson, James Wahl, and Dick Rider. Dick Decker and Harold Jacobsen were in charge of the induction rites.

Final plans for the spring dinner dance, which will be held at the Cornhusker hotel Saturday night, were discussed at a business meeting that followed. Professor and Mrs. Karl A. Arndt and Professor and Mrs. O. Stepanek were revealed as chaperons for the party.

Every fraternity on the campus now has an active member in the organization, according to Secretary Jim Marvin, making the first complete roster that the group has had in years. Corn Cobs is a branch of the Greek letter fraternity Pi Epsilon Pi, which is a nationally organized society.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI TO HEAR FIRST REPORTS ON BEST AD CONTEST

Honorary Sorority Pledges Women at Meeting Thursday.

Pledging of four new women and first reports on the ad selection contest will be held at a meeting of the members of Gamma Alpha Chi, national honorary advertising sorority, when they meet Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

The pledging ceremony which will be held first, according to Virginia Selleck, president of the group, will make pledges of Eleanor Neale, Helen Eppler.

At the meeting following the service, the ad contest reports will be submitted and discussion of additional possibilities for judges will take place. Miss Selleck stated. Thus far, only F. C. Blood, university professor of advertising and sponsor of Gamma Alpha Chi, and Prof. Gayle G. Walker, director of the journalism school, have been named as judges. The club intends to add at least one or two prominent Lincoln advertisers to that number.

Selection of ads in the contest will be limited to papers published in communities of over 1,000 with the exception of Lincoln and Omaha.

Fosdick Denounces Military Pageantry in Record Speech

What of the church in regard to past and potential wars? The words of Harry Emerson Fosdick several years ago, in regard to this subject were considered by Hon. James P. Pope, as a "subject of such vital interest to the people of this country" that he received permission to have the entire sermon printed in the Record.

"I renounce war," said Rev. Mr. Fosdick, "and never again, directly or indirectly, will I sanction or support another."

"Yesterday in Rome, Paris, London, Washington, and how many capitals besides, the most stirring military pageantry with music, flags and about the bodies of unknown soldiers. That is strange. So this is the outcome of western civilization, which for nearly 2,000 years has had Christ, and in which democracy and science have had their widest opportunity, that the whole nation pauses, its acclamations rise, its colorful pageantry centers, its patriotic oratory

VOTERS TO MAKE FIRST SELECTION NEXT INNOCENTS

List of All Junior Men To Be Posted in Temple.

FACULTY DIRECTS VOTING Ballot Will Include Five Names; Twenty-Five To Be Chosen.

Preliminary selection of junior men from whom next year's Innocents society will be chosen will be made Tuesday, April 16, when junior and senior men cast their ballots to name twenty-five candidates for the senior honorary. Voting will be held in the Temple theater lobby from nine in the morning to 5 o'clock that afternoon.

A list of all junior men, secured from the records of the university registrar, will be posted at the polls for convenience of voting students. Accuracy of the list cannot be definitely checked, it was pointed out, because the large number of names makes it impossible for the registrar's staff to investigate each one.

President Owen Johnson, of the Innocents society, warned students eligible to vote in Tuesday's election that they should exercise care in casting their ballots that the names they write in are names of junior men. Rules of the election require that each voter name five students on his ballot. Failure to comply with this rule throws that ballot out, he warned.

COUNCIL CHANGES DATE OF FILINGS FOR ORATOR POST

Fischer Leads Discussion on Union Building Drive At Meeting.

Candidates for the traditional post of Ivy day orator will file applications on Thursday from 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the student activities office at the coliseum, according to a ruling made by the student council at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The time was changed from Wednesday, which was previously announced by a member of the Ivy day committee before the council had approved the date.

Discussion of the council drive for a Nebraska student union building was conducted by President Fischer, who outlined plans to members of the council to secure co-operation of the student body in securing the structure.

"Whether the Board of Regents honors our request for the building or not depends upon the support the proposal receives upon the campus," Fischer declared.

Report of the student book exchange committee was made by Dick Fischer, who revealed that national book agencies were being contacted by the committee to secure outlets for the Nebraska store and that a concerted drive was to be made among faculty members this week to secure their support of the plan.

Two responses from Big Six conference schools concerning an annual conference of student councils were read by Fischer. Action on the matter was postponed until word is received from the other colleges.

BURNETT ADDRESSES 325 STUDENT R.O.T.C. OFFICERS AT DINNER

Cadet Colonel Charles E. Galloway Acts as Toastmaster.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett addressed 325 men in uniform and their special guests, the regimental sponsors, at the R. O. T. C. banquet held Wednesday evening in the ballroom of the Lincoln hotel. Guests found their places at tables arranged according to companies in line of battalions and decorated with guidons. Cadet Colonel Charles Galloway, head of the arrangements committee, presided and acted as toastmaster introducing T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs; State Senator Rolla C. VanKirk of the Nebraska legislature; Speaker J. P. O'Gara of the Nebraska house, and Col. C. J. Frankforter.

Others on the program were: Dr. G. E. Condra, director of the conservation and survey department; Claude S. Wilson, head of the Alumni Board of Control; Rev. H. H. Marsden; Rev. Victor West; Dean W. W. Burr of the Ag college; Violet Cross, this year's honorary colonel; and Col. W. H. Oury, head of the university R. O. T. C.

Honored guests besides the regimental sponsors included John K. Selleck, director of student activities; Coach D. X. Bible; Leuit. E. C. Richardson, president of the Reserve Officers' association of Lincoln; Edgar J. Boschult, head of the local American Legion post; Capt. J. H. Gist of the U. S. army; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulstich; George Sauer and Anne Bunting, last year's honorary colonel.

Cadet Major Henry Kosmas was chairman in charge of tickets for the affair and Cadet Major Charles Steadman arranged for the invitations.

CUPS AWARDED WINNERS Speech Faculty to Judge Readings and One Act Plays.

Twenty high schools have entered over a hundred contestants in the Nebraska high school debate and dramatic contests which will be held at the university Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. Prizes of loving cups will be offered for first place in debate, interpretive reading, and the one act play contests.

Judges for the debate will be prominent former debaters of the city and dramatic judges will be members of the Speech faculty and of the senior class in Speech. The Citizenship Committee of the Nebraska Bar association is providing the cup for the debate, according to a statement from the speech department, and a local department store has offered cups for first places in the one act play, the humorous reading, and the dramatic reading contests.

The cup to be awarded in the oratorical contest will be provided by a local jewelry store.

Debate Finals Saturday. Debates will be held in Andrews hall Thursday afternoon and evening, and in the law building, Monday.

AG COLLEGE TO HOLD ANNUAL PRE-EASTER BREAKFAST APRIL 14

Early rising students on the Ag campus will trek to the Student Activities building at 7 o'clock Sunday morning to attend the annual Ag college pre-Easter breakfast.

Guest speaker will be Rev. A. K. Williams, pastor of the student Methodist church on the downtown campus. Included on the tentative program is a cello solo by June Meek, selections by the Thomas quartette, piano solo by Genevieve Agnew, and group singing. The complete program will be announced later by Darrel Bauder and Marietta Feather, co-chairmen of the program committee.

The breakfast is being planned by Elsie Goth and Virginia Keim, who urge that reservations be made with ticket salesmen before Friday evening. Sales and publicity staff, headed by Irene Leach and Leroy Hansen is composed of Ogden Riddle, Ruth Henderson, Ruth Carsten, Don Radenbaugh, Dale Mecham, and Max McCamley.

The annual custom, which is always held on the Sunday preceding spring vacation, is intended to offer students on the Holdrege campus a "chance to get acquainted." Price of the breakfast is fifteen cents, and all faculty members and students are invited to attend.

HOME EC GROUP TO HOLD TEA THURSDAY

All home economics girls and faculty members are to be guests at the last tea of the season sponsored by the Home Economics association. Thursday afternoon from 3 until 5 at the home economics parlors on the agricultural campus.

Viola Johnson and Ruth Henderson will be hostesses at the affair.

P.B.K. to Brown Derby--That's The Story of Harry P. Letton

Tuesday, April 2, Harry Pike Letton was the recipient of the most coveted scholarship award he has achieved in his college career, Phi Beta Kappa and also the highest ranking student in the group.

Today, first year law student Letton is the humiliated wearer of the Brown Derby, traditional freshman symbol of the dumbest remark made in class.

Although the "crack" was below the par of wisdom usually displayed by wearers of the Derby, the freshman class was unanimous in bestowing upon the new P. B. K. Wednesday morning his second great honor received almost without a week. It all happened in Prof. Lester B. Orfield's crimes class of Tuesday afternoon.

"Suppose D, being arrested by a private citizen, shoots him. Would that be murder, Mr. Letton?" queried Professor Orfield.

"Yes, but I think the man would need to have been killed," Letton retorted quickly.

ALUMNI TO PUSH UNION PROPOSAL

John H. Agee Pledges Full Support of Association For New Student Union Building; to Call Directors Meeting for Planning.

COUNCIL TO ORGANIZE COMMITTEE OF 100 Contact Committees Appointed Wednesday; Exhibit Of Photographs to Be Displayed in Major Buildings on Both Campuses.

Full support of the Nebraska Alumni association has been pledged to the student council's campaign for a student union building by J. H. Agee, president of the association, Jack Fischer, president of the student council, revealed Wednesday. In an interview with committee members Wednesday Agee said that a meeting of the board of directors of the association would be held soon and a definite program for participation of alumni in the union drive mapped out at that time.

With new impetus given their efforts by assurance of alumni aid, the union committee turned to its task of enlisting every student organization, social, professional and honorary, in the fight for an activities center. Every organization will be asked to pledge its support to the campaign and will be asked to designate a member to represent it on a committee of from 75 to 100 which will be entrusted with the task of keeping the student body in touch with all developments of the drive.

Meet With Latenser. Meanwhile members of the committee expected to meet in Omaha Thursday with John Latenser, state PWA engineer, in regard to filing application for the building. With legal difficulties apparently successfully cleared, the committee planned to act in various channels this week to bring the matter before the state planning board for (Continued on Page 2.)

KANSAS INSTRUCTOR DISCUSSES POSITIVE ELECTRON THURSDAY

Dr. Beck Addresses Group Thursday in Brace Laboratory.

Dr. Guido Beck, visiting professor of physics, will address a group of Nebraska physicists and students Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in room 211, Brace laboratory. Dr. Beck comes from the University of Kansas. He will discuss "The Theory of the Positive Electron." Faculty members and advanced students of other related departments are especially invited to attend. Dr. H. H. Marvin, chairman of the department of physics announced the first of the week.

Dr. Beck has published many papers dealing with structure of atoms, and other physical phenomena related to the subject of his lecture today. He was formerly one of a group of active young physicists who worked at the University of Leipzig under leadership of Prof. Arnold Sommerfeld.

Relatively little mathematics will be required in presentation of his lecture this afternoon, it was pointed out. Dr. Beck has selected his subject because it is especially timely and has special interest appeal to those who are concerned with the structure of the atom.

Dr. Marvin urged that students interested in physical science attend this afternoon's lecture.

FIVE TAPPED THETA NU AT GATHERING OF NU-MED HONOR CLUB

Webster, Swenson, Deweese, Civin, Place Chosen To Society.

Five undergraduates were tapped Theta Nu, scholastic honorary composed of pre-med students, at ceremonies held during a meeting of the Nu-Med society Wednesday night at the Grand hotel. Harold Civin, George Place, Fred Webster, Sam Swenson, and Wolfard Deweese were taken into the order.

Dr. Charles H. Arnold, Lincoln physician, was guest speaker at a banquet preceding the meeting. Dr. Arnold described the Vienna medical college which he visited on a recent trip, and recounted his experiences during the war and as a family physician.

"Two requisites for any man taking up medical work," Dr. Arnold declared, "are that he should not be a cynic, and must have a good sense of humor. It is essential that doctors enjoy their work, and have self confidence in themselves to stand the gaff."

A business meeting was held after the ceremonies, when the nominating committee named candidates for next year's officers, which will be voted upon at the next regular meeting.

LYLE DE MOSS PLAYS FOR LAST AG CAMPUS SPRING PARTY FRIDAY
