THE OLD SAYING "PUNS ARE THE lowest form of humor" certainly applies to a good deal of unprintable material that comes to the "Rag" office in one form or another. But even Shakespeare, the greatest master of the English language who has lived, used them once in a while to provoke a little humor, so we suppose that a humble effort by one Corneob Meyer should not be disregarded. Forthwith, we print the so called unprintable material as it was offered: Lois Rathburn, red hot and letting her rathburn her up. Sarah Meyer, meyered in the mud outside "U" hall. Frank Crabill, boasting that he is crabill to do anything within reason. Faith Arnold prodding Tom Davies to set the Faith. Truman Oberdorff shouting to some freshman to oberdorff when the D. U. house seems too warm. There are more, but we'll spare you.

THIS MORNING Elizabeth Kelly, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mary Heaton, Ruth Talmel, Betty Moss, Dorothy Becher and Marjorie Souders left for Manhattan, Kas., where they will attend the province convention of the sorority.

TONIGHT Tau Kappa Epsilon will entertain at a spring party at the Lincoln hotel. William Hicks is in charge of the arrangements and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wahlgren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Schmidt and Mrs. Sue Kenneth will be chaperons. Two hundred and fifty bids have been sent.

"LETTER" MEN

"LETTER" men, as well as other leaders in undergraduate life, are individuals with lots of vitality. Their energy and their enthusiasm make them popular. But many others fail to take proper care of their health. Their drive and pep is often slowed down by constipation due to insufficient "bulk." Fortunately, this can be corrected. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious cereal, supplies "bulk" as well as vitamin B and iron. This "bulk" is mild in action. Two tablespoons daily, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient to promote regular habits. Ask that it be served at your fraternity house, eating-club or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereal served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating-clubs and fraternities is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits. Also Kellogg Hot Coffee—real coffee—37% caffeine free.

EXPERIMENTER BLASTS OLD NUTRITION THEORY

Doctor Finds Oxygen-Rich Air Does Not Affect Respiration.

USES 'CYCLE APPARATUS

By College News Service. WASHINGTON, April 11.—Revolutionary discoveries concerning the popular theory that breathing oxygen-rich air increases combustion of the body tissues were made on a bicycle this week by the Carnegie Institution.

The popular conception was blasted after hundreds of experiments conducted by Dr. Francis G. Benedict of the institution's nutrition laboratory assertedly proved that inhalation of oxygen-rich air had no effect on the respiration rate during either rest or work.

He set out to find: 1. How oxygen consumption is affected when performing severe muscular work and also when the same work is performed while breathing air highly charged with oxygen.

2. How the recovery period following cessation of strenuous work is affected by breathing atmosphere with varying percentages of oxygen content in excess of the normal amount.

In the tests, a person was mounted on a bicycle controlled so that the energy expended could be regulated and constantly maintained. A helmet to which was attached a closed-circuit respiration apparatus in which the oxygen content could be varied from 20 to 90 percent, then was placed over his head.

The experiments assertedly proved that in the preliminary resting period before work began, also during the period of intense physical effort, and finally during the period of recovery after work had ceased, the oxygen-consumption was not affected by excess oxygen in the air.

Furthermore, it was reported found that inhalation of oxygen-rich air had no effect on the respiration rate during either rest or work.

In addition, the character of the material burned in the body during the period of muscular activity was unaltered by the highly oxygenated air.

LATENSER ADDS BOARD SUPPORT TO UNION DRIVE

Questionnaires seeking methods of financing used for student union projects in other schools were mailed to all universities with unions Thursday by Charles Burdik, committee secretary. The inquiries will also include questions on the plans of the structures, use made of them by the students, and how funds were raised for building. Material has also been requested from the American Association of Student Unions.

A series of short stories in the Nebraska about student unions at other schools will be inaugurated soon, in an effort to reveal the advantages of an activities center to students, and to enlist their support in the drive.

Photos Displayed. The photographic exhibit of student union buildings at twenty-five other colleges was placed on display in the halls of all major buildings on the ag and downtown campuses yesterday, and will remain up until Tuesday. Effort is being made to have the complete display at the honors convocation Tuesday.

A loan of $300,000 or more from the new federal funds will be sought, if students favor the plan for the new building, which would house all student activity rooms, lounges, study rooms, soda fountains, publication offices, recreation rooms, cafeteria, and even the new student bookstore. The loan would in no way interfere with the state appropriation for a new library, Fischer pointed out.

JENKS APPEARS WITH PLAYERS IN JULIUS CAESAR

(Continued from Page 1.) should be a play of unusually high standards. "It is always a great thrill to me to come back to Nebraska where I started my dramatic career," Jenks stated, "and the ideals and standards of the University Players always have been an uplifting influence in my life."

The actor is in Lincoln just previous to joining the company of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coburn in their repertory company playing in the east this summer. After graduating from the University of Nebraska, Jenks played with the Walter Hampden company for three years, and later with Fritz Leiber in his Chicago Civic Shakespeare society for three years. During the past fifteen years, he has played with such noted actors and actresses as Helen Menken, Fritz Leiber, William Faversham, Jerome Power and Walter Hampden.

Jenks, who acted in numerous plays with the Players before his graduation from the university in 1925, has returned several times since his graduation to take part in plays. Among these are "Hamlet," "Othello," "Death Takes a Holiday," "The Road to Rome," and "Capone's Last Days." His first performance with the University Players when he was in school was in "Adam and Eve" when he was a freshman. When he entered school he intended to take a pre-law course, but soon changed over to dramatics. Among other productions in which he appeared while in school are "Macbeth," "The Masquerader," "The Dover Road," "Devil's Disciples," "What Every Woman Knows," and "Dulcy." His last appearance with a member of the Players was in "Much Ado About Nothing."

This will be the first time that "Julius Caesar" has been given in the state of Nebraska during this generation. It is an extremely large production and the task of giving an illusion of tremendous distances on a twenty-three foot proscenium is exceedingly difficult. The play is centered about the assassination of one of history's most outstanding men, Julius Caesar, and the events which come immediately before and after it. History is more kind to men than to women as far as the play is concerned. There are only two outstanding feminine roles in the play. Portia, the wife of Brutus, and "Calphurnia," the wife of Caesar, with consummate delicacy.

AG STUDENTS ATTEND FARMERS' FAIR RALLY

Loffle, Oberlies Speak on Activities Connected With Event.

Students on Ag college campus gathered last night in Ag hall to hear Prof. William Loffle and L. C. Oberlies speak on Farmers' Fair and activities connected with it.

Mr. Loffle spoke on the pageant to be given at the May 4 festivities and Ruth Carsten gave a reading. Songs and yells were led by Ogden Riddle and Katherine Jones and pep talks were given by Mr. Oberlies and Walt Moller, member of the senior fair board.

Immediately after the rally, committee meetings will begin, according to Barbara Barber, co-chairman of the rally committee. Plans are also under way for a rally dance to be held April 16.

FACULTY TO ASSIST AT HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST

Western Division Judging Competition Held at North Platte.

Professors H. P. Davis, P. A. Downs, T. H. Gooding, J. H. Clayburgh, and H. E. Bradford of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture drove to North Platte yesterday to assist with the high school agricultural contests there. They will be held at the Experiment Station of the university Thursday and Friday. About twenty-five western Nebraska high schools will send some 300 students to participate in judging contests. These will involve dairy judging, woodworking, agronomy, poultry, dairy products, livestock judging, Babcock testing, egg grading, and public speaking. Winners in several of these contests will represent western Nebraska at the state high school judging contests at Lincoln on Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26.

CAMPUS PLEDGES FULL SUPPORT TO BOOK STORE PLAN

(Continued from Page 1.) used, and the turnover of books at other exchanges. According to Don Shurtleff, Dick Fischer will reveal information on housing conditions and the possibilities of a national university book exchange. "The advantage of such an organization would lie in the fact that a university book store could buy books whether they were in use or not and sell them to other schools, thereby saving students money," Fischer said. The purpose of the meeting is to outline a definite plan of management of a university book store and decide on a way to present it to the student body," stated Shurtleff.

The committee is composed of Virginia Selleck, chairman, Irving Hill, Dick Fischer, Lorraine Hitchcock, Don Shurtleff, Irwin Ryan, and Bonnie Spanggaard.
