Orchesis Recital to Feature Several Renaissance Dances

One of the features of the Orchesis dance recital, to be given May 17 at 8 o'clock in Grant Memorial, is the presentation of several pre-classic dance forms, which, partly because of their beauty and partly because of their historical background, have become extremely popular in modern dance schools.

Long ago, in Europe, dance and music were inseparable. Where there was music there was dancing, and everybody participated. But when the church put its ban on a few social customs of which it disapproved, dance was denounced, but music retained its respect.

At the time of the Renaissance, when music, art and sciences were re-awakening, the higher class of people, composing the royal court circles, felt the old urge to dance. But they no longer had any dances, so they called in the peasant people and took over their common folk dances for their own.

Of these pre-classic forms, members of the Orchesis are presenting a sarabande by Handel. The sarabande displays the characteristics of gravity, solemnity and religious processional austerity.

The bourree, another pre-classic dance to be presented at the recital, was sung by the wine makers as they rhythmically crushed the grapes with their bare feet.

PEACE RULES IN FACTION CAMPS AS FILINGS END

Green Togas Remain United In Spite of Rumors of Secession.

3 INDEPENDENTS RUN Number Women Seeking Posts Eclipses Past Records.

Peace apparently reigned once more in both political factions Friday as filings for student council and publications board posts closed, but ineligibility and vestiges of intra-factional strife left the political horizon much unsettled.

Threats of secession by members of the Green Toga group appeared to have been threats only as the faction presented a united front on the eve of the election campaign.

Both factions were understood to have been quite disgruntled as strict interpretation of the standing delinquency rule cut a wide swath in the ranks of favored candidates.

Torrid battles were in prospect Tuesday over several positions open to women, the number filing for the various posts eclipsing past records almost without exception.

'Committee of 100' Will Contact Voters at Election.

CAMPAIGN ENDS FRIDAY Wilson Draws Up Plans for Proposed Union Building.

Hoping to boost the number of signatures on petitions for the proposed student union building and second hand book exchange, the "committee of 100" will contact all voters at the student council elections Tuesday.

Committee members will be at both ag and city polls through the day, announced Jack Fischer, chairman of the council executive committee in charge of the project.

The group will make an attempt Monday to get a letter from the administration permitting passing of petitions in classes, and it is hoped that in this way the project will gain the unanimous signed support of the student body.

Alternative plans or designs for the proposed structure which are being drawn by Arthur Wilson, consulting architect, will be considered at a student union executive committee meeting Monday afternoon, stated Fischer.

FIFTY-EIGHT SEEK STUDENT OFFICES

Forty-Nine Candidates Enter Race for Twenty-Four Student Council Seats; Nine Up for Publications Board Posts.

15 PROGRESSIVES, 13 GREEN TOGAS ON SLATE

Two New Positions Open on Council; Five Offices Uncontested; Total Filings Largest In Past Five Years.

Exceeding filings for five years past, fifty-eight students entered the annual spring election battle for twenty-four Student council and three publications board offices.

All filings were checked at the office of the dean of student affairs Saturday, several candidates being removed because of delinquencies. Because of this, four posts will be uncontested—male representative from teachers college, woman from bizad college, and representatives from dental and pharmacy colleges.

Only one filing was received for the law college representative on the Student Council, since both factions nominated Frank Landis, Landis is a member of two organized houses which are members of different political parties.

Women candidates greatly exceeded men in number, due to the ruling against sororities entering political alliances, causing a large number of independent candidates to file.

Representation of factions was quite well balanced, a checkup of the filings revealed. Fifteen candidates disclose their affiliation as Progressive, while thirteen are members of the Green Toga faction.

Four male candidates filed on the Independent ticket, totaling above the free lancers for several years. Twenty-seven women, all on independent slates, are running for office.

Two new seats are open in the Council this year. A ruling was passed last year to create posts for junior women at large, replacing the fine arts college candidates, since that college was assimilated by the college of arts and sciences.

Elimination of the most objectionable feature of the arrangement, disposal of out-of-date texts, is being worked out by Lorraine Hitchcock who has been corresponding with national book exchanges in an effort to set up a university exchange.

Additional signers on the book store committee and all who have not as yet signed are urged by Virginia Seleck, committee chairman, to do so as soon as possible.

Other committee members who made reports at the meeting were Irving Hill, Irwin Ryan, Bonnie Spanggard and Dick Fischer.

FACTIONS PRESENT PLATFORMS

Green Toga Platform Progressive Platform

We, the members of the Green Toga Party, realizing that the time is at hand when we may exhibit our willingness to strive for the ultimate goal of better student government on the campus of the U. of N. and finding that never before as now has there been such need for men with the desire and ability to conscientiously serve our fellow students, ask the support of the student body to put men in office who are pledged to waste no time in the carrying out of the dictates of the campus.

The Progressive party of the campus, wishing to comply in every sense to its slogan of "Progress—Not Politics" submits the following brief and concise platform for the consideration and approval of the student body.

1. Entirely on its own initiative, and against overwhelming odds, the Progressive student council has advanced the cause of Nebraska's most crying need, a student union building, to the point where every indication points to securing the federal loan for this building within the present year.

2. Involving countless hours of detailed work and investigation thru many channels, the Progressive student council has formulated a plan to establish for Nebraska students a university owned, non-profit used book exchange.

3. The Progressive party has succeeded in achieving a liberalization of the administration's attitude toward student social life, permission to hold major functions until 12 p. m., permission to hold parties outside city limits, and permission to smoke in sorority houses are significant concessions we are proud to have had a part in securing.

4. The Progressive student council, acting in the interest of the (Continued on Page 2.)
