COLLEGES FAVOR NATIONAL SECOND HAND BOOK SETUP

Survey Reveals Universities Willing to Support Organization.

Possibilities of a national university book exchange loomed on the horizon Tuesday as Lorraine Hitchcock, member of the student council book exchange committee, completed a survey of colleges which revealed that most universities contacted were in favor of an organization by which schools could exchange out-of-date text books directly with each other.

"At present the only way second hand book exchanges can dispose of texts, is by selling them to jobbers. We believe that by the direct method of exchange, we can keep down the cost of overhead and thus offer books to students at a more economical rate," stated Miss Hitchcock.

Prepare Petition. Work on the management plan for the proposed shop, forged ahead Tuesday with committee members drafting a petition for consideration of the plan by the board of regents and will be submitted to the administration in the near future, according to Virginia Selleck, chairman of the committee.

"The plan, in its present form, asks for a book exchange to be modeled after the regent bookstore plan, and provides for eventual consolidation with that organization," explained Miss Selleck. "A definite percentage is to be subtracted from the original price of each book in order to cover salaries and overhead costs. The plan as it now stands calls for a definite cash payment for books."

Signatures on petitions showing student support of the project continued to increase Tuesday as members of the petition committee contacted all students voting at the student council elections. Committee members expressed high hopes of reaching the goal of 3,000 signatures by the termination of the drive Friday.

Campus Leaders Brand Pre-Election Lawn Party Riot as 'Asinine, Childish, Kittenish,' and 'High School Stuff'

Campus leaders yesterday voiced their disapproval of Monday night's egg-throwing, when members of the Progressive and Green Toga parties broke up their pre-election rallies for a free-for-all on the Kappa Alpha Theta front lawn.

Although apparently little real damage was done, the general consensus of opinion seemed to be that the affair was extremely childish, unnecessary and ill-timed. Owen Johnson expressed what seemed to be a rather universal opinion when he said: "I think it was childish—but I'd surely like to have been there."

PETITION SIGNERS PASS 2,000 MARK ON ELECTION DAY

Student Union Committee Contacts Voters at Both Polls.

OBTAIN 500 NEW NAMES

PWA Application to Be Sent As Soon as Architects Finish Plans.

Drawing closer to their goal of 3,000 petition signers, the student union committees spent yesterday contacting all of the voters at the polls and collared 500 who had not yet signed one of the many union or book store petitions that have been circulating.

It is hoped by the special committee that the drive for 6,000 petition signers will be terminated this week end in preparation for an expected meeting of the board of regents. The date for the meeting has not been definitely set but committee members expressed hope that the board may convene this week end.

Efforts of the committee at the polls Tuesday pushed the total number of petition signers well over the 2,000 mark and heightened the hopes of the student council that the desired number may be obtained before the week is over. The requests will be prepared for presentation to the board of regents this week end.

Plans Near Completion. Application to the P. W. A. is completed except for the final touches on the architectural plans that are being drafted by Lincoln architects. The majority of the plans and perspectives have been completed and these will be submitted along with the petitions to the regents.

Members of the "committee of 100" that were securing more signers at the downtown polls Tuesday were Charles Bursik, Irving Hill, Don Shurtliff, Richard Schmidt, Frank Crabbell, Elizabeth Kelly, Virginia Selleck, Violet Cross, Dick Fischer, Betty Paine, Bash Perkins, Jack Nicholas, and Dorothy Cathers.

At the ag campus polls which were stationed in ag hall, Eleanor Clizbe, Burr Ross, and Bonnie Spanggaard were securing late petition signers. Committee members worked in shifts in order that representatives of the committees might be present at the polls during the entire voting.

MARSHAL Joseph Pilsudski, Poland's fiery dictator is dead. His people know not where to turn for a leader. It is said he left a will directing political future of his country, the country he loved, and for which he lived a strugglesome and wearying life.

1,594 VOTES CAST AT POLLS TUESDAY

Spring Election Shows Heaviest Balloting Ever Made in History of University Politics; Progressives Retain Power in Campus Government.

VOTERS ELECT 25 STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS

Heavy Barb Turnout Swells Vote to Help Its Faction Place Nine Men on Council. One on Publication Board; Green Togas Take Five Posts.

University of Nebraska students demonstrated their approval of Student Council activities of the past year at the polls Tuesday, retaining the Progressive faction in power after the heaviest balloting during a spring election in the history of the university. Nine of the positions open on the Student Council were given to Progressive candidates, three to Green Togas, and one to an Independent. An aggregate total of 1,594 votes were cast.

With a factional preference vote of 498 to 377 favoring the Progressive, campus leaders saw the power of faction on the campus, although both sides agreed that the race for positions was close.

Five of the positions for student council were uncontested, with Frank Landis, Progressive and Green Toga, receiving the Law college post, T. E. Schoeni, Independent, winning the Dental college position, Melvin Heins, Progressive, being selected from Pharmacy college, Jean Doty getting the woman from Business Administration vote, and Vance Leininger being elected from Teachers college.

A large turnout of Barb students swelled the vote to record breaking proportions, and is believed by political leaders to have been the mainstay of the Progressive vote. Due to the heavy balloting, vote counting was not completed until 9 p. m.

Results of the amendment concerning replacement of members on the student council who drop out during the school year were not released, but will be announced later. Prof. E. L. Lantz was in charge (Continued on Page 4.)
