

FRESHMEN TO CONVENE IN ARMORY

Daily Nebraskan Opens Sales Campaign

RATE REDUCED FOR TWO WEEKS DRIVE

Subscription Price of Student Newspaper Slashed To One Dollar Per Entire School Year; Cost to Increase September 30.

FREE COPIES DISTRIBUTED AT REGISTRATION

Circulation Department Initiates Double Check System At Social Science Booth; Ad Revenue Increase Responsible for Low Price.

In an intensive sales campaign of two weeks duration only, Monday, Sept. 16 through Monday, Sept. 30, the Daily Nebraskan will be available to the student body for the price of one dollar for the entire school year, Truman Oberndorf, business manager, made known late Saturday.

Immediately upon the closing of the brief drive the subscription price will be boosted to $1.50. During the two week term allocated for subscription sales, copies of the paper will be obtainable free of charge at a booth in Social Science hall. Registration copies will be distributed in the coliseum to incoming students Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Nebraskan is the lowest priced college daily in the country," Oberndorf declared. "The drastic reduction in cost was made last year and proved so satisfactory that we intend to continue the policy this year.

Last year was the first time that the subscription price of the Nebraskan was placed below $1.50. The business staff indicated that increases in advertising lineage was responsible for the low price. "The Nebraskan is available to every student on the campus at this low price," stated Editor Jack Fischer. "If each student wants to take advantage of the full, comprehensive environment offered by the university, he must buy the Nebraskan and read it."

Issued five days a week during the school year with numerous special editions, the paper will be distributed from a booth in Social Science hall, the method used during the last two years. However, there will be a much stricter check at the booths this year to see that only subscribers receive copies of the publication.

Subscribers will present their receipt at the booth to be checked against the paper's list of subscribers before they can receive a copy of the Nebraskan.

Fraternity and sorority blocks will go on the principle of "first come first served" and not subject to drawings, as last year. Representatives of various organizations may secure preferential seats Tuesday evening.

Season tickets are priced at $6. Representatives, says John K. Selleck, business manager, should bring with them money for the total number of tickets desired by their groups.

The athletic books contain tickets for five home football games, eight basketball games, and all baseball, swimming, track, and wrestling events. Football games are with Chicago, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Oregon State, while Grigham Young, Missouri, Wyoming, Kansas State, South Dakota, Iowa State, Oklahoma, and Kansas decorate the home basketball schedule.

OFFICIALS AWARD NYA JOBS TO 650 UNDERGRADUATES

Federal Funds to University Total $10,000 Monthly.

MAXIMUM SALARY $40

Scholastic Ratings Place FSRE Workers Above Average.

At least 650 students, who will attend the state university this year, have been declared eligible for federal funds provided by the national youth administration. Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs and chairman of the student work relief committee, said allotments to undergraduates have been made and that the work which they will do in return for monthly payments will begin sometime during the week, after the individual's registration has been completed.

Amounts available to undergraduates range from $10 to $20 per month, with most students receiving the smaller amount. Dean Thompson said the government is providing a maximum of about $10,000 per month here at the university to take care of the entire student employment program under the NYA. This appropriation continues through the school year.

"We have not encouraged students to apply who were unable to secure additional money," the dean said. With the cost of living higher, officials believe most students can not live on $20 per month, although a few have.

OFFICIALS REQUEST R. O. T. C. ARTILLERY, ENGINEERING UNITS

Board of Regents Approves Application Saturday Afternoon.

Motorized field artillery and engineering R. O. T. C. units in addition to the present infantry regiment have been requested of the war department by University of Nebraska officials. The application, approved by the regents Saturday afternoon, would bring to the university one battalion of engineers and one artillery battalion, reducing the infantry regiment by the same amount. It is understood that Seventh corps area headquarters in Omaha has recommended that both R. O. T. C. units be established at Nebraska.

The artillery unit would be established at the agricultural college, according to present plans. Plans provide for two two-gun batteries with necessary trucks and equipment. The four guns would probably be French 75's or similar light guns. Similar artillery units are located at Kansas State college and Iowa State college.

University authorities explained that should the units be approved it is probable that several new officers might be attached to the university staff. With decreased enrollment in the infantry regiment, certain infantry officers might also be transferred. These changes would be made by the war department in Washington.

The reorganization does not increase the military instruction that any individual would receive, explained Chancellor E. A. Burnett, but gives more opportunity for selection in accordance with the student's taste.

Welcome to the University

The University of Nebraska faculty extends a cordial welcome to students both old and new. We greet new students with a desire to be helpful in registering and in fitting them into their program of work. The officers of the university stand ready to help you. All new students should be sure to attend the Freshman Convocation at 9 a. m. Monday in Grant Memorial hall to meet members of the faculty.

We welcome students of previous years to renew our former friendships. May the year be filled with purposeful work, with a confidence in your power to succeed, and with a growing affection for those whom you come to know while here.

GAIN PREDICTED IN ENROLLMENT THIS SEMESTER

Chancellor Expects About 6,300 Students In University.

A 10 to 12 percent increase in student enrollment for the coming year at the University of Nebraska was predicted Saturday by Chancellor E. A. Burnett. His prediction would bring the first semester collegiate enrollment to about 6,300 students or about the same number as were enrolled in 1930-31. Last year there were 5,731 students enrolled the first semester.

"While there are no accurate figures available at this time definitely to indicate the total enrollment, all indications point to about the same increase as last year when about 12 percent more students were registered," stated the university head. "With the upward trend of business the demand for educated men and women will continue to improve. Those persons entering college this year may expect a demand for competent workers when they graduate if they have given proper attention to market demands in shaping their college course."

During the summer 2,364 former students who registered last spring paid their fees and completed their registration as compared with the 2,056 in 1934, he pointed out. About 10 percent more students were taking the various classification tests Friday and Saturday than a year ago, while about 20 percent more such tests were given in the Nebraska high schools last spring than the year before.

While accurate figures are still unavailable, Dr. R. D. Scott, in charge of freshman English, estimated between 500 and 600 freshmen took the English test Friday, an increase of about 50 over a year ago. Most of the new students were given this test in their senior year at high school. Doctor Scott is still expecting at least 200 late students to take this examination within the next few days.

Registration for new students will start at 9 a. m. Tuesday in the University Coliseum and will continue through Wednesday. Special provisions have been made this year to care for all students with dispatch, according to Dr. A. R. Congdon, chairman of the schedule committee. There will be a double assignment committee to avoid congestion at that point, he explained, as well as a plan for the special handling of freshmen.

Freshman day, Monday, given over to giving new students information about the institution, will start at 9 a. m. with a general convocation. Classes will get under way at 8 a. m. Thursday.

Funds Available for Noyes Scholarships

W. C. Harper, assistant to the dean of student affairs, announced that funds are still available for several more tuition scholarships. These scholarships, made possible thru the estate of LaVerne Noyes, are available to ex-service men or their blood descendants. Application blanks may be obtained from Mr. Harper's office.

Band Director Quick Expects Record Size Husker R.O.T.C. Band

William T. "Billie" Quick, director of the University of Nebraska R. O. T. C. band, will not be surprised if this year's organization is larger than the 1934-35 unit. Announcing that first tryouts will be held in the Temple theater, room 306, from 3 to 5 p. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Director Quick says he is anticipating an even slightly larger and better band for the first semester. Last year's organization numbered 153 players, which established an all time record here at Nebraska.

First rehearsal will probably be held on Sept. 24. Mr. Quick says some fine talent will be available for the band this year and predicts more elaborate drill maneuvers, and particularly better letter making formations. The band will be on hand for the first game, Sept. 28.

INNOCENTS TO NAME FOUR YELL KINGS AT TRIALS WEDNESDAY

Garlow Urges Tumblers to Report at East Stadium.

Four new yell kings will be elected Wednesday at tryouts to be held at 5 o'clock on the track in front of the east stadium. Selection will be made by the Innocents society, according to Bill Garlow, chairman of the cheer leaders committee.

Any upperclassman eligible according to standard university activity requisites may try out for a position on the squad. Garlow urges that tumblers turn out for the trials, since the new squad will be more versatile than former yell teams.

Following final selections, one man will be named to be head cheer leader. New and uniform sweaters have been secured for the whole squad. Since the first football game is less than two weeks away, announcement of selections will probably follow next week, Garlow predicted.

Nebraska Offers Freshmen Opportunities in Activities

University freshmen need not spend all their time in classes and books, for the Cornhusker institution offers extracurricular activities galore for those who come for more than an education.

Stamped approvingly by prominent educators the country over, student interests apart from the regular university curriculum, say faculty members serve their purpose in developing social consciousness among students, and many times open the door to professional success.

INNOCENTS BEGIN SALE OF SCARLET FRESHMAN CAPS

Class of 1939 May Obtain Traditional Toppers at Registration.

Traditional red and white caps will be available to freshman men this year when they register at the coliseum, Innocents society, senior men's honorary organization and sponsors of the campus custom, announced. Freshmen may secure tickets at the Innocent's booth after they complete their registration. These tickets entitle the holder to a freshman cap, already in stock at Ben Simon & Sons store in downtown Lincoln.

The wearing of the frosh headgear is one of the oldest of the campus customs, instituted early in the history of the university. The caps are intended as a mark of distinction for the freshman class and help to develop a class consciousness.

The toppers are scarlet with the white numeral 39 above the bill. The green freshman headgear was discarded several years ago in favor of the cap with the school colors.

Freshmen will wear the hats at all times except on Sundays and Friday and Saturday evenings until the annual tug-of-war on Dad's Day, Oct. 26. If the freshmen lose the tussle they will wear the caps until Nov. 10, Innocents stated.

Professor Travels After Close of Summer Session

After the summer session here, Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Lackey traveled to Alaska. They motored from Lincoln to Seattle, visiting places of geographic interest enroute.

A. and Y. W. C. A. secretaries, deans, directors, the registrar and finance secretary will then be introduced to the new students.
