ing groups, eight houses placed buttons on ten to twenty men, while nine listed three to ten.

Number of repledges also exceeded last year's total. Two hundred men were listed as holdover pledges compared with 186 in 1934.

Jack Fischer, Interfraternity Council president, was enthusiastic over the showing made by all fraternities with the filing fee in effect. "This year," he pointed out, "less than 450 cards were filed for rush dates, which means that all but 16 percent of those rushed were pledged. In previous years, when from 1,000 to 1,200 men were rushed with even a smaller number pledging, needless effort and money were spent by both the Greek societies in rushing and the council offices in filing and checking names."

That the system would be made a permanent feature was indicated by several council members and fraternity leaders. "The plan will certainly remain in effect next year," declared Don Shurtleff, council member and chairman of the Interfraternity rush committee. "A few changes will probably be made in minor details, but continuation of the essential part of the system will mean less work for the council and less money expended for fraternities," he added.

Phil Morentin, famous Indian distance running for Stanford, will try a comeback on the cinders this season, competing with the San Francisco Olympic club.

Al Marnaux, manager of the Albany club, and Alabama Pitts will tour together in vanderbils at the close of the baseball season.

The characters of the shirts of the Japanese baseball teams designate their numerals.
