

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Sarah Louise Meyer

FOR years more man has been reiterating Bill Shakespeare's famous "Frailty, thy name is woman!" It can't be beat. But Nina Wilcox Putnam has formulated a right fair come-back: "Men are as transparent as cellophane—and as hard to get rid of, once you become wrapped up in them."

Such adept verbage might be relished by Dr. R. W. Franz. That worthy professor of English savors a well turned out phrase as the epicure gloats over culinary perfection, cherishing it, lingering over it with a frantic gleam in his eye.

He is also a superior raconteur, choosing each word with the utmost care and chuckling delightedly when a particularly apt verbal dish results. He has even been known to smack his lips at a choice bit. Perhaps it's a carry-over from his charming wife's southern cooking.

I still like the explanation of the old belief that ghosts could be addressed only in Latin; it seems that that medium of expression was successful because it is a dead language.

Ability to speak of anything at all, however, is not a lost art with Prof. Harold Stoke. He has marvelous tales to tell about the blizzards of his childhood, the early days of the university, or the trials of keeping a handsome son in funds. Loyal to the last school with which he has been associated in these many years, he keeps particular faith with those employees of the school who have grown old in the harness and been retired.

Last year he sponsored the cause of one Jack Uhl, for over three decades in the service of the university, who had been taken off the payroll at the age of 76. He has long been advocating fair pensionings for worthy but insecure aged, with all the fire of a true instructor in political science. And we don't mean sissy pool sign!

I wish Arnie Levin would cease gloating over his brain child; Tarzan Stripes forever. Perhaps he should have a chat with the little pledge who commented that yes, thank you, she had met some very nice boys on the campus, but not one had aroused the animal in her...

Faculty Member Wonders If Relief Problem Can Be Ended

Dr. John D. Clark, oil man, attorney, author and an authority in the field of economics, who returns to the faculty of the university for the first semester this year, wonders if any economic situation can ever be good enough to bring the relief problem to an end. He mentioned his own state of Wyoming, which tho in fine shape economically, is nevertheless faced with a perplexing relief problem. "Business conditions in Wyoming are excellent," said Doctor Clark. "Nearly all of the towns are experiencing a mild building boom, which is particularly impressive at Lusk, where there is some oil excitement, while Cheyenne is boasting the greatest house building program ever in its history. Despite this improvement in business there remains the troublesome relief problem."

Federal Relief Deleted. The economist said Wyoming was the first state to be removed from the list of the federal relief administration. "But professional relief workers as elsewhere," he declared, "have developed so many relief applicants that Wyoming officials are beginning to wonder if any economic situation can ever be good enough to bring the relief problem

KLUB ANNOUNCES DATES FOR FALL KOSMET REVIEW

Miss Heppner to Rule on Fraternity, Sorority Collaboration.

SLATE SHOW FOR NOV. 23 Sophomore Workers May Enroll at Office This Week.

Whether fraternities and sororities will be permitted to collaborate in presenting skits in the 1935 Kosmet Klub fall review hinges upon a decision to be made this week by Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Klub officials. Organized houses planning to enter the review were urged by Clayton Schwenk, Klub president, to take stock of their talent immediately so that preliminary judgments may soon be held.

Tentative dates for the fall review, deadline for spring show scripts, and registration for workers were announced Wednesday by Schwenk following a meeting Tuesday night.

Sophomores wishing to enroll in the Kosmet pledge class, from which next year's members will be chosen, may register in the Klub offices in the basement of University hall. Offices will be open from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday. Registration will close Tuesday.

The fall review, accompanied by the presentation of Nebraska's Sweetheart and a loving cup for the outstanding skit presented by an organized group, is tentatively set for the morning of Nov. 23.

Prospective authors of the 1936 spring show are requested to begin work on their plays, since scripts may be called in for preliminary judging the first Tuesday during Christmas vacation. Final selection is scheduled for Jan. 6, when the $50 prize will be awarded for the best manuscript.

SALES OF ACTIVITIES BOOKS PASSES 3,300 MARK ON WEDNESDAY

Additional Books Composed At Activities Office Tuesday Night.

Approximately 3,300 student activities books had been sold by late Wednesday afternoon, according to John K. Selleck, manager of student activities. The books will remain on sale for the rest of this week, as demands have been quite heavy after the day-long session at the coliseum Tuesday.

"Workers in the student activities office spent most of Tuesday night composing additional student books. Several hundred more books have been sold this year than ever before," Mr. Selleck announced. "A place in the stadium for all undergraduates will be made," said Mr. Selleck, "before seats are provided for anyone else. The students are first on the list."

STUDENTS MAY JOIN ENGINEERS SOCIETY

Weiland Says First Meet To Be Announced Soon.

Mechanical engineering students interested in joining the student chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers are asked to watch for an announcement of the first meeting, according to Prof. W. F. Weiland, sponsor of the organization. Both freshmen and upper classmen are invited to be present at a meeting to be held within the next few days, Professor Weiland stated.

Cornhusker Oath

As a student entering the University of Nebraska, I subscribe to the following:

- 1. Recognition—of an obligation to parents, friends, schools, and state for the sacrifice made and encouragement offered which enabled me to enter the University of Nebraska.
2. Desire—to remain in the university with the firm intention to advance in scholarship and to cultivate those social activities which make for good citizenship.
3. Purpose—to enter classes and other work fully prepared and to give such attention as will insure satisfactory results, not failure.
4. Organization—of time to be devoted to study, recreation, activities, and rest, and the pursuit of this schedule with due diligence.
5. Loyalty—to the administration, faculty, tradition, and purposes of the university.
Finally, I will at all times consult and guide my conduct and work toward personal advancement, and safeguard the relation I hold to the welfare of the university and its service to the state.

To Administer Oath

IRVING HILL. President of the Student Council, who will initiate the freshmen into the university, by administering to them the Cornhusker oath.

Short Shower Halts Sweeter Weather

"Summer" school having continued for two weeks and the general enthusiasm of the students having decreased correspondingly, the spell was finally broken by a little rain and the lack of energy on the part of the students was left without an alibi.

Would be philosophers pondered on the possibility of spring in autumn and whether or not it would last into winter while they "caked" and waited, with the rest of the campus population, for the little shower to cease. Those who were overly enthusiastic about the change in weather enjoyed the walk home thru the rain and the sprinklers, which had been left on by those pessimistic enough to think the small storm wouldn't last.

STUDENTS MAY SING IN MUSICAL SOCIETY BY SIGNING UP SOON

Registration to Continue for One Week Without Late Fee.

Students may register for choral union, a singing society of fine attainments and traditions, for one additional week without paying a late registration fee. It was announced by Howard Kirkpatrick, director of the school of music and conductor of the choral society.

The course, which offers one hour credit, requires two hours of class attendance each week, either on Monday and Wednesday at 11 or on Tuesday and Thursday at 3, and meets in Morrill hall. "This semester the work will include the study of the oratorio, 'The Elijah' by Mendelssohn, which will be presented before the holidays this year in place of 'The Messiah,'" Kirkpatrick stated. "Men are especially needed in the classes this year, although the registration is about 200, practically the same as in former years."

The choral union, now in its fortieth year, was founded by Carrie B. Raymond and is the oldest group organization in the university. It is open to all university students who are interested in singing and attempts to give a cultural knowledge of music to the greatest possible number of students. Singing, it is believed, is the best medium by which this may be accomplished.

"The Messiah" was presented last year for the thirty-eighth time and although it will not be produced this year, it will probably be given again next year. "The Elijah" will be presented to afford variety for students and give them a chance to sing something different.

Tanksterettes to Make Year's Plans at Meeting

Plans for the coming year will be discussed at the first meeting of Tanksterettes, women's swimming club, which will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 26, at 7:30 in the coliseum. It was announced by Beth Phillips, president, who urged that all members be present.

STUDENTS TO TAKE CORNHUSKER OATH

Fifteen Hundred Freshmen to Swear Allegiance to University at Convocation in Coliseum at Eleven O'clock.

GOV. COCHRAN SLATED FOR MAIN ADDRESS

Chancellor Burnett, Dean Thompson, Miss Heppner, Coach Bible Will Welcome Newcomers; Band to Play Before Program.

The class of '39 will be formally inducted into the university fold at 11 o'clock this morning when the annual freshman convocation will be held in the coliseum. Fifteen hundred strong, the incoming students will take the Cornhusker oath and will be introduced to Nebraska traditions and precepts.

Freshmen will be dismissed from all classes in order to attend the ceremony, at which Governor Roy L. Cochran will deliver the principal address.

After administering the oath, which will be done by Irving Hill in the absence of Dr. George Condra, guardian of the legend, the new class will sing the "Cornhusker" to the accompaniment of William T. Quick and the University R. O. T. C. band and will be led in a number of college yells by Husker cheer leaders.

Burnett Speaks. Richard Schmidt, president of the Innocents, will act as master of ceremonies at the convocation. He will first introduce Chancellor E. A. Burnett who will welcome the newcomers into university membership, after which Dean T. J. Thompson will introduce Governor Cochran. Alaire Barkes, head of the Mortar Boards, will present Dean Amanda Heppner, who will make a few brief remarks. The program will be concluded with a short speech by Coach Dana X. Bible.

Until the crowd is seated and the program is ready to begin, the university band will play a short concert. Members of Corn Club and Tassels, official pep organizations, will serve as ushers and will hand out printed cards which will contain a copy of the oath and song. Prof. E. A. Grone of the mechanical engineering department will take motion pictures of the gathering at the conclusion of the ceremony, which is scheduled for 11:50, and several still photographs will be made by MacDonald for the University News and Feature Service.

Today, for the first time in the school's history, the coliseum decorations will be used at the convocation. Co-operation of fraternity and sorority presidents is asked in requiring all freshmen to wear their red caps and buttons. Upperclassmen are also invited to attend the ceremony, but their classes will not be dismissed.

Richard Schmidt, head of the joint committee of Innocents and Mortar Boards in charge of the event, stated Wednesday that every freshman in the university should be present without fail. "We want to instill a real spirit of class consciousness and school feeling in all freshmen right from the beginning," Schmidt declared. "We have planned an impressive ceremony, and the opportunity to hear Governor Cochran is a rare treat."

Declaring that rallies last year were handled in a very satisfactory manner, the student council Wednesday afternoon voted to leave all rally powers in the hands of a committee composed of members of Tassels, Corn Club, Innocents, and the student council.

The student governing body, after disposing of the rally situation, listened to Virginia Selleck, chairman of the bookstore committee, who announced that the regents took no action on the council project. Mr. Lantz suggested that the matter be presented to the National Student Federation at its annual conference which will be held in Kansas City, Dec. 27 to 30.

Irving Hill, president of the council, announced that the board of regents refused to give the Union building committee permission to apply for a PWA loan and that at present possibilities for a
