

CAMPUSOCIETY

CALL ME ON THE INSIDE PHONE!

The watchword of all good college conversationalists for years and years. The fine art of talking over the telephone is never properly developed unless one attends a coeducational institution and learns by bitter experience that any man that calls after eleven o'clock only wants the Ec assignment . . . and that strange voice with the thrilling inflections is the Eta Iota who can't get a date in person. It has been estimated by some thoughtful soul that half of a fraternity man's life is spent in sleep and the other half on the telephone . . . trying to "get in" at the Boopa Doopa house. The sad sequel after he finally triumphs is, that instead of an hour or two of quiet conversation, the chapters at both ends of the wire chant in unison "Get off the phone!"

SEEN ON THE CAMPUS:

"Chief" Bauer sauntering and talking to himself. . . Wilma Comstock, Delta Gamma pledge, lugging a book almost as impressive as a Constitutional Law tome. . . Betty Clary escorting a Chow puppy, on a green leather leash, through the Drug. . . botany and biology students rushing here and there, looking up into trees. . . Dorry Johnson attractive in purple. . . a rabbit, of small size, outside the Daily Nebraskan office. . . Don Shurtliff and Emmet Morava looking "big shotish" and blocking traffic in front of "soah". . . Libby Glover hurrying somewhere after a ten o'clock. . . Clayton Schwenk very "Joe College" as to hat. . . and as usual. . . Charles Reilly and Louise Magee being confidential in a cross campus stroll. . . Bill Garlow declaring that he is still very much engaged. . . the girl is Jean Davies, one of the Theta twins. . . Sancha "Nebraska Sweetheart" Kilbourn visiting the rag office. . . three Delta pledges being almost late to an eight o'clock. . . and the whole campus not very interesting on Tuesday.

NEW officers of Chi Omega are Gladys Hiatt, pledge mother and Rosalie Motle, secretary.

PERHAPS Faith Arnold, editor of the Cornhusker, was expecting a letter or a birthday present when she opened the sealed envelope lying on her desk in the Cornhusker office. . . but unfortunately some of the wits on the staff had captured a mouse and placed it in the envelope. Miss Arnold's screams of terror rent the stilly atmosphere for several minutes. . . until the mouse had retreated to regions unknown.

OFFICERS of the Phi Kappa Psi pledge class for the coming year are Thurston Phelps, president, Ralph Jacobson, vice president, and Bus Bauer, secretary.

HANK Kosman, Nebraska b. m. o. c. of last year is in Hartford, Connecticut at an insurance school. His brother Dick, also a D. U. and a Nebraskan, this year, received a letter yesterday from him which stated, along with other very interesting subject matter, that he is the youngest man in the school and that his roommate is fifty years old. More power to one of the nicest persons the Nebraskan campus will ever see.

PLEDGE class officers of Alpha Chi Omega are Alice Richmond, president, Delores Bors, vice president, Frances Lincoln, treasurer, and Helen Jennings, secretary.

KAPPA Delta pledge class officers are Genevieve Carroll, president, Ann Soukup, vice president and Katherine Young, secretary.

AND the officers of the Alpha Phi pledge class are Mildred Mosel, president; Theota Erickson, secretary, and Bessie Bell Brown treasurer.

SEPTEMBER twenty-third Blanche Bremer of Scotia was married to Charles Bradley of Wolbach. The ceremony took place in Seward and the couple will make their home in Wolbach. Mr. Bradley is a former student of the University of Nebraska.

SATURDAY afternoon at four o'clock in St. Louis, Elizabeth Corey of that city married Joseph Deming of Lincoln. Mr. Deming is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is employed by the Shell Oil company in the geographical department in Tulsa, Okl.

ACACIA pledges chose Fred Bodle as their president; Richard Sain, vice president, and Ray Simonson, secretary-treasurer.

TONIGHT the Delta Omicron alumnae will entertain the active chapter and rushees at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. H. J. Lehnoff. Assisting hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. L. O. True, Mrs. T. J. Fesselbach, Mrs. Rolla Van Kirk, Mildred Kemp and Vera May Peterson.

WERNER LEADS Y. M. DISCUSSION TONIGHT

Freshmen Invited Attend Second Conclave of Series.

Freshmen are invited to attend another discussion meeting sponsored by the university Y. M. C. A. this evening in the "Y" rooms of the Temple building. Dr. O. H. Werner, professor of Principles of Education, will lead the discussion on "Education Equals Studies Plus."

This will be the second in a series of four weekly discussion meetings which all freshmen are urged to attend. The meetings are well planned, and only outstanding speakers are asked to preside.

According to Mr. C. D. Hayes, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., all students will find these discussions very enjoyable as well as beneficial. The discussion will begin at 7:15.

VEENKER UNRUFFLED BY CYCLONE SHOWING POINTS FOR HUSKERS

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 1.—Unruffled by the relatively poor showing of the Cyclones last week end, Coach George Veenker Monday placidly took over the reins where he laid them down Friday and went on practicing plays and formations unused in the Cornell game.

Indicating a goodly number of tricks still cached safely within the Cyclone bag, the Iowa State mentor appeared not greatly perturbed at the Nebraska victory over Chicago as compared with the Cyclones' 6-6 tie with Cornell.

"A lot of things can happen in a week," Veenker commented, as he outlined a week of practice which will be climaxed in the Iowa State-Nebraska clash here on State field Saturday.

Despite the fact that nearly 25 Cyclones saw action in Saturday's game and many of them for the first time, Veenker indicated very few if any changes in the first string lineup for the coming week. He implied that a shift in the backfield might be possible but failed to disclose the nature of his intentions.

Not a single Cyclone was injured in the game Saturday and heartening to the Iowa State squad was the reappearance of Harold Birney, 185 pound first string halfback of Dewitt, temporarily benched with a minor knee operation, and the rapid mending of Fred Poole's shoulder which he strained early this season.

Yesterday's stiff scrimmage was the first of three days of heavy
