

Cornhuskers Prepare for Onrushing Viking Foes

SCARLET IS KEYED FOR A HARD GAME

Nebraska Points for Triumph Over Mythical National Champs; Gophers Plan Keep Record Intact With Win Here Saturday.

BIBLE SHOOTING ALL IN OFFENSIVE DRILLS

Loss of Julius Alfonse Big Blow to Minnesota Hopes; James Heldt Saturday's Captain.

In the event that you've fallen down on your obligation as a loyal Cornhusker and haven't kept advance tab on the operations of Dana X. Bible's gridiron team, there's going to be a football game in Memorial stadium Saturday. And what a game! Coach Bernie Bierman's Minnesota Gophers, undisputed and unchallenged holders of the mythical distinction of national champions last season, are coming down from the north woods this week-end to do battle with Dana X. Bible's Nebraska, who have managed to erect something of an enviable reputation for themselves this early in the season.

The Huskers, with two victories safely tucked away and forgotten about, fanned into race track pitch at the prospect of meeting the supreme test of the 1935 season, are going forth to meet the onrushing Gophers with opportunity knocking at their door.

1934-20 Minnesota.

Last year the Huskers went undefeated to Minnesota's fortress with the same prospects before them in a slightly less rosy setting. They came back defeated—defeated badly, by the score of 20-0.

But there's no need of recalling that incident to mind this season. The Nebraska football team of 1935 is an entirely different entity from the team of 1934. That has been irrefutably demonstrated on two successive Saturdays afternoon when the Scarlet and Cream plowed its way through two opposing elevens that, judging from the scores against them, might as well have been playing checkers in the parlor as chasing a football.

Chicago University "went West" two weeks ago in the opening game of the season for the Cornhusker, and presented with no little pride or humble mein the record of one Jay Berwanger, who had amassed for himself quite some priority as a man of all work who did everything better than almost anybody else. But Dana X. Bible escorted onto Memorial field in that opening game another man of all work, not quite so widely heralded, who skimmed all the glory from Mr. Jay Berwanger and led the Huskers from a 28-7 victory.

Veenker Calls It Quits.

Not a few over ardent Huskers immediately took it for granted that Nebraska was automatically raised into the ranks of contenders for the national championship, and their enthusiasm increased the following Saturday when Coach George Veenker, who had publicly made it known a few days before that he conceded nothing to the Huskers, was forced to comply, although most unwillingly, to the demands of a Husker team that humbled his lids 20-7.

And now Minnesota is coming to town. Judging from the Scarlet records in her two previous victories, what is going to happen on the Husker football sanctuary this Saturday? How are Dana Bible's gridology students, said to have the most formidable fighting array in several years, going to perform against the Gophers, who although but a shadow of the invincible powerhouse of a year ago are still a big afternoon for anybody's team.

Huskers Forwards Strong.

But the Biblical warriors of 1935 have progressed in the opposite direction. Roy Lyman's rehabilitated line stands to improve beyond limits when compared with the forward wall of last season. And if this young gentleman named Lloyd Cardwell continues to reel off his sensational touchdown gallops, the headlines of the country won't be large enough to hold him. Add to that the very significant fact that Sam Francis has found his footing and has possessed himself of everything that an excellent fullback should possess, and that Jerry Lanoue has "come back" to his slippery torso losing that results almost inevitably in yardage and the Husker chances Saturday look at least somewhere as bright as those of Minnesota.

Moreover, Gopher hopes have suffered a severe setback in the ability of Julius Alfonse, leading ground gainer on the Bierman battering ram last season. But Coach Dana Bible will have to do some considerable toil in making his pupils see the error of their ways before they take the same field with Minnesota. The Huskers gained more than 300 yards from scrimmage as against 84 for Iowa State last Saturday. It would appear, therefore, that they were just about at the peak of football playing.

Statistics Not All.

But the score and the statistics are only about half of the story. Iowa State was on the Scarlet one-yard line twice before the first quarter was half over. The fact that the Cyclones were held may augur well for the Husker line, but it will be a very dangerous procedure to allow a team like Minnesota to get within even remote distance of the one-yard line.

'B' ELEVEN RANKS DESERTED; COACH SEES MASSACRES

Smallest Nubbins Squad in History to Meet Pitt Teachers.

Lawrence Ely's currently furrowed forehead is explained by a seemingly impossible task confronting him. A plea for new material a few days ago brought nary an aspirant and now with Pittsburgh teachers on tap for this coming Friday, he must prepare the smallest B football team on Nebraska ledgers for the sacrifice.

It is no secret that for the past two weeks the Nubbins coaching staff has been maneuvering to cancel the unplayed portion of the 1935 schedule. "We aren't equipped to face Howell's teachers," said Ely. "Last week they took Arkansas state, one of the strongest teams in the south, by twelve points." With this in mind Coach Ely is wearing a St. Bernard expression.

Of the few griders that have uniforms checked out, the only ones that report consistently for practice are physics students prompted by requirement. Following the foreseen massacres the "B" squad will be depleted. Those still possessing enthusiasm for the gridiron may work out with the varsity.

Ely is bartering as a last resort, with Coach Bible for the services of at least four varsity substitutes. When the Nebraska Wesleyan Plainsmen invade the Huskers the Nubbins will no doubt be bolstered by Eldridge, Howell and the others who quelled Kearney in the season's curtain raiser.

Altho the quota of grid talent is sadly lacking Ely named Hulac and Mercier, ends; Belders and Funk, tackles; Sawtell and Fleisher, guards; Kosman, center; Klein, quarter; Eymen and Fischer, halves; and Munsell, full as the satellites of the squad.

PRESBYTERIAN GROUP ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Westminster Foundation to Meet Monday at Grand Hotel.

Officers were elected and plans discussed for a social program for Presbyterian students at the regular monthly meeting of the Westminster foundation board held Monday at the Grand Hotel.

Prof. C. K. Morse was elected president; Rev. William Swartz-werter, vice president; Miss Florence McGabe, secretary, and Dean R. A. Lyman, treasurer.

The group decided to hold an annual student banquet during the pastors convocation in January. About 150 students attended the one last year, which was the first of its kind to be held on this campus. At that time students were the guests of their respective pastors.

It was also decided to inaugurate a social program at the Presbyterian Manse. Such a program would include teas, receptions, dinners and breakfasts.

"The board recognizes such social affairs as a valuable means of contacting students in the home-like atmosphere of the Manse," stated R. B. Henry, Presbyterian pastor.

GREEK ATHLETES READY FOR ACTION

Drizzle Forces Postponement of Touch Football Plans Monday; Contests Scheduled to Be Played at First Opportunity in Future.

FOUR SIX-TEAM LEAGUES PLAY ROUND ROBIN

Each Team Must Deposit $2 Forfeit Fee Before Tournament Starts; Two Officials for Each Game; All Played on Schedule.

An aggravating drizzle postponed the already belated intramural program Monday. A pair of games, Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Delta Sigma Lambda and Delta Upsilon vs. Acacia to be played yesterday afternoon were necessarily canceled. These will be played at the first opportunity in the near future.

After collecting the proper data from the fraternities, the intramural directors now have the program well in the palms of their hands; and after weeks of preparation, the Greeks are now back in their old high school stride and yearning for action.

Four leagues have been arranged; six teams in a league. Following the playing of a round robin, in which all the elevens of each group compete against each other, finals will be played. One aggregation from each league will be advanced into the finals.

A $2 forfeit fee must be deposited by each house before any team swings into action. There will be two officials for each game; one who will act as referee and the other as umpire and time keeper. The officials are instructed to enforce rules to their fullest extent. All games will be played on the "flats" north of the tenth street viaduct.

Ten Barb Clubs Enter Touch Football Teams

Envious of the Nebraska football team? Do you think Lloyd Cardwell, Sam Francis, and Jerry Lanoue don't know what it's all about when it comes to real ball carrying? Join a barb club and give Dana X. Bible's gridiron lads an exhibition of real football.

That's the advice of Harold Petz, director of intramurals, as he puts the finishing touches on preparations for the annual fall touch football campaign.

According to Petz, ten barb clubs have sent in entrants in the outdoor sport. Anxious to obtain additional clubs for the purpose of compiling a larger schedule, the intramural boss has extended the deadline for filing until Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

"We've got to get these club lists in as soon as possible," Petz stated Monday. "Play will commence next week, and the lists must be in by Wednesday to enable completion of the schedules."

"We can't afford to fall down with this touch football," Bill Newcomer, barb interclub council president, urged Monday. "There's plenty of interest being shown, and the sooner we can get the club lists in to the intramural office, the sooner we can start playing."

A new note has been introduced into the library system at Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Penn.

The enterprising librarian has arranged all books according to moods. If you feel that great emotion, there is the love story itself; if you feel disillusioned and sour about it all, there is the gall and bitterness shelf. There may even be the don't-feel-like-reading-a-book shelf.

COLLEGE PHILOSOPHY SUBJECT VESPER TALK

Dr. Patterson Will Discuss Appeal of Idealism At Service.

Dr. Charles Patterson of the philosophy department will speak on the subject "The Right To Believe" at the Y. W. vespers to be held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, according to Caroline Kile, chairman.

Speaking of the philosophies of college students, Patterson will discuss the subject of whether idealism still has an appeal.

The vesper choir, under the direction of Margaret Phillippe, will appear at this vesper service for the first time. It is larger than usual this year and consists of about forty members. Eleanor Clizbe will lead the devotionals.

Any girl interested is welcome to join the vesper staff and help plan the vesper programs, according to Miss Kile. Members of the staff are as follows: Jean Waggoner, Francis Kalin, Esther Stein, Aileen Marshal, Ruth Cheney, Francis Scudder, Virginia Amos, Alice Black and Francis Lincoln. Meetings are held each Monday at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.
