Bible Faces Task of Keeping Eleven in Shape With Over Week of Idleness Ahead; Scouts Say Stiner to Bring Strong Squad.

Some ten Cornhusker senior gridiron heroes are going to find themselves more than usually busy this Thanksgiving. And it won't be with such relatively trivial occupations of disposing of turkeys, either.

For one thing, Lon Stiner's Oregon State Beavers are coming to Lincoln with one of the strongest teams on the Pacific Coast. For another, the Huskers will write their final 1935 football season. And finally, it will be the last game those ten seniors will play under Cornhusker colors.

Two Captains. Announcing Toby Eldridge and Paul Morrison as game captains, Coach Bible disclosed Monday that the Oregon State finale will be dedicated to the graduating veterans who have served on the squad all season.

Consequently Lon Stiner's eleven will be confronted with a largely veteran lineup when the whistle blows Nov. 28.

In the backfield will be Eldridge at right half, Jerry LaNoue or Bob Benson at left, and Chief Bauer at quarter. Sam Francis, the only non-senior in the ball lugger combination, will demonstrate to Cornhusker followers from his fullback post just what some of the 80-yard punts Pitt found so disconcerting look like.

Senior Line. In the forward wall will be a senior group listing Jim Heldt and Harold Holmbeck at tackles, Johnny Williams and Ladas Hubka at guards, Paul Morrison at center, and Bernie Scherer at left end. At the other wing position will be either Les McDonald or Elmer Dohrman, fighting it out on equal ground for the starting call.

With more than a week remaining before the Beavers roll into Memorial stadium, the toughest job confronting the Huskers will be that of keeping in shape until the day of the game. The Husker mentor granted his gridiron retinue a vacation Monday, and limited Tuesday's practice to light drill, but he has scheduled a heavy scrimmage with the frosh for Wednesday. Since there will be no game Saturday afternoon, the varsity may take on Ed Weir's 1. sch, who had something of a holiday all last week, and who are rarin' to go at demonstrating the Oregon State plays. Coach Bible indicated, however, that a scrimmage Saturday was by no means definite.

Oregon State Good. Weir, back from scouting the Oregon team which defeated Idaho last Saturday at Corvallis, put no qualification upon his description of the Beaver team as "heavy." According to the Husker scout, Stiner has a well balanced backfield headed by Joe Gray, 185 pound halfback who has been going great guns, and a strong, weighty line. Gray is reported to be especially dangerous, and is figured a plenty tough assignment for the Husker line, which allowed Pitt to blast holes that an apple cart could have gone through last week end.

Light Drills Tuesday. After correcting mistakes in the Pitt game, and listening to Weir's description of Oregon State, the Huskers donned sweat suits Tuesday and went through light calisthenics and limbering up drills. The whole squad was in fine shape, Harold Holmbeck, Jerry LaNoue, and Sam Francis sporting minor injuries.

After the practice was concluded, Coach Bible entertained the varsity squad at a dinner in his home, when pictures of the Pitt game were shown, and the graduating seniors were honored.

MILLER & PAINE

WHAT THE MILDNESS OF CAMELS MEANS TO FAMOUS AVIATORS

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., famous holder of 214 speed records and the Harmon Trophy, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Making speed records tests the pilot as well as his plane. Camels never make me jumpy or bother my physical 'condition' in any way. As the athletes say, Camels are so mild they don't get the wind. And I've found they never upset my nerves. Camel must use choicer tobaccos."

"Camels don't get your Wind" Athletes say

"Speaking of cigarettes, I make it a rule to smoke Camels," says Mrs. T. W. Kenyon, sportswoman pilot. "They are the mildest cigarette! Morning, noon, and night, I can smoke Camels steadily. They never upset my nerves. And each Camel renews the zest and enjoyment of the last one."

"They Never Get on Your Nerves"

"I appreciate the mellow flavor of Camels," says Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the transpacific flyer, in a recent interview. "Camels refresh me so when I'm fatigued," he continues, "and they are so mild that I can smoke any number without throwing my nerves off key."

"They Never Tire Your Taste"

"I smoke Camels all I want," says Col. Roscoe Turner (right), 'cross-continent speed ace. "Because of their mildness, Camels never tire my taste. A speed flyer uses up energy just as his motor uses 'gas.' After smoking a Camel, I get a 'refill' in energy—a new feeling of vim and well-being."
