JAMES STEPHENS TO READ ODES OF IRELAND TUESDAY

Irish Poet Presents Recital At Second Convocation In Temple Theater.

SPENDS TIME IN U. S. Bard Conceived Latest Books While Roaming Hills Of Kentucky.

James Stephens, who writes and sings of Ireland in a manner entirely his own, will be in Lincoln to present a poetry recital at the Temple theater Tuesday at 11 o'clock as the feature attraction of the university's second public convocation.

Outstanding Poet. Heralded as one of the outstanding poets today, Stephens is equally admired for his scholarly ability. "While many poets are not historical scholars and are not fully acquainted with the history, culture and traditions of their country, Stephens qualifies in every way," commented Dr. R. D. Scott, professor of modern English drama, who has only words of praise for the artist. One of the poet's most popular books, "Deirdre," is very familiar to Dr. Scott, since he has worked on the language and literature of Ireland for more than fifteen years.

Scholarly Work. "Stephens' work is far ahead of anything that has been done along that line," the university faculty member stated. "It is scholarly and beautiful, and shows beyond doubt that Stephens is completely familiar with the history, culture and arts of early Ireland."

"I know when I have a poem the same way a hen knows she has an egg..." So spoke Stephens at the University of California, according to an item in the current issue of Time magazine. "All perfect ladies are or should be cats; if they aren't they have lost their femininity and are partly male," he continued.

11 MEN TRY FOR LONG'S FROSH DEBATE TROPHY

Entries Surpass Those of Last Year; Close Monday.

FINAL CONTEST DEC. 5

Eleven men have registered as entrants in the verbal battle for Long's freshman debate trophy, according to Debate Coach H. Adelbert White. Entries already exceed those of last year by two, and will not close until Monday noon.

Freshmen who have signed up are Herbert B. Clark, Bertram E. Hall, Donald Marxsen, Paul Bystandig, Don Nemetz, H. O. Palmer, Eugene Phillips, Hyman Polsky, Leo Turkel, Ernest Wintroub, and Eugene M. Woods.

Drawings for sides on the question, which deals with compulsory automobile insurance for Nebraska, will be printed in "Tuesday's" Nebraska. The final tournament is scheduled for the evening of Dec. 5.

"Interest in this traditional event has increased, judging from the number entries this year, and I expect a larger more by Monday noon," declared Professor White. Judges are selected from prominent Lincoln and university men, and are not announced until after the final tournament is over.

DANCING FEATURES AG COLLEGE GROUP PARTY

175 Freshmen Attend Affair In Activities Building Saturday.

Dancing and games featured the entertainment at the party sponsored by the Ag freshman commission group in the Student Activities building Saturday night. Approximately 175 freshmen and students enrolled in the short farm operators' courses attended the affair.

Arrangements for the party were made by committees under Chairman Bonnie Brown, entertainment: Marjorie Schick, refreshments: Deloris Bors, tickets and reception: Evelyn Dittman, advertising and Jeanette Johnson, arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Gooding, Miss Evelyn Metzger, and Miss Ruth Sperry were chaperons.

Oldfather Speaks Sunday. Dean C. H. Oldfather, of the college of arts and sciences, will speak Sunday afternoon at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha on the subject "Moderation of Classical Civilization."

Student Leaders Commend Chancellor's Building Plea

Chancellor E. A. Burnett's address in Washington which emphasized the need of a new building program at the university has received the hearty approval of leading students on the Nebraska campus.

Campus leaders, who during the past few years have made several attempts to secure new university buildings, declared they were happy to read of Chancellor Burnett's talk which pointed out the need of replacements for university hall, the electrical engineering building, and the library. Plans for establishing a "university foundation" to receive gifts for the institution were also discussed by the chancellor in his appearance before university alumni at a Washington, D. C. dinner. President of Innocents.

"Nebraska students are happy to see that the administration has recognized the need of and is attempting to make building improvements on the campus," declared Dick Schmidt, president of Innocents. "With the faculty behind us, the student body will do all in its power to aid in securing appropriations and to show the people of the state that the university is sincere in its plea for new buildings."

Frank Landis, student council member and supporter of the student union proposal, stated, "Chancellor Burnett surely hit the nail on the head when he said new buildings were needed on the Nebraska campus. There is a pressing need for replacements of the several structures named by the chancellor and also for a student union building. There is a demand for a bigger appropriation, and the legislature should provide a bigger income for the university in order that our wants might be relieved."

Feeling that it is time improvements were made on the campus, Jack Fisher, Daily Nebraskan editor said "when we read in papers and magazines that other colleges are receiving appropriations and loans for new buildings, we students feel it is about time that donations and aid were coming our way. The university has been taking a back seat long (Continued on Page 3.)"

DEC. 7 DEADLINE FOR PARTICIPANTS IN COLL-AGRI-FUN

Actors in Revue Must File Names at Ag College Dean's Office.

Coll-Agri-Fun has set Saturday, Dec. 7, at 5 o'clock as the deadline for the names of all participants in the Coll-Agri-Fun Revue to be turned in at Dean W. W. Burr's office on the agricultural campus. All names will be checked by eligibility rules as set up by the Student Activities office.

"We are urging all organizations and individuals sponsoring skits to start work immediately in order to be prepared for the two rehearsals, Dec. 11 and 12," stated Bonnie Spanggaard, assistant manager of the Coll-Agri-Fun board.

This program composed of comical skits and musical numbers, is an annual event, comparable to the Kosmet Klub Revue on the city campus. This year the performance will have eight skits and six curtain acts.

Farm House, university 4-H club, Barb A. W. S., Alpha Gamma, Rho, ACBC, and Melvin Beerman are all giving skits, while Don Whitson, Dairy Manufacturing group, C. J. Propasco, Audra Diskson, and Dick Laverly will appear in curtain acts. Billy Quick and his orchestra will play before the Revue and between intermissions.

Condition of Reed Remains Unchanged

Dr. A. A. Reed, seriously ill at Lincoln General hospital with a ruptured gastric ulcer, was reported by attendants to be resting well late Saturday afternoon. His condition was "fair" Friday afternoon, but he rallied a little to spend a comfortable night. His condition was unchanged Saturday.

Dr. Reed, nationally known educator and director of the University extension, was stricken Thursday and underwent an emergency operation. He has been a member of the Nebraska staff since 1907, and at present is president of the National University Extension association.

FORMAL FASHION AWGWAN EDITION ON SALE TUESDAY

Art Work Features November Issue; Camera Studies Depict Gowns.

Advent of the formal social season brings the November formal fashion issue of the Awgwan, campus humor publication, which will go on sale in the university stands Tuesday morning, according to acting Editor Howard Dobson.

Photography and art work are features of the new edition. An innovation in modeling—small clay figures depicting the new Honorary Colonel and cadet colonel saluting each other—has been contributed by a new staff team, Joan Ridour fashioning the dolls and Bill Clayton photographing them.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN FOR ORGANIZATION OF SENIORS AT MEETING

Council Group to Gather Today to Arrange Social Affair.

Initial plans for organizing the senior class of 1936 will be formulated at a meeting of the student council's senior class committee at 5 o'clock, Monday afternoon, Nov. 25 in the student council rooms, according to Faith Arnold and Lorraine Hitchcock, co-chairmen in charge of the meeting. James Marvin, senior class president, will serve on the committee as an ex-officio member.

Social functions intended to arouse spirit and enthusiasm in a senior class will be considered, those in charge stated. "It is felt that a strongly knit senior class organization is needed before an effective alumni group can be formed," Miss Arnold stated. "Senior classes in the past have been known for their definite lack of class organization."

Last year's senior class committee started a movement toward better organization by holding of a tea dance and mass meeting. Members of the committee are Faith Arnold, Lorraine Hitchcock, Jim Heldt, Burr Ross, and Jim Marvin, ex-officio member.

TYNER HAS POSITION AT FARGO COLLEGE

Agronomy Graduate Takes Position in North Dakota.

Dr. E. H. Tyner, graduate from the Agronomy department of the agricultural college of the university in 1930, has accepted a position in the department of Agronomy of the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo.

Having received his bachelor's degree in agronomy at Nebraska, Dr. Tyner attended the University of Wisconsin and obtained his doctor's degree in Soils in 1934. While studying at this university, he had the privilege of having as an instructor, Dr. Emil Truog, one of the outstanding soil chemists in the world.

Upon completing his work at the University of Wisconsin, Mr. Tyner worked with the Soil Conservation and Shelter Belt Service in the western part of Nebraska.

450 DANCE TO MUSIC OF SHELTON BAND AT THANKSGIVING PARTY

James Marvin Chairman of Affair in Coliseum Saturday.

Over 450 couples attended the Thanksgiving Frolic, held at the coliseum Saturday night, dancing to the rhythms of Don Shelton and his Kentucky Colonels, who returned by popular request to play for the affair. Shelton has played on the R. K. O. circuit, the larger ballrooms in principal eastern cities, and came back to Lincoln from a tour of eastern colleges.

Huge blue spotlights and a large revolving spot made the decoration unique, and lent color to the occasion.

Barb Council members who sponsored the party are Jim Marvin, general chairman; Bill Newmeyer and Leroy Hansen, orchestra; Lenore Teal and Doris Weaver, chaperons; Jim Rissness and Gretchen Budd, turkey presentation; decorations, Alvin Kleeb; John Stover, checking and Byrle Shuck, Marian Jackson and John Bishop, publicity.

Formals Pictured. Camera studies of four new formal gowns are included in the fashion column by Sancha Kilbourn, with Barbara Dameswood, Muriel Hook, Jean Doty and Jean Lettwich serving as photographic models.

GEOGRAPHY DIVISION HAS CLIMATIC MAPS

Guides Showing Rainfall, Temperature Now Available.

The department of geography is receiving numerous requests for the set of climatic maps which have been made during the past two or three years and which are now available at slight cost for general use. They include maps of the average temperature and rainfall condition of different parts of the state and also extremes which have been experienced thus far.

Consultation of these maps enables farmers, bankers and other business men to learn the actual climatic conditions which have been experienced in Nebraska, and the maps serve as general indicators of what may probably be encountered in the future.

EDITORIAL IN NEW SCHOONER EDITION SATIRIZES ROGERS

Article Commemorates 2,000 Anniversary Birth of Latin Poet.

An editorial in the fall number of Prairie Schooner, Nebraska literary quarterly which went on sale Friday, satirizes the popular conception of the late humorist, Will Rogers. In his column, "Ox Cart," editor Lowry C. Wimberly reprints a "gem of sparkling wit" from a syndicated newspaper column: "So many autos are lined up outside our schools that our young folks ain't even learned how to ride a bike."

"Behold, how it sparkles!" comments Wimberly. Prof. M. S. Ginsburg of the university classic department is the author of the opening article on "Horace," commemorating the 2,000 anniversary of the Latin poet's birth. Two odes by Horace also appear in the issue. "Roman Winter" is translated by Margaret Morrow and "Roman Spring" translated by Ruth Harrow.

Dr. Harold Stoke, professor of political science, is the author of an article on De Tocqueville Democracy in America, and Dr. Martin Petersen has contributed a sketch of William Allen White, Kansas author and publisher.

Other authors in the fall issue are Mabel Langdon, Manuel Arzuilla, Wilbur Gaffney, Robert Whitehand, Loren C. Eiseley, Rudolph Umland, David Bernstein, Charles Sloane, Arthur Lippincott, Winifred Stewart, Paul Rogers, Clifford Gessler, Louis Towley, and Ralph Friedrich.

Rotten Eggs Mean Little When These Fraternities Play

Just good clean fun. Answering in traditional manner the Sigma Nu challenge to the second annual field day and egg fight, Sigma Alpha Epsilon agreed to joust on the field called Russian flats.

A Sigma Nu clad in old plug hat, saber and accessories, riding a venerable plug, threw down the gauntlet before the S. A. E.'s who answered from an upper story window. The freshmen of the battling fraternity clad in long winter underwear, then paraded to the coliseum with hayricks, horses, and an 1890 frosh drawn ambulance in the van. Then battled the members in touch football, basketball, and tug of war, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon claiming the laurels in each event.

JIMMY JOY BAND TO PLAY AT 1935 MILITARY AFFAIR

Presentation of Honorary Colonel Scheduled For 9:15.

$2.00 ADMISSION FEE Musical Novelties Included Among Orchestra Entertainers.

Jimmy Joy and his orchestra will play for the 1935 Military Ball, formal opening of the university's winter social season, according to official announcement by the military department. The ball will be held in the coliseum at 9 o'clock Friday, Dec. 6, continuing until midnight.

Earlier Presentation. Presentation of Honorary Colonel, who was chosen at a general election in October, will be held at 9:15. The revision of time to an earlier hour was explained as a means to permit uninterrupted dancing for the rest of the evening.

Joy, who is a 15 year veteran of the orchestra business, is well known as a chain broadcast artist. He has just completed engagements at the Willows ballroom in Pittsburgh, and the Totem Pole in Boston. After a hotel engagement in Louisville, he started a road tour, which will include Nebraska for the Military ball.

Musical Novelties. Notable musical novelties are included in his crew of entertainers, among them the Velvet Violins; the Esquires, a male trio, and the Rhythm Racketeers, composed of six members of the orchestra who perform during intermission periods with variations of "swing" and "bounce" styles of music.

Vocalists and comedians of the orchestra include Ray Hudgens, Kenny Smith and "Cub" Higgins in their specialties. Admission for the affair is two dollars for dancing couples, and thirty-five cents for spectators.

FELLMAN, LANCASTER TO LEAD P.B.K. FORUM

"The Future of Political Parties" Topic of Discussion.

ACT ON NATIONAL PLANS

Dr. David Fellman and Lane Lancaster, political science instructors will discuss the topic of "The Future of Political Parties" in Europe and in the United States" at the meeting of Phi Beta Kappa to be held at the University Club on Dec. 3. The meeting is to be in the form of a dinner at 6:15 o'clock and approximately one hundred members in addition to several guests are expected to attend.

Prof. Clifford M. Hicks, assistant professor of business organization and management, left Thursday for New York where he will attend a national committee meeting of Phi Beta Kappa. He will stop enroute at Chicago and Detroit, and plans to return to Lincoln after the Thanksgiving holiday.

The national committee, headed by John Kirkland Clark, famed New York attorney, will prepare a draft of a revised constitution and by-laws for presentation before the next Triennial Council of Phi Beta Kappa. Several plans in respect to a national program for the encouragement of scholarship in the schools are to be acted upon, as well as matters affecting the organization of the United Chapters.

Another approaching event of Phi Beta Kappa is the founder's day banquet of this group to be held at Omaha on Dec. 4. The program for this event features an address on Horace by Dr. Clarence Forbes, acting chairman of the classics department.

ESSAY CONTEST OPEN TO FOUR UNIVERSITIES

Students to Write Papers On "Coming Home" Theme.

Participation in an essay contest on a poster theme, "Coming Home," and its significance, has been opened to university students by the Emery, Bird, Thayer company, Kansas City, Mo.

Three posters prepared by Leona Bracker, noted artist, have been received by the university for the contest. The posters have particular significance to college students homeward bound for Thanksgiving vacation. The series of posters by the artist depict the life of a great store in relation to the people whom it serves.

Students from the universities of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska will compete for the three prizes offered. First prize is twenty-five dollars, second, fifteen, and third, five.

Friday the 13th--Look Out For a Cream Puff Corsage

Anyone who has ever attended that well known function known as the Mortar Board party, at which fair coeds of the campus play the part of the escorts for the evening, is quite familiar with the happenings of such an experience. It is necessary, however, for those who are novices in the art of entertaining and escorting a young gentleman to a party to be given the style of corsages which will expect when the evening of Dec. 13 rolls around.

Onion Bouquets. First of all, it is essential that the favored gentleman receive a corsage to wear for the event. Of course, this doesn't specify what that corsage may be and contrary to definition, what one would expect to be posies often turns out to be everything from discarded paper flowers and pansies to striking vegetable corsages, consisting of carrots, lettuce or fragrant bouquets of onions. Just a suggestion coeds, on what the style of corsages will be for Dec. 13.

Naturally the young women will be expected to carry the gentlemen's shaving kit, overnight case, cigarettes or whatever he chooses to take with him, not forgetting that the list of items will probably include a huge can of talcum powder and a comb so that the young man may, by all means, repair his make-up approximately ten times each hour.

Maybe a Tandem. True to form, the young miss
