

CAMPUSOCIETY

ONE MORE DAY 'TIL VACATION, then we go to the station—only it looks as though a number of students aren't going to the station but staying right here in Lincoln. For Friday night the brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon give their annual free-for-all at the Cornhusker, Pi K. A. has a bit of a dinner dance at the chapter house, and Alpha Chi O's entertain their dates at a house party. Nothing daunted, members of Sigma Chi will give their yearly dinner dance at the Lincoln. In fact, it appears that the major—perhaps not the most important—but the major part of the student body is going to be in Capital City over the week-end. A fine way to start the Christmas holidays—tsk! Tsk!

SEEN ON the campus: Margaret Werner and some Joe College caking in the Moon...Bernie McKerney and the Messingbring talking about this and that... Junior "Honey" Howard playing with one of the Shurtleff boys... John Jarmin consuming coffee with sugar but no cream...Uniformed officers Ernst and Stafford clanking around the Rag office...Bob Roscoe and Myron Bickel telling some fellows that he'd never get thru law college cutting classes (there's something there)...John Groth with a napkin tucked in his belt...Harold Butler weaving in and out of campus caking places...Mary Yoder's dream man wandering around like a lost soul...Jean Gallant playing the slot machines, um, um!...Bob Avery with Betsy Allen—Sara Hutchings and some blonde fellow (nice contrast) looking into each others eyes—and Laverne Ely honoring the Moon with his presence.

CATHEDRAL CHOIR CARRIES CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM NEBRASKA EASTWARD

Alumni association at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, where they will stay while in the city.

In making the tour and carrying their messages in song to many people, the members of the choir will be working in tune with their ideal, a faith in the spirit of youth. The choir envisions the building of a cathedral where the youth of all faiths may worship together. Altho this cathedral is as yet only a dream, it symbolizes the spirit which has produced and which finds expression in the singing of this choir.

"It is neither a mission nor a monument. Composed of Gentle and Jew, Catholic and Protestant, the voices of the aspiring singers mingle in a unison which rises above the conflict of creeds which has so long separated worshippers." This expression of the choir's purpose is stated in the programs, 10,000 of which were printed, to be used on the tour.

The programs contain also an illustration of the envisioned cathedral. It is the work of a choir member, Arne Engberg, a graduate of the university architecture department two years ago. The choir, which was organized sixteen years ago and which sings regularly at Westminster Presbyterian church, is not connected with any organization. Its members, who are outstanding for their scholastic record, are all vitally interested in their organization and the meaning which it holds for each of them is something indescribable.

ZOOLOGISTS ADOPT LIVELY YOUNG BOA

Central American Reptile Found in Shipment Of Bananas.

Zoologists at the university now have a lively young tree boa which was found half frozen in a fruit car filled with bananas for a Lincoln wholesale grocery. The young snake is about three feet long and is brilliantly colored. An employe of the company found the boa wrapped about a clump of bananas which were shipped here from Central America.

In a half dormant condition, it was brought to the museum of the university where it was subjected to the rays of an electric light for several hours before it became active, according to Henry Reider of the museum staff. Later the snake was taken to the zoology department where attempts will be made to keep it alive.

The Cotton Textile institute of North Carolina plans to build roads of cotton in the near future.
