SEATON MAKING PLANS TO SET UP NEW BOOK STORE

Library Commission Moved To Provide Room for Student Shop.

OPEN NEXT SEMESTER

Texts Purchased for 50 Per Cent of Cost, Resold at 25 Per Cent Profit.

Arrangements to set up the university's new second hand bookstore in the first floor of social science are now being completed by L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent. It is expected that the store will be ready for opening by the second or third week of the second semester.

The location will be in quarters now occupied by the library commission, Mr. Seaton stated. The commission is expected to move soon into an office in the capitol building.

Before the book store can be opened, shelves will have to be built and repairs made in the quarters. According to plans announced, the books in the regents book store will be moved into the new location.

Students desiring to give proper support to the book store and also seeking opportunity to save money on books for the second semester are asked to hold the sale of their second-hand books until the store opens. Work on the project is progressing as rapidly as possible, it was pointed out.

Under present plans, second-hand books will be purchased for (Continued on Page 4).

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO OPERATE WITH STATE GROUPS IN CAMPAIGN

New York Official Directs Work of Nebraska Club.

The university Young Democratic club will work with the state units of the Young Democratic club in the 1936 presidential campaign under the direction of recently appointed Felix H. Winsten of New York City, according to student leaders of the campus organization.

Mr. Winsten will maintain his headquarters in Washington, D. C. and will direct the work of organizing the clubs in all of the colleges and universities in the United States.

The new College Director will also be in charge of point one of the four point program of the Young Democrats which calls for an active Young Democrat club in every college and university before the 1936 elections.

Young Democrats at Nebraska received the first issue of the "National Young Democrat," official paper of the junior branch of the party. Nine million people will be eligible to vote for the first time in the coming election and the purpose of the paper is to keep them informed of all developments and activities within the party and in the current news. Digest of editorial opinion and outstanding cartoons will appear in the paper. At the present it is a bi-weekly publication but will be issued weekly during the presidential campaign, it was announced.

Frigid Weather No Hindrance to Eager Nebraska Scholars

Cold weather which during the past two days has blanketed the campus in a deep cover of snow and kept strollers inside by the fire, appeared to lessen Monday with indications of warmer weather in the next few days.

The mercury fell to 9 below at 3 o'clock Monday but rose steadily throughout the day to a high point of 25 at 2 o'clock. Sunday the official weather bureau thermometer registered 13 below which set a three year record. Arctic temperature of 17 below was recorded Sunday at the airport northwest of town.

Windows were kept tightly closed during the worst of the cold spell. The university heating plant worked at full capacity and several of the older buildings on the campus were overheated. Students perspired in summer heat inside while the blizzard raged on unnoticed on the campus.

University employes worked steadily during the snow to keep walks and street crossings clear. Streets on the campus were cleared of much of the snow Monday.

PLAYERS GIVE SHOW FOR WOMAN'S CLUBS

'The Lake' Presented to Packed Houses in Temple.

As an annual tribute to the Woman's clubs of Lincoln, members of the University Players re-enacted Dorothy Massingham's, latest drama, "The Lake" before packed houses at two performances Monday. The play was presented as the third production of the year by the players in December and Monday's matinee and evening performances featured the same cast and settings.

Leading among the cast of characters were Clara Christensen, as Mildred Surrage; Portia Boynton, Lena Surrage; Margaret Carpenter, Stella Surrage; Don Buell, Henry Surrage; and Irving Hill as John Clayne. The play was directed by Herbert Yenne, associate director of dramatics and speech.

FACULTY JUDGE IDEAS FOR PROM GIRL REVEALING

Students Should Present Plans to Committee Before Feb. 7.

Ideas for the presentation of the 1936 prom girl will be judged by a committee composed of Miss Katherine B. Faulkner, Prof. F. Dwight Kirsch, and Prof. Raymond H. Williams, Arnold Levin, member of the presentation committee announced. Students with plans for the presentation should organize their material immediately so that it will be ready for final submission to the judges by the Feb. 7 deadline.

The judges will select from the entries the plan which is different in its general effect and novel in its presentation. Originality, practicality, and expense will be considered in the choosing of the winning skit. Thirty-five dollars has been set as the maximum cost of the presentation construction and operation. The plan should contain a role for both the junior and senior class presidents. The student who evolves and presents the winning skit will receive an award of $15 for his effort, the committee announced.

Directors of the annual prom desire as many entries in the contest as possible so as to secure the best skit possible.

PIERCE TO ANNOUNCE KOSMET COMMITTEES

Klub Meets Today to Plan Spring Show, Review Manuscripts.

Production committees for Kosmet Klub's 1936 spring show will be announced at the regular weekly meeting, at five o'clock in University hall, according to President Robert Pierce.

Assignments will also be made at the meeting for workers to the various committees, and a meeting of all pledges will be called during the first week of the second semester to disclose the appointments.

Reminding entrants in the $50 prize manuscript contest that their plays are due at the Kosmet Klub office before Feb. 3, Pierce urged any playwrights who intended to submit an entry and had not yet contacted the klub to see him at once.

SAFE DRIVING PLEDGE

In the interest of accident prevention and safer conditions on the campus and on the highways, and in cooperation with the Daily Nebraskan safety campaign, I am making the following pledge:

- I will drive sanely and more carefully.
- I will not pass a car unless I have clear vision for 100 yards ahead.
- I will not jump traffic lights.
- In traffic, I will be particularly watchful of pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars.
- I will stop at all stop signs and slow down for slow signs.
- I will not pass a car on curves or hills.
- I will not pass a car until I have looked in my rear view mirror to be sure that no car is bearing down behind.
- I will always give the proper hand signal before turning to the left, to the right, or stopping; I will never leave the curb from a parked position until I have given the proper hand signal.
- I will always remember while driving that I must watch out for FOUR cars—my own, the one in front of me, the one behind me, and especially for the one around the curve, or up side streets that I CANNOT SEE.
- I will be fair to other drivers in all respects and refrain from reckless driving.

New Text Hits Student Need Of How to Get Good Grades

Whether the new university bookstore will handle the most popular publication recently circulated on other campuses is a moot question, but the janitor in Social Sciences expressed his doubt in an exclusive Nebraskan interview Monday afternoon. The new book—"The Psychology of Getting College Grades"—is a fifty page compendium of how to do just that, and in spite of its anonymous parentage, is listed among the top in college book counter circulation.

Since no copies have been available for general distribution on the Cornhusker campus to date, College News Service has provided the Nebraskan with the salient features of the publication. With its issuance, observers look for development of a new species of student—the elbow shiner. Unlike the apple-polisher, the elbow-shiner merely assumes a "Thinker" pose with his chin buried in his knuckles, and looks at the professor as if to say "what an intelligent man," even tho he considers him a fathead.

The book places much emphasis on age of professors in reference to good grades. "Choose an older professor," the author warns. "Old professors lose the thought they are the world's leaders and become considerable and gentle. Young professors are dangers—"

BAND SETS FEB. 16 DATE FOR CONCERT

Full Afternoon of Music Planned for Annual Program.

Annual winter concert will be presented by the cadet band on Sunday afternoon, February 16, at three o'clock in the university coliseum, according to Billy Quick, band leader. Though the entire program has not been completely arranged, a full afternoon of music is in store.

Few members will be admitted to the band second semester, for the membership is already amply large. To be a member, one must have had a semester of drill before he can join.

$650 CONTRIBUTED TO UNION CAMPAIGN BY CAMPUS GROUPS

Sigma Tau Pledges $500; Total Now Passes $12,000 Mark.

Six hundred and fifty dollars were contributed towards the student union building Monday as the fund shoots steadily up, having now reached a total of $12,490.50. Sigma Tau, engineering fraternity, headed the list with a contribution of $500.

Others who gave pledges are Sigma Alpha Mu, $50; Zeta Beta Tau, $50; Chi Phi, $50.50 and Phi Upsilon Omicron, $10. "These pledges are very encouraging," Maryvlu Petersen, secretary of the fund committee, declared. "After examinations are over, we expect to renew our drive and to receive even more contributions."

Pledges that are being received at the present time are to be applied on furnishings for the activities center, according to Miss Petersen. Regents are to apply to the government for a 45 percent grant and a 55 percent loan for the $400,000 building, which will finance the building alone. The contributions from organizations and departments are to supply the furnishings.

DRIVER'S SAFETY SEALS AVAILABLE THIS AFTERNOON

Signers Pledge Blanks Are Obtained at Nebraskan Office.

'LESS SUDDEN DEATH'

Drive in Cooperation With City and National Campaigns.

Safe driving pledges will be available at the Daily Nebraskan office this afternoon for student auto operators wishing to cooperate with national, state and school authorities in cutting the toll of deadly auto smashups.

Each student signer will be given a colored windshield sticker, small enough not to obscure driving vision, to indicate that he has pledged to observe fundamental safety rules and promote "less sudden death." Those unable to come to the Nebraskan office may fill out the printed form on this page, altho special blanks have been provided for the purpose.

"American youth have always supported campaigns against war, crime and disease. But the toll of accidents, more easily prevented than any of these scourges, takes more lives than either of the first two," declared Irwin M. Ryan, Nebraskan managing editor. "Such a campaign merits the support of every student, since the responsibility lies squarely with them."

Simultaneous with the Nebraskan's drive for better driving are campaigns being conducted by the cities of Omaha and Lincoln, and several other university campuses. It is reported that a statewide campaign will be launched by the highway department in the near future.

'YOUR OWN BOOK' TO BE TOPIC OF SPEECH BY MRS. ROY GREEN

State-Wide Known Reviewer Scheduled for Talk at Last Vespers.

"Your Own Book," will be the topic of a talk by Mrs. Roy Green, statewide known book reviewer, at the last Vesper service of this semester, Tuesday, Jan. 21 at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

Mrs. Green will summarize several books of interest to college girls. "The speaker feels that just because a novel is on the Best Seller shelf or on the Book of the Month list, it may not be the book students would care to read," stated Caroline Kile, chairman of the vesper staff. "She will try to suit books to types of individuals in her talk Tuesday," continued Miss Kile.

Phyllis Jean Humphrey, secretary of the Y. W., will lead the devotionals, and Lorraine Hitchcock, president, will give announcements. Special music will be furnished by the vesper choir, under the direction of Margaret Phillippe.

JAYS CUT LOOSE IN SECOND HALF, 45-23

Nebraska Gets Away to Early 11-2 Lead, But K. U. Quint Finds Range to Hold 16-14 Halftime Margin; Huskers Powerless in Final Period.

FIRST CONFERENCE LOSS FOR CORNHUSKERS

Allen Team Now Enjoys Undisputed Top Post in Big Six Ratings; Ebling Shows Mates to Victory With 19 Points; Whitaker Leads Scarlet.

In a heartbreaking second half letdown, almost powerless against Forrest Allen's mighty Kansas Jayhawks, Nebraska's basketball hope flickered and fluttered out of the Big Six conference leadership Monday night at Lawrence. The 45-23 defeat tossed the Huskers into second place with a mark of two victories and one loss, and gave the undefeated Jayhawks an almost unchallenged clinch on the conference crown.

Hanging to the tail end of a 16-14 count at the breathing spell, the Brownemen were unable to make the last-period comeback which pulled them through to a 40-33 decision over Oklahoma Friday night. Evidently the Scarlet big berthas had done all their blasting at Norman, for Phog Allen's pupils—the ones who Allen said didn't even know the score about basketball—compared to Coach Browne's—outscored them three to one in the last frame.

Huskies "Off."
The Three Musketeers who carried the Nebraska team onto a victory crest of three straight wins over Missouri, Wyoming, and Oklahoma were as ineffective alongside their usual showmen as Charlie Retzlaff was aggressive in his minute and a half with Joe Louis. Bob Parsons went scoreless from the field for the first time this season, George Wahlquist brought in only five points and Hank Whitaker quit with seven.

In their characteristic racetrack start, Nebraska surged down the straightaway in the first ten minutes into an 11-2 lead. Hank Whitaker started the drive with a field goal in the first two minutes and added two more and a free toss before the mid-period—his only points in the game. Kansas couldn't get back to protect their goal in that first spurge of power, but Kappelman, Allen, and Ebling finally found the goal to take a 12-11 advantage.

Huskies Trail at Half.
Bob Parsons flipped in a gratis shot in the last minute to tie it up. But Kappelman's basket evened up a pair of free losses for the Huskers just before the bell, and Nebraska left the floor on the short end.

The Huskers didn't go about remedying that situation in the final period as they did against Oklahoma two evenings before. The last canto started slowly. Kansas retaining possession of the ball, and the Scarlet never threatened to raise their colors from the dust.

Definitely raised to the position of leading contender for the titular garlands, the second period depression came as a regretful depression to Cornhusker fans who had thrilled to the consistent wild-fire attack of Coach Browne's pupils in the last three games. And with Dr. Allen's pupils in the lead firmly on the top rung of the ladder with four straight victories, it's going to be a long, long way back to the heights.

"They Don't Come Back."
But while the three-alarm scoring conflagration which had the Sooners gasping for breath under the smoke of trick passes and dizzy floor play was smouldering into ashes, the Kansans went out and did things in a big way.

After barely keeping in front during the first half, the Jays pecked away at the hoop before the final gun till they had pushed in 27 points to Nebraska's 9. And while Coach Browne's usually bull's-eye marksmen were taking a vacation, Ray Ebling, Kansas forward, dropped in 19 points with 8 fielders, and 3 free throws for high honors in the game and first place in the conference computations.

Ebling Has an Evil Eye.
Building up a 34-20 lead with 8 minutes left in the game, the conference leaders, who give promise of treading the Big Six trails this season with very, very few setbacks, sent Ebling out to ice the game.

Ebling went to work immediately. And how he worked! Slipping in for an under the basket shot, he was fouled by Bob Parsons and raised the count to 3-in-one. The Huskers protested, and Ebling, showing no consideration for the downtrodden, unconcernedly slipped in his fourth point on the technical.

Kansas Stalls.
With the reckoning 38-20, Harv Widman flipped a fast breaking pass to Wahlquist for a belated basket, but Ebling retaliated immediately with a one hand toss that brought it to 40-22.

From there on out, it was all Kansas. The Jays played keep-away among themselves in the middle of the court, and when the Huskers went out after the ball (Continued on Page 4).

University swimmers pulled down a first, second and a third in the Midwest A. A. U. tank meet held in Iowa City, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17 and 18.

Burt Amgwert, freshman university student swimming under the colors of the Lincoln Y. M. C. A., won the 100 yard free-style event, defeating a fast field, including Adolph Jacobsmeyer, defending champion. His time was 56.9. Glyndon Lynde, crack Nebraska varsity swimmer and a senior from Hartington, came in a close second to Amgwert in this race.

Orvil Zinn, freshman University tankster, placed third in the 220 yard breast-stroke splash. He was also on the 300 yard medley relay team which came in second. He swam with the Beatrice Y. M. C. A. team. Pete Hagelin, varsity swimmer who was scheduled to swim the back stroke in the meet, didn't compete because of an attack of pleurisy.

Iowa university successfully defended its title in this meet. It piled up 57 points in the ten events; Iowa state college was second with 17; Beatrice Y. M. C. A. scored 12 points and Omaha Tech. A. C., 10. Amgwert and Dick Fleig, Iowa State college diver, were the only candidates besides Hawkeyes to win championships.

Three new marks were posted in this meet. Dick Westerfield, Iowa U. star, established a new mark in the 150 yard backstroke. Iowa's medley relay team lowered the meet record. Allen, university of Iowa freshman, set a record in the breast stroke.
