BROWNEMEN PILE UP EARLY LEAD TO BEAT K-AGS 40-32

Whitaker Grabs 11 Points In First Period Scoring Spree That Brings Win

LEAD 21-6 AT HALF

Late K-State Rally Almost Ties Score; Groves Leads Parade of Wildcat Team

Nebraska's Cornhuskers awakened with a start from a lethargic attack of the doldrums Monday night to find Kansas State's Wildcats pushing them furiously. Like a tornado swinging into full blast, the Huskers bombarded the net for a 40 to 32 victory to strengthen their hold on second place in the Big Six conference.

Nebraska blazzed thru the first half on strength of quick breaking offense to hold a 21 to 6 half time margin.

The Wildcats, however, came back strong in the last period to at one time cut the Husker advantage of 28 to 25. The Brownemen retaliated with the a three minute spurt that enabled them to lead 40 to 32 when the final gun sounded. The dimunitive Hank Whitaker, senior forward, lead the Brownemen with a total of eleven points, five buckets from the field and a free throw.

Nebraska offense was too swift for Kansas State to solve during the opening minutes of play and the Cornhuskers took every advantage of their speed and dazzling passing attack to cross the Kansans up. With Whitaker nabbing shots from just within the foul line and under the basket with amazing regularity, the Brownemen were never in trouble.

Their flash and fire, however, seemed drawn with the start of the center canto. K-State took advantage of this temporary lull to pot shot from the floor with big Ed Groves, center, leading the way. He was ably assisted by teammates who seemed endowed with all the vigor formerly possessed by Nebraska. They hit the hoop steadily, keeping possession of the ball and playing away from the rangy Nebraska defense until they had drawn the count to 28-25. At that time the Huskers rallied with Forwards Whitaker and Wahlquist in the starring role and banged thru for victory.

Husker superiority demonstrated itself from the foul line as the two teams were separated by only one basket in the number of shots from the field. The Brownemen adeptness at the foul line was their real advantage.

LAWRENCE SPEAKS ON 'COOPERATIVES' FOR COUNCIL MEET

Marketing Extension Agent Speaks at YWCA Vespers On Agricultural Campus.

"Co-operatives" will be the topic of a talk by James L. Lawrence, extension agent in marketing at agricultural college, at a meeting of the Council of Religious Welfare to be held Wednesday noon, Feb. 12, at the Grand hotel. Lawrence will also speak at the Y. W. C. A. Vespers Tuesday at 12:20 o'clock in the Home Ec parlors on the same topic.

Both lectures are in preparation for the visit of Toyokiko Gagawa of Japan, world authority on the co-operative economic movement, who will lecture at Lincoln Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14 and 15 as a part of a nation wide speaking tour.

The Council of Religious Welfare holds its regular monthly meeting of faculty, student and religious workers' groups. Miss Grace Spacht, president of the council, will preside.

At the Vesper service, Caroline Johnson will lead devotionals.

University Men Adopt Informal Evening Collar

Having long led the fashion parade in evening clothes, university men are now stepping to the front in advocating the use of the white laundered collar. Because these men, in the course of broadening their education, could scarcely overlook the importance of the fitness of things they are now favoring the use of laundered collars on the proper occasions. Fortunately, they are not carrying this practice to the extreme, as was done in early 1900 when the collars worn then appeared to be designs of the Spanish inquisition.

Male students of the universities further concede that clothes suitable for on campus activities are unsuitable for town and week end wear. Consequently, it is scarcely possible to discern student in town from the successful business men who, presenting that well pressed look, wear the white, laundered collar.

New Candidates for Teaching Jobs Meet

All new candidates for teaching positions for the school year 1936-37 will meet with Mr. Moritz, director of teacher placement, on Tuesday, Feb. 11, in Social Science auditorium at 4 p. m. Students who have classes at this hour will be excused. This meeting is important and should be attended by all who are newly registered in the bureau.

Penny Carnival Booth Plans Due By 5 Wednesday

Plans for booths or side shows for the annual Penny Carnival to be held in Grant Memorial, Feb. 22, sponsored by the Coed counselors, are to be submitted at Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith hall by 5 o'clock Wednesday, Elizabeth Moomaw, president of the counselors' board, reminded organized women's groups on the campus.

The idea of allowing the different organizations to submit plans for the carnival entertainment is a new one, being initiated this year by the board. Previously the Coed counselors have taken complete charge of the festivity.

"Though this is the first time the idea has ever been tried here, I feel that it will provide a more interesting and diversified entertainment," Miss Moomaw stated. "The support and enthusiasm which was shown by the group presidents at the meeting Feb. 6 ensures the co-operation of the women on the campus." Miss Moomaw also stated that the plan had been tried on other campuses with acclaimed success.

The plans submitted will be judged by a group from the Coed counsellor board, who will select the ones showing the most variety and originality for presentation at the annual carnival.

LOW PRICES MADE FOR SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY

Students May Buy Tickets To 'Midsummer Night's Dream' With Reduction.

As the result of an arrangement brought about through the efforts of the dramatic arts department of the university, students may be admitted to the Varsity theater to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the reduced prices of 40 cents for matinees and 55 cents for the evening showings on Feb. 10, 11, 12, and 13.

Tickets for admission at this special price may be secured at the Daily Nebraskan office or in the Temple theater at the office of Prof. Alice Howell, head of the dramatic department.

Expressing her hope that as many persons as possible will take advantage of this opportunity, Miss Howell commented, "We hope that through this offer the production of the well known Shakespearean play may be open to all students on the campus, since it is undoubtedly a worthwhile presentation." According to the dramatic department head this is the first Max Reinhardt directed picture ever to be presented here.

Special tickets for university and college students entitle a student to any available seat in the theater. No seats are to be reserved on these tickets. Showings of the picture are held twice daily with a matinee beginning at 2:30 o'clock and the evening presentation taking place at 8:30 o'clock.

BAPTIST STUDENTS HEAR MISS ADELSECK

Society Leader Discusses Cooperative Movement Preparing for Kagawa.

"The Past and Present of the Co-operative Movement" was the subject discussed by Miss Lorene Adelseck, president of the Baptist student group at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening at 6:30. This meeting was the second of two given preparatory to Kagawa's coming. Kagawa's life story was given last Sunday evening by Mr. Wayland Weyand.

Robert Pinney led the worship service and the social hour at 6 o'clock was in charge of Emma Hormel and Eugene Atkins.

University class of the student group meets at 12 o'clock to 1 o'clock with Dr. C. H. Walcott as leader.

LIBRARIAN DOANE TRACES HISTORY FAMILY DESCENT

Phi Beta Kappas Learn of Present Developments in Genealogical Science.

Gilbert Doane, librarian at the university, spoke at a dinner meeting of Phi Beta Kappa last night at the Grand hotel on the subject of "Genealogy."

He sketched briefly the history of Genealogy and outlined what is being done today in the study of this historical science. There has been some interest in tracing family lines for about 3,000 years. The Hebrews have been especially interested because of the names mentioned in the Old Testament. In Roman times, many traced their descent from Aeneas. Later, the newly rich or "parvenus," anxious to establish their position in Roman society, undertook to fake pedigrees. The land records are about the only records that genealogical students can depend upon. With the rise of agriculture in England in the fifteenth century, there was another revival in genealogy. The Harolds of that time were notorious for their faked pedigrees. It was not until the nineteenth century, however, that there was any serious study made.

Mr. Doanca also outlined the characteristics of a good genealogical education, how to find sources, and how to proceed in tracing a pedigree.

This meeting of Phi Beta Kappa is the third of a series held throughout the year.

CROWDS EXPECTED AT GRID PICTURE FILMING

Athletic Department Shows Slow Motion of Husker-Panther Football Battle.

Pictures of the Rosebowl game, the Rosebowl parade, the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game, and the high spots of the Chicago-Minnesota game are expected to attract a crowd of university students to the Temple theater Wednesday night at 7:15 o'clock. The pictures have been brought to the campus by the athletic department and the Coed Counselors.

The pictures of the Rosebowl game between S.M.U. and Stanford are in slow motion, enabling the audience to see the different kinds of plays used by the two teams.

Portraying the important figures and periods in history through the use of flowers, the annual Rosebowl parade will be shown at the Temple in its original colors. Concluding the two hour program will be the pictures of the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game, and flashes from the Chicago-Minnesota conflict. Tickets for the pictures, priced at fifteen cents, may be purchased at the door Wednesday night.

Gunnarson, School's Window Shade Creator, Keeps Busy

Supply Foreman Estimates 6-12 Chairs Daily Need Repair in Campus Shop

When the first dormitories were established in the university in 1919, and the greater part of the Nebraska co-eds were safely settled in rooms therein, a great howl arose the first night of habitation. The girls demanded window shades!

With all due regard for feminine modesty on the campus, those in authority found it impossible to obtain window shades from downtown stores immediately. The girls protested; the faculty procrastinated. And then in the woodwork and keys department of the university a little man named John Gunnarson came out with the solution. He rented a sewing machine, bought a few yards of curtain material, and sat down to make the curtains himself.

He's been doing it ever since, not only for the dormitories, but for the office buildings and classrooms both on the city and agricultural campuses. Today he can sit down at his Singer sewing machine and finish a shade in less than fifteen minutes. Once he has made a curtain, it stays made. Many of the ones he cut and stitched for the first dormitory are still in use.

He has sewn from $500 to $600 worth of material into shades every year since.

Occupations Vary.

Making window shades is by no means the only occupation of this man, however. He is foreman of the department that keeps the university supplied with keys, doors, window frames, and furniture of every kind including a multitude of chairs.

Nebraska students, it seems, are unusually hard on chairs, wrecking from six to twelve a day in the course of the ordinary school year. The worst offender are students in the law building, who weekly send streams of incapacitated swivel chairs into Gunnarson's shop. Few students actually sit through a chair. Instances of chair seats having been broken are so rare as to be almost historic, but chair backs, legs and arms are ripped off daily.

A busy man—John Gunnarson.

ENGINE STUDENTS TO SELECT HEADS ENGINEERS WEEK

Students to Choose General Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer on Wednesday

Engineering students will select the general chairman and secretary-treasurer of the engineers week committee at an election held Wednesday, Feb. 12 in the M. A. building, according to an announcement by Ted Schroeder, chairman of the engineering student executive board.

Candidates for general chairman are Lester Hicks, chemical engineering and Fred Mallon, mechanical engineering; for secretary-treasurer, Kenneth French, chemical engineering and Ralph Doubt, mechanical engineering.

The general chairman holds an important position, Schroeder declared, and supervises all departmental chairmen during engineers week, which is held during the first part of May. The officer will be in charge of engineers field day, convocation, and banquet.

The secretary-treasurer supervises the finances of the affair. He is in charge of ticket sales and purchase of equipment for the departmental exhibitions.

Engineering students may vote anytime Wednesday morning or afternoon, the executive board president stated. Presentation of an identification card will permit any engineer to vote.

"These two offices are very important," Schroeder said, "and every engineer in the college should cast his ballot. Engineers week is a big event and offices of general chairman and secretary-treasurer are sought by many."

A.W.S. COED FOLLIES MARCH 27 INCLUDES SPRING STYLE SHOW

Organized Houses to Present Skits; Best Dressed Girl Appears as Final Climax.

In a letter which reached the organized women's houses Monday night the first information on this year's Coed Follies, annual production of the A. W. S. Board, was given to the campus. The follies will be given in the Temple theater the night of March 27.

The follies, which include short skits by organized women's groups, and a style show, in which well-dressed girls on the campus illustrate the new spring fashions, will reach its climax in the presentation of the Best Dressed Girl. Groups wishing to nominate candidates for the best dressed girl may file sometime before Friday, Feb. 14 at 5 o'clock at Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith hall, members of the board announced.

Skit Summaries Due.

A short summary of the skits, and the names of the nominees for styles show models are also due at this time, Jean Walt, chairman of the Coed Follies committee, stated. Each group is permitted to select six candidates for the style show. The models who will perform March 27 will be selected by a committee from the A. W. S. Board.

The skits are not to exceed ten minutes in length, and may be of any nature preferred, the letters sent out stated. Miss Walt emphasized the fact that the name of the person in charge of the act should be included with the synopsis when it is handed in.

The names of the A. W. S. Board members working on the follies committee were not disclosed, nor were the dates of the judgings of the skits and style show models. The follies, presented by women and for women is one of the highlights in women's activities each year.

SPEAKING OF FRENCH FEATURES LUNCHEON

All Students in Romance Language Department Invited Attend Affair.

First of the second semester French luncheon sessions sponsored by the French department and under the direction of Miss Katherine Townsend, instructor in the Romance language department, will be held Thursday noon at the Grand hotel. All students in the department who are interested in speaking and hearing the language spoken are cordially invited to attend. Tickets will be 25 cents.

PROM CANDIDATES

Who is eligible to file for Prom girl?

A. Any girl in the university having 89 credit hours, 27 of which were earned during the preceding semesters.

Where can they file?

A. Applications should be made at the headquarters of student activities, at John K. Selleck's office in the coliseum.

When can filings be made?

A. Applications may be filed this week, and up to Friday afternoon at 5:00.

BROKAW TO DISCUSS EARLY WORK OF 4-H

Weekly Meeting Ag Club Features Speech by Head Extension Department.

Dr. W. H. Brokaw, director of the agricultural extension division, will speak on "Early Days in 4-H Club Work" at the regular weekly meeting of the 4-H club in the Student Activities building at 7 o'clock this evening. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

Dr. Brokaw was one of the first members of the 4-H club on the agricultural college campus, and is well qualified to discuss the early work of the organization.

Members of the program committee for the evening are: Francis Major, chairman, Ardelle James, Clifford Heyne, Eunice Holdgraff, and Phyllis Burgess.

NEW BLUE PRINT CONTAINS GRADE CROSSING STORY

State Engineer Discusses Elimination Problems and Gloor Writes on Design.

With its feature article "Grade Crossing Elimination Problems in Nebraska" by H. G. Schlitt of Lincoln, the Nebraska Blue Print will be issued to engineering students the latter part of this week, Ted Schroeder, editor of the student engineering publication, has announced.

Schlitt, engineer in the Nebraska bureau of roads and irrigation, writes of the types of railway crossings which need to be eliminated in the state and methods by which this can be done. The danger of accidents at crossings, he explains, can be eliminated by rerouting of the road and constructing of overpasses.

Accompanying the article are pictures of the Fort Crook and Saddle Creek overpasses in Omaha. A discussion of their construction is presented with the pictures.

In a second article, Walter Gloor, M. E. '36, considers the "Present Day Trends in Automotive Design," writing principally on the effect and extent of streamlining. Views o fa super-streamlined car used for testing purposes by a St. Louis company accompany the article.

Dean O. J. Ferguson in the February issue writes of the "Relation of Engineering to Politics."

The regular feature articles, Engine Chatter, Enginews and Alumnews, will be presented to engineers. A full page of Sledge Jr., the humor page, will be in the issue.

The cover design is a view of a siphon spillway on the Sutherland project. The architectural department prepared the design.

COED COUNSELLORS TO ENTERTAIN FRESHMEN

Board Arranges Taffy Pull In Ellen Smith Sunday for All New Students.

New women in the university, both freshmen and upper classmen, will be entertained by the Coed Counselor Board at a taffy pull in Ellen Smith hall Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Fifty guests are expected to attend, Elizabeth Moomaw, president of the board, announced.

Special guests at the party will be Miss Elsie Ford Piper and Miss Letta Clark, Coed Counselor sponsors. Games, conducted by the sports hobby group under the direction of Ruth Fulton and Idella Iverson, will provide entertainment during the afternoon.

Working on the arrangements for the party are Jean Marvin, in charge of the initiation; Theodora Lohrman, in charge of the refreshments; and Beth Taylor, games. About twenty-five Coed Counselors will assist the board members with the serving.

VARSITY RIFLE TEAM GIVES WAY TO KANSAS

Coach McGimsey Confident Next Scores Will Be Higher; Schedule Hard.

A 1,369-1,307 defeat by Kansas State marks the first competition by the Varsity rifle team, but Sergeant McGimsey, coach, is far from discouraged. "The boys are just getting into their slings. Watch for their next scores, he stated. To demonstrate his confidence, he has arranged an ambitious schedule for the next three months.

Matches are scheduled for every week, and during the week of March 7, the team will compete for the Hearst Trophy, fire against Washington, and participate in the Kemper matches at Booneville. High points of the schedule will be the Hearst Trophy, Corps Area, Kemper, and NRA National Intercolleagiate matches. The team will also fire against Iowa, Iowa State, South Dakota, Creighton, and soldiers from Fort Crook.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS APPROVE CHANGE IN PWA APPLICATION

Last of Technicalities and Red Tape for Securing Federal Funds in Student Union Proposal Removed; Final Action Taken Soon.

Last of the technicalities and red tape surrounding university applications for PWA funds to be used in the construction of a student union building was removed with word received here Monday that government officials in Washington have authorized acceptance of an amendment to the original application.

Amendment for the union building includes the only project listed among university requests that contemplates a combination grant and loan. Plans for the building will be completed within a few days and forwarded to PWA acting state director John Latenser at Omaha.

Previous announcement of PWA officials indicated that action would be taken on the university application on Friday, Feb. 14. Fate of the long fought for student union now rests in the hands of Washington authorities. Their decision will be final. Leaders of the campus drive for the union indicate, however, that efforts will be continued despite the decision of the government agency.

According to word received indirectly from Col. H. B. Hackett, assistant administrator of PWA, "It is unlikely that consideration can be given to the application unless additional funds become available. As you know, the funds allocated to the PWA under the Emeregency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935 have now been practically exhausted."

Students Repay Part of Loan.

The possibility of additional congressional appropriations bolsters hopes of campus leaders that the union project may become an actuality as a culmination of their campaign.

The request for funds was in the form of a 45 percent grant and a 55 percent loan. The loan is to be repaid by an assessment on each student of $1 per semester as authorized by a recent action of the Board of Regents. Regents agreed to transfer the fees collected for the swimming pool construction for use in financing the new project.

Indicating student support of the union building, over $12,500 was pledged to furnish the student center. University publication, student organization, and social fraternities contributed the sum thru voluntary donations. Estimates for furnishings were not included in the PWA application.

Situation for the building has been set by the Board of Regents. The most favorable site lies just south of Teachers college and north of Ellen Smith hall on 14th st. The campus committee in charge of the orderly development of the city campus had a part in the selection of the site. Davis and Wilson, Lincoln architects, have been

New Officer to Start Work on Artillery Unit

Newest instructor in the military department is Capt. W. R. Grove, jr., who arrived only last week. As advance man for the new R. O. T. C. artillery unit, Captain Grove will spend this semester making arrangements and schedules for installation of the unit on the Ag campus. Other instructors will be detailed later.

Captain Grove has literally lived in the service all his life, for his father was an officer too. He was born in Omaha, but his father was immediately transferred. Grove graduated from West Point in 1923, and since then he has been stationed in such widely separated places as Texas, Vermont, Hawaii, and North Carolina. He comes to Nebraska from North Carolina.

This is his first experience with R. O. T. C. He expressed himself as very much interested in the training work, and anxious to get on well with military students. According to Captain Grove, the old form of "bulldozing discipline" in the army has given way to the rule of reason, and he will make every effort to apply the new rule in his work.

Captain Grove was unable to give official details of the new unit, but it is probable that motorized equipment will be used, and 75 mm. guns. Any basic student is eligible for the unit, although it is expected that the personnel will be largely composed of agricultural students.

Captain Grove and his small son are at present living in a downtown apartment, but they expect to find a home closer to the Ag college.

MRS. MOORE EXPLAINS USE PRINTS, PAINTINGS

Charm School Hobby Group To Inspect Pictures Best Adapted for Home Making

Mrs. B. E. Moore, head of the picture department of Miller and Paine's department store, will appear as guest speaker before members of the charm school hobby group at their regular meeting to be held this evening, Feb. 11, at 7 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. Pictures and their place in the home will be the subject which the speaker will discuss before the group.

Samples of prints and paintings from the speaker's home will be displayed at the meeting in order to illustrate a group of suitable pictures which may be used in the home. Included in her discussion will also be an explanation of the correct mouldings to use on pictures according to their type. A sketch of the stories represented by the pictures to be displayed will form an additional feature of the lecture on Tuesday evening.

Miss Jean Doty, program chairman of the hobby group, urging that a large attendance be present at the meeting, commented, "Anyone interested in the subject of pictures and their place in the home is cordially invited to attend the charm school meeting."

AIEE ELECTS OFFICER FOR ENGINEERS WEEK

Nomination and election of the departmental chairman for Engineers week will feature the meeting of the AIEE, electrical engineering society, Feb. 19. The more professional part of the meeting will be given to a talk and pictures on the Fort Peck Dam by George White.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the E. E. building, room 104. Members are particularly urged to attend, according to Kenneth Kratochville, society president, because of the featured elections.

MUSICIANS TO GIVE CONCERT WEDNESDAY

Emanuel Wishnow, violinist, and Earnest Harrison, pianist, will be presented in a concert Wednesday, Feb. 12, at 4 o'clock in Temple theater. The program will include several selections of Beethovan and Brahms, and is under the auspices of the university school of music.

Dr. Bengston Gets Eighth Appointment to Columbia

Dr. Nels A. Bengston, chairman of the geography department, has been appointed to teac heconomic geography this summer at Columbia university. This appointment will make Dr. Bengston's eighth consecutive summer at Columbia.

CONSTITUTION DUE TODAY FOR GROUPS TO GET RECOGNITION

Student Council Committee Meets With Considerable Success in Making Files.

Last call for submitting constitutions of campus organizations is set for Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 5 o'clock at the managing editor's desk of the Daily Nebraskan, a deadline which must be met, according to the student council, if groups wish to be recognized in order to be regulated and advised by the governing body.

Honorary, professional, and departmental organizations are excluded from the demand to hand in charters, but are asked to file a statement of their sponsors, officers, time and place of meeting, and whether or not they have an operative constitution. Social and non-honorary groups are required to submit complete charters, or provide a logical excuse as to why one is not available.

"Considerable progress has been made in the drive to complete the council's files, but we are hoping to have a constitution of every campus organization by today," stated Eleanor Clizbe, chairman of the organization committee.

This requirement also applies to material changes in charters of groups that have an old constitution on file.

Members of the organization committee are Elizabeth Bushee, Bill Newcomer, and Miss Clizbe.
