

LAST DETAILS IN READINESS, SAYS PROM CHAIRMAN

Committee Announces List Of Chaperons, Guests For Affair.

With Joe Venuti, and his 18 piece N. B. C. band signed to play for the Junior-Senior Prom, and the campus guessing again as to who will fill the post of Prom Girl, Bill Marsh, co-chairman of the last year's important social event of the year announced Monday that plans are in high gear, and members busily completing arrangements for the dance March 6. Chaperons were also announced Monday by Jeanne Palmer and Clyde White, co-chairmen of this committee.

Governor and Mrs. R. L. Cochran and Mayor and Mrs. C. W. Bryan will be among the guests of honor. Others included on this list are: Dean and Mrs. W. W. Burr, Dean and Mrs. E. Lefkowsky, Dean and Mrs. H. H. Foster, Dean and Mrs. F. E. Hendzik, Miss Amanda Heppner, Miss Elsie Ford Pieper, and Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson.

Others who have accepted invitations to be guests of honor are: Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Selleck, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsay, Colonel and Mrs. W. H. Oury, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kitpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Seaton, Miss Florence McGehee, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Walton, Major and Mrs. W. T. Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Forde, Professor and Mrs. J. P. Penning, Professor and Mrs. L. W. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. D. X. Bible, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Quick, Professor and Mrs. N. E. Bengtson, and Dr. G. E. Condra.

House mothers of members of the Prom committee who will be present as guests of honor are: Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Alpha Chi Omega; Mrs. Jessie Angis, Alpha Omicron Phi; Mrs. Schmitt, Chi Phi; Mrs. A. S. Halley, Chi Omega; Mrs. Sarah A. Nelson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mrs. Margaret Rea, Phi Mu; Mrs. W. A. Brown, Acacia; Mrs. Pierce, Beta Theta Pi; Mrs. Melsana Daniels, Chi Phi; Mrs. Caroline Phillips.

(Continued on Page 4).

Miss Barbour Relates Oddities Of University in 'Gay '90' Days

Woman Instructor With Longest Record of Service In School Continues to Enjoy Work With Museum's Prehistoric Fossils.

With a record of 44 years of service to the university, Miss Carrie Adeline Barbour, assistant curator of the museum and assistant professor of paleontology, continues her work of arranging fossils, mending bones and molding plaster of paris in the basement of Morrill Hall.

She has been connected with the university longer than any other woman, as she remarked, "I grew up with it."

When she first came to Lincoln from her home in Ohio, the Nebraska football team was still wearing moustaches and sideburns, as was the larger part of the university faculty, and the coeds were "Nellies" and "Lucies" and "Kates." A picket fence surrounded the campus to keep neighboring cows out, and at night when the youthful museum staff wished to enter the building for the purpose of working late, it had to tuck up its skirts and suspend its modesty while it scrambled over the high gate.

Miss Barbour spends her days in the workshop in Morrill Hall, putting together the fossils and remains of fossils that the museum buys. A slender white-haired woman, she moves about the prehistoric bric-a-brac incidental to her work with composure.

Over the door of her workroom is hung an enormous American flag, flanked on one side by two pair of moose horns and on the other by a pair of moose horns and on the

(Continued on Page 2).

STATE ENGINEER SPEAKS TONIGHT AT CONVOCATION

A. C. Tilley Explains Work in Republican Valley Following Flood.

Speaking on "Reconstruction of the Republican Valley," A. C. Tilley, state engineer, will appear before engineering students at a general engineering convocation, 7:30 o'clock this evening in the social science auditorium.

The student executive board is in charge of the program. Tilley, who was active in reconstruction work following the disastrous flood of last spring, will tell of the practices and methods the engineers used in repair.

All engineering students are asked to be present at the convocation. Ted Schroeder, chairman of the executive board, stated: "The actual experiences of engineers will be presented to students in an interesting and educational manner."

This is the first convocation to be held during the second semester. More will probably be scheduled later on in the year.

Another feature of the meeting will be the presentation of Sigma Tau's annual freshman award to the freshman student of last year who received the highest scholastic rating. Verne Hedge, Lincoln, national president of the honorary engineering fraternity, will be in charge of the presentation.

John Parker, chemical engineering, won the award last year.

MODELS TRY OUT FOR COED FOLLIES PARTS

140 Nominees of Organized Houses, Sororities Are Candidates.

Nominees from sororities and organized women's houses, numbering about 140, tried out Sunday to be models in the Coed Follies revue, March 27, according to Jean Wait, chairman of the style show. Of this number 45 women will be chosen to be in the program, representing their campus group.

The candidates will be judged on their appearance on the campus during the next week or two. "The appropriateness and the neatness of dress, as well as the taste displayed, will be the main criteria on which we will base our choice," stated Miss Wait. The candidates will be seen in the style show modeling their own versions of what the well dressed girl will wear this spring.

Of the eighteen girls who have been nominated as candidates for Best Dressed Girl, the winner will be presented at a climax to the annual spring show, sponsored by A. W. S. board. According to board members, a novel presentation is being planned.

The eighteen nominees include the following: Henrietta York, candidate of Alpha Chi Omega; Frances Wilson, Alpha Delta Theta; Ruth Rutledge, Alpha Phi; Marie Seybolt, Alpha Xi Delta; Mary Flisar, Chi Omega and Phyllis Cook, Delta Delta Delta.

Virginia Hunt is the nominee of Delta Gamma; Sara Anne Kauffman, Delta Zeta; Theresa Stava, Gamma Phi Beta; Elinor Farrell, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mary Hill, Kappa Delta; Margaret Straub, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Marion Edgren, Pi Beta Phi; Grace Himerada, Phi Mu; Clementine Nelson, Raymond H. Hall; Harriet Byron, Sigma Delta Tau; Elizabeth Orth, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Jane Holland, Barb A. W. S. League.

DENVER ALUMS MEET FOR CELEBRATION.

125 Honor Birthday University; Introduce New Husker Song

Charter Day was celebrated in Denver Thursday, Feb. 27 by 125 alumni of the university who gathered at the Brown Palace hotel. Chancellor E. A. Burnett and Mrs. Burnett were guests of honor.

William T. Wolington, class of '11, a prominent Denver attorney, was selected as president of the Denver association for the ensuing year, to succeed Asa K. Hepperly, class of '22.

One of the highlights of the entertainment was the premiere of a new Cornhusker football fight song composed by E. F. Tighe, a Denver member. The snappy fighting march song will be introduced on the campus this spring by the Denver association.

CAMPUS STUDIO TUESDAY, Senior Mechanical Engineers, noon. WEDNESDAY, Sigma Delta Chi, noon.

Players Rise to New Heights In Thrilling 'Petrified Forest'

Large Audience Grooms First Showing of Sherwood's Broadway Sensation; View Flood of Comedy, Melodrama, Breath-Taking Suspense.

Amid a flood of melodrama, comedy and breath taking suspense, the University Players rose to new heights of glory Monday night as they opened with Robert Sherwood's most recent Broadway sensation, "The Petrified Forest." With a script that elevated the already immortal Leslie Howard to a new high on Broadway, a cast that reads like all-star week among University Players, and settings that so perfectly portray the native western lunch room that one can almost feel the heat of the Arizona desert, the final curtain left the audience that greeted the opening in awe-inspired silence.

If you can imagine an ambitious all-American halfback, a one-time author whose sense of futility has doomed him to failure, and a band of fearless desperadoes all gathered into one small country barbecue stand awaiting the arrival of the police and a subsequent murderous gun battle, and if you can imagine a romance at the point of gangsters' guns then you might be capable of anticipating but a few of the thrills afforded as the plot unfolds.

Road House Scene. In the first act the play opens with an entertaining and amusing scene in the country roadhouse before the play begins.

Only 27 More Copies of Year Book for Sale. Twenty-seven copies of the 1936 yearbook remained unsold Monday, according to Business Manager Gene Pester, warning students the supply would not last long.

Students wishing to buy yearbooks must get one of the 27. Pester stated, "No more will be printed, since the order to the printer has been completed and sent in." Four dollars is the price per copy, or $4.25 by installments.

INITIAL SHOWING OF ART EXHIBIT DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Director of Kansas City Art Gallery to Present First Talk of Series Sunday.

With a record attendance of over 350 enthusiasts, the Nebraska Art association inaugurated its forty-sixth annual exhibition Sunday afternoon in Morrill hall. This year's splendid collection of canvases by contemporary artists heretofore exhibited only in the east make it one of the finest displays assembled here in many years.

The exhibition is open to university students upon presentation of their identification cards. The galleries, located on the second and third floors of Morrill hall, will be open daily from 9 to 5 and on Sundays from 2 to 5 until the exhibition closes on March 31.

The first of a series of Gallery Talks will be presented by Paul Gardner, director of the William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art in Kansas City, on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in Gallery A. Speakers have been invited for each Sunday afternoon during the exhibit.

"This year's collection presents an unusual opportunity to university students as it contains many famous pictures such as Grant Wood's 'Death on Ridge Road,' which has been reproduced in Fortune and other periodicals," remarked Mabel Langdon, curator of the department of fine arts.

Walker Collection. This collection of paintings by contemporary American painters was assembled by Maynard Walker of the Walker galleries of New York City. Works by Grant Wood, Thomas Benton, John Stuart Curry, Lauren Ford, Joe Jones, David McCosh, Georgina Klitgaard, Sinka Simkowitz, Paul Sample and others who are leaders in the field are shown.

The collection sent by the Walker galleries is augmented by the paintings of sixteen Lincoln or former Lincoln artists, including Prof. Dwight Kirsch of the university, Mrs. A. R. Edmiston, Gladys Dana, Kady Faulkner, Morris Gordon, Clara B. Leland, Gladys Lux, Louise E. Munday, Albert L. Pugsley, Linus Burr Smith, Nelle Spielman, John F. Stenvall, Aaron Douglas, Leonard Thiessen, Raymond H. Williams, and William L. Youngkin.

HYDROLOGIST LEAVES SOON FOR NEW MEXICO

Herbert Waite Makes Water Investigations In Rio Grande Valley

Herbert Waite, hydrologist of the conservation and survey division, will soon leave to take up work on water investigations in the Rio Grande valley of New Mexico. He has been connected with state work for about three years.

For the past two years he has been with the ground-water division in Kansas, Texas, and New Mexico. Mr. Waite is a son of the Late Professor Waite of the department of bacteriology.

Successful Job-Hunters Need Courteous, Versatile Traits

Wisconsin Man Outlines Results of Vocational Guidance Study.

Job-hunting young men and women of the future will be more successful in their quest if they are courteous and versatile rather than ruthless and single-track minded, according to A. H. Edgerton, professor of guidance and director of vocational guidance at the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Edgerton bases his prediction on the result of an exhaustive nationwide occupational trend study involving over 18,000 professional positions. He made a report on the study at a general session of the National Vocational guidance association meeting recently in St. Louis.

According to Professor Edgerton, it has been found, among other things, that the individual who will be in demand is one who can get along successfully with other persons and control his emotions. Mere knowledge and skill will no longer suffice. Employers (Continued on Page 3).

BILL STRONG, DON BOEHM GET LEADS IN KOSMET SHOW

Two Sophomores Head Cast 'Southern Exposure' Musical.

Headed by two sophomores, Don Boehm of Grand Island and Bill Strong of Great Bend, Kas., the cast for "Southern Exposure," has been selected by Joe Iverson and

CAST OF PRINCIPALS. Don Boehm... Larry Bill Strong... Carolyn Paschal Stone... Louise Vance Leininger... Matilda Thornydyke... Bill Marsh... Tony Sid Baker... Jeppy Jacques Shoemaker... Amos B. Kirby... Bill Flax... Chloe Irving Hill... Col. Wintergreen Bob Martz... Sheriff

Kosmet Klub members, it was announced Monday by Robert Pierce, Klub president. The spring musical comedy with an all-male cast will be presented in the Temple theater April 21 to 25.

Boehm will take the part of Larry, the dashing hero, and Strong will don high heels and lipstick and act as Carolyn, the attractive heroine.

Supporting cast will include such outstanding feminine portrayals as Vance Leininger '37, Fullerton, who will enact the role of Matilda Thornydyke, a rich aunt; Bill Marsh '37, Fremont who will be Tonia, a Negro maid; Paschal Stone, '38 from North Platte, will play the part of Louise, the subtitle; and Bill Flax, '36 from Omaha, who will blacken up for the part of Choe, a Negro mammy.

Other members of the show's company are: Sid Baker '37, Lincoln, who will be Jeppy, a Negro stable manager; Jacques Shoemaker, '36 from Omaha, who will act as Amos B. Kirby, a small time gambler with big time ideas; Irving Hill, '36 from Lincoln, who will uphold the lengthy title of

(Continued on Page 2).

OFFER STUDENT ONE YEAR'S SCHOLARSHIP

Presbyterian Graduates Are Eligible for Chicago College Gift.

For graduate study in the Presbyterian College of Christian Education in Chicago, the Anna Walker Moore scholarship, valued at $600, is being offered to a student in the university. The scholarship covers tuition, fees, lodging, board, books and incidental expenses for the full academic year.

This scholarship is awarded annually to the candidate most fully qualified as determined by the faculty of the Presbyterian College of Christian Education on the basis of credentials submitted. Seniors must, in order to be eligible, rate in the upper 25% of the entire student body, be physically sound, of Christian character, and a member of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. He must agree to pursue two year course leading to the Master of Arts degree.

Courses are offered in the specialization of the Bible, Religious Education, and Church Social Service. The candidate may be recommended by the dean of the college or university which he attends.

All students, both men and women, who are interested, should apply with Rev. R. Henry, in charge of the University of Nebraska Presbyterian manse.

J. D. CLARK SPEAKS FOR OMAHA FORUM

Stoke and Sellers Bombard Colleague With Queries Constitution.

Three university professors took active part in a two-hour discussion on the United States constitution at the Town Hall forum of the Colonial Dames society at the Joslyn Memorial in Omaha Sunday night.

Dr. John D. Clark, professor of economics, was the principal speaker. His discussion on the Constitution and on the Supreme Court drew a barrage of questions from Profs. Harold W. Stoke and James Lee Sellers, both members of the faculty, and from Victor E. Smith, banker and former university student.

Dr. Stoke presented a question and an argument along lines of legislation to require a seven to two vote of the supreme court to invalidate acts of congress.

Dr. Clark predicted the constitution will not be an issue in the 1936 campaign "because neither President Roosevelt nor the democratic party will urge changes in the document nor in powers of the supreme court."

Around and About

By Sarah Louise Meyer.

An apology is always a good way to start out, and so we go on bended knee before the Thetas for having chronicled in our last column that it was one of their girls who so shamelessly asked Orville Zinn to kiss her. It was a Delta Gamma, we find.

We couldn't bring ourself to a whole hearty sourness at the world when the bus was late, as usual, this morning. There were too many thrice wonderfully wonderful iced puddles upon which to slide, too many bird notes to give us pause (the muted warblings of the sparrow and cat bird), too many dog fights to discourage. So we waxed philosophical. (Oh you did, eh?)

We are no longer perturbed by Peterson peers over Oxford spectacles, made a despair of health by the fascinating Carpenter painter, inspired to deepest gloom by the Gallatly "Polly Pan" grin. We no longer wonder what manifestation of genius is Irving Hill's plough-horse perambulation, whence the rolling swagger of Lewis Cass, or what significance the vacuous stare of Eugene Pester. (It's really ennu, dearie.)

But we were a trifle tacked back when two of the sisters calmly announced that between them would be given unto the world a live, red-blooded football team. Each had the original private ambition for five sons (eleven men to a football team in this league, Momma), but claimed that with the arrival of a girl all efforts toward their goal would cease. The risk of additional female children would be too great.

It takes a woman, we always said, to properly evaluate femininity.

Allow us to join the ranks of those who retail stories about Gertrude Stein. During the lean years of her struggling with various things, including an apparently recalcitrant mind, she sent a manuscript to a friend in the country. The friend, to market it, cut it up in portions and started it on the rounds of the publishing houses. Later, when a reputation of sorts had overtaken Miss Stein, the friend sent the manuscript around again. It was accepted, printed, and thousands of copies sold. It was not until several years later that the friend discovered that she had forgotten to include with the manuscript a quite considerable portion of the original. It was never missed by anyone—even the author.

Robert Louis Stevenson, a neat marriage: "A certain sort of talent is almost indispensable for people who would spend years (Continued on Page 4).

Organizations Start Intramural Ping Pong

Girls will start play of the first round in the intramural ping pong tourney, this afternoon. Forty doubles teams and forty-five singles players have indicated their intention to compete.

The schedule for play has been posted on the bulletin board in the girls' gym and all first round games must be played by Wednesday, March 11. After each game, the participants are requested to post their scores in Miss Shelby's office, room 200, of the girls' gym.

STYLE SHOW FEATURES CHARM SCHOOL TO-NITE

Coeds Model Spring Modes At Hovland Swanson's Revue.

Displaying spring styles in sports clothes, suits, coats and formal, a style show will be presented as the main feature of the charm school hobby group meeting to be held this evening, Mar. 3 at 6:45 o'clock on the first floor of Hovland-Swanson's clothing store.

Models chosen from the membership of charm school which is sponsored by the Coed Counselors, will wear the various costumes in the review. The group includes: Jane Temple, Claudine Burr, Mary Flesler, Virginia Fleetwood, Elizabeth Broadly, Marjorie Bannister, and Frances Boldman.

A detailed description, in charge of Miss Genevieve Hopkins, representative of the Lincoln store, will be given for each costume as the models appear in the review. Accessories suitable for numerous types of spring outfits will also be shown in the display. Special emphasis will be placed on the showing of the newest formal wear, with the approach of the spring formal season.

Anyone interested in seeing what the latest spring modes will be, is invited to attend the meeting this evening, according to Jean Doty, program chairman of charm school. "We would like to have a large number present at our meeting this evening for it is one which will undoubtedly be of interest to everyone. We wish to emphasize, however, that it is necessary to be present at 6:45, since the meeting will begin promptly," Miss Doty stated.

A.S.C.E.'S STUDY USE, CONSTRUCTION X-RAY

Inspection Tour of Lincoln General Hospital Part of Investigation.

Composition and use of X-Ray machines followed by an inspection tour of the Lincoln General hospital will be included in the next American Institute of Electrical Engineering lecture. Charles Minniek will outline the discovery of X-Rays, their generation, properties and types of tubes, and the advancement of tube designs.

Application of X-Rays for dental and medical uses, for commercial and industrial uses, and for general fluoroscopy will be the subjects discussed.

Preceding the tour, the hospital X-Ray unit, including its construction and operation, will be described. The detailed workings of a tube will be explained at the hospital.

All engineering and pre-medical students are welcome to attend the lecture scheduled for Wednesday, March 4, at 7:30 in Brace laboratory, room 119.

MARTIN ADDRESSES ECONOMICA GROUP

Members of Economica club heard an address Thursday evening at the Temple on the social security act, which was given by Prof. O. R. Martin of the college of business administration

'STATE OF NATION' IS LIBBY'S SUBJECT AT THURSDAY LUNCHEON

Reservations Can Be Made At University Y.M. or Y.W. Office.

Reservations to hear Dr. Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the national council for the prevention of war, speak on the subject of "The State of Nations," at the luncheon forum to be held at 12 o'clock in the Grand hotel on Thursday, March 5, can be made up to Wednesday, March 4 with the university Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A., according to C. D. Hays, executive secretary of the university Y. M.

Dr. Libby, better known as the upholder of peace, and an authority on pacifist efforts in Washington, all parts of America and in Europe, is scheduled to be the principal speaker of a one day International Affairs Institute sponsored by the Lincoln Peace Council on Thursday.

The two meetings delegated especially to students, but also open to the public, will be held at the luncheon forum and a meeting from 4 to 5:30 in the Y. M. rooms of the Temple building on Thursday.

In the evening at 7:30 Dr. Libby will speak on "Can America Remain Neutral," at the First Presbyterian church, 17th and F sts.

Dr. Libby is a graduate of Bowdoin college and of Andover Theological seminary, a former Congregational pastor and for eight years member of the faculty of Phillips Exeter Academy.

M. E. STUDENTS WRITE BEST CONTEST PAPERS

Jensen, Heiser to Represent Nebraska at District Convention.

Peter Jensen and George Heiser, mechanical engineering seniors, will represent Nebraska at the student technical paper writing contest at the district convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Kansas City, Mar. 27 and 28. Their papers were judged the best presented before a faculty committee of Prof. W. L. DeBaufre and Dean O. J. Ferguson.

Jensen wrote on "Freon, the Refrigerant and Its Compression" and Heiser on the "High Compression Automotive Head." Jensen tells of the new type refrigerant brought into use the past three years in both commercial and household refrigerating units. He explains the principles of its compression and the advantages of its use. Heiser in his paper points out the advantages in using the high compression head in automotive construction. He relates how it has revolutionized the industry with respect to economy and power.

The two men will compete for a $50 prize award, which last year was won by Ed Beachler, a Nebraska student. The technical paper contest is a feature of the two-day student engineering convocation.

DR. ANDREWS TALKS ON 'THYROID GLAND'

"The Thyroid Gland" is the subject of Dr. Clayton Andrews' address scheduled for the next Nu Med banquet.

The banquet is scheduled for Wednesday, March 4, at the Annex Cafe. All medical students are invited to attend.

WELFARE COUNCIL TO MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Group C of the Council of Religious Welfare will meet Wednesday from 5 to 6 in room 154 in the Temple building. The council is made up of representatives of each religious denomination in Lincoln and meets monthly. Miss Thelma Wolfe is president.