

HUSKER MENTOR GIVES GRID MEN FIRST WORKOUT

Seventy Sent Through Drills, Calisthenics, Slight Scrimmage.

By the more than faint aroma of liniment and balm, it was a simple matter to tell that D. X. Bible really has the boys on the run. Wednesday night for the first time the spring football aspirants took their efforts out on the sod of Memorial stadium. In that first night, the little man with the drawl compressed calisthenics, fundamental drills, and slight scrimmage into the limited program.

The many were floundering on stiff and swollen joints, most of the seventy turned out with full enthusiasm for another dose of the same treatment Thursday. Bible is now trying to round out two complete elevens which are near equal in grid ability. Last night he had tentatively placed on the first eleven Richardson and Yelkins; ends; Ellis and Mehring, tackles; Mehring and McGinnis, guards; and English, center. Plus a backfield housing Howell, Douglas, Plock and Andrews, backs. Two bespangled regulars from last year's ball totting quartet were absent from sessions because of track duties. The two were Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell who are doing magnanimous things with the shot put and sprintway, respectively.

Second Combination.
On the second combination were Shindo and Mercer, ends; Elliott and Schwartzkopf, tackles; Brock and Seeman, guards, and Brock center; with Ball, Phelps, Andreassen and Morris carrying the mail. A third class was formed as opposition. Noteworthy on this team were Bob Ramey, center; Bill Callahan, back; and Bob Mills, guard.

Plays as a whole were working smoothly, however, passing was ragged with most of the spirals falling onto the bosom of mother earth rather than into the arms of the intended receivers. Playing the passing roles were principally Johnny Howell, Bill Anderson, Thurston Phelps, Harris Andrews and Bill Callahan. Anderson, only a sophomore, shone about as much as anyone for this early date, giving his heaves that extra little zip that sent them surely to their mark.

Finds Speed, Power.
The roster lists only about seventy players to date. Bible will have little trouble finding either power or speed. This year's squad appears to outweigh any previous ones by a goodly poundage. Most of the promisory men come from the ranks of the sophomores.

Shining as a ball lugger was Ron Douglas, who has been little by little establishing himself as pedestal-worthy, and looked about as glossy as anyone in togs. His speed was of the mid season brand as was his cleverness on his feet. Marvin Plock was stellar so far as speed goes, although the little fellow's weight may hamper him later.

Virgil Yelkin, who has returned after a year's layoff, appeared to be well conscious of the score and set in concrete in one of the end positions. His pass catching ability is more than mediocre and can scurry out after them in less time than it takes to mobilize a salvation army band. Yelkin weighs in at 187.

Shifts in Positions.
Many shifts have been made in positions. Bob Mills, former Lincoln high flankman, has been moved to a guard position, which he has upheld well, but does not enjoy nearly so well as the outside spot. Seeman, also an end, from

BOWLING POPULAR WITH UNIVERSITY COEDS

With three regular classes averaging forty girls to a group, bowling has become a popular as well as a regular part of the athletic activity of university coeds. In group one are Catherine Huwaldt, Grand Island, left; and Sally Springer, Park Ridge, Ill., right. Approaching the foul line in the rear are Mary Vogel, Omaha; Corrine Smith, Lexington; Helen McLaughlin, Lincoln; Gertrude Grosvenor, Aurora; Betty Williams, North Platte; Claudine Burr, Lincoln; and Maxine Durand, Morrill. In photo No. 2 Ramona Frost, Lincoln, and Martha Martin, Lincoln, are all set for a strike (they hope) while in the third group are Jeanette LeMaster, North Platte; Corinne Smith, Lexington; Betty Clizbe, Valentine; Gertrude Grosvenor, Aurora, and Claudine Burr, Lincoln, waiting their turn. All these girls are in Miss Claudia Moore's class.

NEBRASKA TANK MEN READY TO DOWN CYCLONES

Omaha Central has suffered the same shift as Mills, but he, more than the former Link, has the attributes of a guard.
Only a half dozen uniforms were checked out Thursday. These went to Frank Bennett, Dale Anderson, George Latham, Bob Smith, Paul Monson, and Kenneth Worland.
Coach Bible stated that his program was two-fold. First, he wants to re-immerse the Huskers who have weathered at least one season, and second, he wants to see what the new men have to offer the Scarlet team.
"I never want it said," commented Bible, "that a man ever came out for spring drill at Nebraska and did not get a chance at some action."

Jacobson, Les Pankonin, Harwin Dawson, Fred Matteson and others should counter-balance the absence of high jumpers.
Sam Francis, varsity fullback and lone varsity shotputter, has a good mark at which to shoot. Hugh Rhea's fifty foot toss of the conference record. When Sam is hitting his full stride in style, form and "push," he can near Rhea's mark, and that's what he will be shotputting for Saturday.
Lloyd Cardwell, rangy varsity halfback, hurdler, sprinter and broad jumper, is one of Coach Schulte's greatest hopes. "Cardy" made sixteen points against Kansas State last week, scoring in the high hurdles, low hurdles, 40 yard sprint and broad jump.
Harold Speed Jacobson, who unofficially once tied the world's record in the 60 yard sprint in 6.1 seconds, has been looking fine the past two weeks, and is planning on setting a new conference record in the short sprint. "Jake" may run low hurdles also.
Bob Morris, Dave Rice, Chet Beaver, Wilson Andrews, Fred Matteson, Les Pankonin, Kenneth Chapman and Harwin Dawson are Husker runners who should place in all the distance runners. Sherman Cosgrove, George Galloway and Jack Dodd are the trio of pole vaulters.
Harvard engineers are developing a "frost proof" road.

A preview of the Big Six conference swimming meet will be enacted in the pool of State Gymnasium in Ames at 7:30 p. m. Friday when Iowa State College and Nebraska swimmers clash in a dual meet.
These two tank squads, rated as the class of the conference this season, have shared swimming honors in the loop for years. The Cornhuskers wrestled the title away from the Cyclones last season after the latter had held it for several years.
Nebraska is given a slight edge according to the small amount of data available. The Huskers also drubbed Carleton 57 to 17, while Iowa State could win only by 40 to 33. The Husker times were faster on the average than the Iowa State times. This is the only team that both teams have met.
Huskers Win Four.
Nebraska has won four of its five starts to date by decisive scores. In the Big Six dual meets the Huskers humbled Kansas State 60 to 24, and Kansas twice, 79 to 14, and 67 to 17. The Huskers dropped a decision to the University of Minnesota, while the Cyclones lost to Gustavus Adolphus and won from Carleton College.
Outstanding among the Nebraska entries will be the medley relay team which recently claimed a world's record in the 150 yard distance. This team will be composed of Jack Gavin, Bob Thornton and Clyndon Lynde. Gavin alternates with Pete Hagelin. Hagelin swam on the team which claimed the world's record which chopped 15 seconds off the Big Six record in the 300 yard distance.
Other leading entries of the Nebraska team will be Glyndon Lynde, free style dash man, who has bettered his own record in the 50 yard dash several times this year, Jack Gavin, Coach Minor's star backstroke, Bob Thornton, the breast stroker, and Pete Hagelin, distance man. All of these entries have yet to be beaten in Big Six competition.
Compete in Relay.
Nebraska's 400 yard free style relay team, which has bettered the Big Six record, will run into stiff competition against the speedy 400 yard Cyclone quartet. Other outstanding Iowa entries in the meet will be Dick Fleig, midwest A. A. U. diving champion; Bob Wempe, Bob Burkett and Bill Grant, all free style swimmers; Capt. Jack Fries, breast stroker, and Dick Herrick, back stroker.
The Huskers will travel to Grinnell Saturday night to challenge Grinnell college splashers. The Big Six Conference meet is to be run off next weekend, March 13 and 14, at Kansas City.
The entry list:
400 yard relay: Nebraska—Dort, Calland, Barry, Krause or Hagelin, Iowa State—Grant, Ferguson, Harris, Wempe or Herrick.
200 yard breast stroke: Nebraska—Thornton, Gibbons, Iowa State—J. Fries, Cochran.
150 yard back stroke: Nebraska—Gavin, Ludwick, Iowa State—Herrick, Ferguson.
60 yard free style: Nebraska—Lynde, Calland, Iowa State—Burkett, Grant.
440 yard free style: Nebraska—Hagelin, Krause, Iowa State—Wempe, Herrick, Ferguson.
100 yard free style: Nebraska—Lynde, Calland, Iowa State—Grant, Burkett.
Diving: Nebraska—Rimmerman, Deming, Iowa State—Fleig, Harris.
220 yard free style: Nebraska—

The Big Six indoor vault record is no distant thing for Sherman Cosgrove—not when he's topped it by two inches in competition this season. He's barking up the right tree when he sets out to do things to the present record at Columbia in the Big Six meet Saturday.
