KOSMET SECURES JUNGBLUTH BAND FOR SPRING SHOW

Musical Comedy to Present Eight Songs Written By Students.

The Beck-Jungbluth 12 piece band has been secured to play for Kosmet Klub's 1936 musical comedy, "Southern Exposure," Bill Garlow, business manager, announced yesterday. The orchestra will obtain another band to fill their Antelope park contract during the week of the play and will accompany the show on its road trip if it is made.

Approximately eight numbers are being selected from songs of student contributions. "I am particularly enthusiastic over the musical numbers this year," Jungbluth stated after looking over the pieces. "I think they are far superior to those of any previous year that I have played for the show."

Broadcast Hit.

One of the songs which is expected to prove an outstanding hit has been sent to a chain radio band and will be broadcast.

Music will be played for four appearances of the pony chorus, and will accompany a double quartet, feature of the show, a male chorus, and certain members of the cast will sing.

Tickets will be taken to workers' next week when a month's ticket campaign will start, Garlow said. All seats at the show are to be reserved, but reservations will not be made until within one week of the show, when tickets may be exchanged for seat stubs.

FELLMAN BELIEVES WAR NOT IMMINENT IN LOCARNO DISPUTE

Militarists Say Germany Unprepared; France to Act Thru League.

Explanation of the three danger zones of the world, and the tense international relationship existing at the present time provided the theme of a speech made by Dr. David Fellman before the Lincoln Council of Federated Women Tuesday.

The three situations he stated to be in an inflammable state include, the conflict in Europe, with British and Italian interests at stake; that in Germany and France, made serious with the recent reoccupation of the Rhineland, and that in the far east, with the antagonism existing between Japan and Russia.

Stresses Situation.

"Can Hitler's peace proposals be taken in good faith?" was the question raised by Fellman. Due to recent developments in Europe, the speaker stressed the Franco-German situation. Declaring that the French do not take Germans in good faith, Fellman stated, "I think the real test of Hitler's good faith was the proposal he did not make." He pointed out the fact that Hitler said nothing about the eastern frontier but left the door open there.

"Will the reoccupation of the Rhineland lead to war?" In reply the speaker declared that he believes war within a year or two is not probable unless two incidents materialize. He declared that Germany is not ready for war, in the opinion of most military experts. He also added that since the two antagonists are within "snoring distance" of each other, the reoccupation was not a surprise, despite French statements. The fact that the French intend to act thru the League of Nations, with the possibility of delay, also works against the immediate possibility of war, Dr. Fellman stated.

Pre-War Status.

S.A.M. RETAINS TITLE IN HANDBALL BY WIN FROM BETA THETA PI

Goldware Leads Victors to Successful Defense of Intramural Crown.

Sigma Alpha Mu, last year's interfraternity handball champions, retained their championship title by beating the Beta Theta Pi handball group 6 to 4 Tuesday night.

Monday night Arky Finklestein beat Jack McGuire to score the first Sigma Alpha Mu point. Tuesday afternoon the Beta doubles team of Walter Nolte and Jim Begley nosed out the Sammy doubles team of Henry Swartz and Harry Rosenstein 21-15, 21-17. This Beta win put the score 2 to 1 in their favor.

Dave Goldware, port-side handball artist for Sigma Alpha Mu, defeated George Wahlgvist, ace Beta basketball forward, to the tune of 21-12, 21-13, in the singles match Tuesday night. What Goldware lacked in stature, he made up in amazing speed and placing of his shots, that had George guessing.

In a special doubles match to decide the 1936 Greek letter championship, Dave Goldware and Arky Finklestein met Jack McGuire and George Wahlgvist. The Sammy pair went to work early in the match and won the initial game by the lopsided score of 21-7. The McGuire-Wahlgvist combination put up a stubborn defense to the goldware-Finklestein duo, who emerged triumphant with game, match and championship by a score of 21-12.

Due to Tuesday night's win, the S. A. M. group can claim the distinction of being the first Greek letter house to retain a championship won this year.

Leading the attack for the slide-rule mob is that capable and respected commander, Franklin Sealea Meier, who issues the charge in the form of a fiery exposition entitled "What the Engineers Think of the Law Students." Opposing the mighty Meier and speaking in behalf of his fellow legalists is Frank El Duce Landis whose "The Lawyers Say Nerts to the Engineers" answers the beligerent challenge of his rival leader in a fitting manner.

RELATIONSHIP OF FAMILY, MILDRED MORGAN'S TOPIC

Noted Lecturer Addresses University Audience on Problems.

Speaking on the subject of "Modern Marriage and Preparation for It," Mrs. Mildred Morgan, noted lecturer on the topic of family relationships and personal adjustments, addressed a crowd of approximately 225 persons yesterday afternoon, when she spoke at a joint vesper service sponsored by the university Y. M. and Y. W. Temple theater. The address marked the opening of the series of lectures which Mrs. Morgan plans to give during her three day visit in Lincoln, March 17, 18 and 19, under the sponsorship of the city and university Y. W. and Y. M. groups.

The first meeting of the three evening institute which has been scheduled to take place during Mrs. Morgan's stay in Lincoln, was also held yesterday, with an open discussion on the various phases of personal relationships. The meeting was open to all university students, and young business and professional women. According to present plans, two additional meetings, continuing discussions of the same type will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Marriage Preparations.

At the meeting held yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Morgan gave an intimate survey of the problems and readjustments necessary to consider in preparing for marriage. "Marriages are not made in heaven, as the saying goes," the speaker emphatically stated. "They are made right here on earth." Thus, serious contemplation is necessary in planning marriage, she explained, when one considers the fact that one out of thirty-three marriages go on the rocks, according to the most recent statistics available.

Mrs. Morgan emphasized the necessity of adjustment in relationships between young men and women while in college, and stressed the importance of thinking of marriage as a real partner step. Taking issue against the point that a woman's place is entirely in the home, the lecturer said, "Marriage is going on the rocks unless women are given their place as persons. They in turn must endeavor to be an intellectual stimulus."

Suggests Methods.

As a suggestion as to the proper method to successfully plan for marriage, Mrs. Morgan pointed out that living well in the age in which one finds himself, would ultimately culminate in successful plans. In addition to this point, she suggested that careful consideration be given in analyzing the problem of money matters before marriage, as well as making a true analysis of one's self.

Closing her discussion, the speaker explained that one's philosophy on life played a major role in the success of one's married life. She concluded by commenting, "See life clearly and work in accord with the whole universe."

This afternoon, Mrs. Morgan appears before the personal relations staff members of both the Y. M. and Y. W. university groups. Rowena Swenson is chairman of the Y. W. staff, while Charles Adelschick heads the young men's group.

CLERK DENIES SENNING USE OF COUNTY FILES

Morgan Calls Halt in PWA Survey of District Finance.

Prof. John P. Senning, chairman of the department of political science of the university, and J. G. W. Lewis, state director of PWA county surveys, who are directing a survey of county finances as a PWA project, found their investigation blocked Tuesday when County Clerk Morgan of Lancaster county denied them access to the county records.

Morgan declared that until after the primary election on April 14 he would not have room in his offices to allow the PWA workers to conduct their investigation of the records there, and that he would not have time to check the records out.

Senning and Lewis offered to check up the records by number so they could give Morgan a list of the records as they took them out, but Morgan refused to allow the records to be removed unless he had personally checked them out. The county commissioners voted to lay the matter over until Wednesday.

Senning stated that although there had been some opposition, no county had yet denied them its records. The survey is underway in Douglas, Gage and some other counties, and it is intended that it include all 89 counties in Nebraska. The project is sponsored by the university, but is supported by PWA funds.

Virginia Selleck Cuts Ribbon At Door to Climax Long Campaign for Shop.

On a brisk October afternoon, eighteen months ago, the members of the student council filed into their regular meeting place in the basement of U Hall and voted to appoint a committee to make negotiations for the installation of a student used book store on the university campus.

Two months ago, after over a year of continuous agitation on the part of the student body, the Nebraska Board of Regents gave its sanction to the book store movement. Last night three hundred enthusiastic students flocked to Social Science hall to see Miss Virginia Selleck, co-chairman of the book store committee with Frank Landis, cut the ribbon that marked the realization of the one-time mythical student book shop.

Acting as master of ceremonies for the colorful opening was Irving Hill, president of the student council, who gave a brief history of the movement and introduced the feature speaker of the evening, Karl M. Arndt, professor of economics. In his address Prof. Arndt praised the student leaders who had led the university student body to such a momentous accomplishment as that which they were celebrating.

The opening came as a climax to the untiring effort that the student leaders have put forth in order that their dreams of a varsity-owned and controlled bookshop, might become a reality. Whence the movement was initiated and the committee appointed it was little realized that the goal was truly within their reach.

However, the aspiring committee began its tireless campaign by contacting other universities throughout the nation and recording their answers concerning the success of the project. They were amazed to find that nearly every college of any size in the nation had such a bookshop and that in the majority of these institutions the shop had been operating successfully.

The idea was put up for the consideration of the administration and after months of deliberation it was finally approved. Following the sanction of the Board of Regents it has been only two months until the dream has become a reality.

The bookstore will open this morning about 8:30. Books will be bought for 50 percent of their list price and will then be resold at about 75 percent of their cost. The difference of twenty-five percent is intended to cover maintenance expenditures.
