

SOCIAL WHIRL

AS A TROPICAL HEAT WAVE DESCENDS UPON the campus, summer students are making the best of the warmth continuing to pursue their studies and evincing more than a passing interest in weather reports. Undaunted by the thermometer topping weather, many students are participating in the varied recreational program, supervised by Prof. E. W. Lantz. Softball teams play nightly on the fields south and west of the Teachers college building and tennis and golf enthusiasts are practicing diligently for tournaments, which will climax the sports program. If you are an unceasing complainer about the intensity of the heat, give the university summer sports a try, take a cool dip in the coliseum pool, and you will be surprised how little the heat will matter when you find a contraversional interest!
