CHEMISTRY HALL NAMED TO HONOR LATE DR. AVERY

Although no new structures have been built on the campus this summer, there is at least in name, a new building. Dedicated to the memory of Dr. Samuel Avery, former chancellor and chemistry professor, chemistry hall has been renamed the "Avery Laboratory of Chemistry."

Chancellor emeritus Avery, who died last January 25, served as chancellor of the university from 1908 until 1927 when he was forced to resign because of ill health. He continued, however, to serve in the chemistry department until his death.

CLASSES START AFTER TWO DAYS OF REGISTRATION

Figures Indicate Possible Increased Enrollment Over Last Year.

After two days of intense activity at the principal registration centers in the coliseum and on the third floor of social science, upwards of 5,000 students were ready to begin fall classes this morning.

Although no official figure is yet available on the number of students registered, all indications point to a heavy enrollment for the current semester.

University authorities, the unable to make statistical comparisons on the alacrity with which this year's registration was accomplished, have expressed the opinion that the complex process was run off this year with dispatch and without congestion.

Outstanding improvement over former years was the new plan initiated for giving medical examinations. A ten day period preceding the two regular registration days was designated for giving this service to incoming students.

Dr. R. A. Lyman reports that from the standpoint of the student health staff the new plan was a decided success.

Miss Florence I. McGehey, registrar, reports that the officials in charge of both the coliseum where freshmen and new students were being taken care of and those (Continued on Page 3).

BREAKAGE DECREASE INDICATES PROGRESS

Guidance Not Grading Should Be Objective of Exams, States Hendricks.

The decrease in a student's laboratory breakage expense for the second semester as compared with the first is believed by Dr. B. Clifford Hendricks of the chemistry faculty of the University of Nebraska to bear a close relation to the student's improved manipulation of apparatus, thus suggesting that examinations may not always be necessary to gauge progress.

In a paper prepared by Dr. Hendricks and F. P. Frutchey of Ohio State university and presented by them before the meetings of the division of chemical education of the American Chemical Society at Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday, the authors point out that an attempt is being made over a ten year period ending in 1941 to create better examinations for chemistry faculties.

Teachers are too often motivated to give tests in order to set up grades and determine credit," says the Nebraska educator. "We believe that guidance should be the major objective of examinations. It is considered that the ability of a student to leave unanswered those parts of an examination which are beyond his understanding is an indirect index of his progress toward a sense of what he doesn't know vs. what he does know."

Additional emergency allotments for work project employment in the drought states, including Nebraska, are also expected to be made, Director Brown said, but quotas have yet to be worked out.

Nebraska's student aid allotment is $102,388, which is for a three month period only. State youth directors have been informed that it will be permissible to shift emergency funds from the school aid to the college and graduate aid and vice versa.

Nebraska's drought relief allotment is $51,194, which may be increased from 10 to 60 percent according to the need and the youth population of Nebraska. The regular allotment for work projects, totalling $87,210, brings the total allotment for Nebraska to $240,792.

The program this year will largely duplicate that of former years with school and college officials exercising complete control over selection of applicants and supervising the work they perform.

Current allotments are for a three month period only and have been made in sufficient time to accommodate student aid applicants. Prevention of educational opportunities because of drought will be overcome, due to the increased 10 to 60 percent allotment increase.

The special quotas for the drought area were determined after a series of conferences by Mr. Brown with youth directors and educators in the affected states during August, thus no delay will be experienced in giving the students assistance, as was experienced last year.

CHURCHES NAME SEPTEMBER 25 AS RECEPTION DATE

Sept. 25 has been set as the date for this year's All University Church Night which is a closed night on the university calendar. The various churches of Lincoln, uniting to provide for proper religious environment for N. U. students, established this custom at each church, a reception is being held for students of its particular denomination.

As soon as all registrants have indicated religious preferences, they will be contacted by pastors of the city church of their own choice. The following Sunday, Sept. 27, will be all church Sunday and students are urged to attend.

C. D. HAYES OUTLINES PROGRAM OF Y.M.C.A. FOR FIRST SEMESTER

Secretary Announces Plans For Series of Weekly Meetings.

Mr. C. D. Hayes, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., outlined Wednesday the general city campus program of the organization for the first semester.

A series of weekly meetings, open to all, but of social interest to students, will be held every Wednesday evening starting Sept. 23, at 7:15 o'clock.

Speakers will be present and general discussions held. A social period will feature a group of Negro spiritual singers under the leadership of Fahio Hill, Negro baritone soloist. The meetings will last approximately one hour and all students are asked to be present.

A series of outings on weekend evenings will be started as soon as possible. The group will journey to some picnic ground or camp and after an hour or so of game period, a campfire supper, prepared by the group, will be served. The first outing will be on the evening of Sept. 26. The exact time will be announced later.

The series of discussions started last semester, dealing with personal and family relationships will be continued. There will also be study groups dealing with cooperative economic and national questions.

A meeting, dealing with the philosophy of religion, will be held on a monthly basis, with the date announced later. The program of Ag college will be announced later. Special features will also be included with a good time assured for all present.

MEL PESTER SIGNED FOR COLISEUM DANCE

First of Varsity Party Series Slated for Saturday Night.

First of a series of three varsity parties to be presented by the Barb Council will be held in the coliseum Saturday night, Sept. 19. Mel Pester's Lincoln band will provide music, according to Bob Simmons, chairman of the orchestra committee.

The purpose of the varsity parties is to offer both new and old students better opportunities to become acquainted, Byrle Shuck, chairman of the council, urged that both affiliated and non-affiliated students plan to attend the opening dance.

The party on Saturday is scheduled as the first of a series of three affairs to be sponsored by the council this fall, the other dates having already been set as Oct. 17 for Dad's day, and Nov. 14th.

Workers Selected. Committees named to plan for the events are: Orchestra, Bob Simmons, Glenn Klingmann, and Alvin Kiebb; publicity, Wilbur Beezley, Jim Risness, Austin Moritz, and Gary Hartzel; chaplains, Doris Weaver and Gretchen Budd, and decorations, Will Reedy and Carl Alexis.

Admissions for the party will remain at the usual price of 40 cents per couple, according to Simmons, with ladies being admitted for 15 cents and gentlemen for 25 cents.

Chaperons for the first party will be announced at a later date, it was revealed.

CAMPUS BOOKSTORE PREPARES FOR RUSH

Students May Obtain New, Used Texts at Reduced Costs Due to Non-Profit Organization Of University Store.

As students begin in full force to buy books the next several days, the university's student-promoted Regent's bookstore will enter its first semester of selling new and used texts in its headquarters in the basement of Social Science.

A reduction of 10 percent from normal selling prices of all new books is being offered, made possible by the non-profit basis on which the enterprise is operated. Only expenses will be wages of the working force and the cost of books from printing companies.

Profits and expense saved using a university building will be used in reducing the price of books. Practically all the business last semester was the buying of used books, since the bookstore started too late in the semester to sell. These used books, along with new texts, will be sold during this school year, and it will not be
