We Pause For a Moment.

We pause today from the bustle and to-do of registration and the opening of school to do honor to the memory of one of the faculty, Professor Herbert Brownell, having served his university and his fellow men, succumbed early Tuesday.

Professor Brownell is dead, but his spirit and guiding hand will be felt none the less in the departments of education of high schools throughout the land. He was not alone a teacher—he taught others how to teach. His methods, his books, and his techniques of instruction are being employed and will be employed by grad-been illegal for the kicking team to advance a kicked ball it being dead at the point of recovery. Now with the kicking team able to advance after recovering a blocked punt, provided the ball has not crossed the line of scrimmage before recovery, it will be possible to get out of a bad hole and in some instances prevent a safety interference.

3. When ineligible players of the passing team cross the line of scrimmage and get in advance of the spot where pass is caught or incomplected, it is interference to the 1935 rules governing interference on passes and will help to do away with screening and make it easier to uates of the university who have followed in a less illustrious light in his profession.

For twenty-six years he taught in the university department of education, truly a pioneer in things Nebraskan. It was during his time here that the university reached its greatest heights of expansion. With the tremendous increases in registration came more and more students under his supervision, to apply his doctrines when teaching pupils of their own.

But Professor Brownell was not merely a teaching automaton. He had a tremendous capacity for friendship. His students were his friends, and in all his time at Nebraska, his home was always open to them. He counted by the hundreds former students who attributed much of their professional success to his unceasing inspiration. His passing will be mourned not only by the faculty and students of the campus, but by countless former students who valued and loved him as a friend.

The university suffered an irreparable loss in Professor Brownell's passing. His service and devotion to the principles of education will live forever. So we pause for just a moment—with bowed head—in memory of another Nebraskan who has done his duty and passed on.

Versatile.

A new telephone, demonstrated to the Harvard tercentenary, can change a woman's voice into a man's or bass into soprano. It can convert a single voice into a duet, either of speech or song. A bass singer could sound like two persons simultaneously, one bass, the other soprano, tenor or any desired tone. In fact, it can do about everything but order the groceries.

4. When a forward pass is made by a player from less than five yards behind his scrimmage line, the pass, if not intercepted, is dead as soon as it strikes the ground or is caught by a player of the passing team. This new supplemental note will make for uniformity in ruling on illegal forward passes.

5. The recommendation coming from the committee representing the American Football Coaches for a change in the penalty for running into the kicker was given much time and a supplemental note was added to clarify the term "running into the kicker." This rule is to protect the kicker from injury. The penalty has not been changed, but where a legitimate attempt is made to block the kick and in so doing merely brushes the punter, officials are advised to refrain from inflicting a penalty. It was also felt that some pick-extra step after kicking in order to make contact with an opposing player who, under the new definition, has committed no foul.

6. Both teams must be on the field ready for play at the expiration of the fifteen minute intermission without notification by the officials. If a team is not ready, there will be a penalty of fifteen yards instead of twenty-five on the opening kickoff of the second half. The option of putting the ball in play by scrimmage will no longer be allowed.

7. The committee recommended that players be numbered with numerals six inches in height on the front and eight inches in height on the back of the jerseys.

8. The committee recommended that coaches assume the responsibility of keeping up with substitutions and that the record should be kept on the bench. This recommendation will relieve the officials of a lot of paper work and will speed up the game.

The practice as suggested was carried out in the Big Six conference last year and was found very satisfactory.

9. A diagram giving the exact measurements of the official ball will be included in the rules.

reporter that youth can save mangled America from the fate of ancient Rome, after having previously refused to advise four thousand Nebraska inmates thru the medium of the "official university newspaper."

"Egypt had its 'New Deal' and built the pyramids with their WPA. At least the Egyptians had something to show for their folly, even though their exorbitant spending doomed their civilization," he added.

"In the regime of the blue buzzard," he recounted, "25 percent more money was spent from July 1, 1933 to July 1, 1934 than in 124 previous years."

After blasts of vituperative invective heaped upon Tugwell, Wallace and Hopkins, he re-crossed his appendages of locomotion to point out that "Civilization is in the minds of the people; and not made of brick and mortar and stone."

The aging solon strode toward his car, as his few remaining admirers called "Good night, Uncle Bill."

CORN COBS RESERVE SECTION OF 60 SEATS

Martz, chairman, Lyle Christensen, Gordon Uri, and Jim Ivins compromise the contact committee.

Having decided that 60 seats would be needed at the football games, the group discussed plans for rallies, but no details were settled. In conclusion, Mills requested that all pledges be present at the next meeting.

DROUTH CAUSES NYA TO DOUBLE STUDENT AID WORK PROGRAM

Special $51,194 Grant to Supplement Original Allotment.

Nebraska high school and college will receive approximately a 50 percent increase during the next three months in the National Youth Administration student work program due to the drouth, it was announced Saturday morning at a meeting of college presidents, officials, and student representatives held at the University of Nebraska.

A special three months drouth allotment of $5,194 was announced to supplement the original yearly allotment of $307,164 to provide part time employment for needy students between the ages of 16 and 25 who without this financial assistance would not be able to continue their education in schools, colleges and universities. The detailed allocation of the drouth funds is still to be worked out.

C. B. Lund, regional director for ten states, reviewed the development of the NYA program and discussed with college representatives the various problems of student selection and student work programs.
