

NEBRASKA CAMPUS SOCIAL WHIRL

SEEN ON THE CAMPUS.

Thetas piled in their black and orange job... appropriately named the Hiccup sweater around the Drug corner... Ron Douglas minus the strip of adhesive tape which has adorned his nose for weeks... Mildred Holland running up the front steps at the Tri-Delt house... the Nebraskan staff exchanging ideas on the spelling of Tokyo... Les McDonald draped over two seats in history class... Jane Eldridge and Margaret Blaufuss hurrying home to lunch... Army appointments and much clanking of swords and saluting... a bright green Ford coupe with N feathers on the radiator cap... Pat Burns and Lewis Cass discussing cartooning... Floyd Baker beam about something or other... Negotiations for a Cornhusker-Daily Nebraskan football game... Paul Bradley and his camera... the two are practically synonymous... Jack Roberts woefully remarking that he was the only one he knew who definitely was not going to Minnesota... and Malcolm McFarland trying to get 12 tickets for the game Saturday at Minneapolis... for a Minnesota man... there aren't any left in the north country... and Mary Helen Husted putting on lipstick.

SCORE ONE FOR SIGMA NU.

At the Iowa State game Saturday, Jeanne Rowe sat with three Sigma Nus. At a little after half time... one of the young gentlemen arose to leave. When questioned as to his destination, he waved gaily and announced "This is where I came in." Not bad for a college boy.

DEMOCRATS

Third: We would arouse the youth of this country to take an active interest and participation in the "body politic"; to become leaders, not followers.
There can be little controversy on our first objective. We are well aware that our party has no monopoly on honest men and beneficial policies. We are broad-minded enough to recognize our deficiencies and to try and surmount them. However, we firmly believe that by supporting the Democratic party the ideals of government—honesty—helpfulness—efficiency can be better served and assured to the American populace.
Secondly, we are disciples of President Roosevelt and the New Deal for which he stands. We want to help in the work which he has so ably begun—the job of building a better and greater America. True, there has been some jokers and dunces in the New Deal but there certainly have been more than four aces.
We are primarily concerned with the youth cards of the New Deal: The C. C. C. which has been a moral and mental "uplift" to one million, two hundred thousand men. The National Youth Movement and its manifold programs. The Federal Employment Bureau which has been so successful in obtaining work for those who are just beginning their economic career. That part of the FERA which provides jobs for financially embarrassed students. Students who had the intestinal fortitude to come to college with little money but plenty of courage, ambition and determination.

No doubt some of you readers can thank Roosevelt for your presence in school. Do you want to leave college; do you want government aid abolished? Think it is a good investment? Another administration had the opportunity to take the young men off the streets, the dives of moral and mental filth, and the freight cars. What did they do?
Truly, Roosevelt knows that the America of the future depends upon the youth of today. He would train and fit those who do not have an opportunity. The Bible says "all men are born equal." Our president would make us more equal, not by tearing down at the top but by building up at the bottom. Incidentally Landon (in part) balanced his budget (if he did) by giving the teachers a subsistence salary and the schools a "nude" existence. Why should, one place money values above human values? Think it over.
Thirdly: We most earnestly and sincerely hope to stimulate interest in government. We want to be intelligent and enlightened voters. Yes, more than that, we want the younger generation to become active participants in government affairs; office holders and leaders, shaping the "destiny of things." Business needs young men and women and so does the government, that dash, drive an unlimited energy of youth.
We hope and believe that you should be democrats but no matter what your political allegiance is, join one of the two major parties and become an active, influential part of it. Parties are composed of men and women. Good individuals made for good parties. Is that not logical? (elementary). College students are supposed to be the "cream of the crop." Make it mean something.
The voters of this country are notoriously lethargic and lack-animal toward public problems. They forget that voting is a privilege; not an inherent right; something that George Washington and "a few of the boys" fought and bled for. This criticism applies equally to the young and old. Why don't the youth of America board the ship of state and become a part of the crew? Roosevelt has given them every encouragement. "The possibilities would be unlimited."
These, then, are the reasons why a Young Democratic club has been formed on your campus. We want you, all of you, to make it your club. Join it and have a voice in its councils, its work. A job whose first objective is the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, but whose underlying and permanent purpose is the training and educating the younger generation in principles of good government, democratic government, to prepare us for the day to come. The day when we will be the "captain and the crew."

manner the twelve or fifteen ranking candidates will be nominated for the final election.
"A spectacular presentation will feature the final election which will be held at the Stuart theater," Baker declared. "The participants in the finals will model the latest in the coming fall fashions." It is expected that the presentation will be held about the middle of November, probably on the 18th.
According to Baker, those who present Cornhusker sales tickets at the theater the evening of the presentation will be admitted for fifteen cents less than the usual admission price and will receive three ballots to cast in favor of their choices. All others attending the theater that evening, students and Lincoln residents alike, will be allowed only one vote.
Book Larger This Year.
"This year's book will be very much larger than previous ones," Baker stated. "Among many other new features we will include a complete roster of students attending the university this year whether they are pictured in the book or not." He added that the 1937 Cornhusker will be the most popular priced book for the benefit of the students ever offered. This will be found true both in the cost of the publication and in the prices for students' pictures in the book.
Chances for placing pictures in the junior or senior panels will be $2.25 and in the fraternity and sorority panels, one dollar. For the first time this year's business staff is offering a combination price for both pictures of $2.50. Baker advised that these prices are all substantial reductions from last year's. He also mentioned a new offer of a Bard's manual of "American College Fraternities" to the fraternities and sororities who complete their entire roster, including pictures in the junior and senior sections as well as in the fraternity and sorority sections.
The 1937 Cornhusker will be sold for $3.75 cash or $1.99 down on a $4.25 installment plan if bought before November 1. If bought between November 1 and January 1, the book will cost $4.00 cash or the same down payment on a $4.50 plan. If bought before March 1, the price will be $4.25 cash and $4.75 on the installment plan. After March 1 the book will sell for $4.50 cash and $5.00 by the installment method.

REPUBLICANS

Just what is the American Plan? It is the traditional system of the American Government and transposed to present-day problems it involves in the questions of a balanced budget, a government on a business basis, lack of governmental interference in business except in certain specified fields where the public health, morals, etc., are directly affected, the philosophy of production as against that of destruction, a moderate national debt, an effort to keep as far away from the muddled European politics as possible, and keeping the federal government from becoming a centralized and confused bureaucracy. Each one of these points will be treated in articles to follow.
Today we might as well dispose of the democratic bogey-man of unemployment. The record is sim-
