

Huskars Entrain Tonight For Big Sectional Battle

BIBLEMEN CLASH TOMORROW WITH CHAMP GOPHERS

Cornhuskers Out to End String of 13 Minnesota Wins Over Nebraska; D. X. Reports No Injuries; 34 Men Make Trip.

A squad of 34 Cornhuskers will entrain tonight for a battle arena where they plan to do something a Nebraska football team has been unable to do since 1913—trounce Minnesota.

"To be able to take it is all well enough until it becomes a habit" is the watchword in the Huskers' dressing room. It has also become the attitude of the red-shirted Cornhuskers toward the Gophers. Thirteen times the Huskers have lost to Minnesota, until it has become a taken-for-granted habit. Well, this year the Cornhuskers are out to break this habit.

True, that the Vikings outweigh Nebraska in the line. That is a characteristic of Minnesota elevens, but weight won't mean everything in Saturday's game. The two backfields pair up quite evenly, each team having its best runner, passer and punter.

Husker Injuries Nil.

Injuries on Nebraska's roster are virtually nil. Elmer Dohrmann, giant right end, is over a knee injury and ready for duty as one flank man. Les McDonald will be at the left end, with Virg Yelkin, Paul Amen and John Richardson leading the reserves.

Fred Shirey and Ted Doyle will play the inside end positions with Jack Ellis, Omaha veteran alternating with Doyle at the right tackle. Capable reserves are found in Bob Mills, George Beiders and Jack Hutchinson.

Bob Mehring and Ken McGinnis head the guard list. McGinnis declared himself free from his knee injury Thursday and is ready to fill the right guard berth. Gus Peters, Lowell English, George Seemann and Bill Hermann are reserve guard candidates.

Rugged Charlie Brock is the only sophomore expected to start against the Vikings. Brock is backed at the center job by Bob Ramey and Bob Ray.

Backfield Men Plentiful.

Coach D. X. Bible's backfield men are more than prepared to run up against Minnesota. Johnny

Howell at quarter, Ron Douglas at left half, Game Captain Lloyd Cardwell at right half and Sam Francis at full is the first string of ball runners. Douglas and Francis are the punters in this quartet.

Backfield reserves are plentiful in Nebraska's squad. Bill Anderson and Thurston Phelps are quarterbacks, Art Ball, Harris Andrews, and Ernie White are half-backs, and Bill Callahan is the reserve fullback. Nearly all of these reserve backs can play any position in the backfield. Anderson is the best punter in this group, while Andrews tops the passers.

Thursday's practice, barred from the curious public, consisted largely of dummy offensive and defensive scrimmage between the frosh, employing Minnesota formations, and the varsity. Coach Browne, who scouted the Gophers two weeks ago, reviewed Minnesota's attack with the entire squad after the limbering up exercises.

Coach Bible quizzed regulars and reserves on their assignments against the 6-3-2 defense that Coach Bierman's Vikings use. The frosh and varsity took turns handling the ball on the varsity field, perfecting Nebraska's offense and defense against Minnesota. The day's workout was topped off with a short tackling session using the tackling dummies.

Friday's Workout Secret.

Friday's workout will consist of a secret signal drill and a short dummy scrimmage against the Vikings to taper off the week's preparatory work before the Cornhuskers hit the rous for the north country.

Pessimistic as ever, Coach Bierman is slaying in the Gopher camp polishing Minnesota's great grid machine for its work Saturday. The Viking forward wall will probably consist of Reed and King at ends, Co-Captain Widseth and Midler at tackles, Weld and Twedell at guards, and Svendsen at center. Charles Schultz, fine Gopher guard who starred against Washington two weeks ago, will see quite a bit of action. Bierman's lighter but faster backfield finds Bud Wilkinson at quarter, Andy Ura mat left half, Co-Captain Julius Alphonse at right half, and Vic Spadicini at full. Bahier, Rork, Gmitro, Thompson and Matheny are the backfield reserves. Line reserves are two and three deep at every position on the Gopher team.
