STORM BREAKS OVER UNION

AG STUDENTS TO ELECT QUEEN AT ANNUAL FORMAL

Moseman Expects Farmer's Party to Be Major Success.

New rules for choosing the Queen of the Farmer's Formal, which is to be held in the Student Activities building on Ag campus Friday, Oct. 30, were announced by the ag executive board and are listed below.

"The Farmer's Formal has always been the big party of the fall semester on the Ag campus, and we expect to have a better party than ever this year," states Al Moseman, member of the Ag executive council, and co-chairman of the "formal" committee.

According to Lois Allen, chairman of the "formal" committee, "those working on decorations have been busy the past few weeks and will have something entirely new for those who attend the Farmer's Formal this year."

Presentation of the Farmer's Formal Queen, which climaxes the evening of fun and merriment, promises to be even more elaborate than last year, and it has already stirred the curiosity and in-

Kraemer Visits Alma Mater During Leave From South America

John Kraemer, who formerly worked with the Nebraska Geological Survey and is now with the Standard Oil company of Venezuela, South America, visited the Conservation and Survey division today.

He has been employed in both the geophysical and geological work for the oil company. While on his leave of absence, Mr. Kraemer will visit his parents at Vermillion, Kansas. He received his A. B. degree in '31 and M. A. in '35, both at the university.

N. U. Law Adventures as Inmate In State Prison—Three Weeks of Labor, Solitude, Convict Friends

(Editor's Note: Miss Rosewater's features today is the first of a series of three on the prison experiences of "Frank DeWitt," alias of a University of Nebraska law student. The next two installments will be published in the Tuesday and Wednesday issues of the Nebraskan.)

BY BARBARA ROSEWATER.

The University of Nebraska furnished two inmates for a certain State Penitentiary this summer. Fingerprinted and "mugged" under the name of Frank DeWitt, a young law student from the university, together with his father—a prominent Nebraska criminal lawyer, spent three weeks in prison, studying conditions for a report to the State Prison Board and to the governor.

With their true identities known to no one but the warden, the "DeWitts" were booked in the prison as second offenders, convicted of fraudulent real estate transactions. Trustees, guards, and inmates of the prison accepted the two as fellow convicts.

"So you're in for a real estate deal?" the official who registered them asked, unsuspecting. "You'll get plenty of real estate where I'm putting you," and with grim humor he assigned Frank to work on the "hill," digging and loading clay.

Permission to play the role of convict for three weeks was granted the "DeWitts" thru the influence of the governors of two states, with the condition that father and son make a written report to the Prison Board, following their release.

Entering the prison, the two men were fingerprinted and underwent physical and psychological

CHARM SCHOOL WILL HEAR DEAN HEPPNER

'A Charming Personality' First Hobby Group Topic Tuesday.

"A Charming Personality" will be the subject on which Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, will speak at the opening meeting of the charm school hobby group to be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

Charm school, which is sponsored as one of the regular hobby groups of the Coed Counselors, is open to all women students of the university, and anyone interested in hearing the discussion on Tuesday evening is invited to attend, according to Jean Doty, Coed Counselor of the group.

N. U. FRESHMAN DIES FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

Delta Tau Delta Will Go To Morse Bluff for Funeral Service.

John Hubenbecker, 18, university freshman from Morse Bluff, died in a Fremont hospital at 1 a. m. Friday as a result of an auto accident which occurred in his home town on Oct. 16, just as he and another Nebraska student, Emil Wolf, were within two blocks of the former's home.

Hubenbecker and Wolf, both members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, had gone home for the week end. Hubenbecker who was driving fell asleep and the car turned over. Having suffered a skull fracture and a broken neck, he never regained consciousness. Wolf was not hurt.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity will attend the funeral in a body this afternoon. The service is to be held in Morse Bluff at 2 o'clock. The deceased is survived by his parents Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Hubenbecker and a sister.

Besides being a pledge to the Delta Tau Delta social organization, Hubenbecker was out for the swimming team and had demonstrated his interest in extra-curricular activities, notably in student publications.

GROUP CHAMPIONS NEW PROPOSAL IN FIGHT OVER UNION

Before the ink had dried on President Roosevelt's approving signature, storm clouds gathered over Nebraska's proposed activities building as administration and students paired off in merry conflict on just what the building should look like, and where it should be placed.

Saturday, a third "school of thought" entered the scrap, with the preparation of a minority report of the Student Union committee recommended: 1, The L-shaped building; 2, situated on the site of Ellen Smith hall or further west.

Jane Walcott Defends Plan. Defending the new proposal, Jane Walcott, Union committee member, declared, "The administration and the Student Council officers are both half right. Because the building is intended as a liaison force between campus and student living quarters, the

Peace Poll Shows Pacifists in Minority at N. U.; 439-392 Vote for Campus Drill on YWCA Ballot

International Control of Armaments Favored by Large Majority.

By Carol Clark.

There are few pacifists among University of Nebraska students. In the peace poll held in conjunction with the student election last Tuesday, a cross section of 850 student opinions was taken by the Y. W. C. A. international relations staff, under the direction of Winifred Nelson.

Militaristic interests especially concerned with the Reserve Officers Training corps need not lose sleep over the security of their hierarchy, for 439 students cast their ballots in favor of continuance of the incidence count and empty rifles, while 392 championed the unregimented gait, with 89 votes in the doubtful column. On the ballot, the question was worded "whether or not security for the United States at the present time lies in military training in the universities."

Effects of peace propaganda are evidenced in the parts of Nebraska student attitude. Prohibition by international agreement of the manufacture and sale of armaments for private profit was overwhelmingly suggested as a means to present security. Sensational publicity given to the Nye investigations is, apparently, reflected in the inroads made on the natural private profit psychology of the Tuesday voters.

Poll Refutes Hearst.

Nationalist Hearst might well have his attention drawn to the fact that only one-ninth of the voters take a purely pacifistic attitude. This repudiates his oft-repeated claim that universities are drilling pacifism into the receptive student mind. Stating that it was not their patriotic duty to participate in any war whatsoever,

Student Council President Arnold Levin, who is championing the cause of the 12th st. site and the L shaped building for the Student Union building, backed by officers of the Student Council.

PSI CHI MEMBERS TO HOLD OPEN MEETING

Honorary Asks Psychology Students to Attend Assembly Monday.

All students interested in psychology are invited to attend an open meeting of Psi Chi, honorary psychology fraternity, Monday, Oct. 26, in the psychology laboratory in social science hall.

Members of Psi Chi will be given a review of the events and activities of the American Psychological association meeting held during the first week in September at Dartmouth college. Three university professors, J. P. Guilford and Arthur F. Jenness, of the psychology department, and D. A. Worcester of the teachers college attended the national meeting and will conduct the review.

'Where Shall Student Union Be?' Majority Say Locate It Between Social Science, Teachers College

By Barbara Callahan.

"Where shall the Student Union building be?" Outside of a few stupid "You got me" the students on the city campus seemed to give thoughtful consideration to the above question when asked in an interview yesterday. Of seven girls interviewed, only one expressed a desire to tear down Ellen

DEBATE CENTERS ON SHAPES, SITES OF NEW BUILDING

Student Representatives, Uni Officials, Confer On Problems.

Two possible sites and shapes for Nebraska's new $400,000 student union building were discussed and debated Saturday morning by a committee from the Student Council, and university officials, presided over by Chancellor Burnett. No official action was taken in determining either subject.

The site favored by the administrative officials is at the northwest corner of 14th and R where Ellen Smith hall now stands. The E shaped building would face on R st. Student council representatives favored the site on 12th st. north of Social Sciences building which is now occupied by tennis courts. Their idea is that the building should be L shaped, facing on 12th st. and south onto the mall.

The students favored the tennis court site because of its central location and possibilities for expansion. The university officials expressed a desire to hold the tennis court site for a future classroom building which would tie up with

JANE VAN SICKLE CHOSEN HEAD OF EDUCATION CLUB

Jane Van Sickle, senior, was made president of the Elementary Education Department Club at the annual election last Friday. An advisory board of Enid Gillett, junior; Sylvia Korbel, sophomore; and Kathryn Johnson, freshman, was also appointed.

This club is a branch of the National Council of Childhood Education and membership is open to all students majoring in this field.

Smith Hall. Four boys consider the site on fourteenth and R the only logical place.

The most popular opinion of the fifteen interviewed seemed to be between Social Sciences hall and Teachers college. In this position, th students pointed out, the Student Union building would be directly in the center of activity. Students would drop into it in passing much as they drop into the Uni drug now. The greater majority of the students have classes in Teachers, Sesh, or Andrews, and for these students, at least, the location would be very convenient. Engineering and law students would not find it convenient but the students in these colleges have less leisure time anyway.

Facing R Street between the Social Sciences Annex and the student infirmary, seems to several students the ideal spot. In this position, the student building would serve as a sort of connection between the scholastic activities of the students and their social activities which are naturally situated either down town or in the residential district, and Ellen Smith Hall could be preserved as a historical landmark.

Some Favor North Mall.

One student suggested the North Mall. Here there would be more parking space and the building would be in direct line with the stadium and the coliseum. In this student's opinion, the building should mark the center of recrea-
