De-Pantherize The Husker Schedule.

Sunday's Daily Nebraskan carried a feature account of the goings-on on the Pittsburgh bench during the recent Panther-Ne-

The Nebraskan "stooges" didn't attempt to hide under old blankets or in any other way disguise their identity from the Pittsburgh players. They were a couple of college kids out to get the low-down on why Pittsburgh beats Nebraska year after year after

What they heard should turn every ear in Pittsburgh red, but, unfortunately, ears in Pittsburgh don't turn red when the ethics of the football team are under consideration. All Pittsburgh cares about is that Jock Sutherland keeps on turning out the winners, and who cares how

The Daily Nebraskan interested itself in "how," and the results of the "bench" conversation would lead us to the conclusion that perhaps it would be for the best if Pittsburgh was dropped from the Nebraska schedule.

Jock Sutherland evidently lacks the athletic idealism which permeates Nebraska's Dana X. Bible, Unless Mr. Sutherland's "little boys" were telling fairy tales, Mr. Sutherland lacks any athletic idealism. His job is to turn out winning football teams. He does his job very well, but at the expense of all that is considered honorable and decent practice in amateur athletics.

Mr. Sutherland probably doesn't employ but not in the sense of wholesale degrees. tactics which in some measure or other aren't applied in other institutions, but those tactics, no matter by whom employed, are so different from those of Nebraska that the Cornhuskers should not engage a team using them.

The meeting of Panther and Cornhusker is a battle of professional against amateur football. Pittsburgh subsidizes with never a pretense at camouflage of her purpose. Her players receive scholarships, are on a training table all year long, practice football ten months a year, and includge in a summer's hard training in a mountain camp. Sutherland scouts comb the Pennsylvania coal fields for strong young men who are capable of assimilating the technicalities of a football play. These husky young men, who measure strength by the number of baskets of coal they can carry, face Nebraska's Cornhuskers annually.

Most of the Pittsburgh players admit that football isn't so much fun-but it is more fun than dragging coal buckets around in the fields. Most of them haven't been to school yet. Evidently they get degrees for four years of football.

We contend that Nebraska teams should not be subjected to playing professional teams. We boast of our amateurism, and Dana Bible is noted all through the land as the defender of the old time faith in football. Yet he permits his team to play one that is antithetical to all that he believes. Where is the logic in Nebraska fans wait and wait, and wait again for a victory. Minnesota is human, Her football teams make mistakes-sometimes. Pitt's team makes some mistakes-but they aren't of the type that counts. Nebraska will be recording victories over the Gophers years before Pitt falls by the wayside, if they continue the present method of getting and hold-

The Daily Nebraskan recommends to the Athletic Board of Control, after that last football game, in which fists flew thicker than grasshoppers during the plague, that Pittsburgh be dropped from the Nebraska football schedule as soon as she can be replaced by a team which resorts to clean, wholesome, amateur practices.

A Niche.

To The Editor:

In a recent address before the state conference of the National Youth Administration in Albany, New York, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt showed a grasp of the problems of youth which, though still uncommon, is becoming more and more apparent in most members of

The problem of finding a job is, of course, But it is equally important that the idual find a job in which he feels so- which the author believes has been which the feels so- which the author believes has been and forthcoming execution of a individual find a job in which he feels so- which the author believes has been cially useful and in which he will do his best felt by teachers of dramatics and directors of dramatic clubs, as The unfortunate nazi was E. I.

Mrs. Roosevelt displayed her realization of this fact when she said that she knew nothing sadder than a young person, at work or unemployed, who did not know the purpose and reason for his place in the community. She continued, "No matter how young the boy or girl may be, each has a right to feel himself or herself a constructive factor in the community life.

The finding of a job is not a panacea for all the ills of the younger generation. A large part of our recently graduated seniors find themselves in such a treadmill job that they have no conception of the part they play as a cog in an important wheel. They cannot realize that above them is unity as a group

Practice in dramatics contains scenes from thirty-five plays by such authors as Eugene O'Neill Zona Gale, Christopher Morley, Richard Hughes, Robert Kasper, Anton Chekov, Kenneth Sawyer Goodman and other, as well as a realize that above them is unity as a group and there is work to be done by this group. Above all they do not realize that they are, or could be, indispensable to that group. There inndispensability must be in either one of two categories; constructive or destructive. It naturally follows that it is an individual responsibility for one to acquaint himself with his place in the community. Find the job you want. The one that will enlarge you mentally and give you pleasure in its performance. Having once found your niche in the business world then see to it that you find your second niche serving the community.

Why Not a Liberal Education?

Last month's issue of the Atlantic Monthly contained a bit of verse by one Robert Hillyer entitled "Letter to a Teacher of English." Poor in the matter of poetic diction. but rich in thought-provoking material, the writing deplored education in the modern What does a Ph.D. mean, questioned Mr. Hillyer, when those who receive it have no more knowledge than an undigested mass facts and dates? The answer, quibbled about for years, is no nearer solution than it has ever been. seems to us, however, that a college student claiming an A.B. or any degree, should have had a little contact with the great thinkers of other days, Rousseau, Locke, Shakespeare, Dostoivsky, Plato, others who have survived these many years as writers of great literature.

Surely the university could introduce requirements for graduation that include classes dealing with the masters of earlier days. It seems to indicate a definite lack in cultural requirements to allow a student unfamiliar two votes to school containing between the votes to school containing between two thousand, and were to lend aid. A group of gloomy new deal prophets, led by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, are predicting a too rapid boom followed by another major depression. Rythmically successive periods of business activity and inactivity have been noticeable in the United States since 1825. From that time until the turn of the century depressions occured about every ten years, the cycles being broken only by the Civil War. In the 20th century depressions have occurred on an average of every seven years-in '03, '07, '14, '21, and '29,

The seven years allotted to the present cycle have been almost entirely consumed in getting started back to normal. It is quite possible that another seven will see the inception of a depression of doubly large proportions due to the 14 year acceleration of business.

The loyalists charge that it is not the rebels who are going to blockade Barcelona, it is the Italian and German navies. There are several indications that the German and Italian navies will lend "unofficial aid" to the fascists in Spain. In the first place, the rebel navy in itself would be entirely inca-pable of making the blockade effective. There are only eight vessels in the rebel navy while there are 18 in the lovalist navy. It would be foolish for the rebels to anounce a blockade under these conditions unless they ex-
