Nebraska's Sweetheart Announces Engagement; Marriage January 20

LOUISE MAGEE.

Selecting the time-honored campus custom of candy-passing to break the news, Louise Magee, Nebraska's 1937 Sweetheart, announced her engagement to Philip Oxnam of Omaha to her Delta Gamma sorority sisters Monday night.

Miss Magee, junior in the college of arts and sciences from Lincoln, is a member of the Student Council and Tassels. Mr. Oxnam, whose lodge is Beta Theta Pi, entered the university this fall from DePauw, formerly attending the University of Southern California. The date of their marriage has been set for January 20th.

Miss Magee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Magee of Lincoln. Following graduation, she will continue her study of the pipe organ. Oxnam is the son of Bishop and Mrs. G. Bronley Oxnam of Omaha. Bishop Oxnam is in charge of the Omaha area of the Methodist Episcopal church. Philip Oxnam plans to continue his education in the east where he will study for the ministry.

NEW YORK CRITIC, TEACHER TO ADDRESS CAMERA CLUB

Nicholas Haz Conveys New Picture Composition Theory Tonight.

By Charles Dein.

Nicholas Haz from New York City, internationally known as a photographer, critic and teacher, appears as speaker for the Lincoln Camera club tonight at 8 o'clock in Gallery B of Morrill Hall. Mr. Haz will discuss composition in photography.

Mr. Haz has an original theory of composition that clarifies the entire art of picture making. He is able to convey these principles so simply and comprehensively that, as a teacher, he conducts a course which consists of a week's work. Among his students are numbered the most successful professional photographers of today.

A Stanford student last spring drove to New York for a week's instruction. Recently Mr. Haz received a letter from him stating that he had just accepted a position on the pictorial staff of Time magazine.

A sparkling personality and an intriguing accent, the result of Hungarian birth, make his instruction a pleasure. He is making a world tour, now on his way to the west coast and thence to China.

Y.W. VESPERS FEATURE TALK BY MISS SCUDDER

Speaker Describes Estes Activities at Ag Service.

Values of the Estes Conference, two week recreational camp sponsored by Y. M. C. A., were propounded by Frances Scudder, Vesper chairman, when she addressed the Vespers at 12:20 yesterday in the ag college home economics parlor.

"The Estes conference should be attended by every student in school," declared Miss Scudder. "Of the five hundred at Estes last season, only forty were from the University of Nebraska. I sincerely hope that this number will be substantially increased when the conference opens this year."

Devotionals at yesterday's meeting were led by DeLoris Bors.

GLIMPSES

Of the World About

Though King Edward seems to be in the dog house in the eyes of his parliament, theoretically he has powers comparable to those of a Hitler or a Mussolini.

He can disband the parliament and the cabinet, and call upon the army—sworn to serve him, not the state—to execute by force any of his commands. He can declare war and make peace. He can make peers and peeresses out of every citizen of his empire. He can sell the British navy, put the money in his pocket, and be held answerable to no one. He cannot be sued for libel. He doesn't even have to pay taxes!

Edward, theoretically at least, can do all these things, and Baldwin, merely a prime minister, would keep him from marrying the girl!

Prime Minister Baldwin and a large bloc of his ministers, who apparently have not heard that "the king can do no wrong," are struggling against a stream of popular sentiment which now threatens to overwhelm the forces that would prevent King Edward from marrying his heart's desire.

English subjects approve their king's action and are beginning to demonstrate their sentiment vociferously. Their reaction to "abdication" rumors has strengthened over the weekend. In their king they recognize a great leader, and are not disposed to lose him over so trifling a matter as his choice of a wife.

Table Etiquette Discussion To Feature Meeting At 7 Tonight.

Discussing the subject of proper table etiquette, Miss Ruth Sperry, instructor in the home economics department will speak to members of the charm school hobby group at 7 o'clock this evening in Ellen Smith hall. All members of the group and others interested in hearing the discussion this evening are invited to attend, according to Jean Doty, Coed Counselor sponsor of the group.

Using two members of the hobby group to contrast proper and improper table manners, Miss Sperry will develop topics pertaining to the correct use of the knife and fork, and also the proper style of service at the table. Following her address, the speaker will conduct an open forum on any questions pertaining to table etiquette agreed upon by the outstanding authorities of the day.

"Lady," a black and white foxhound of St. Louis, Mo., knows how modern society prepares for "blessed events."

On the verge of having pups, she walked into the Washington university clinic and wagged her tail for recognition. A few days later "Lady," attended by nurses and internes, gave birth to six puppies.
