SEEN ON THE CAMPUS

Something in the nature of a shock is in store for the two lucky fellows who will receive duplicates of the following corsage to wear to the Mortar Board party to-night: Against a background of fluted silver paper and ferns, a large popcorn ball has been placed, surrounded by alternate lollipops and chrysanthemums. . . . Swarms of students at Townsend's waiting for last minute pictures to be taken. . . . Grant Lemmon, D. U., looking pleased as he left the studio, the ordeal over. . . . Alpha Phi Pat Jensen's most recent acquisition is an ocarina, a clay pipe popularly known as the "sweet potato." Already Pat can play the "Organ Grinder Swing" on it. She hopes that if she practices faithfully two hours a day her family will send her to Europe. Also possessor of an ocarina is Bun Nichols of the A. T. O. house. Duets are being arranged between the two musicians. . . . Have you seen Al Rehrig in his red earmuffs with the white N's on them? . . . Martha Morrow planning to celebrate the arrival of a check with a steak dinner. . . . Louise Margee working on her psychology notebook in the Drug. . . . The Steuterville twins in smart black hats with little gold things like door knockers on the fronts. . . . Jane Barbour trying to think of a startling boutonniere for Malcolm MacFarland's lapel tonight. . . . Wonder who Bill Marsh is going with to the Mortar Board party. . . . Bert Hartzell planning to take pictures for the Cornhusker at the coliseum. . . .

Alpha Phi Entertains Escorts at Dinner

A pre-Mortar Board dinner will be held at the Alpha Phi house tonight at 6 o'clock for Alpha Phis and their escorts. Dorothy Hood, social chairman, will have charge of arrangements. The red and green Christmas theme will be carried out. . . .

Pre-Dance Dinner At Chi O House

With the dining room lighted by Christmas trees and candles, members of Chi Omega and their dates will dine at 7 o'clock at the chapter house before the leap year dance. The house will be decorated with the traditional Christmas mistletoe, pine boughs with huge red cellophane bows, and holly. About 50 are expected. The dinner will be given by the pledges for active members. . . .

Raymond Hall Gives Winter Formal

FRAT CONFERENCE SAYS HELL WEEK ON WAY OUT

Would Leave Abolition of Horse Play, Hazing to Local Authorities.

NEW YORK, N. Y. (ACP). That local college authorities are the proper agencies to act in abolishing the "Hell Week" of fraternity "horse play and hazing" was decided in a resolution adopted unanimously by the National Interfraternity Conference at its 28th annual session. Although the national fraternity body now places the initiative in the hands of college officials, it pledges its cooperation in eliminating these practices. The resolution took cognizance of an "evident trend" of students to minimize hazing and to use "less sophomoric and more mature procedures" in the pre-initiation "Hell Week." It lauded colleges which have already made efforts to do away with hazing in fraternity circles. "The conference recognizes," the resolution said, "that the customs and traditions which prevail on any campus are determined by public opinion on that campus, and not by the national organizations of our fraternities; or is any national fraternity able to prescribe for its own chapter action which can become effective only through agreement of all chapters on that campus supported by local public opinion."

FRENCH SCHOOLS GIVE STRICT DIET OF WORK

Student Guest in America Notes 'Good Times' of Collegiate Body.

NEW YORK, N. Y. (ACP). Jean Pierre Le Mee, the 19 year old French student sent to the United States by his government to make a survey of social life in American colleges, is convinced that college life here would be "too lovely for French students." Le Mee expressed amazement that American students have such a good time. If the college life in the United States were suddenly transplanted to my country, he said, the students there "wouldn't think of working." As it is at present, life for them is all "work, work, work." Le Mee's inspection tour began on September 21. He first visited five colleges on the West coast. Enroute to the East, he dropped in at the University of Chicago. In the East he visited Columbia University, New York University, Temple University, the University of Pennsylvania, Bryn Mawr, Princeton, and Harvard.

In reference to the five football games he saw, Le Mee said: "At first I thought they were all crazy playing such a game. All those boys ready to kill each other and the man whistling all the time. The shouting and the singing were the only things I liked. But by the fifth time I began to see how marvelous the game was mathematically."

He cited the differences he observed in the universities of the west and east coasts. "The students don't work very hard in the west. All they could talk about was politics and sports. Everything was parties—singing parties, bridge parties, dancing parties, and week end parties. The University of California at Los Angeles is very near Hollywood, and all the girls in theme seemed to think of was going into the movies instead of working."

Le Mee declared that the east was different. He said that the girls at Bryn Mawr didn't "shout" and students really worked. Columbia and New York Universities held little interest for him because they were too much like "what we have in Paris." They did not have the campus life that seemed to be almost everywhere else, he said.

He stated that students at French universities live alone and seldom get to know one another. In the United States students even get to know some of their professors, he remarked, something that is impossible in France without the proper introduction. Le Mee, in his report to the French ministry of education, is going to recommend six American features for adoption in French universities: playing fields, fraternities and clubs, large dining rooms, good reproductions of great works of art in college buildings, and university theatres, magazines, and newspapers.

Baptist Student Club Will Entertain Poor Children on Saturday

Return Annual Proofs to Studio Before 16th

Deadline for returning proofs of individual junior, senior, fraternity and sorority pictures to Townsend studio is Wednesday, Dec. 16, according to William Marsh, editor of the yearbook. Panels of these pictures will be made at this time and if proofs are not returned, studio employees will make the selection. Deadline for having pictures taken has passed and no more individual pictures will be taken.

December Awgwan Discloses Hidden Pasts of Professors.

(Continued from Page 1.) Raymond Dein, young instructor in the Bizad school. Carol's Christmas Carols. Appropriate is the word for the title of the article concerning Carol's costumes written by Carol Clark, head of the women's staff. The title is "Carol's Christmas Carols." In addition to the usual notes regarding new styles, detailed descriptions are included of an evening wrap and new styles of formal headdress modeled by three popular coeds. Unusual art work is included in the December magazine. An unusual photograph by Rae Barklow depicts an unusual scene of an unusual setting. Barklow is also the author of the appropriate verse accompanying the picture. Marvin Robinson is the artist who drew the cover design, displaying the still foremost thought of the formal season. Unusual is the sketching effect which the cover portrays. Introducing a new idea in the "Gore" column, its editors have segregated their abundant material into such popular headings as Pin Hangings, Dwindling Loves, Flashes, and From the Ag Campus. Pertinent and of interest to the campus at large are the topics considered "We the People" and the "Editorial Wheel."

FRITZ KREISLER SPEAKS ON TREND IN MUSIC TASTES

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (ACP). "College students are slowly beginning to appreciate the better type of music but still show a strong liking for jazz," Fritz Kreisler, world famous violinist and composer, told students of Los Angeles Junior College.

"If students will stay away from jazz a little, they will soon discover the pleasure that comes to one when they can appreciate the classics. Several years from now the field of music may be changed considerably from what it is today, through the influence of television, and students who are studying music should keep this in mind," he continued. "There are just as many opportunities for ambitious music students now as there were a number of years ago as there will be in the future. However, what change television will bring about in music in the future is hard to tell. "But," declared Kreisler, "if a student is a good musician the world will listen to him no matter what happens."

STEINER SEES HOPE FOR U. S. DESPITE ILLS

(Continued from Page 1.) "To me, getting my citizenship papers was the culmination of my biggest dream," he declared. "In fact, I expected so much from the procedure that I was not satisfied with the curt and undignified ceremony the first time. I applied a second time and consequently, am twice a citizen of the United States. If the teachers' oath law comes to Iowa, and God forbid that calamity, I shall be able to say that I have already sworn allegiance to the constitution on two occasions, which is more than most teachers can do."

From Pony to Chevrolet. Mildly satirizing American life of the present, Dr. Steiner drew parallels between life in this country 50 years ago and at the present time. He explained that Mary or John still came to the little red school house on a pony instead of in a Chevrolet, and that the compact was an unknown thing to Mary. He drew further comparisons between the mode of life in the two periods by the use of analogy between an ordinary, tasty apple which he purchased on landing in New York and the sugared, polished, chemico-skinned, cellophane-wrapped apple that is sold today. Having traced the changes that have come over the country in the last half century, the idealistic educator stated that his faith in America had faltered but once, and then in the thick of the depression. He stated that he was immediately reminded of the comparative advantages of a U. S. citizen over the inhabitants of the collectivist states of Europe by a friend from the continent and that his trust was renewed. In conclusion he said, "The American still has something to live for and something to die for. The question is, can we discipline ourselves morally, physically, and spiritually to face the new day free from the corroding forces that threaten society, so as to insure an America which the world still needs?"

EIGHT DENTISTS ATTEND IOWA DISTRICT MEETING

Both Nebraska Chapters of Delta Sigma Delta Send Delegates.

Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, was represented by five chapters at the district convocation held at the University of Iowa's chapter, Gamma Gamma, Dec. 4 and 5.

Chapters represented were the Nu chapter of Kansas City Dental College at Kansas City, Kas., Omega chapter at Creighton University, Omaha, Neb., Theta chapter at the University of Minnesota, and the Beta Beta chapter of the University of Nebraska.

CO-OPS OF ENGLAND ADVANCING RAPIDLY, SAYS DAN WILLIAMS

"In Manchester, where I spent two weeks, I had the opportunity of seeing many of the activities of the Co-Operative Wholesale society. Established in 1868, it now is one of England's largest business firms. In 1932 the turnover was 175 million and at that time 43 thousand workers were employed in its various plants and offices. English Co-Operators are exceedingly interested in the possibilities of co-operation in America, and I was shown every courtesy during my investigation," Williams said.
