DROUTH OFFERED AS OBSTACLE TO N. U. EXPANSION

granted a smaller appropriation than is now being requested. The governor is in agreement with the method of financing the building program, but believes that now is an inopportune time to begin this expansion.

"It was our argument," the chancellor continued, "that if we are ever to inaugurate this program, we must get it started, even if the beginning is a small one. And if we are to keep professors from resigning from Nebraska to take positions in schools that offer more money, the appropriation must be given consideration."

Besides the 2 mill levy, the university is asking for a total appropriation of $4,282,100 from tax funds for the next biennium. Mr. Cochran pointed out that the state must consider not only the amount of education demanded by the citizens, but the amount that the state can afford.

Cochran indicated further that the board of control requests for buildings from other institutions must also be considered, and some of these, notably that from Hastings normal school, ahead of that of the university.

A discussion of the comparative salaries received by professors and clerics of the university and those received by workers in other state institutions took place at the conference. It was pointed out that some of the stewards at the state hospitals were receiving $35 a month and board and that university clerks, assistants, and the like were not receiving more than an equivalent remuneration.

dent Roosevelt named Howard to be Minister to Paraguay. This was the high point of his career.

The diplomat was born in Papillion, Neb., where he attended the public schools, graduating from the University in 1908 with an LL.B. degree. As an undergraduate he won his letter in tennis and represented his chapter at the ATO Birmingham Congress of 1906. Before entering the government service he practiced law in Nebraska and New Mexico.

Comments F. D. R.

In commenting on the South American peace conference, Howard declared Roosevelt's actions to be the stroke of a genius. "The 'big brother' attitude has been well received, doing much to disintegrate the suspicion with which the smaller nations have tended to regard the United States."

Edgar Howard, the Minister's father who was also in Lincoln yesterday, is widely known, considered one of the most colorful figures of this region. Wearing his flowing white hair in a straight pompadour extending well down his neck, his garb marks him as one of distinctive personality. He traditionally wears a long, black cape and high boots, either going bareheaded out of doors, or wear-

EDUCATOR MAKES PUPPETS, STUDENTS TO PULL STRINGS

Miss Shanafelt Sponsors Daily Shows Beginning December 28.

Despite the desertion of the campus by students during the holidays, activity will not cease. In fact, room 20 in Morrill hall has probably never witnessed such rapt attention from a university class as it will from the puppet loving audience that will attend a performance of "Jack and the Beanstalk."

Beginning Dec. 28, there will be a performance at 2:30 every afternoon, and one at 8 o'clock every evening with the exception of Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The shows will be given for a week, thru Jan. 2, in room 20 of Morrill hall.

The holiday puppet show is an annual event sponsored by Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, director of visual education in connection with the museum. She herself has made the puppet characters. Seven university students will be engaged in pulling the strings of some twenty puppet actors.

In connection with the show, there will be a display of authentic foreign dolls, puppets and books on puppet shows collected by interested persons in the city. The entire show was designed primarily for children but should others be interested, and many are, in puppets, dolls, or reviewing the thrilling adventure of Jack, his beanstalk and the giant, they are cordially invited to attend.

BROADY SENTENCES THIEF TO STATE REFORMATORY

Graham Pleads Guilty to Charge of Robbing S. A. M. House.

Pleading guilty to a charge of burglarizing the Sigma Alpha Mu house on Dec. 4 as an accomplice of another man whose identity has not been revealed, Milford Graham, 26, was sentenced to one to three years in the state reformatory by Judge Broady in district court Thursday.

A former Nebraska student in the Eliaz college whose home is in College View, Graham broke into tears when sentence was pronounced. This is his second offense, having been paroled about five years ago on a no fund check charge.

K. U. CHANCELLOR ASKS BUDGET RESTORATION

Additional Appropriations Necessary to Offset Enrollment Rise.

LAWRENCE, Kas., Dec. 17.—An operating budget sufficient to carry the increased student enrollment and to restore a part of the depression salary reductions, and to meet emergency building needs, was asked for the University of Kansas by Chancellor E. H. Lindley in his biennial report to the Board of Regents. Even the present budget cannot be continued without added legislative appropriations, since expenditures of this biennium, under legislative direction, have drawn heavily on emergency or reserve balances. The use of $100,000 in this way this year completely exhausts the reserves at Kansas City and virtually exhausts them at Lawrence.

In support of his plea for increased appropriations, Chancellor Lindley points to the constantly increasing enrollment, making heavier demands on the teaching staff, on classroom space, and on laboratory equipment, some of which is rapidly becoming obsolete. "Efficiency demands an adequate teaching staff, modern laboratory and other equipment, and new buildings," he says.

Enrollment at the University this year, the Chancellor reports, is 969 greater than in 1933, the depression low, and 353 greater than at any other time in the University's history. As compared to 1929-30, attendance is now 10 percent greater and regular appropriations are fully 25 percent less.
