BY ED STEEVES.

Last weekend found two unexpected contenders dusting off the Big Six throne for use this season. They were Kansas university and our own Husker cagers, both of whom knocked off a couple of undefeated quintets in Oklahoma U and Missouri respectively. This action leaves no Big Six team with an undefeated schedule and only two undefeated in conference

Before the weekend's festivities Nebraska and last year's champs were considered a couple of fair and so so mediocrities with Missouri and Oklahoma holding all the aces. The Huskers have been generally conceded and edge over the Jayhawkers.

Cyclones Bite Dust Twice. Kansas State took one on the solar plexis with a stiff 47-41 de-feat from Oklahoma and then pivoted and socked the cellar inhabitant, Iowa State, 44-31. The Cyclones also accepted a bitter loss from Creighton.

Nebraska fans were very busy crossing fingers as the Huskers journeyed against the Missouri Tigers, but were clenching tightly to the hope that the eastern trip had given them the stuff to wal lop the formerly undefeated Tigers. The victory came not as a shock to the Nebraska fans but as a gentle surprise in the way of score.

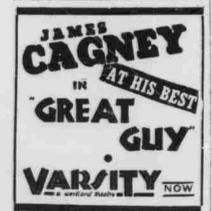

Amen, who has been sprinting up the ladder since the checkout, finally loosened up and let himself run amuck as he overshadowed every one else on the floor with brilliant point gaining and maple play, Rifling 13 points, he is now sure of a forward spot.

Amen High Scorer.

In the first ten minutes of play Amen and Bob Parsons ran up 11 points on their side of the score a bit confident at the whirlwind exhibition, the Huskers settled back a little too casually and the Missourians pulled up to tie the score at the half.

The second half found both teams taking its turn at the lead until Amen and Sorensen took it upon themselves to settle the whole affair. A late Missouri rally was of no avail as the Huskers plugged along in steady style to protect their prized margin, winning 31-22, Team members were more than satisfied with their showing in the Mule state and named it as their best showing of the season. Without doubt the feature of the game was the finding of Amen, thus eliminating the possibility of Parsons moving to a forward.

Mylon Creighton, former Gothenburg high all-around athlete who is now manager of the Chicago Cardinals, professional football outfit, conferred with Nebraska officials Monday after-noon in regard to a potential pro gridman from the ranks of the Cornhusker seniors. Object of his trip to Huskerland was Virgil Yelkin, who completed his grid career this past fall and who may enter the professional arena to be paid for his grid playing at right

Boss of the Cardinals, Creighton was an all-state man in both football and basketball from Gothenburg for wo years around in "Tommy Thompson was his high school and a coach former Nebrasathlete. Thompson was elevated from 'Swedeville" to Arkansas and Creighton went VIRGIL YELKIN along with Thompson who is now head coach of the Razorbacks, Creighton was an All American under Thompson at Arkansas.

Whether or not a deal is made between Yelkin and Creighton remains to be seen. Creighton is in need of another good flank man for his squad and Yelkin is just the man for the job. The offer of the Cardinals' manager and Yelkin's willingness to play football for a living are the two matters under fire.

Sam'l Francis is under a glass cage from the professional football viewpoint. He wont' take the stipend that the Philadelphia Eagles proffered him and since the Eagles have the option on Nebraska's versatile fullback thru the draft arrange-ments that the national pro leagues have yearly, Sam'l may turn out to be a holdout. Like young Bob Feller, the sensational kid baseball pitcher, for instance, whose ante was considerably upped by the major league bigshots. The Eagles may decide to turn the option on Sam'l over to some other pro outfit for a price and, if Sam'l still wants to play pro ball, he'll go to the club that offers him the best price, while holding the option in the other hand. Get all you can get, Sam'l; pro ball, they say, is tough sledding!

PITT PANTHERS NAME THREE CORNHUSKERS ON ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Francis, Cardwell, Brock Selected on Opposing Honor Roll.

Coming home with the scent of roses from the bowl, the Pittsburgh Panthers scrambled all their foes in an attempt to pick an all op-ponent eleven. When all the stirring was over by both players and coach, three Nebraska players rose to the top of the omelet. They were the expected Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwel, and in the way of a surprise-Charlie Brock.

The Panthers reported playing against the countries best pivot men, but Charlie Brock was the best they had seen. They recognized Francis for his kicking and plunging. It was in the Husker-Panther mix that Sam let that punt fly for better than eighty yards n the air.

Cardwell, in spite of being injured early in the Smokey City fray, was picked as one of the country's best two half backs.

The team included: Hains of Washington; Boyd Brumbaugh of Duquesne; Wojciehowicz of Fordham and Cherundolo of Penn State in the backfield.

Wendt, Ohio State and Paquin, Fordham, ends; Barbartsky, Fordham and Markov, Washington, tackles; Henrion, Carnegie Tech and Peirce, Fordham, guards and Brock, Nebraska, in the line.

B BASKEBALL TEAM GOES TO CRETE FOR CAGE GAME TONIGHT

Knightmen Face Busy Week With Three Contests Scheduled.

Idle since the conclusion of the Christmas recess, Coach Wilbur Knigha's "B" quintet has three engagements for this week. Tonight the Knightmen amble to Crete for a match against Mentor Gene Haylett's Doane college basketeers. In the last meeting of the two schools the Huskers made off with a comparatively easy triumph, and have high aspirations of turning in a counterpart performance tonight. Out to avenge a previous set-back handed them, the Nebraskans go to Kearney Friday for a dual with Coach Pop Klein's Kearney Teachers. The week's bombarding comes to a climax Saturday night as the reserves face Hebron junior college on the ag college maples.

and worth of human experiences. "Children should be given the facts concerning the government and conditions of Russia, of Germany, and of Italy," Dr. Tittle as-serted. "If we are to think we should be given the facts of the world and should be allowed to evaluate its institutions. People cannot think if they are given the answers in advance or if they are allowed but one conclusion."

Attacks Fascism.

Fascist philosophy is wholly in-compatible with the kind of education which the world needs, the pastor explained. He expressed the belief that it is merely an attempt to bolster up a crumbling order war conditions, and compared to the futile struggling of a drowning man who has spied a straw.

Dr. Tittle described fascism as "naturalistic philosophy" which there is no place for God. He said that God is conceived in a transcendant form, and declared that Hitler wants to make the country his people's god.

"If we are wise we will try to promote a high religious concep-toin of life upon which our culture is essentially based," Dr. concluded, "and upon which our whole existence is dependent.
