SEEN ON THE CAMPUS.

Ground covered with "sleet," that disgusting combination of sleet and snot, and everywhere people mincing along very gingerly to avoid contact with the cold, cold ground. Betty Widener listening attentively to the A. T. O. sweetheart song and then remarking casually that it sounded sort of like "Old Black Joe." Prof. Lancaster being facetious and asking Charlie whether she is a good or a bad Omei. John Folsom doing a back flip on the steps of the Tri Delta house; it was the ice. Chick Reilly and Speed Jacobson on the lookout for a new love, and Don Kellogg showing gregarious tendencies by demanding two to avoid monotony. Burt Hartzell carrying around his prize candid camera shot, a picture of a rooster's night life complete with cutlers deluxe. Frances Scudder and Bill Hollister dancing in the soft light sweet music atmosphere of the Aegwam office. Prof. Alund remarking that it was very chill going home from the Ball without his overcoat. The Chi Phi's and the Alpha Phi's proving very adroit in the art of flipping pie.

AROUND AND ABOUT

Candid Cameraman Clayton professes to have been considerably embarrassed at his invasion of a "boudoir" at the Delta Gamma house Sunday for publicity pictures on the junior-senior prom. So acute, in fact, was his confusion that he was one-half hour late for a date with Jane Sinclair. But that's better than the fate of Patty Scott and Jack Fate who didn't get to the Pi Phi formal at all. What's the old nursery rhyme about the ten o'clock scholar?

We were discussing the excessive assignments of a certain romance language professor. Commented a star pupil, "Dr. Kurz gives you lots of work, too, but at least he's DECENT about it." We're in favor of founding a league for such decency.

Two women were discussing their afflictions. They agreed that the hovering female attendant during a physical examination is a genuine source of embarrassment while the physician alone is not so. Said one, "I'll take my doctors straight."

clude one or two animals. Ribbons will be awarded the best three riders in each of the classes, and cash awards will be issued to three most nearly correct in the entire judging. Medals will also be awarded to each of the three high competitors.

Ballots will be sold to contending students for ten cents, with no charge will be made to outsiders, since they have no chance of winning the cash awards. Bidding will be done as though it were a large stock show, with buyers viewing the stock only as it is led through the ring. Results of the competition will be announced the following Tuesday evening.

Friday night the annual Junior Ak-Sar-Ben ball will take the spotlight, while most of Saturday's activities will be centered about the competitive showmanship contest.

WORCESTER TO ADVISE ON COST OF EDUCATION

Named Consultant in Study Of Educational Facilities Of New York.

Dr. A. C. Worcester's eminence in the field of educational psychology was recognized with his appointment as consultant in connection with the regents inquiry into the cost and character of education in New York state. He is chairman of this department at the university. His special task will be a study of the strengths and weaknesses of the present system of regents examinations in New York, and to propose any needed modifications of the system so that it will more effectively meet educational needs.

The regents inquiry is under the general direction of Dr. Luther Gulick, head of the public administration research bureau in New York City, and special phases of the study are being directed by President Elliott of Purdue university. Professors Judd of the University of Chicago, Breuckner of the University of Minnesota, and Spaulding of Maryland, and several others who are interested in special fields of study.

Dr. Worcester will go to Albany, N. Y., early in February to meet with the inquiry staff.

NEW STUDENT UNION BUILDING THEME OF CHARTER DAY PLANS

GEORGE E. GRIMES, (President of the Nebraska Alumni Organization)—"The Student Union will bind Nebraska students more closely together in democratic friendship. It will extend the collegiate atmosphere and influence to leisure time activities, so important in developing personality, and now entirely neglected at Nebraska."

DEAN R. A. LYMAN—"I think the immediate value of the Union building lies in the fact that it gives the students themselves an opportunity to express their creative ability in something tangible."

ARNOLD LEVIN (president of the Student Council)—"Undoubtedly the most human influence ever propagated in Nebraska."

SECRETARY RAMSAY—"The Student Union will be the greatest single contribution to the welfare of the student since the beginning of the university. The alumni of Nebraska should consider it a privilege to be instrumental in the development of this project."

Lincoln's Charter Day program will unofficially get under way Sunday, Feb. 14, with a concert in the coliseum at 3 p. m. by the University Symphony orchestra under the direction of Raymond R. Reed. According to Ramsay, many alumni have already made plans to be in Lincoln for the event.

Official opening of the festivities will take place at an all university convocation in the coliseum at 10:15 a. m. Sir Arthur Willert, celebrated English journalist and lecturer, will address the audience on the subject, "Europe—1937." This morning feature is expected to vie with the traditional Charter day dinner Monday evening as one of the headline attractions of the 1937 program. Sir Arthur comes to Lincoln with a reputation well known throughout Europe and the United States. His experience as the former press officer of the British foreign office makes him one of the most authoritative speakers in the world today.

Early in 1935 the Englishman resigned from the British foreign office in order to return to a work which he had always wished to do—that of writing. In his earlier years after an apprenticeship in the Berlin and Paris offices of the London Times, he was sent to Washington to assist in the local bureau of that newspaper, later being appointed as chief correspondent for the Times of the United States. In 1919 he was made knight commander of the Order of the British Empire for his services to his government.

Sir Arthur has been a member of numerous British delegations, has attended almost all the important international conferences since the World War, and has represented the British government in various official capacities. After noon members of the executive committee of the University of Nebraska foundation will meet for their business session. At this time new officers will be elected, a report of the year's progress will be made, and a program for the future outlined. It was at the evening Charter day dinner a year ago that Chancellor Burnett and Dean H. H. Foster of the law college officially presented the foundation program to an enthusiastic audience of alumni, faculty, and friends.

George E. Grimes will act as toastmaster at the evening dinner at the University club Monday at 6:30. Sir Arthur Willert will be a guest of honor. With the new Union building as the general theme, Walter Wilson, who drew the plans for the building, will give an illustrated lecture, using slides to show the arrangements of the floor space and the many new and novel accommodations that will be provided.

Chancellor Burnett will review the work of the foundation and record the progress that has been made in other lines during the year. What he will have to say about the hopes and the realizations of the foundation will be of interest to everyone in attendance.

Ned Brown, who has guided the progress of the foundation through its first year, will be unable to attend the alumni meetings here Monday, since he will be the principal speaker at the annual roundup of Nebraska alumni in Los Angeles. The basketball game of Nebraska vs. Kansas State will be held in Lincoln Monday evening of Charter day.

Regarding the theme of the 68th Charter day, Secretary Ramsay describes the Union building for "the individual who doesn't understand what it is," "a student center, a place for all student activities, extra-curricular and social; a place undergraduates can call their own; a hub around which a wholesome campus life can revolve; a necessity in any modern educational institution; a dire need at Nebraska."

The new building has been designed to meet the needs of the university. Its three stories and basement will provide rooms for lounges, fountain service, alumni office, student activities, ballroom, private dining rooms, library and reading rooms, a main dining room, publication offices, and others.

This campaign of the alumni's to raise $75,000 is a "campaign for advancement. What could be more fitting on the university's 68th birthday than a worthwhile program to aid in the building of the Union, itself to be a lasting memorial?"

YM SPONSORS SECOND PRE-EASTER MEETING

Student Discussion Group To Study Incidents In Jesus' Life.

The second of a pre-Easter series of discussion meeting for all university men has been set for Friday noon, February 12, in room 6 of the former museum.

The seven outstanding incidents in the life and teachings of Jesus and the bearing of these incidents on present day happenings will constitute the subject matter of these meetings, states Secretary C. D. Hayes of the campus Y. M. At this Friday meeting the growing opposition of the Pharisees to the teachings of Jesus will be discussed, with emphasis on a comparison of methods used then and now in dealing with opposition in the bringing about of changed conditions in the social order.

An invitation is issued to all university men to attend these meetings, which are scheduled for Friday of each week from 12 to 1 o'clock.

of their skills. Names of persons in charge of acts must be included with the synopsis of skits.

Nominees for appearance in the style review will also be submitted on Friday, according to Miss Cherny, with the provision that each house may nominate no more than six girls. The models who will perform in the review on April 8 will be selected by a committee from the A. W. S. Board. Candidates for Best Dressed Girl must be handed in with skit plans and style show nominees.

Camera Club.

Meeting of the regular division of the Lincoln Camera Club will be postponed until Feb. 16. The delay is the result of official business which must be finished before the next meeting when officers will be elected.

STOCKTON POINTS MAJOR ERRORS IN SCARCITY THEORY

and which make money for the stockholders under such conditions. I believe that these three objectives are the foundation stones of all good management and that public policy should be directed toward their achievement."

Condemns Subsidies.

Speaking of the AAA, Dean Stockton maintained that land use must not be based on productivity but rather on market conditions. There is no logic in saying that the American economic system is the most efficient in the world and then say that we need protection. No business unit can be successful by depending on subsidies or exploitation, the speaker held.

"I object to any relief progress that assumes that economic water should flow uphill at the cost of protection. We first curtail production and make the soil more fertile. As the soil becomes more fertile there is a greater production and a surplus again arises. Where do we get?"

Shorter Working Hours.

Another fallacy of our present economic system which Dr. Stockton pointed out was the fact that unemployment can be solved by shortening hours of work. The ultimate effects of this theory has not been checked and shortened hours will not increase the efficiency of the worker, the Kansas professor held. Economists mostly favor shorter hours and have concluded that more men will go to work when more goods are sold.

Dean Stockton is one of the nation's foremost authorities on economic and labor problems. He served at the University of South Dakota from 1917 to 1924 as professor of economics and dean of the college of arts and sciences.

In 1924 Dean Stockton joined the faculty at the University of Kansas and holds the present position of dean of the school of business and chairman of the department of economics. Author of many works dealing with labor and economic problems, Dr. Stockton also served on the technical staff of the wage statistics unit of the United States personnel board in 1928.

Featured also on last night's program was Miss Marie Mengers, instructor in romance languages. Miss Mengers read several selections of her own poetic works, including the verse which she wrote for the University Ivy Day ceremonies several years ago.

Herbert Marshall says: "...a light smoke is a joy to the throat"

"Before I came over to this country an English cigarette appealed to me because it was firmly packed. In America I tried various popular brands looking for the same virtue. Lucky Strike led all the rest. And what's more—I soon discovered that Luckies were a light smoke and a positive joy to the throat."

Herbert Marshall HERBERT MARSHALL FAMOUS RKO RADIO PICTURES' STAR

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Marshall verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen, and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat!
