Engineers Bring International Harvester Display to Campus As Part of New Diesel Course

On display today and tomorrow as a new feature of the engineering college's Diesel engine short course is a collection of special instruction and display equipment of the International Harvester Co. The exhibit arrived yesterday from Iowa State college where it was on display the first part of the week, and has been set up in the basement of mechanical engineering hall. The course is sponsored by the agricultural engineering and mechanical engineering departments under the supervision of Professor E. E. Brackett and J. W. Haney.

The instruction work for International Harvester is under the direction of George Penkoff, who has had considerable experience in the design, construction, and servicing of Diesel engines in Europe as well as in the United States.

Mr. Penkoff is a graduate of the mechanical engineering department of the University of California, and has had direct charge of servicing of International Harvester Diesel power units and tractors in northern California for the past several years.

POWER OF PRESS BRINGS RETURNS — ARNDT'S O'COAT

The power exerted by the press was evidenced Wednesday, when a conscious-stricken Daily Nebraskan reader, after noticing in Tuesday's paper a little yarn about the loss of Prof. Karl Arndt's overcoat at the recent interfraternity ball, returned the garment.

All due credit for the return of the overcoat was given to the Daily Nebraskan by the suave interpreter of economics, who affirmed that if mention of the loss had not been made, the windbreaker would never have been returned. Prof. Arndt evidently didn't recall that he had kept an eye out for the overcoat in his classes during the first part of the week, and was in the job college who would have tripped into class wearing the professor's own garment.

A reporter chanced on the glib tongued professor of wit and economics Wednesday afternoon as he left his office for the day, wearing one overcoat and carrying the returned garment over one arm. This was quite ample proof of the present capitalistic system, which falls heir to the jests and witticisms of Prof. Arndt, and which enables him to have two overcoats.

What about the law of diminishing utility, Prof. Arndt?

SPONSORS OF R.O.T.C. TO HOLD TEA DANCE FOR CADET OFFICERS

Miss Yoder Tells Plans to Honor Campus Leaders at Feb. 27 Party.

Sponsors of the various R.O.T.C. units of the university military department will honor officers of the Nebraska cadet corps at a tea dance to be held on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 27, from 3 to 5:30 o'clock at the Cornhusker hotel, according to plans disclosed today by Mary Yoder, honorary colonel and president of the sponsors' organization.

Social chairmen and presidents of organized women's houses on the campus will also be invited to the tea dance as special guests. Miss Yoder explained, in addition to approximately 100 women who are recognized as being leaders in campus activities.

To Select Orchestra.

As yet no definite statement can be made as to the orchestra which will be secured to furnish music for the affair, but a committee under the chairmanship of Ruth Thygeson has been appointed and is making tentative plans for this part of the afternoon's entertainment, Miss Yoder commented.

Committees which Miss Yoder appointed to make arrangements for the affair include: General committee, Marion Rolland, chairman; Betty Van Horn, June Butler and Virginia Foster; room committee, Jean Doty, chairman; Betty Rowland and Muriel Krasne; food committee, Marjorie Bamis; chairmen; Betty Widener and Pat Lahr; orchestra, Ruth Thygeson; chairman; Irene Sellers and Dorothy Chapelow; invitations, Virginia Anderson, chairman; Jane Brackett and Jane Walcott.

E. B. Slason Tonight to Show Progress in Construction.

Showing the progress in the work of construction on the San Francisco bridge, E. B. Slason of the American Steel and Wire company will show sound motion pictures before the semester's first all engineering college convocation tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Social Science auditorium. Members of the Lincoln Engineers club and the Nebraska Engineers Executive board made arrangements for Mr. Slason's appearance.

"The San Francisco bay bridge is particularly interesting to Nebraska engineers because the chief engineer on this work was Charles H. Purcell who was a civil engineering graduate from this campus in 1906," declared Dean O. J. Ferguson of the engineering college. "Charles Purcell was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of engineering in 1935 and is now chief of division and state highway engineer in California."

Picture is Educational.

"The motion picture will also be extremely educational because it will show the work of building up the wire cables of the bridge," Dean Ferguson added. "Few of us will ever get on a job which will offer us a view of such construction work."

"The San Francisco bay bridge has two cables of 28 and three-quarters inches in diameter. Each cable has 17,464 wires," stated Lowell Newmyer, president of the engineering executive board. "Evidently the picture will show the work of the company which Mr. Slason represents. Since a great number of engineers were interested in the bridge work, we thought that it would be of general interest to bring the picture here. The picture will be very interesting to all engineers since it shows closeup action of actual construction on the bridge."

Mr. Slason's picture will be about 50 minutes in length. Having shown the motion pictures before various engineering groups in Omaha during the past week, Slason will arrive in Lincoln this morning.

JENKINS, THOMAS WIN ARCHITECTURE HONORS

Drawings of Art Gallery, Cemetery Entrance Take Top Ratings.

In the latest two problem examination in the department of architecture, Deane Jenkins won first place in the junior division with his plans for an art gallery, and Robert Thomas received highest rating in the sophomore division with plans for an entrance to a cemetery.

Other members of the junior class who received mention were Robin Smith and Barbara Abbott. A sophomore award went to Jean Whinnery.

Subjects for the plans were assigned by the department and judged by a committee composed of Prof. Linus Burr Smith, chairman of the department, and Ben F. Hemphill and Albert L. Pugsley, instructors.

Both sets of problems had a two week time limit set for their completion. It was assumed that the art gallery was to be erected on the university campus with rooms for permanent and temporary exhibits, studios, and housing facilities for various art societies. The entrance to a cemetery was, theoretically, to be located near the Lincoln city limits.

The drawings will remain on display for several days in the west corridor of the department of architecture, ground floor, Temple building.

LES McDONALD LOSES TO OLYMPIC BOXER IN OMAHA

Vinciguerra Gets Decision Over Husker in Golden Gloves Meet.

Les McDonald, Nebraska's all Reg Six end from Grand Island, dropped by the wayside Tuesday night in the race for heavyweight honors in the fourth annual mid-west Golden Gloves A. A. U. boxing tournament at the Omaha city auditorium.

The adverse decision came after a game stand against Carl Vinciguerra, member of the 1936 U. S. Olympic boxing team. Lacking the experience of his Olympic opponent, McDonald tried to offset this handicap by relying on his ability to "take it." Vinciguerra punched and walloped for three rounds, but at the final bell "Mac" was still on his feet and apparently as fresh as ever.

Vinciguerra, who is competing unattached from Omaha, will meet Paul Hartneck, Omaha CYO, for the heavyweight crown.
