

By Ed Steeves.

"Nebraska does not divide attendance of athletics with any other school in the state to any major extent," boasted the little mandarin, "when you go into the state and talk football, they are talking about the University of Nebraska. There is a massed spirit and interest."

We can just hear the ex-Husker drawl this message to Gould and others. We still feel that part of Bible, at least, is in Nebraska.

When he spoke of players, he nominated George Henry Sauer, a former Husker and former Bay pro, as the best football player he had ever seen. For the red ribbons he named Lloyd Cardwell and Sam Francis, stars of last season.

As for our new grid pilot, Bible is as strong for Biff Jones as the pieces are for aqua. "As for my successor there," grinned the "late" Dana, "Biff Jones is a thorough in every sense of the word. Everyone can rest assured that that athletic program is in safe hands."

THREE ELEVENS SENT THRU TWO HARD WORKOUTS

Coach Jones Accentuates Passing; Fred Shirey Takes Drill.

It was the same old story of going thru fundamentals yesterday as Coach Biff Jones gave three full eleven's stiff workout. Sunny weather greeted the gridsters and caused sweat to drip heavily from their brows before the practice period was halted late in the evening. After the usual warming up session, Major Jones sent several of his pupils thru a specialties rehearsal. Herm Rohrig, who is being groomed for a quarterback post, bore the brunt in punting and field goal kicking. His educated toe sent many placements thru the uprights and onlookers remonstrated that Nebraska will have a good extra kicker in Rohrig to replace Sam Francis. All-American fullback last year.

With Old Man Sol emitting torrid heat rays on the grass rectangle, Mentor Jones pushed some 34 players thru two dummy scrimmages. The first eleven found, as usual, Dohrmann and Richardson at the flank posts; Doyle and Mills at the tackle guards; Mehring and English at the berths; Brock at the key post; and Dodd, Rohrig, Andrews and Howell in the backfield. Passes Stressed.

Short passes were stressed in yesterday's drills and each squad got a thorough review of the aerial phase. Howell and Andrews monopolized the heaving of passes with Richardson and Dohrmann on the receiving ends. The second team's backfield was composed of Thurston Phelps, Exeter; Bob Morris, North Platte; Art Ball, Fremont, and Jim Mather, Arapahoe with Eldon McIlvray being inserted at every other play.

Line Coach Roy Lyman, detecting several mistakes in the forward wall through the course of the scrimmage, took his linemen to the east corner of the field and gave them pointers on shoulder blocking. Varsity performers were given an especially heavy dose of this blocking as Mentor Lyman is attempting to hammer the fundamentals of blocking into them before the onset of fall. Theodore Doyle, Bob Mills, tackles; and Bob Mehring and Lowell English, guards, are lettermen who were given an exacting lesson yesterday by the forward wall coach.

Shirey in Sweat Clothes. Fred Shirey, Husky tackle for the past two years, suited up in sweat garments yesterday and took it rather easy. The veteran tackle from Latrobe, Pa., has been a victim of illness for nearly two months and is still feeling its effects. However, Shirey is counted on to be in the best fettle for the autumn schedule.

Yesterday's group work disclosed the fact that there will not be a dearth of passers this season. Thurston Phelps, Johnny Howell, Harris Andrews, Herm Rohrig, Jim Mather, Eldon McIlvray and several others are all accurate in flinging the pigskin.

Trackmen Compete In Texas Relays Today

CINDERMEN TREK SOUTH FOR TENTH ANNUAL FESTIVAL

Francis, Cardy, Matteson, Andrews, West, Kuper, Gish Make Trip.

Headed by Track Coach Henry F. Schulte, seven versatile trackmen—Lloyd Cardwell, Sam Francis, Bill Gish, Al Kuper, Wilson Andrews, Fred Matteson and Bob West—left yesterday via the Burlington route for the Texas Relays to be held April 3 at Austin, Tex. The contingent is scheduled to arrive in Austin this afternoon at 2:30 and will return 8:50 Monday morning.

All-American Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell both enter the Longhorn classic with crowns at stake. Sam threw the shot 51 feet 9 3/8 inches to take first prize at the '36 show while Cardy broad-jumped an even 23 feet for a like position. Both kings are promised plenty of competition when they attempt to retain their laurels.

Cardy Third in High. Running in the 120 yard high hurdles, the Wild Hoos ran into some stern opposition and was forced to content himself with a third. Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist universities took this event. However, Mentor Schulte still avers that if Cardy had been in the best of shape he would have placed at least second in the high barriers.

"The squad is in the best of shape," said Coach Schulte as he plotted means of making a better showing this year. "The strength of the squad was plainly evidenced as it took the Big Six indoor track conference some weeks back at Columbia, Mo."

Al Kuper is the only sophomore making the trek to the Texas meet. The half miler from Nelson won the right to compete in the "Friendly City" by virtue of an 850 yard victory in a special trout held last week. Kuper traversed this distance in 2:01.5 and beat out Bob Allen and Paul Owens, also sophomores.

Hayes Selected Referee. E. C. Hayes, track coach at Indiana and U. S. Olympic mentor in 1936, has been selected to referee the contest. This is the tenth year that the Lone Star state has put on this important relay. High winds kept the Husker runners indoors yesterday, although the javelin throwers managed to get in a few outdoor practice rounds before being herded under the east stadium by Preceptor Schulte. Harris Andrews, who is best known to Nebraska athletic team followers as a halfback, threw the javelin 180 feet. Dohrmann, letter winner in the javelin, is still working out with the football squad and has done little work with the spear.

NATION TO HONOR MORTON IN ARBOR DAY CEREMONIES

M. B. Jenkins, secretary of the tree planting activity of the American Legion in Nebraska, called attention to this statement in the programs being distributed to committee members concerned with the legion's Arbor day plans. "On Arbor Day this year, April 22, 1937, a bust of J. Sterling Morton will be unveiled, dedicated and placed in the Congressional library, Washington, D. C. The sculptor, Rudolph Evans, was also the sculptor for the Memorial Monument at Arbor Lodge. The ceremonies will be attended by state and prominent citizens from every part of the nation.

"It is fitting that the people of Nebraska should enter not only into the spirit of these dedicational ceremonies but that they on this day should pledge their lives to the work of tree planting and conservation which our great citizen and statesman so nobly began. As we place in the Congressional library this bronze likeness of J. Sterling Morton, let us become the incarnate living descendants of this great apostle of conservation and thus perpetuate the ideals to which he dedicated so full a portion of his life."

Miss Frances Kendig of Kenbridge, Va., national inspector of Kappa Delta sorority, accompanied by Dorothy Kline, president of the local chapter, and Miss Charlotte Penney, an alumna from Kansas, motored to Omaha Saturday to attend a luncheon at the Fontenelle, sponsored by the Omaha alumnae association of the sorority.

FORMER MINNESOTA DEAN VISITS CAMPUS

Dr. G. B. Frankforter, '86 Is Holiday Guest at Nebraska.

Dr. George B. Frankforter, graduate in the class of 1886, was a visitor on the campus here during the Easter holidays. Dr. Frankforter received his master's degree at Nebraska in 1888 and his doctor's degree at the University of Berlin in 1891.

He returned here then as a member of the faculty for a short time and then went to the University of Minnesota. He remained at that institution until his retirement a few years ago at which time he was dean of the school of chemistry.

During the World war, Dr. Frankforter obtained a leave of absence and was a major in the ordinance department, specializing in incendiary bullets. At the close of the war, he was technical adviser to the war claims board for over a year.

Accompanied here by his son Bill, Dr. Frankforter visited here at the home of his nephew, Col. C. J. Frankforter of the chemistry department. It was his first visit to the Nebraska campus in a number of years, and he expressed pleasure at the impressions made, being particularly impressed by Morrill hall.

Miss Rigdon, Dr. Bengtson Prepare Bulletin for Publication.

Manuscript and illustrations for a new manual in economic geography were sent to the Prentice-Hall Publishing company in New York by Miss Vera A. Rigdon and Dr. N. A. Bengtson of the geography department this week.

The manual, tentatively titled "Workbook in Economic Geography for Colleges," is one of a series of manuals for geography for which Mr. Bengtson is geographical editor. Several of the series have already been printed, and the new book is expected to be published in May.

Work on the manual was completed by Miss Rigdon and Mr. Bengtson during spring vacation. It is designed to be used in connection with any standard text. Exercises for formal laboratory work in schools where such work is given and for independent student work in courses where laboratory work is not offered are also included.
