Circumlocutions Speech, Not Writing

Some of us smaller fry are bewildered a bit by the prevailing opposing schools of thought on the tender topic of spade calling.

But in the world of creative thinking, especially composition, euphemism is a thing desired. The best circles name names, and let the chips fall where they may.

So it looks like as if as how there will have to be some standardization made. Either the speech department should be permitted to send ringing "god-dams" and "helluvas" into the vaulted atmosphere of the Temple theater.

When Boys Won't Be Boys. And while we're on the subject of feminine attire, the Kosmet Klub's scramble for costumes is a notable one indeed.

We don't face Charlie Hoff a single other time until we comment with joy upon the fact that the junior chamber sponsored bill for the illumination of the capitol tower has been passed.

Nebraska hides its shining architectural light under the bushel. Now the soaring Sower will be visible for miles of nights.

The Weather. Clear but cool is the weather ordered for today by Professor Blair. Warm spring weather will come before long, and we can't kick about a drought yet either, as his records show an abnormal amount of rain already this year.

FAMOUS HISTORIAN MAKES APPEARANCE IN LINCOLN APRIL 13

Illinois Professor to Speak Tuesday on "Survivals That Last."

Dr. Abram Leon Sachar, nationally famous historian, biographer and educator, will make his first appearance in Lincoln Tuesday, April 13, speaking at the Lindell hotel at 8:30 o'clock.

"Survivals That Last" is the topic of the lecture Dr. Sachar will deliver. In this address the most romantic and important adventures of the Jewish people are centered about their unique physical survivals.

Typical of the immense appeal of Dr. Sachar as a lecturer is the fact that his classes at the University of Illinois where he instructs in the field of modern European and English history have always been among the most popular on the campus, crowded alike by students and visitors.

During the past two years, polls have been taken at the end of the lecture season at Sinai Forum, Chicago, where 2,300 course patrons were given an opportunity to express their preference. Dr. Sachar polled first in each year among the 26 speakers who appeared on the program which included nationally known celebrities.

In communities like Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Rochester, Montreal, St. Louis and scores of others Dr. Sachar has been recalled year after year, often for lecture series.

P.A.D. DEBATERS DEFEAT SAMMIES FOR 1937 CROWN

Curtiss, Shuck, Wilke, Bstandig to Make Trip to Iowa Legislature.

By a unanimous vote of three judges, Phi Alpha Delta clinched the fraternity intramural debate championship when they defeated Sigma Alpha Mu in Andrews hall last evening. In reward for their victory, the P. A. D.'s will take possession of the Delta Sigma Rho silver gavel which has been coveted for the past year by the Sammy group.

Outstanding in the entire debate, according to all three judges, was the P. A. D. orator, Frank Landis. Attempting to retain the crown for the Sammies were Leo Turkel and Leo Eisenstatt, debating the affirmative side of the labor dispute question. Otto Wellensick and Landis, on the negative, took possession of the victory for their legal fraternity. Judges for the affair were Gerald Vitanvas, Lenord Kreuger, and Paul Bender, all university students of debate.

Probably the most important mistake of the affirmative, which the negative clearly pointed out according to one judge, was that the Sammy group did not present any definite plan whereby there could be compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. All three judges agreed that the laurels should go to the P. A. D. group. If possible, and favorable with the winners of last evening's competition, a debate will be scheduled with the Lincoln Boosters, non-fraternity section winners by no debate.

New Debate Squad. Also on the slate in last evening's forensic activities was the choosing of the four man squad that will attend the Iowa State Legislative assembly. Chosen to (Continued on Page 2.)

12 SORORITY WOMEN GET PHI BETA KAPPA CONVOCATION HONOR

Alpha Omicron Pi Leads Greek List With 5 New Members.

Twelve sorority women on the list of Phi Beta Kappa's new members is a disapproval of the prevalent contention that sorority women think only of social activities. The naming of five members of Alpha Omicron Pi, is an attainment of one organization unprecedented on the university campus.

The five members honored are: Ellen Srb, Dwight; Elizabeth Temple, Lincoln; Harriet Heumann, Seward; Doris Elizabeth Peake, Omaha and Dorothy Bentz of Lincoln.

Kappa Alpha Theta was represented by Mary Yoder, and Vera Wekesser of Lincoln. Alpha Phi also claims two new members of the honorary, Elaine Shonka, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Ruth Nelson of Oklahoma.

Clare Hallett, Lincoln, who topped the list of students honored with an average of 95.86 is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, Eleanor Cook, Chadron, is a member of Delta Delta Delta and Jean Hoag, Lincoln, is a Gamma Phi Beta.

Several of the girls have served as president of their sororities and have been prominent in women's activities.

Familiar Faces, Figures Return for Leading Roles in Bar-O-Ranch

Two faces (and at least one figure) which appear in the pictures beside this article, are familiar to Kosmet Klub audiences. The handsome young cowhand on the left is none other than Don Boehm, the baritone from Grand Island, who saved the day and the colonel's mint juleps in "Southern Exposure," Kosmet Klub's spring show produced last year.

In "Bar-Nothing Ranch" which plays at the Temple theatre for six nights opening Monday, April 12, Boehm has the role of Spud Warren, the heroine's hero. At the outset of the play he loves only his cattle, but as history will prove, no man can win a one sided battle against a woman, and the cows lose out.

The comely lass on the right is known around "Bar-O-Ranch" in Arizona as Lynn McAllister, but on the Nebraska campus it is Bill Strong of Great Bend, Kas. The Strong woman was also one of the juvenile leads in last year's musical comedy.

Altho Strong spends only a few months each year in the role of a scheming female, there is little doubt that there are few feminine wiles and tricks that are not practiced in that time. Ask Boehm.

Appearing in a dainty summer formal of white organza striped with red, Miss Hewit was presented as a climax of the review of spring styles in which 75 university coeds took part. She was introduced to the audience by Betty Cherry, chairman of this year's follies and was presented a bouquet of red roses.

Lecturer Sees America as Stogge for Coming European War.

By Harold Niemann. His resourcefulness still apparent after a day of interviews, cross examinations and lectures, Kirby Page, nationally known peace leader, world traveler and author, sat in his hotel room late Wednesday evening arranging material for his lecture in New York city today. Altho the noted pacifist had but half an hour before train time, he had the patience to explain the more important questions which were put to him during the day.

"At present our peace movement is too prosaic," the graying, heavy-set fighter for peace maintained. "Students at present lack alertness in one of the most grave questions that will ever confront them."

New War Likely. Maintaining that another European war is likely, Page stated that the United States would not have to become involved and in the same breath emphasized "but they probably will." Because of the fact that a blockade will be thrown up between the United States and Europe in the event of another war, we will have to enter to protect our property and citizens, he declared.

"All we need in Europe at this time is another overt instant like the murder of an archduke or the shelling of another 'Lusitania' to set off a war. Supposing we had a barrel of powder in every corner of the room; we throw a lighted match in any direction. The powder explodes. This is the condition of Europe today," Page continued in his clear enunciation.

What Can the Student Do? As Page arranged a wealth of material about his desk and bed he pointed out that the college student, according to a pacifist's point of view, could either pledge to drop arms in defence of his country, or could merely assert to work for peace. The college student is supposed to be thinking about this question and consequently is supposed to have more influence, the lecturer pointed out.

"You ask what the press could do in the campaigns either for or against war. Well, the press can be a powerful instrument in either direction. We must always remember, however, that the press follows public opinion as many times as it creates public opinion." Pointing to economic conditions of this country along the side of England and France as the most probable reason for another war, Page suggested a world organization of economic changes, a world organization of neutrality, and a national policy of neutrality.

Filings have been accepted at the activities office since Monday of this week and no names will be released until after the eligibility of the proposed candidates have been checked at the University registrar's office.

At the same election as the choosing of the Ivy Day Orator, students will name the group from which next year's Innocents Society will be formed. A vote will also be taken to decide whether faction names will be allowed to advertise candidate's political affiliations.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS HEAR PROF. YENNE AT WEDNESDAY MEETING

Speech Instructor Shows Need for Perfection in Speaking.

Effective speech plays an important part in an engineer's life, Prof. Herbert Yenne of the department of speech and dramatic art, told members of the Nebraska chapter of American Society of Chemical Engineers at their meeting last evening. Following the address, "The Chemical Engineer and Speech," by Prof. Yenne, the assignment of definite projects and duties for Engineer's Week were made.

The speaker stressed the importance of speech in everyday life of contacts and associations. Maintaining that the importance of effective speech in engineering might not be apparent at first, Prof. Yenne declared that the engineer should not lose sight of its importance.

"If an engineer makes some discovery, or works out a new theory or idea, he must be able to present it clearly and concisely to a board of directors or some other group in order to realize profit from it," Prof. Yenne stated.

The following projects and duties for Engineering Week were made: Jay King, building exhibit in Avery hall; Charles Adelsack, window displays; Don Grone, signs; Harold Hafner, tickets and ribbon sales; and Wayne Wiegert, general work committee.
