vived the reports of the various committees. The chief purpose of the Student Legislature being to present to Iowans the different arguments for and against the sales taxes and maximum hours and minimum wages, one of the most important bills presented granted certain exemptions of necessities from the application of the sales tax. Another important bill provided for a board for Iowa to regulate hours and wages of workers, with the power of review of their acts being delegated to the Iowa legislature.

Curtiss Leads Movement.

A movement led by Curtiss of Nebraska sought to either repeal the sales tax entirely, or to substitute a higher form of the sales tax to replace other taxes of Iowa. According to the Nebraska representatives, the Iowa students seemed very complacent over the present sales tax in Iowa. Only recently the official Iowa legislature passed a measure which exempts property up to $2,500 of assessed valuation from taxation. Curtiss distinguished himself as a defender of unpopular bills. Wilke was one of the most prominent parliamentarians.

The Iowa Student Legislature is conducted in the same form as the student legislature of Kansas held earlier in the year. Nebraska has been represented both at the Kansas Legislature and the Iowa Legislature for the past two years.

SOVIET RUSSIA TODAY TO AWARD $3 PRIZES IN ESSAYIST CONTEST

prominent authors and writers to be announced later.

"Soviet Russia Today" is a monthly publication that has become nationally known in the past five years as an authoritative source of current material on the events and changes in Russia.

The idea for such a contest arose because the editors of the magazine received letters from people in all walks of life who wanted to know more about the actual political, economic, and social policies of Russia.

Rules of Contest.

Rules for the contest are that all essays must be 500 words or less, written or typewritten on one side of the paper. First page of the manuscript must bear the author's name, occupation, and address. Secondly, all manuscripts must be in the hands of the editors of "Soviet Russia Today" by Sept. 15.

All essays should be sent to the contest committee, "Soviet Russia Today," 824 Broadway, New York. Essays will be judged on the basis of content and value in spreading among the American people a true understanding of the Soviet Union. All decisions of the judges will be final, and in case of tie duplicate prizes will be awarded.

field day activities, will explain the contest and awards to be used for the May event.

Eight miles in length the Cascade tunnel was begun in 1926 in order to cut down by one-half the distance traveled by Great Northern railroad trains in crossing the mountain range. Completed several years later at a cost of $20,000,000, the project eliminated 2,000 degrees of curvature on the tracks. In his talk, Schroeder will present facts and show slides sent out by the national A. S. C. E. organization. The slides show progress of the huge project in all its various steps of completion, as well as work done in preparing for it and provisions made for the 1700 men and their families employed there.

Air Springs to Protect Future Automobiles from Hard Bumps, Gambin Tells ASME Assembly

bound, the air remaining in the bellows is not enough to give the body a severe upward jolt when returning to its normal position, since the air in the reservoir does not flow back rapidly enough to add seriously to the rebound shock. "One of the advantages of this type of spring is to suppress body roll, or to reduce the tendency for the car to tilt when going around a corner. On taking a curve the pendulum is swung outward by the force which allows the disc valve to press against its upper seat, thus, shutting off the flow of air to the reservoir. This action almost doubles the stiffness of the springs. This type of spring will also eliminate the "nosing down" of the front end of the car when brakes are applied forcibly." Gambin also points out that no external shock absorber would be needed. In order to provide the softest riding qualities, the bouncing up and down of the automobile after it has struck a bump would have to be eliminated and the Nebraska student believes the air spring is the answer.

"The cost of this new type of spring," he says, "is somewhat higher than the conventional type at the present time, but it is being reduced simply by making all parts interchangeable for all makes and weights of cars. The only variation in the capacity of the air reservoir."
