janined with people eager to view experiments dealing with various chemical compounds.
Morrill hall was a bit off the beaten path and suffered somewhat as a result in popularity, altho the exhibits of rock formations and methods of excavation were well displayed. Pharmacy hall offered such inducements to visitors as personal color blind tests, lung capacity, and blood pressure tests, while military engineers showed the engineering side of war in a display of army engineering equipment.
COLLEGES CELEBRATE
FIELD DAY BY OUTINGS

o'clock this morning. The afternoon will be spent with a sports carnival and field events of all types. The annual college banquet for students and faculty members will be held at the Cornhusker hotel at 6:15.
Pharmacy Outing.
The annual pharmacy college outing will get under way this morning, as in past year, the day after Pharmacy Night. The frolic is scheduled to be held at Pioneer park. Doyle Leading, president of the Pharmacy club, expects between 50 and 60 druggists to attend.
Classes in the pharmacy college will be dismissed all day. Preparations for the affair are under direction of Miss Redford, chairman, Edna Martin, Harold Manley, Bob Van Norman, Phyllis Gaylor, Clair Hormes, and Floyd Rediger.
Engineers Hear Trustin.
Harry Trustin, city commission engineer from Omaha, will address the engineering students at a convocation at 11 o'clock this morning in Temple. The annual field day will begin early in the afternoon at the municipal baseball diamond in Antelope park at 23rd and J streets. The inimitable professors' tall story contest will be the highlight of the afternoon. Inter-departmental kitten-ball games, sack races, and other games will be included in the program. The Nebraska Blueprint, university engineering magazine, will present the Engineer's Week plaque to the society which has done the most toward promoting a successful affair at the evening banquet. The award will be made upon a point basis including such activities as ribbon sales, character and quality of exhibit display, ticket sales, and attendance at convocation. The banquet will be held at the Lincoln hotel at 7 p. m. and Mr. Roy M. Greene, president and manager of the Western Laboratories, Inc., will be the principal speaker.

Corsage buyers at the University of California lack originality, say Berkeley florists. The Don Juans get the "usual thing"—three gardenias or an orchid.

THETAS, BETAS SCORE WIN IN GREEK SINGS
Sigma Chi were also among the five called back for a second hearing.
Alpha Phi Second.
Alpha Phi captured second in the sorority sing and Delta Delta Delta was third with a song especially composed and arranged for them by Betty Van Horne. Fourth place went to Alpha Chi Omega. Thirteen sororities competed in the A. W. S. sponsored event, and seven fraternities tried for the cup in the Kosmet Klub sponsored sing in the morning.
Kappa Alpha Theta, first place winners in the 1934 and 1935 contests, lost the cup to Delta Gamma last year, regaining it again this year. T. N. E., secret fraternity on the campus, presented the winning sorority with a large basket of flowers by way of congratulation.

pared an irrigation project model as well as numberless other demonstrations. Particularly attractive to the curious were an electric fly trap, (harmless to all but insects, try it) and a miniature electric fence designed to repulse erring cows from one's corn, but at the time serving only to gain the respect of some white mice.
Chemical engineers filled Avery hall with experiments and demonstrations including one dealing with polarized light. An amateur photography display featured natural color motion pictures, while the auditorium was periodically
